CERTIFICATE OF EXAMINER.

LITTLE ROCK, January 27, 1885.

To the Governor:

SIR: I was appointed by your predecessor in office to examine the Digest of the Statute Laws, to be prepared in accordance with the provisions of an act of the general assembly of this state, entitled "An act to provide for revising and digesting the Statute Laws of the State of Arkansas," approved March 13, 1883.

Having performed the duty thus assigned to me, according to the best of my ability, I now certify that the Digest of the Statutes prepared by the Digester appointed in accordance with the provisions of that act is a complete and correct Digest of all public or general laws now in force.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

U. M. ROSE.

His Excellency, SIMON P. HUGHES.

PREFACE.

In preparing this volume, I have followed the plan of previous digests, by arranging the statutes under titles placed in alphabetical order, and by embracing those distributed to each principal head in a separate chapter. This arrangement of the laws is perhaps more convenient than any other which it was practicable at this time to adopt, and it has now become so familiar to the people that no change was believed to be desirable.

I have, so far as was consistent with the plan of the work, avoided the introduction of additional titles. A few of those used in the last revision have been discontinued or changed, and in several chapters there is a re-arrangement of the statutes. These changes are not very important, and, if they do not meet with approval, will, it is hoped, produce no confusion or inconvenience.

It has been suggested by some persons that in digesting the statutes, the Civil Code, as passed in 1868, should be printed at large as it was passed, and as it has been modified by amendments. My predecessor in the labor of arranging the statutes distributed the matter of the Civil Code under various heads, with which arrangement the bench and bar have become familiar. That circumstance affords one argument in favor of the conclusion that I came to in following his example. Another, and perhaps a better one, is to be found in the fact that in many cases, if the Civil Code had been printed in a body, the statute laws on various subjects, such as "Judgments," "Executions," "Evidence," and many others, must have appeared partly in the Code, and partly under other heads. On the whole, it has been thought best to make no change in this respect in the arrangement adopted by the digester in 1874.

By section one of the schedule to the constitution of 1874, all laws not in conflict with that instrument were continued in force "until amended or repealed by the general assembly." But the adoption of the constitution operated to modify many provisions in the statutes which it thus substantially continued; and, in revising these, such changes in their phraseology as were obviously necessary have been made.

Laws that were plainly abrogated by the adoption of a constitution with which they were not in harmony have, of course, been omitted. But I have not regarded it as within the sphere of my duties to pass upon the validity of statutes enacted under the present constitution; and none of these have been treated as unconstitutional, except such as have been pronounced so by the supreme court.

I have been embarrassed by many questions as to the repeal of statutes by implication. Such repeals are not favored by the courts, and in doubtful cases I have not felt at liberty to omit important acts on the ground that others, without expressly repealing, have superseded them. I have usually directed attention to such questions by a marginal note.

The notes of decisions include, it is believed, nearly all the important cases in our published reports construing the constitutional and statutory provisions in connection with which they are made. The careful reader will probably find that they contain a few verbal inaccuracies in addition to those I have discovered; but I trust that they are generally correct, and that they will prove to be useful.

A few forms have been added to those published with the revision of 1874. In revising those appended to that work, I have made in some of them changes required by recent legislation, and have altered others, with the view of making them more serviceable to the inferior courts.

The index to the statutes was prepared by Mr. JOHN E. KNIGHT, and I am confident that it will be found to be full and accurate.

I am indebted to several gentlemen for valuable assistance in making the notes of decisions, and to others who have aided me in the course of my labors by their advice.

The revision act conferred no authority beyond what was necessary to enable the digester to present the existing laws in a convenient form. A digest prepared in the exercise of a power so limited may, perhaps, be said to perform one of its offices by disclosing the existence of defects, which legislation alone can supply or remove; and I indulge the hope that my work may in some degree assist the labor of those with whom it will rest to make our laws more perfect.

W. W. MANSFIELD.

OZARK, January 20, 1885.

NOTE.

Since the printing of the Digest, the attention of the Digester has been called to a supposed error in section 2652, which provides that elections for representatives in congress shall be held on the first Monday in September. The error is, however, only apparent, and not real. The section is literally copied from the act of January 23, 1875. The time for holding the election for representatives in congress is now fixed, by act of congress, for the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November. Rev. Stat. U. S., sec. 25. Although the latter statute controls, yet it does not repeal the state statute, which would become actively in force in case the Federal statute should be repealed.

REVISION ACT.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas:

SECTION 1. That there shall be appointed by the governor of the State of Arkansas some suitable individual, whose duty it shall be to revise and digest all the statute laws of this state, of a general nature, which may be in force after the close of the present session of the general assembly, and arrange the same under appropriate heads, with proper reference, index, etc.

SEC. 2. That so soon as the digester shall have completed one or more chapters of said digest or revisal, he shall submit the same to the examination of some person versed in the law, to be appointed by the governor, upon whose certificate that such chapter or chapters is correct, and embraces all public or general laws then in force that, consistently with this act, should be included under such respective chapter or chapters, the digester shall proceed to invite proposals for printing and binding eight thousand copies of said digest by advertisement, to be published in two weekly newspapers printed in the City of Little Rock, for at least four weeks previous to the day named for opening and comparing the proposals which may be offered for printing and binding the digest; and on the day appointed the governor, auditor and digester shall proceed to compare such proposals as may have been received and contract with the lowest competent and responsible bidder, who will enter into bond, with sufficient security, to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful execution of the contract in time for delivering the said copies on the first day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-four, at the office of the secretary of state, and the examiner provided for herein shall receive for all of his services in examining the said digest the sum of one thousand dollars.

SEC. 3. That in addition to the duties of the digester, as specified in the foregoing section, he shall also be required to superintend the printing of said digest so far as to read and mark the proof-sheets while the work is in course of publication. Provided, that in case of the death of such digester, or other disqualifications, the governor of the state may appoint some suitable person to carry out the intentions of this act.

SEC. 4. That no special act of incorporation, acts for the appropriation of moneys, memorials, joint resolutions, or acts of a local or private nature, shall be embraced in the digest contemplated.

SEC. 5. That there shall be prefixed to and published with the digest provided for in the foregoing sections, the Constitution of the United States, with the amendments thereto, all the Constitutions of this State, with the amendments thereto, the acts of congress for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes, the treaty of cession of Louisiana to the United States, the compact between the United States and this state, and the several acts of congress prescribing the mode of certifying judicial proceedings, records, etc., so as to have effect in the state to which they may be sent, a summary of the naturalization laws of the United States and the Declaration of Independence, the acts of congress making grants of lands to the State of Arkansas for any purpose whatever, and the digester shall append to and publish with the digest such forms, both civil and criminal, as may be useful to the justices of the peace of this state in the exercise of their jurisdiction.

SEC. 6. That there shall be prefixed to each chapter concise notes of contents of each section, in numerical order, and to the end of each act shall be added the date of the approval of the same, omitting the signature of the governor, the president of the senate and speaker of the house of representatives.

SEC. 7. That the digester appointed as provided for in the foregoing sections of this act shall be entitled to receive as a full compensation for his services the sum of three thousand dollars, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for which the auditor of the state shall draw his warrant upon the treasurer, upon the presentation of the certificate of the person to be appointed by the governor, as provided in the second section of said act, to examine such digest of the statute laws of this state when completed by said digester to the effect that the whole duty confided to said digester has been performed with fidelity.

SEC. 8. That the digest of the laws contemplated by this act shall be printed on good paper, the body of the work on long primer type, leaded with leads six to pica, the notes and index on minion or brevier type, pages of royal octavo size, or the size of pages in Gantt's Digest, now in use, in one volume, to be bound and lettered, in all respects, equal to Gantt's Digest now in use.

SEC. 9. That the said reviser and digester shall, in addition to the revising and compiling of the laws as aforesaid, make marginal notes under each chapter head containing abstracts and annotations of such decisions of the supreme court of this state as may have been made in construction of said statutes or constitution.

SEC. 10. That twenty-five thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay for the digesting, revisal, publishing and binding said digest.

SEC. 11. That the secretary of state shall, after reserving a sufficient number of copies to supply the officers entitled to a copy thereof, and the public librarians with which this state may have established an interchange of books, sell the remainder for the benefit of the state, at five dollars per copy. Provided, that there shall be reserved in the office of the secretary of state fifteen hundred copies for the use of the general assembly, and to supply loss by officers of counties.

SEC. 12. The contracting board shall, as soon as the digest is completed and before printing, take out a copyright of said digest in the name of the state. Act March 13, 1883, as amended by act March 27, 1883.

In syllabus of section 597, for "Board of Supervisors," read "County Court."

In section 1235, seventh line, for "prisoners," read "prisoner."

In section 1849, second line, for "misdeanor," read "misdemeanor."

In note (b) to section 2571, tenth line, for words, "The widow is not entitled to dower in partnership property," read more fully "A widow is not entitled to dower in partnership property until the claims of partners and creditors of the firm are satisfied."

In note (b) to section 4471, sixteenth line, for words, "The statute of limitations ceases at the death of the debtor, and the statute of non-claim commences to run," read "On the grant of letters of administration on the estate of a debtor, the statute of limitations ceases to run, and the statute of non-claim applies."

At end of section 2377, read "Ib., sec. 323."

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

In Congress, July 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But, when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world:

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers, to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us;

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states;

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world;

For imposing taxes on us without our consent;

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury;

For transporting us beyond seas, to be tried for pretended offenses;

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies;

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws and altering, fundamentally, the powers of our governments;

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts made by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—enemies in war; in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our LIVES, our FORTUNES and our SACRED HONOR.

CONSTITUTION
OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

CONSTITUTION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America (a).

ARTICLE I.

SECTION ONE. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

SECTION TWO. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen (b).

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

(a) This constitution went into operation on the first Wednesday in March, 1789. Owings v. Speed., 5 Wh., 420.

(b) The constitution having fixed the qualifications of members, no additional qualifications can rightfully be required by the states. Barney v. McCreery Cl. & Hall, 176; Story's Const., § 624, 629; Federalist No. 52.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies (c).

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECTION THREE. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class, at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class, at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments (d) until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen (e).

The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore in the absence of the vice-president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment according to law.

(c) The executive of a state may receive the resignation of a member, and issue writs for a new election, without waiting to be informed by the house that a vacancy exists. Mercer's case, Cl. & Hall, 44; Edwards' case, Ib., 92; Newton's case, February, 1847. Col. Yell had not resigned, but had become a colonel of volunteers in the army in the war against Mexico in 1846. The governor assumed that the two offices were incompatible, and after a resolution by the Arkansas legislature to that effect, he issued a proclamation for an election to fill the vacancy. Thomas C. Newton was returned, and the house refused to consider the question of vacancy. Vacancies, therefore, may be created by death, resignation, removal or accepting incompatible offices. See Paschal's Annotated Const., 72.

(d) It is not competent for the executive of a state, during the recess of the legislature, to appoint a senator to fill a vacancy which shall happen, but has not happened at the time of the appointment. Lanman's case, Cl. & Hall, 871.

(e) A state can not add to these qualifications. See Note (b) ante.

SECTION FOUR. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators (f).

The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECTION FIVE. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members in such manner, and under such penalties, as each house may provide (g).

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member (h).

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy, and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SECTION SIX. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest (i) during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased

(f) Under this section congress has exercised its power, and has fixed the times and manner of holding elections for senators—Act of July 25, 1866; 14 U. S. Stat., 243—and has also exercised its power in relation to the election of representatives, so far as to require the states to elect by districts—Act of June 25, 1842; 5 U. S. Stat., 491—and by providing for the supervision of such elections—16 U. S. Stat., 140, 433—and punishing fraudulent and illegal voting and registration thereat, and this congress may do. The United States v. Terence Quinn, 8 Blatch., 48.

(g) The returns from the state authorities are prima facie evidence only of an election, and are not conclusive upon the house. Spaulding v. Mead, Cl. & Hall, 16, 18, 29, 30, 41, 157; Reed v. Cosden, Ib., 353. And the refusal of the executive of a state to grant a certificate of election does not prejudice the right of one who may be entitled to a seat. Richards' case, Ib., 95.

(h) It seems to be settled that a member may be expelled for any misdemeanor which, though not punishable by any statute, is inconsistent with the trust and duty of a member. Blount's case, 1 Story's Const., § 838; Smith's case, 1 Hall's L. J., 459; Brooks' case for assaulting Senator Sumner in the senate chamber, for words spoken in debate. It extends to all cases where the offense is such as, in the judgment of the house, unfits the offender for parliamentary duties. 1 Bl. Com., 163; Ib., Christian's Note, 167; Rez v. Wilkes, 2 Wilson R., 251; Com. Dig., Parliament G., 5; 1 Hall's Law Journ., 459, 466; 1 Story's Const., § 838.

(i) They are privileged not only from arrest both on judicial and mesne process, but also from the service of a summons or other civil process, while in attendance on their public duties. Geyer's Lessee v. Irwin, 4 Dall., 187; Nones v. Edrall, 1 Wall. Jr., 191; 1 Story's Const., § 860. See Coz v. McClenahan, 3 Dall., 478. But they are not privileged during the session from the service of a summons. Kimberly v. Butler, 1 Chicago Legal News, 245. See also Bump's Notes of Constitutional Decisions, 12.

during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office (j).

SECTION SEVEN. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States; and before the same shall take effect shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SECTION EIGHT. The congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow money on the credit of the United States (k);

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states (k2), and with the Indian tribes;

(j) The acceptance by a member of any office under the United States, after he has been elected to and taken his seat in congress, operates as a forfeiture of his seat. Van Ness' case, Cl. & Hall, 122; Yell's case in 1846-7.

(k) Congress has constitutional power to issue treasury notes of the United States, and make them lawful money and a legal tender for the payment of debts, contracted as well before as after the passage of such acts. Legal tender cases, 12 Wall., 457. But the act of congress declaring that the notes of the United States shall be lawful money, and a legal tender for all debts, only applies to debts which are payable in money only, and not to obligations payable in terms "in specie," or "coin." Trebilcock v. Wilson, 12 Wall., 687.

(k2) The power of congress to regulate commerce extends to every species of commercial intercourse between the United States and foreign nations and among the several states. Gibbons v. Ogden, 9 Wh., 1. It includes alike commerce by individuals, partnerships, associations and corporations. Paul v. Virginia, 8 Wall., 168. It includes the power to regulate the instruments of such commerce, whether by water or rail. The Clinton Bridge, 1 Woolw., 150. Cooley v. The Board of Wardens, 12 How., 299. It includes the power to determine what shall or shall not be deemed an obstruction of navigation, and includes necessarily the power to prevent any obstruction to the navigation of the navigable waters of the United States which are accessible from a state other than that in which they lie. Penn. v. Wheeling and Belmont Bridge Co., 18 How., 421. Silliman v. Hudson Bridge Co., 4 Blatch., 74 S. C., 2 Wall., 403. Gilman v. Philad., 3 Wall., 713. And hence no state can authorize the construction of a bridge across a navigable river which will obstruct the commerce between separate states. Ib. Congress may regulate all bridges over navigable waters, remove offending bridges and punish those who shall thereafter erect them. Ib. And when called into exercise this power is paramount to and excludes that of the States. Ib. and The United States v. Duluth, 1 Dillon, 469. It prevents a state from imposing a discriminating tax on non-resident traders carrying on business within the state.

To establish a uniform rule of naturalization (l), and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States (m).

To coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures;

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States (n);

To establish post-offices and post-roads (o);

Ward v. Maryland, 12 Wall., 418. And from imposing a stamp duty on bills of lading for goods exported therefrom. Almy v. California, 24 How., 169. Or requiring an importer to take out a license for the sale of imported goods in original packages. Brown v. Maryland, 12 Wh., 419. Or imposing a tax upon freight taken up within the state and carried out of it, or taken up without the state and brought within it. Case of the State Freight Tax, 15 Wall., 232.

It does not extend to commerce strictly internal and carried on entirely within the limits of a state, and that does not extend to or affect other states, though carried on by means of the navigable rivers of the United States. The Bright Star, 1 Woolw., 266. The Daniel Ball, 10 Wall., 557. It does not prevent a state from imposing a tax on the sales of goods and merchandise, the product of other states, though sold in the original packages, if such tax extends equally to all sales of like goods raised or produced in the state, and makes no discrimination against the products of other states or the rights of their citizens. Woodruff v. Parham, 8 Wall., 123 (see Brown v. Maryland, supra). And it makes no difference that the mode of collecting such tax is different if the amount is the same. Hinson v. Lott, Id., 148. Nor a tax on exchange and money brokers. Nathan v. La., 8 How., 73. And a state may prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors though congress has imposed a license tax on such business, which the liquor vendor has paid. Pervear v. Commonwealth, 5 Wall., 475. And issuing a policy of insurance is not a transaction of commerce, and a state may by its laws discriminate against foreign insurance companies. Paul v. Va., 8 Wall., 168. Nor is a statute of a state imposing a tax upon the gross receipts of railroad companies repugnant to the constitution of the United States, though the gross receipts are made up in part from freights received for transportation of merchandise from the state to another state, or into the state from another. State Tax on Railway Gross Receipts, 15 Wall., 284.

Nor does it inhibit the states from passing laws to regulate and control professions, pursuits, trades and business that fall within the definition "of the police power," such as inspection laws, quarantine laws, health laws of every description, as well as laws regulating the internal commerce of a state and those which respect turnpike roads, ferries, etc. Gibbons v. Ogden, 9 Wh., 203.

This power is, and must be from its very nature, incapable of any very exact definition or limitation. It extends to the protection of the lives, limbs, health, comfort and quiet of all persons, and the protection of all property; and persons and property are subjected to all kinds of restraints and burdens, in order to secure the general comfort, health and prosperity of the state. No power over the subjects is granted to congress, and consequently they remain subject to state legislation. Id. and Butchers' Benevolent Association of N. O. v. Crescent City Live Stock Landing and Slaughter-house Co., 16 Wallace. Thorpe v. Rutland and Burlington R. R. Co., 27 Vermont, 149; 2 Kent, 340. New York v. Miln, 11 Pet., 102. The License Tax, 5 Wall., 462. The United States v. De Witt, 9 Wall., 41.

A statute of Missouri which prohibits driving or conveying any Texas, Mexican or Indian cattle into that state between the first day of March and the first day of November is in conflict with this clause. Railroad v. Husen, 96 U. S., 465.

The legislature of a state can not subject a person to a higher tax for selling imported wines or beer than that which it imposes for selling similar liquors manufactured in the state. Tiernan v. Rinker, 102 U. S., 123. See also Guy v. Baltimore, 100 U. S., 434; State v. Kate Marsh, 37 Ark., 356; State v. McGinnis, 37 Ark., 362.

(l) The power to pass naturalization laws would seem to be exclusively in congress. 2 Wh., 269, United States v. Villato, 2 Dall., 372. Thurlow v. Massachusetts, 5 How., 585. Smith v. Turner, 7 Ib., 556. Golden v. Prince, 3 W. C., 314.

(m) The states have authority to pass bankrupt laws, provided they do not impair the obligation of contracts, and provided there be no act of congress in force to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy conflicting with such laws. Sturges v. Crowninshield, 4 Wh., 122. McMillan v. McNeill, Id., 209. But an act of the state legislature which discharges a debtor from all liability for debts contracted previous to his discharge, on his surrendering his property for the benefit of his creditors, is invalid, so far as it attempts to discharge the contract. Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank v. Smith, 6 Wh., 131. A mere insolvent law, however, is not within the prohibition. Ogden v. Saunders, 12 Wh., 213. Mason v. Haile, Id., 370. Boyle v. Zacharie, 6 Pet., 348, 635. Beers v. Haughton, 9 Ib., 329.

(n) A state may pass laws prohibiting and punishing the counterfeiting of the coin and paper currency issued under the authority of congress. Fox v. Ohio, 5 How., 433. The United States v. Marigold, 9 How., 560. Story's Const., § 1123 and note.

(o) Under this power congress may designate what shall be carried in the mail, and what excluded. But in the enforcement of regulations excluding matter from the mail, letters and sealed packages subject to letter postage can be opened and examined only under a warrant such as is required when papers are subjected to search in one's own household. The constitutional guaranty of the right of the people to be secure in their papers against unreasonable searches and seizures extends to their papers thus closed against inspection, wherever they may be. Ex parte Jackson, 96 U. S., 727.

Regulations excluding matter from the mail may be enforced through the courts upon competent evidence of their violation obtained in other ways than by the unlawful inspection of letters and sealed

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;

To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court;

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations;

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

To provide and maintain a navy;

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states, respectively, the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress;

To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent (p) of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards and other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SECTION NINE. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it (q).

packages; and with respect to objectionable printed matter, open to examination, they may in some cases also be enforced by the direct action of the officers of the postal service upon their own inspection, as where the object is exposed and shows unmistakably that it is prohibited, as in the case of an obscene picture or print. Ib.

(p) The right of exclusive legislation carries with it the right of exclusive jurisdiction. When, therefore, a state legislature has given its consent to a purchase of land by the general government, for the purposes enumerated in the constitution, the state jurisdiction is completely ousted. The United States v. Ames, 1 W. & M., 76. United States v. Coryell, 2 Mass., 60, 6 Opinion, 577. The states have not the right to tax lands purchased by the United States for public purposes, although the consent of the legislature may not have been given to the purchase. United States v. Wise, 2 Wall., Jr., 72, and see 7 Opinion, 628. After a cession by a state it can not take cognizance of any acts done in the ceded places after the cession; and the inhabitants of those places cease to be inhabitants of the state, and can no longer exercise any civil or political rights under the laws of the state. But if there has been no cession the state jurisdiction still remains. The People v. Godfrey, 17 John., 225. Commonwealth v. Young, 1 Hall's Journal of Jurisprudence, p. 47. 1 Kent's Com., 403, 404, ch. 28. Rawle's Const., ch. 27, pp. 238, 240. Story's Const., § 1127.

(q) The power to suspend this writ was first exercised by congress by the act of March 12, 1863. 12 U. S. Stat., 755. The privilege of the writ can only be suspended by act of congress or by the president acting under authority of an act of congress. Ex parte Merryman, Taney's Decisions, 246. McCall v. McDowell,

No bill of attainder (r) or ex post facto law (s) shall be passed.

No capitation, or other direct tax, shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another, nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince or foreign state.

SECTION TEN. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit (t); make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts (u); pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law (v) or law impairing the obligation of contracts (w), or grant any title of nobility.

1 Abb. U. S. R., 212. 8 Opinion, 365. 2 Abb. Nat. Digest, 611, note. But it has been held that the president may do so without the intervention of congress. 10 Opinion, 74. Ex parte Field, 5 Blatch., 63. Proc. of President of Sept. 24, 1862. 13 U. S. Stat., 730.

The federal judges have exclusive jurisdiction on habeas corpus whenever the applicant is illegally restrained of his liberty under or by color of the authority of the United States, whether by virtue of a formal commitment or otherwise. Ableman v. Booth, 21 How., 506. And it is now settled that the state courts can not discharge a person illegally held in the military service of the United States. Tarble's case, 13 Wall., 397. If the state judge or court is advised by the petition for the writ that the applicant is confined under the authority, or claim and color of authority, of the United States by an officer of that government, the writ should be refused. Where that fact does not appear in the application for the writ, but is made to appear in the return thereto, the state judge or court, being thus judicially apprised that the party is in custody under the authority of the United States, can proceed no further. Ib.

(r) A bill of attainder is a legislative act which inflicts punishment without a legal trial, and it includes pains and penalties. It may be directed against an individual, or a whole class, and inflict punishment absolutely or conditionally. The constitution of Missouri, which required an expurgatory oath of all priests, teachers, etc., was, in effect, a bill of attainder. Cummings v. State of Missouri, 4 Wall., 323, 325. The test oath required of attorneys of United States courts by act of Congress of 2d July, 1862, 12 U. S. Stat., 502, is in the nature of a bill of pains and penalties, and is in contravention of this clause of the constitution and void. Ex parte Garland, 4 Wall., 377.

(s) An ex post facto law is one that punishes as a crime an act done before its passage, and which, when committed, was not punishable; a law that aggravates a crime, or inflicts a greater punishment for it than the law annexed to it when committed; or, a law that alters the legal rules of evidence in order to convict. Caldwell v. Bull, 3 Dall., 390. Watson v. Mercer, 8 Pet., 88. Locke v. New Orleans, 4 Wall., 172. Cummings v. State of Missouri, Ib., 277. Within the meaning of the constitution any law is ex post facto which is enacted after the offense was committed, and which, in relation to it or its consequences, alters the situation of the accused to his disadvantage. Kring v. Missouri, 107 U. S., 221. This provision can not be evaded by giving a civil form to that which is, in substance, criminal; and to make the enjoyment of a right dependent upon an expurgatory oath is equivalent to an absolute denial of the right, and such denial enforced for a past act is nothing less than punishment imposed for that act. Cummings v. State of Missouri, 4 Wall., 327. The phrase does not apply to laws operating retrospectively on civil proceedings, affecting private rights, and such laws are constitutional when they do not impair the obligation of contracts. Satterlee v. Matthewson, 2 Pet., 380. Watson v. Mercer, 8 Pet., 88. Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 11 Pet., 420. Baltimore and S. R. R. Co. v. Nesbitt, 10 How., 39. Carpenter v. Penn., 17 How., 456. Locke v. N. O., 4 Wall., 172, and see Martindale v. Moore, 3 Blatch., 275.

(t) A bill of credit, within this prohibition, is paper issued by a state, designed to circulate through the community for its ordinary purposes, as money on the credit of the state. Craig v. Missouri, 4 Pet., 410. Byrne v. Missouri, 8 Pet., 40. The term bills of credit, as here used, does not include ordinary bank notes, though the state owns the entire stock and is ultimately liable for the redemption of the bills. Briscoe v. Bk. Ky., 11 Pet., 251, 317. Darrington v. Bk. Ala., 13 How., 12.

(u) But congress may. See note (k) ante.

(v) For definition of these terms see notes (r) and (s) ante.

(w) The obligation of a contract consists in its binding force on the party who makes it, and this depends on the laws in existence when it is made. Hence, a law staying the enforcement of mortgages for a year and

No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any state on imports or exports shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress.

No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION ONE. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each, which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of requiring an appraisement of the property, and prohibiting a sale for less than a given proportion of the appraised value, is invalid in its operations upon previous mortgages. Bronson v. Kinzie, 1 How., 311. McCracken v. Haycard, 2 How., 608. Howard v. Bugbee, 24 How., 461. And see Woodruff v. Trapnall, 10 How., 205. Curran v. Arkansas, 15 How., 310. McGee v. Mathis, 4 Wall., 156. A statute which makes valid a contract which, by the law in force at the time it was made, was not valid is not obnoxious to this provision of the constitution. To create a contract, or give effect to an illegal, defective or void contract, does not impair the obligation of a contract. Satterlee v. Matthewson, 2 Pet., 380, and other cases cited in note (s) ante.

The objection that a contract is illegal, and that no judgment can, therefore, be rendered upon it, is not allowed from any considerations of favor to those who allege it, and hence when the legislature relieves a contract from the imputation of illegality, either by affirmative legislation or by the repeal of the law authorizing such a defense, neither of the parties to the contract are in a condition to insist on this objection. Whitewater Valley Canal Co. v. Vallette, 21 How., 414. 7 Blackf., 475. 8 Ind., 27. Woodruff v. Scruggs, 27 Ark., 26. Welch v. Wadsworth, 30 Conn., 149. But while the constitution forbids the states from passing laws impairing the obligations of contracts, it does not forbid Congress. Bloomer v. Solley, 5 McLean, 165. Frans v. Eaton, 1 Pet., C. C. 327. Op. Justice Miller, Hepburn v. Griswold, 8 Wall., 637. Opinion of the Court, per Strong, Justice, in legal tender cases, 12 Wall., pp. 547-8.

The obligation of a contract in the constitutional sense is the means provided by law by which it can be enforced—by which the parties can be obliged to perform it. Whatever legislation lessens the efficacy of these means impairs the obligation. Louisiana v. New Orleans, 102 U. S., 203. But the legislature may enlarge, limit or alter modes of proceeding and forms to enforce a contract, provided it does not deny a remedy or so embarrass it with conditions or restrictions as seriously to impair the value of the right. Peniman's case, 103 U. S., 714. Tennessee v. Sneed, 96 U. S., 69. Murray v. Charleston, 1b., 432. Edwards v. Kearzy, 1b., 595.

Laws are void which withdraw or restrict the taxing power of a city so as to impair the obligation of her contracts made upon a pledge, expressly or impliedly given, that it shall be exercised for their fulfillment. Wolf v. New Orleans, 103 U. S., 358. See Brodie v. McCabe, 33 Ark., 690. McCracken v. Moody, 1b., 81.

votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall in like manner choose the president. But in choosing the president the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them by ballot the vice-president] (x).

The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States (y).

No person except a natural-born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president, and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected (z).

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them (aa).

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States."

SECTION TWO. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when

(x) This paragraph is superseded by the twelfth article of amendments to the constitution.

(y) Electors of president and vice-president are to be chosen in each state on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November in the year in which they are to be appointed. Act of January 23, 1845; 5 U. S. Stat., 721.

The electors shall meet and give their votes on the first Wednesday in December, at such place in each state as shall be directed by the legislature thereof. Act of March 1, 1792; 1 U. S. Stat., 239.

(z) In case of the removal, death, resignation or inability both of the president and vice-president, the president of the senate pro tempore, and in case there shall be no president of the senate, then the speaker of the house of representatives, for the time being, shall act as president. Act of March 1, 1792; 1 U. S. Stat., 239.

(aa) The compensation of the president was fixed by act of congress of February 18, 1793, at twenty-five thousand dollars per annum, and so continued until the passage of the act of March, 1873, which fixed it at fifty thousand dollars per annum.

called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons (bb) for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint (cc) ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SECTION THREE. He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed (dd), and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECTION FOUR. The president, vice-president and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

(bb) The power of the president to pardon is unlimited, except in cases of impeachments: it extends to every offense known to the law, and may be exercised before or after conviction, and is not subject to legislative control. A pardon reaches the punishment of the offense and the guilt of the offender, and when the pardon is full it releases the punishment and blots out the existence of the guilt; so that in the eye of the law the offender is as innocent as if he had never committed the offense. There is only this limitation to its operation: It does not restore offices forfeited, or property or interests vested in others, in consequence of the conviction. Ex parte Garland, 4 Wall., 334; The United States v. Klein, 13 Ib., 128; Armstrong v. The United States, Ib., 154, and see Ex parte Wills, 18 How., 317; The United States v. Wilson, 7 Pet., 150; S. C. Bald, C. C. R., 78-607.

(cc) After the president has nominated and the senate have confirmed an appointment, the nominee is not fully appointed or entitled to the office; for the president may change his purpose after the confirmation and withhold the commission, and without the commission there is no appointment. But when the commission is signed by the president, and the seal of the United States affixed thereto, the appointment is complete, without the delivery of the commission. Marbury v. Madison, 1 Cr., 137, and see The United States v. Le Baron, 19 How., 73; S. C., 4 Wall., 642; 4 Opin., 217; 12 Opin., 304.

It was formerly held that the power of removal from office was vested in the president alone by the constitution. Serg. Constitutional Law, 372-3; Marshall's Life of Washington, 196. But by act of April 5, 1869, 16 U. S. Stat., 6, any person holding any civil office to which he may have been duly appointed "shall be entitled to hold such office during the term for which he shall have been appointed, unless sooner removed, by and with the advice and consent of the senate." This act gives the president power to suspend from office during the recess of the senate. The purpose of this act was to change the practice by which removal from office was effected at the will of the president without the concurrence of the senate. 12 Opin., 443.

(dd) The president can not be restrained by injunction from carrying into effect an act of congress alleged to be unconstitutional, nor will a bill for such purpose be allowed to be filed. Mississippi v. Johnson, 4 Wall., 475. Nor will a bill be entertained to enjoin the secretary of war, and other officers who represent the executive authority, from carrying into effect an act of congress. Georgia v. Stanton, 6 Wall., 50.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION ONE. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECTION TWO. The judicial power (ee) shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction (ff); to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state (gg); between citizens of different states (hh);

(ee) There are questions arising under the constitution, laws and treaties to which the judicial power does not extend; they are denominated political questions, and their determination belongs to the political and not the judicial department of the government, and in the determination of all such questions the courts are bound by the action of the political departments. Among other questions the following are held to be of this character:

1. Whether a revolted colony is to be treated as a sovereign state de facto. Rose v. Himeley, 4 Cr., 241; S. C. Ber., 300; United States v. Palmer, 3 Wh., 610; Kennett v. Chambers, 14 How., 38; Clark v. The United States, 3 Wash. C. C., 101. And this is true of governments attempted to be erected within the limits of the United States. The United States v. Baker, 5 Blatch., 6; Penn v. Tollison, 26 Ark., 545; Thompson v. Mankin, Id., 586.
2. Who is the lawful sovereign, or what the lawful government of a foreign power. King of Spain v. Oliver, 2 Wash. C. C., 329. The Sapphire, 11 Wall., 164; The Hornet, 2 Abb. U. S., 35.
3. Whether a particular class of Indians are still to be regarded as a tribe, or have ceased to hold the tribal relation. The United States v. Holliday, 3 Wall., 407.
4. Whether the political body which passed a law was a state. Scott v. Jones, 5 How., 343.
5. Which of two rival organizations in a state is the duly constituted government of the state. Luther v. Borden, 7 How., 1.
6. The condition of peace and war, public or civil. The United States v. Probasco, 11 Am. L. R., 419. Hence, when the president has proclaimed a state to be in insurrection, the courts must hold that this condition continues until he decides the contrary. Id. and Phillips v. Hatch, 1 Dillon, 571; The Protector, 12 Wall., 700.
7. Whether in the case of rebellion, and the erection of a government de facto by the rebels, the commissions of such de facto government shall be recognized to excuse the acts of those who would otherwise be deemed pirates. The United States v. Baker, 5 Blatch., 6.
8. The question of boundary between this government and a foreign power. Garcia v. Lee, 12 Pet., 511.
9. A fact in regard to the sovereignty of an island or other territory. Williams v. Suffolk Ins. Co., 13 Pet., 415; S. C., 3 Trnn., 270.

(ff) It was formerly held that the jurisdiction of the courts of admiralty of the United States, so far as that jurisdiction depended upon locality, was limited to the high seas and waters within the ebb and flow of the tide. Thomas Jefferson, 10 Wh., 428. But this doctrine has been overruled, and it is now settled that the admiralty jurisdiction of these courts extends not only to the main sea, but to all the navigable waters of the country, whether landlocked or open, salt or fresh, tidal or not. Genesee Chief v. Fitzhugh, 12 How., 443; The Hine v. Trevor, 4 Wall., 555; The Belfast, 7 W. U., 624; The Eagle, 8 Wall., 15; Insurance Co. v. Dunham, 11 Wall., 1.

The district courts of the United States possess exclusive original jurisdiction in all cases properly cognizable in admiralty, whether depending upon the subject matter or locality, and whether of contract or tort, and state statutes, so far as they attempt to confer upon state courts power to proceed in rem. In such cases, are unconstitutional and void. The Moses Taylor, 4 Wall., 411; The Hine v. Trevor, Id., 555; The Belfast, 7 Wall., 624; The Adèle, 1 Bowditch, 309; The Leonard, 3 Id., 263; Jackson v. Kinnie, 17 A. L. R., 470.

(gg) In Chisholm v. Georgia, 2 Dall., 419, the supreme court decided that the State could be sued by an individual citizen of another state. This decision induced the adoption of the eleventh amendment to the constitution, declaring that the judicial power of the United States should not extend to such cases. See Cohens v. Virginia, 6 Wh., 406; New Hampshire v. Louisiana, 107 U. S.

(hh) A citizen of a territory, or of the District of Columbia, is not a citizen of a state within the meaning of this clause. Hartshorn v. Wright, Peters' C. C., 64; New Orleans v. Winter, 1 Wh., 91; Vasse v. Mifflin, 4 Wash. C. C. R., 519; Barney v. Baltimore City, 6 Wall., 280.

The grant of the judicial power extends, without limit or qualification, to controversies "between citizens of different states;" but the judiciary act of 1789, in conferring upon the circuit courts jurisdiction under between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state or the citizens thereof and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

SECTION THREE. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION ONE. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof (ii).

SECTION TWO. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states (jj).

A person charged in any state with treason, felony or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executhis clause of the constitution, limited it "to suits between a citizen of the state in which the suit is brought and a citizen of another state," and "where the matter in dispute exceeds, exclusive of costs, the sum or value of five hundred dollars;" and there is a further limitation in the act, that when the suit is in favor of an assignee of a promissory note, or other chose in action, there shall be no jurisdiction unless suit could have been brought in the courts of the United States had no assignment been made. These restrictions on the jurisdiction conferred by the constitution have been sustained by the supreme court, the rule being that the constitution and the act of congress must both concur in giving the jurisdiction. Assignee of Brainard v. Williams, 4 McLean, 122; Sheldon v. Sill, 8 How., 141.

A citizen of the state where the suit is brought may sue a citizen of another state in the circuit court. Harrison v. Rowan, Pet. C. C., 489; Kitchen v. Strawbridge, 4 W. C. C., 84.

A corporation created by and transacting business in a state is to be deemed an inhabitant of that state, capable of being treated as a citizen, for all purposes of suing and being sued in a circuit court, and no averment or evidence to the contrary is admissible to defeat the jurisdiction. Marshall v. Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co., 16 How., 314; Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Co. v. Wheeler, 1 Bl., 256.

(ii) See Act of Congress, post. Peel v. January, 35 Ark., 337.

(jj) This was intended to secure to the citizens of every state, within every other, the privileges and immunities (whatever they might be) accorded in each to its own citizens. Lemmon v. The People, 20 N. Y., 627. It secures and protects the right of a citizen of one state to pass into any other state of the Union for the purpose of engaging in lawful commerce, trade or business without molestation; to acquire and hold personal and real property; to maintain actions in the courts of the state, and to be exempt from any higher taxes or excises than are imposed by the state upon its own citizens, and a statute imposing a discriminating tax on non-resident traders is void. Ward v. Maryland, 12 Wall., 418. A corporation is not a citizen within the meaning of this clause, and a state may, by law, require insurance companies incorporated by the laws of other states, as a condition precedent to their right to do business in such state, to take out a license and make a deposit of bonds. Paul v. Virginia, 8 Wall., 168. See Dabbs v. State, 39 Ark., 353.

tive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime (kk).

No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SECTION THREE. New states may be admitted by the congress into this Union, but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned as well as of the congress.

The congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular state.

SECTION FOUR. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and, on application of the legislature or of the executive (when the legislature can not be convened), against domestic violence (ll).

ARTICLE V.

The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this constitution when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress; provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article, and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

(kk) See Act of Congress of July 12, 1793, 1 U. S. Stat., 302, and post. "FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE." The duty of providing by law the regulations necessary to carry this clause into execution was manifestly devolved upon congress; for, if it was left to the states, each state might require different proof to authenticate the judicial proceedings upon which the demand was founded. Commonwealth of Kentucky v. Dennison, 24 How., 104. The words "treason, felony or other crime," in this clause, include every offense forbidden and made punishable by the laws of the state where the offense is committed. The duty of the governor of the state from which a fugitive is claimed is merely ministerial. No discretion, with respect to the nature or character of the crime charged, is vested in him. Ib., 103. Nor can he pass upon the sufficiency of the indictment; that is a judicial question, to be decided by the courts of the state making the demand. Ib., 107. If a governor refuses to discharge this duty there is no power delegated to the general government, either through the judicial or any other department, to use any coercive measure to compel him. Ib., 109-10.

(ll) It rests with congress to decide what government is the established one in a state; for, as the United States guarantee to each state a republican form of government, congress must necessarily decide what government is established in the state before it can determine whether it is republican or not. Luther v. Borden, 7 How., 42. When application is made to the president he must determine what body of men constitute the legislature and who is the governor, which is the government, and which party is unlawfully arrayed against it before he can act. Ib., 43-45.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this constitution shall be as valid against the United States under this constitution as under the confederation.

This constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made (mm) or which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in convention by the unanimous consent of the states present the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

[THE conventions of a number of the states having, at the time of their adopting the constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added, congress, at the session begun and held at the city of New York, on Wednesday, the 4th of March, 1789, proposed to the legislatures of the several states twelve amendments, ten of which, only, were adopted. They are the ten first following:]

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.

FIRST SESSION, FIRST CONGRESS, MARCH 4TH, 1789.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof (nn); or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or of the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances (nn2).

(nn) "The constitution of the United States makes no provision for protecting the citizens of the respective states in their religious liberties; this is left to the state constitutions and laws; nor is there any inhibition imposed by the constitution of the United States in this respect in the states." Permoti v. First Municipality, 3 How., 589, 609; Story's Const., § 1878.

Christianity is no part of the municipal law. Andrew v. N. Y. & P. B. Society, 4 Sandf., N. Y., 182.

With us all religions are tolerated, and none is established. Each has an equal right to the protection of the law, whether Christians, Jews or Infidels. Ayers v. The Methodist Church, 3 Sandf., 377; Updegraff v. The Commonwealth, 11 Sergt. & Rawl., 394; Vidal v. Girard's Ex'rs, 2 How., 198. See Constitution of Arkansas, 1874, Art. 2, Sec. 24.

A party's religious belief can not be accepted as a justification for his committing an overt act made criminal by the law of the land. Reynolds v. United States, 98 U. S., 145.

(nn2) The right of the people peaceably to assemble for lawful purposes, with the obligation on the part of the states to afford it protection, existed long before the adoption of the constitution. The first amendment was not intended to limit the action of the state governments in respect to their own citizens, but to operate upon the national government. It left the authority of the states unimpaired, and guaranteed the continuance of the right only against congressional interference. United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U. S., 542. But the right of the people peaceably to assemble for the purpose of petitioning congress for a redress of grievances, or for anything else connected with the powers or duties of the national government, is an attribute of national citizenship, and as such under the protection of and guaranteed by the United States. Ib.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed (nn3).

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or things to be seized (oo).

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger (pp); nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law (qq); nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation (rr).

(nn3) The right to bear arms is not granted by the constitution; neither is it in any manner dependent upon that instrument for its existence. The second amendment means no more than that it shall not be infringed by congress, and has no other effect than to restrict the national government. United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U. S., 542.

This article is a restraint upon federal and not upon state legislation. Fife v. State, 31 Ark., 455.

(oo) This refers only to process issued under authority of the United States. Smith v. Maryland, 18 How., 71. But see XIV Art. of Amendment.

See also note (o) ante.

(pp) Every one connected with these branches of the public service (in the land or naval forces, or in the militia) is amenable to the jurisdiction which congress has created for their government (rules and articles of war), and, while thus serving, surrenders his right to be tried by the civil courts. All other persons, citizens of states where the courts are open, if charged with crime, are guaranteed the right of trial by jury. Ex parte Milligan, 4 Wall., 123. If in foreign invasion or civil war the courts are actually closed, and it is impossible to administer criminal justice according to law, then on the theater of active military operations, where war really prevails, there is a necessity to furnish a substitute for civil authority thus overthrown to preserve the safety of the army and society, and, as no power is left but the military, it is allowed to govern by martial rule until the laws can have their full course. As necessity creates the rule, so it limits its duration, for if this government is continued after the courts are reinstated it is a gross usurpation of power, and martial law can not arise from threatened invasion. The necessity must be actual and present, the invasion real, and such as effectually closes the courts and deposes the civil administration. Ib., 127.

(qq) This article is a restraint upon the legislative as well as upon the executive and judicial branches of the government, and can not be so construed as to leave congress free to make any process "due process of law." Murray v. Hoboken L. & I. Co., 18 How., 296. These words generally imply and include regular allegations, opportunity to answer and a trial according to some settled course of judicial proceedings. Ib., 280. But they do not apply to proceedings to collect the public revenue and sums due from defaulting fiscal agents of the government. Ib., 272-7, and Ames v. Port Huron, 11 Mich., 139.

For the origin and history of this provision of the constitution as found in the fifth and fourteenth amendments, see Davidson v. New Orleans, 96 U. S., 97.

The provisions embraced in this article relate to those rights whose protection is peculiarly within the province of the judicial branch of the government. U. S. v. Lee, 106 U. S., 196.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law (ss), and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense (tt).

ARTICLE VII. (uu)

In suits at common law where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States than according to the rules of the common law (vv).

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

bring the case within the protection of this constitutional provision. There may be such serious interruption to the common and necessary use of property as will be equivalent to a taking within the meaning of the constitution. The backing of water so as to overflow the lands of an individual, or any other superinduced addition of water, earth, sand, or other material, or artificial structure, placed on land, if done under statutes authorizing it for the public benefit, is such a taking as by the constitutional provision demands compensation. Pumpelly v. Green Bay Company, 13 Wall., 166. This provision only applies to the exercise of the right of eminent domain by the United States. C. & F. R. Co. v. Turner, 31 Ark., 494.

(ss) Under this article the district in which the trial is had must have been ascertained by law previously to the commission of the crime, and not merely previously to the trial; and where a crime was committed in a district which was afterward divided, and the locality in which the crime was committed fell within the limits of the newly-erected district, it was held that the court in that district had no jurisdiction. The United States v. Mazum, 5 Blatch., 360. CONTRA: 6 Opin., 103, and see The United States v. Dawson, Hempstead C. C., 643; S. C., 15 How., 467; Gut v. The State, 9 Wall., 35.

(tt) When this article was adopted an accused party was not allowed the assistance of counsel in England. The defect was cured by act of parliament passed in 1836. 2 May's Const. Hist. of England, 558.

(uu) This article, in common with the first ten amendments to the constitution, applies only to the national government, and does not restrict the powers of the states, nor control the proceedings in state courts. Barrows v. Mayor, 7 Pet., 247. Withers v. Buckley, 20 How., 84. Twitcheil v. Commonwealth, 7 Wall., 321. The United States v. Rhodes, 1 Abb., U. S. R., 42. Murphy v. People, 2 Cowen, 818. Pearson v. Yewdall, 95 U. S., 294.

(vv) Sec. 5 of the act of congress of 3d March, 1863, 13 U. S. Stat., 756, so far as it authorizes the removal of causes which have been once tried by a jury in the state court and a retrial in the circuit court of the United States upon the facts and law, is in conflict with this article and void. Justices v. Murray, 9 Wall., 274.

ARTICLE XI.

THIRD CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION, DECEMBER 2D, 1793.

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state (ww).

ARTICLE XII.

EIGHTH CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION, OCTOBER 17TH, 1803.

The electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. They shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as president the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But in choosing the president the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March, next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the senate shall choose the vice-president; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

SECTION ONE. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction (yy).

(ww) See note (gg) ante. A cause can not be maintained in the supreme court of the United States against a state of the Union, though brought in the name of a state, if the absolute right to the subject in controversy is not in the state itself. One state can not create a controversy with another state by assuming the prosecution of debts owing by the other state to its citizens. New Hampshire v. Louisiana, New York v. Louisiana, 108 U. S., 76.

(xx) This article was submitted to the several states for their action, by resolution of congress, February 1st, 1865, was ratified by the requisite number of states, and went into effect on the 18th day of December, 1865. Proclamation of Secretary of State, 13 U. S. Stat., 774.

SECTION TWO. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV. (zz)

SECTION ONE. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws (zz2).

SECTION TWO. The representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice-president of the United States, representatives in congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state or the members of the legislature thereof is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

(yy) While this article was primarily intended to abolish African slavery, it equally forbids Mexican peonage or the Chinese coolie trade, when they amount to slavery or involuntary servitude; and the use of the word "servitude" is intended to prohibit all forms of involuntary slavery of whatever class or name. Butchers' Benevolent Association of N. O. v. Crescent City Live Stock Landing and Slaughter-house Co., 16 Wall.

(zz) This article was submitted to the several states for their action by resolution of congress June 16th, 1866, 14 U. S. Stat., 358, and was ratified by the requisite number of states, and "declared to be a part of the constitution of the United States" by joint resolution of congress July 21st, 1868, and was promulgated as such by the secretary of state 28th July, 1868. 15 U. S. Stat., 708.

NOTE.—The states of Ohio and New Jersey ratified this amendment, and afterward—and before it had been ratified by a sufficient number of states to make it part of the constitution—those states withdrew their consent to said amendment. Congress maintained that a state could not withdraw its ratification after it had once been given. See joint resolutions of congress, 15 U. S. Stat., 709, and proclamation of secretary of state. Ib., 706.

(zz2) The fourteenth amendment was designed to assure to the colored race the enjoyment of all the civil rights that under the law are enjoyed by white persons, and to give to that race the protection of the general government in that enjoyment whenever it should be denied by the states. It not only gave citizenship and the privileges of citizenship to persons of color, but it denied to any state the power to withhold from them the equal protection of the laws, and authorized congress to enforce its provisions by appropriate legislation. Strader v. West Virginia, 100 U. S., 303.

Where a state statute secures to every white man the right of trial by jury, selected from and without discrimination against his race, and at the same time permits or requires such discrimination against the colored man because of his race, the latter is not equally protected by law with the former. Ib.

The prohibitions of this amendment have exclusive reference to state action. It is the state which is prohibited from denying to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws, and, consequently, the statutes founded upon the amendment, and partially enumerating what civil rights the colored man shall enjoy equally with the white, are intended for protection against state infringement of those rights. Virginia v. Rives, 100 U. S., 313.

A state may exert her authority through different agencies, and the prohibitions of this amendment extend to her action denying equal protection of the laws, whether it be action by one of these agencies or by another. Congress, by virtue of the fifth section, may enforce the prohibitions whenever they are disregarded by either the legislative, the executive or the judicial department of the state. The mode of enforcement is left to its discretion. Ib. See also Slaughter-house cases, 16 Wall., 36; United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U. S., 542; Davidson v. New Orleans, 96 U. S., 97; Ex parte Virginia 100 U. S., 339; Pace v. Alabama, 106 U. S., 583; Minor v. Happersett, 21 Wall., 162.

SECTION THREE. No person shall be a senator or representative in congress, or elector of president and vice-president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any state, to support the constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

SECTION FOUR. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SECTION FIVE. The congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV. (aaa)

SECTION ONE. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude (bbb).

SECTION TWO. The congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

(aaa) This article was submitted to the several states for ratification by congress February 27, 1869, and was ratified by the requisite number of states, and promulgated as a part of the constitution 30th March, 1870. 16 U. S. Stat., 1131.

(bbb) The fifteenth amendment to the constitution does not confer the right of suffrage; but it invests citizens of the United States with the right of exemption from discrimination in the exercise of the elective franchise on account of their race, color or previous condition of servitude, and empowers congress to enforce that right by "appropriate legislation." United States v. Reese, 92 U. S., 214.

The power of congress to legislate at all upon the subject of voting at state elections rests upon this amendment, and can be exercised by providing a punishment only when the wrongful refusal to receive the vote of a qualified elector at such elections is because of his race, color or previous condition of servitude. Ib., and see United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U. S., 542.

CONSTITUTION

STATE OF ARKANSAS.

ADOPTED IN CONVENTION SEPTEMBER 7, 1874.*

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of the State of Arkansas, grateful to Almighty God for the privilege of choosing our own form of government, for our civil and religious liberty, and desiring to perpetuate its blessings and secure the same to ourselves and posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Preamble.

ARTICLE I.

BOUNDARIES.

We do declare and establish, ratify and confirm, the following as the permanent boundaries of the State of Arkansas, that is to say: Beginning at the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River, on the parallel of thirty-six degrees of north latitude, running thence west with said parallel of latitude to the middle of the main channel of the St. Francis River; thence up the main channel of said last-named river to the parallel of thirty-six degrees thirty minutes of north latitude; thence west with the southern boundary line of the State of Missouri to the southwest corner of said last-named state; thence to be bounded on the west to the north bank of Red River, as by act of congress and treaties existing January 1, 1837, defining the western limits of the Territory of Arkansas, and to be bounded across and south of Red River by the boundary line of the State of Texas

Boundaries of the state.

* This constitution was ratified by the people October 13, 1874, and its adoption was proclaimed October 30, 1874. See Proclamation by State Board of Election Supervisors, post.; Schedule to Constitution, Sec. 17; Vance v. Little Rock, 30—444.

as far as to the north-west corner of the State of Louisiana; thence easterly with the northern boundary line of said last-named state to the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River; thence up the middle of the main channel of said last-named river, including an island in said river known as "Belle Point Island," and all other land originally surveyed and included as a part of the Territory or State of Arkansas, to the thirty-sixth degree of north latitude, the place of beginning.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT.

Seat of government.

The seat of government of the State of Arkansas shall be and remain at Little Rock, where it is now established.

ARTICLE II.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

Source of political power.
Object of government.
Right of reform and abolition.

SECTION 1. All political power is inherent in the people, and government is instituted for their protection, security and benefit; and they have the right to alter, reform or abolish the same in such manner as they may think proper.

Natural freedom and independence of men.
Inalienable rights.

SEC. 2. All men are created equally free and independent, and have certain inherent and inalienable rights, amongst which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty; of acquiring, possessing and protecting property and reputation, and of pursuing their own happiness. To secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Origin of government.

Equality of all persons before the law.

SEC. 3. The equality of all persons before the law is recognized, and shall ever remain inviolate; nor shall any citizen ever be deprived of any right, privilege or immunity, nor exempted from any burden or duty, on account of race, color or previous condition.

Right of public assembly;
And of petition.

SEC. 4. The right of the people peaceably to assemble to consult for the common good, and to petition, by address or remonstrance, the government, or any department thereof, shall never be abridged (a).

Right to bear arms.

SEC. 5. The citizens of this state shall have the right to keep and bear arms for their common defense (b).

(a) See note (nn2) to art. I Amendments Constitution U. S.

(b) This relates to such arms as are used for purposes of war, and does not prevent the legislature from prohibiting the wearing of such weapons as are not used in civilized warfare, and would not contribute to the common defense. Fife v. The State, 31—455.

The legislature may, to some extent, regulate the mode and occasion of wearing war arms, but to prohibit the citizen from wearing or carrying a war arm except upon his own premises or when on a journey, or when acting as or in aid of an officer, is an unwarranted restriction upon his constitutional right to keep and bear arms. Wilson v. The State, 33—557; Holland v. State, Id., 560. But, unless army or navy pistols be carried under such circumstances as are embraced in the exceptions noted above, it is not unconstitutional to prohibit carrying them, except uncovered and in the hand. Haile v. State, 38—564. And no constitutional right is abridged by making it a misdemeanor to sell pistols, except such as are used in the army or navy of the United States. Dabbs v. The State, 39—353.

SEC. 6. The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man; and all persons may freely write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right. In all criminal prosecutions for libel the truth may be given in evidence to the jury; and, if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party charged shall be acquitted.

Liberty of the press and of speech.

Libel.

SEC. 7. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law, without regard to the amount in controversy (c); but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law.

Trial by jury.

SEC. 8. No person shall be held to answer a criminal charge unless on the presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases of impeachment or cases such as the general assembly shall make cognizable by justices of the peace, and courts of similar jurisdiction; or cases arising in the army and navy of the United States; or in the militia when in actual service in time of war or public danger; and no person, for the same offense, shall be twice put in jeopardy of life or liberty (d); but if, in any criminal prosecution, the jury be divided in opinion, the court before which the trial shall be had may, in its discretion, discharge the jury, and commit or bail the accused for trial at the same or the next term of said court; nor shall any person be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself (e); nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law. All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses, when the proof is evident or the presumption great.

No person to be held to answer for crime but on presentment or indictment. Exceptions.

No person to be twice put in jeopardy for same offense;

Or be compelled to be witness against himself. Security for life, liberty and property. Right to bail.

(c) This applies only to common law and other analogous cases. The legislature can dispense with a jury trial in the case of a contested election. Govan v. Jackson, 32—553.

A similar provision in the constitution of 1836 related to the trial of issues of fact in civil and criminal causes, and not to a statutory proceeding for the assessment of damages for the appropriation of a right of way. The word "jury" as used in that constitution means twelve men, and the legislature can not abridge the number. Cairo and Fulton Railroad Co. v. Trout, Id., 17.

(d) Where a defendant is tried on an indictment for murder in the first degree, convicted of murder in the second degree and a new trial is granted him, he can not be again put in jeopardy for the higher grade of homicide. Johnson v. State, 29—31. See also State v. Clark, 32—231; Stewart v. State, 13—720.

Where a defendant indicted for a misdemeanor punishable by fine only has been tried and acquitted, and on appeal or writ of error to the supreme court the judgment is reversed and the cause remanded, he may be tried again without any violation of this provision. Jones v. State, 15—261. And so where the verdict of acquittal in such cases is set aside by the circuit court. Taylor v. State, 36—84. See also Steck v. State, 28—113.

(e) Where two persons are concerned in the commission of a crime (as in gaming) one of them may be compelled to give evidence on the trial of an indictment against the other, because by the provision of the statute "the testimony given by such witness shall in no instance be used against him in any criminal prosecution for the same offense," and thus he is protected from self-accusation and his common law and constitutional privilege secured to him. (State v. Quarles, 13—307. Cossart v. State, 14—539. Pleasant v. State, 15—649.) Rose's Digest, 830. (See title "Evidence," sec. 2856.) But a witness is privileged from answering questions that would disclose his connection with another and distinct offense from the one on the trial of which he is called to testify. Id.

Excessive bail and fines, cruel punishments and detention of witnesses prohibited. Rights of accused in criminal prosecutions.

SEC. 9. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed; nor shall cruel or unusual punishment be inflicted; nor witnesses be unreasonably detained.

SEC. 10. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial (f) by an impartial jury of the county in which the crime shall have been committed (g); provided that the venue may be changed to any other county of the judicial district in which the indictment is found, upon the application of the accused, in such manner as now is, or may be, prescribed by law (h); and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof (i); and to be confronted with the witnesses against him (j); to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to be heard by himself and his counsel.

Habeas corpus.

SEC. 11. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, except by the general assembly, in case of rebellion, insurrection or invasion, when the public safety may require it.

Suspension of the laws.

SEC. 12. No power of suspending or setting aside the law or laws of the state shall ever be exercised except by the general assembly.

Redress of wrongs.

SEC. 13. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries or wrongs he may receive in his person, property or character; he ought to obtain justice freely, and without purchase, completely and without denial, promptly and without delay, conformably to the laws.

Treason.

SEC. 14. Treason against the state shall only consist in levying and making war against the same, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

Security against unreasonable searches and seizures.

SEC. 15. The right of the people of this state to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated (k); and no warrant shall issue except upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or thing to be seized.

Imprisonment for debt prohibited.

SEC. 16. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in any civil action, on mesne or final process, unless in cases of fraud (l).

(f) See Stewart v. State, 13—720.

(g) The legislature can not invest a court with jurisdiction of crimes committed beyond the limits of the county. Dougan v. State, 30—41. Walls v. State, 32—365. As to cases in which a crime may be committed on the boundary line between two counties, see State v. Rhoda, 23—156.

(h) The venue in a criminal case can not be changed to a county outside of the judicial circuit in which the indictment is found for any cause. State v. Flynn, 31—35.

(i) As to copy of indictment in cases not capital, see Howard v. State, 37—265.

(j) The testimony of a deceased witness on a former trial may be proved on a second trial for the same offense. Pope v. State, 22—372. And evidence of the testimony of a witness before an examining court, where the defendant had the opportunity of cross-examination, is admissible on the trial of the same offense before the circuit court when the witness has forfeited his recognizance and can not be found. Shackelford v. State, 33—539. Hurley v. State, 29—17.

(k) See State v. Leathers, 31—44.

(l) See Ruddell v. Childress, 31—511.

SEC. 17. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law (m) or law impairing the obligation of contracts shall ever be passed (n); and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

Attainder, laws ex post facto, impairing contracts, etc., prohibited.

SEC. 18. The general assembly shall not grant to any citizen or class of citizens privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not equally belong to all citizens.

Equality of privileges and immunities.

SEC. 19. Perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a republic, and shall not be allowed; nor shall any hereditary emoluments, privileges or honors ever be granted or conferred in this state.

Perpetuities, monopolies and hereditary distinctions prohibited.

SEC. 20. No distinction shall ever be made by law between resident aliens and citizens in regard to the possession, enjoyment or descent of property.

Resident aliens.

SEC. 21. No person shall be taken or imprisoned, or dis seized of his estate, freehold, liberties or privileges; or outlawed, or in any manner destroyed or deprived of his life, liberty or property; except by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land (o); nor shall any person, under any circumstances, be exiled from the state.

Life, liberty and property, how secured.

SEC. 22. The right of property is before and higher than any constitutional sanction; and private property shall not be taken, appropriated or damaged for public use, without just compensation therefor (p).

Banishment prohibited.

Private property taken for public use.

SEC. 23. The state's ancient right of eminent domain and of taxation is herein fully and expressly conceded; and the general assembly may delegate the taxing power, with the necessary restriction, to the state's subordinate political and municipal corporations to the extent of providing for their existence, maintenance and well being, but no further.

State's right of eminent domain and of taxation.

Delegation of taxing power.

SEC. 24. All men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences; no man can, of right, be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship; or to maintain any ministry against his consent. No human authority can, in any case or manner whatsoever, control or interfere with the right of conscience; and no preference shall ever be given, by law, to any religious establishment, denomination or mode of worship above any other.

Right of religious liberty.

SEC. 25. Religion, morality and knowledge being essential to good government, the general assembly shall enact suitable laws to protect every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of public worship.

Protection of religious liberty.

(m) See note (s) to sec. 9, art. I, Const. U. S. An ex post facto law declares an offense to be punishable in a manner that it was not punishable at the time it was committed, and relates exclusively to criminal proceedings. Taylor v. The Governor, 1—21.

(n) See note (w) to sec. 10, art. I, Const. U. S.

(o) See Dabbs v. State, 39—353.

(p) See Martin ex parte, 13—199; Roberts v. Williams, 15—43; Cairo and Fulton Railroad Co. v. Turner, 31—494.

Religious tests prohibited.

SEC. 26. No religious test shall ever be required of any person as a qualification to vote or hold office, nor shall any person be rendered incompetent to be a witness on account of his religious belief; but nothing herein shall be construed to dispense with oaths or affirmations.

Oaths or affirmations not to be dispensed with.

Involuntary servitude, except for crime, prohibited.

Standing army. Military subordinate to civil power. Quartering of troops.

SEC. 27. There shall be no slavery in this state, nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime. No standing army shall be kept in time of peace; the military shall at all times be in strict subordination to the civil power; and no soldier shall be quartered in any house, or on any premises, without the consent of the owner in time of peace; nor in time of war, except in a manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 28. All lands in this state are declared to be allodial; and feudal tenures of every description, with all their incidents, are prohibited.

This enumeration of rights not to disparage other rights. Paramount authority of declaration of rights and of constitution.

SEC. 29. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people; and to guard against any encroachments on the rights herein retained, or any transgression of any of the higher powers herein delegated, we declare that everything in this article is excepted out of the general powers of the government, and shall forever remain inviolate; and that all laws contrary thereto, or to the other provisions herein contained, shall be void.

ARTICLE III.

FRANCHISE AND ELECTIONS.

Qualifications of electors.

SECTION 1. Every male citizen of the United States, or male person who has declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the same, of the age of twenty-one years, who has resided in the state twelve months, and in the county six months, and in the voting precinct or ward one month, next preceding any election, where he may propose to vote, shall be entitled to vote at all elections by the people.

Freedom of elections.

SEC. 2. Elections shall be free and equal. No power, civil or military, shall ever interfere to prevent the free exercise of the right of suffrage; nor shall any law be enacted whereby the right to vote at any election shall be made to depend upon any previous registration of the elector's name; or whereby such right shall be impaired or forfeited, except for the commission of a felony at common law, upon lawful conviction thereof.

Right of suffrage not to depend on previous registration.

Or impairable, except on conviction for felony.

Elections to be by ballot. Numbering of ballots.

SEC. 3. All elections by the people shall be by ballot. Every ballot shall be numbered in the order in which it shall be received, and the number recorded by the election officers on the list of voters opposite the name of the elector who presents the ballot. The election officer shall be sworn or affirmed not to disclose how any elector shall have voted, unless required to do so as witnesses in a judicial proceeding, or a proceeding to contest an election.

Secrecy of the ballot.

SEC. 4. Electors shall, in all cases (except treason, felony and breach of the peace), be privileged from arrest during their attendance at elections and going to and from the same. Privilege of electors.

SEC. 5. No idiot or insane person shall be entitled to the privileges of an elector. Idiots and insane.

SEC. 6. Any person who shall be convicted of fraud, bribery or other willful and corrupt violation of any election law of this state shall be adjudged guilty of a felony, and disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit in this state. Corrupt violation of election laws to disqualify for office.

SEC. 7. No soldier, sailor or marine in the military or naval service of the United States shall acquire a residence by reason of being stationed on duty in this state. U. S. soldiers sailors and marines.

SEC. 8. The general elections shall be held biennially, on the first Monday of September; but the general assembly may by law fix a different time. Time of holding general elections.

SEC. 9. In trials of contested elections and in proceedings for the investigation of elections no person shall be permitted to withhold his testimony on the ground that it may criminate himself or subject him to public infamy; but such testimony shall not be used against him in any judicial proceeding, except for perjury in giving such testimony. Testimony in cases of contested elections.

SEC. 10. No person shall be qualified to serve as an election officer who shall hold at the time of the election any office, appointment or employment in or under the government of the United States, or of this state, or in any city or county, or any municipal board, commission or trust in any city, save only the justices of the peace and aldermen, notaries public and persons in the militia service of the state. Nor shall any election officer be eligible to any civil office to be filled at an election at which he shall serve—save only to such subordinate municipal or local offices, below the grade of city or county officers, as shall be designated by general law. Causes of disqualification as election officer.

SEC. 11. If the officers of any election shall unlawfully refuse or fail to receive, count or return the vote or ballot of any qualified elector, such vote or ballot shall nevertheless be counted upon the trial of any contest arising out of said election (q). Votes unlawfully refused to be counted on trial of contest.

SEC. 12. All elections by persons acting in a representative capacity shall be viva voce. Elections by parties representative.

ARTICLE IV.*

DEPARTMENTS.

SECTION 1. The powers of the government of the State of Arkansas shall be divided into three distinct departments, each of them to be confided to a separate body of magistracy, to wit: Those Departments government.

(q) This provision requires all legal votes cast at an election, no matter whether returned or not, or whether any irregularities attended the election, to be counted upon contest. Goran v. Jackson, 32—553.

(*) This is a literal copy of article III of the constitution of 1836.

which are legislative to one, those which are executive to another, and those which are judicial to another.

Separation of departments.

SEC. 2. No person or collection of persons, being of one of these departments, shall exercise any power belonging to either of the others, except in the instances hereinafter expressly directed or permitted (r).

ARTICLE V.

LEGISLATIVE.

General assembly.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of this state shall be vested in a general assembly, which shall consist of the senate and house of representatives (s).

House of representatives.

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall consist of members to be chosen every second year by the qualified electors of the several counties.

Senate.

SEC. 3. The senate shall consist of members to be chosen every four years by the qualified electors of the several districts. At the first session of the senate the senators shall divide themselves into two classes by lot, and the first class shall hold their places for two years only, after which all shall be elected for four years.

Qualifications of senators and representatives.

SEC. 4. No person shall be a senator or representative who, at the time of his election, is not a citizen of the United States, nor any one who has not been for two years next preceding his election a resident of this state, and for one year next preceding his election a resident of the county or district whence he may be chosen. Senators shall be at least twenty-five years of age and representatives at least twenty-one years of age.

Times of meeting.

SEC. 5. The general assembly shall meet at the seat of government every two years on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in November until said time be altered by law.

Vacancies.

SEC. 6. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as shall occur in either house of the general assembly.

Officers ineligible to general assembly.

SEC. 7. No judge of the supreme, circuit or inferior courts of law or equity, secretary of state, attorney-general for the state, auditor or treasurer, recorder, clerk of any court of record, sheriff, coroner, member of congress, nor any other person holding any lucrative office under the United States or this state (militia officers, justices of the peace, postmasters, officers of public schools and notaries excepted), shall be eligible to a seat in either house of the general assembly.

(r) The office of state treasurer, as well as those of secretary of state, auditor, sheriff, coroner, constable and militia officers, are executive; the office of justice of the peace is judicial, and no person can at the same time hold the offices of treasurer and justice of the peace. A person holding one office has a right, if elected to another which he can not hold at the same time, to accept it, but in so doing he vacates, eo instanti, the first office. State v. Hull, 2—282.

Nor, for the same reason, can a person hold the offices of justice of the peace and deputy sheriff at the same time. The acceptance of the latter vacates the former. State Bank v. Curran, 10—142. See sec. 7, art. V, and secs. 6 and 26, art. XIX, post., Oliver v. Martin, 36—137.

(s) See Trammell v. Bradley, 37—374. The legislature can not delegate the power to make laws, but it can make a law to delegate the power to determine some fact or state of things upon which the law makes, or intends to make, its own action depend. Boyd v. Bryant, 35—69.

SEC. 8. No person who now is or shall be hereafter a collector or holder of public money, nor any assistant or deputy of such holder or collector of public money, shall be eligible to a seat in either house of the general assembly, nor to any office of trust or profit, until he shall have accounted for and paid over all sums for which he may have been liable.

Holders of public moneys disqualified for office until settlement.

SEC. 9. No person hereafter convicted of embezzlement of public money, bribery, forgery or other infamous crime shall be eligible to the general assembly or capable of holding any office of trust or profit in this state.

Conviction of infamous crime to disqualify for office.

SEC. 10. No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, be appointed or elected to any civil office under this state.

Senator or representative disqualified for civil office.

SEC. 11. Each house shall appoint its own officers, and shall be sole judge of the qualifications, returns and elections of its own members. A majority of all the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house shall provide.

Each house to appoint its officers and determine qualifications, etc., of its members. Quorum.

SEC. 12. Each house shall have the power to determine the rules of its proceedings; and punish its members or other persons, for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence; enforce obedience to its process; to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitations; and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause. A member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either house; and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar an indictment for the same offense. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings (t); and from time to time publish the same, except such parts as require secrecy; and the yeas and nays on any question shall, at the desire of any five members, be entered on the journals.

Rules.

Punishment for contempts. Enforcement of process. Protection of members.

Expulsion of members.

Yeas and nays.

SEC. 13. The sessions of each house and of committees of the whole shall be open, unless when the business is such as ought to be kept secret.

Proceedings to be public.

SEC. 14. Whenever an officer, civil or military, shall be appointed by the joint or concurrent vote of both houses, or by the separate vote of either house of the general assembly, the vote shall be taken viva voce and entered on the journals.

Elections by joint or concurrent vote.

SEC. 15. The members of the general assembly shall, in all cases except treason, felony and breach or surety of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the Privileges of senators and representatives.

(t) The journals of the general assembly will be consulted by the supreme court in cases of doubt as to the passage of a law. Burr v. Ross, 19—250. See also State v. L. R., M. & T. Ry Co., 31—701; Smither v. Garth, 33—17; Worthen v. Badgett, 32—496.

- same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.
- Pay and mileage. SEC. 16. The members of the general assembly shall receive such per diem pay and mileage for their services as shall be fixed by law. No member of either house shall, during the term for which he has been elected, receive any increase of pay for his services under any law passed during such term. The term of all members of the general assembly shall begin on the day of their election.
- Term to begin with election.
- Duration of sessions. SEC. 17. The regular biennial sessions shall not exceed sixty days in duration, unless by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of said general assembly (u). Provided, that this section shall not apply to the first session of the general assembly under this constitution, or when impeachments are pending.
- Presiding officers SEC. 18. Each house, at the beginning of every regular session of the general assembly, and whenever a vacancy may occur, shall elect from its members a presiding officer, to be styled, respectively, the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives; and whenever, at the close of any session, it may appear that the term of the member elected president of the senate will expire before the next regular session, the senate shall elect another president from those members whose terms of office continue over, who shall qualify and remain president of the senate until his successor may be elected and qualified; and who, in the case of a vacancy in the office of governor, shall perform the duties and exercise the powers of governor, as elsewhere herein provided.
- President of senate to succeed to governorship in case of vacancy.
- Style of laws. SEC. 19. The style of the laws of the State of Arkansas shall be: "Be it enacted by the general assembly of the State of Arkansas."
- State not to be sued in her courts. SEC. 20. The State of Arkansas shall never be made defendant in any of her courts.
- Laws to be by bill. Amendment of bills. SEC. 21. No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either house as to change its original purpose (v).
- Passage of bills. SEC. 22. Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in each house, unless the rules be suspended by two-thirds of the house, when the same may be read a second or third time on the same day; and no bill shall become a law unless on its final passage the vote be taken by yeas and nays (w), the names of the persons voting for and against the same be entered on the (u) A concurrent resolution which has for its sole object the continuance of a session under this provision does not require the approval of the governor. Trammell v. Bradley, 37—374.

(v) An amendment which limits or extends the scope of a bill, but embraces no new matter not germane to its original purpose, is not prohibited by this section. Loftin v. Watson, 32—414.

(w) The constitution of 1868 contained a provision similar to that found in this clause; and it was held that a bill did not become a law where the house journal showed the number of votes given on its final passage, in the affirmative and in the negative, and the names journal, and a majority of each house be recorded thereon as voting in its favor.

SEC. 23. No law shall be revived, amended or the provisions thereof extended or conferred by reference to its title only; but so much thereof as is revived, amended, extended or conferred shall be re-enacted and published at length (x).

Revival, amendment and extension of laws.

SEC. 24. The general assembly shall not pass any local or special law changing the venue in criminal cases; changing the names of persons or adopting or legitimating children; granting divorces; vacating roads, streets or alleys.

Classes of special legislation prohibited.

SEC. 25. In all cases where a general law can be made applicable no special law shall be enacted; nor shall the operation of any general law be suspended by the legislature for the benefit of any particular individual, corporation or association (y); nor where the courts have jurisdiction to grant the powers or the privileges or the relief asked for.

Restriction on special legislation.

SEC. 26. No local or special bill shall be passed, unless notice of the intention to apply therefor shall have been published in the locality where the matter or the thing to be affected may be situated, which notice shall be, at least, thirty days prior to the introduction into the general assembly of such bill, and in the manner to be provided by law. The evidence of such notice having been published shall be exhibited in the general assembly before such act shall be passed.

Publication of notice of local and special bills.

SEC. 27. No extra compensation shall be made to any officer, agent, employe or contractor after the service shall have been rendered or the contract made; nor shall any money be appropriated or paid on any claim the subject matter of which shall not have been provided for by pre-existing laws; unless such compensation or claim be allowed by bill passed by two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the general assembly.

Extra compensation to officers, agents, employes and contractors. Appropriations for claims in matters not provided for by pre-existing laws.

SEC. 28. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Adjournment.

SEC. 29. No money shall be drawn from the treasury except in pursuance of specific appropriation made by law, the purpose of which shall be distinctly stated in the bill, and the maximum amount which may be drawn shall be specified in dollars and cents; and no appropriations shall be for a longer period than two years.

Appropriations to be specific, and limited to two years.

SEC. 30. The general appropriation bill shall embrace nothing but appropriations for the ordinary expense of the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the state; all other appropriations shall be made by separate bills, each embracing but one subject.

General and special appropriation bills.

(y) See Little Rock v. Parish, 36—166; Boyd v. Bryant, 35—69.

Requisites to allowances of state tax and appropriations of money.

SEC. 31. No state tax shall be allowed, or appropriation of money made, except to raise means for the payment of the just debts of the state, for defraying the necessary expenses of government, to sustain common schools, to repel invasion and suppress insurrection, except by a majority of two-thirds of both houses of the general assembly.

Redress for injuries to person or property.

SEC. 32. No act of the general assembly shall limit the amount to be recovered for injuries resulting in death, or for injuries to persons or property (z); and in case of death from such injuries the right of action shall survive and the general assembly shall prescribe for whose benefit such action shall be prosecuted.

Liabilities of corporations to the state.

SEC. 33. No obligation or liability of any railroad or other corporation held or owned by this state shall ever be exchanged, transferred, remitted, postponed or in any way diminished by the general assembly; nor shall such liability or obligation be released except by payment thereof into the state treasury.

Bills not to be introduced during last three days of session.
Bribery of officers.

SEC. 34. No new bill shall be introduced into either house during the last three days of the session.

SEC. 35. Any person who shall, directly or indirectly, offer, give or promise any money or thing of value, testimonial, privilege or personal advantage to any executive or judicial officer or member of the general assembly, and any such executive or judicial officer or member of the general assembly who shall receive or consent to receive any such consideration, either directly or indirectly, to influence his action in the performance or non-performance of his public or official duty, shall be guilty of a felony and be punished accordingly.

Expulsion of member no bar to indictment.

SEC. 36. Proceedings to expel a member for a criminal offense, whether successful or not, shall not bar an indictment and punishment, under the criminal laws, for the same offense.

ARTICLE VI.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Executive officers.

Offices to be at seat of government.

Terms of office.

Commissioner of state lands.

Governor.

SECTION 1. The executive department of this state shall consist of a governor, secretary of state, treasurer of state, auditor of state and attorney-general (aa), all of whom shall keep their offices in person at the seat of government and hold their offices for the term of two years and until their successors are elected and qualified, and the general assembly may provide by law for the establishment of the office of commissioner of state lands.

SEC. 2. The supreme executive power of this state shall be vested in a chief magistrate, who shall be styled "the Governor of the State of Arkansas."

(z) The legislature can not limit the recovery of damages for the injuries mentioned in this section, but a jury is not without restraint, and if its assessment be so enormous as to shock the sense of justice and to indicate that the verdict is the result of prejudice or passion, the circuit court should set it aside. L. R. & F. S. Railway Co. v. Barker, 39—492.

(aa) Also subordinates in their several departments. Oliver v. Martin, 36—137.

SEC. 3. The governor, secretary of state, treasurer of state, auditor of state and attorney-general shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at large at the time and places of voting for members of the general assembly; the returns of each election therefor shall be sealed up separately and transmitted to the seat of government by the returning officers, and directed to the speaker of the house of representatives, who shall, during the first week of the session, open and publish the votes cast and given for each of the respective officers hereinbefore mentioned, in the presence of both houses of the general assembly. The person having the highest number of votes for each of the respective offices shall be declared duly elected thereto; but if two or more shall be equal, and highest in votes for the same office, one of them shall be chosen by the joint vote of both houses of the general assembly, and a majority of all the members elected shall be necessary to a choice.

Election of executive officers.

Returns.

Declaration of election.

Case of tie.

SEC. 4. Contested elections for governor, secretary of state, treasurer of state, auditor of state and attorney-general shall be determined by the members of both houses of the general assembly in joint session, who shall have exclusive jurisdiction in trying and determining the same, except as hereinafter provided in the case of special elections; and all such contests shall be tried and determined at the first session of the general assembly after the election in which the same shall have arisen (bb).

Contested elections for executive officers.

SEC. 5. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor except a citizen of the United States who shall have attained the age of thirty years, and shall have been seven years a resident of this state.

Qualifications of governor.

SEC. 6. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of this state, except when they shall be called into the actual service of the United States.

Governor to be commander-in-chief.

SEC. 7. He may require information in writing from the officers of the executive department on any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and shall see that the laws are faithfully executed.

May require information from officers of executive department. Execution of the laws.

SEC. 8. He shall give to the general assembly from time to time, and at the close of his official term to the next general assembly, information by message concerning the condition and government of the state, and recommend for their consideration such measures as he may deem expedient.

Messages to general assembly.

SEC. 9. A seal of the state shall be kept by the governor, used by him officially, and called the "Great Seal of the State of Arkansas."

Great seal of the state.

SEC. 10. All grants and commissions shall be issued in the name and by the authority of the State of Arkansas, sealed with the great seal of the state, signed by the governor and attested by the secretary of state (cc).

Grants and commissions.

(bb) See Baxter v. Brooks, 29—173.(cc) See Hawkins v. The Governor, 1—570.

Persons ineligible to office of governor.

SEC. 11. No member of congress, or other person holding office under the authority of this state, or of the United States, shall exercise the office of governor, except as herein provided.

Death, conviction on impeachment or other disability of governor.

SEC. 12. In case of the death, conviction on impeachment, failure to qualify, resignation, absence from the state or other disability of the governor, the powers, duties and emoluments of the office for the remainder of the term, or until the disability be removed, or a governor elected and qualified, shall devolve upon and accrue to the president of the senate.

Impeachment or other disability of president of senate, acting as governor.

SEC. 13. If, during the vacancy of the office of governor, the president of the senate shall be impeached, removed from office, refuse to qualify, resign, die or be absent from the state, the speaker of the house of representatives shall, in like manner, administer the government.

Election to fill vacancy in office of governor.

SEC. 14. Whenever the office of governor shall have become vacant by death, resignation, removal from office or otherwise, provided such vacancy shall not happen within twelve months next before the expiration of the term of office for which the late governor shall have been elected, the president of the senate or speaker of the house of representatives, as the case may be, exercising the powers of governor for the time being, shall immediately cause an election to be held to fill such vacancy, giving by proclamation sixty days' previous notice thereof, which election shall be governed by the same rules prescribed for general elections of governor as far as applicable; the returns shall be made to the secretary of state, and the acting governor, secretary of state and attorney-general shall constitute a board of canvassers, a majority of whom shall compare said returns and declare who is elected; and, if there be a contested election, it shall be decided as may be provided by law.

SEC. 15. Every bill which shall have passed both houses of the general assembly shall be presented to the governor; if he approve it, he shall sign it; but if he shall not approve it, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which house shall enter the objections at large upon their journal and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of the whole number elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house, by which, likewise, it shall be reconsidered; and, if approved by a majority of the whole number elected to that house, it shall be a law; but in such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by "yeas and nays," and the names of the members voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journals. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within five days, Sunday excepted, after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall become a law, unless he shall file the same, with his objections, in the office of the secretary of state and give notice thereof by public proclamation within twenty days after such adjournment.

SEC. 16. Every order or resolution in which the concurrence of both houses of the general assembly may be necessary, except on questions of adjournment, shall be presented to the governor, and, before it shall take effect, be approved by him; or, being disapproved, shall be repassed by both houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill (dd).

Concurrent orders and resolutions to be presented to governor for approval.
Proceedings in case of veto.

SEC. 17. The governor shall have power to disapprove any item or items of any bill making appropriation of money, embracing distinct items; and the part or parts of the bill approved shall be the law, and the item or items of appropriations disapproved shall be void unless repassed according to the rules and limitations prescribed for the passage of other bills over the executive veto.

Veto of items of appropriation bills.

Proceedings in such case.

SEC. 18. In all criminal and penal cases, except in those of treason and impeachment, the governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations of sentence and pardons after conviction; and to remit fines and forfeitures under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by law (ee). In cases of treason he shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to grant reprieves and pardons; and he may, in the recess of the senate, respite the sentence until the adjournment of the next regular session of the general assembly. He shall communicate to the general assembly at every regular session each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon, with his reasons therefor, stating the name and crime of the convict, the sentence, its date and the date of the commutation, pardon or reprieve.

General pardoning power.

Pardoning power in cases of treason.

Information concerning pardons, etc., to be communicated to general assembly.

SEC. 19. The governor may, by proclamation, on extraordinary occasions convene the general assembly at the seat of government, or at a different place, if that shall have become since their last adjournment dangerous from an enemy or contagious disease; and he shall specify in his proclamation the purpose for which they are convened, and no other business than that set forth therein shall be transacted until the same shall have been disposed of, after which they may, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to both houses, entered upon their journals, remain in session not exceeding fifteen days.

Extra sessions of general assembly and convocation elsewhere than at seat of government.

SEC. 20. In cases of disagreement between the two houses of the general assembly, at a regular or special session, with respect to the time of adjournment, the governor may, if the facts be certified to him by the presiding officers of the two houses, adjourn them to a time not beyond the day of their next meeting; and, on account of danger from an enemy or disease, to such other place of safety as he may think proper.

Vacancies in their offices.	SEC. 23. When any office from any cause may become vacant, and no mode is provided by the constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the governor shall have the power to fill the same by granting a commission, which shall expire when the person elected to fill said office, at the next general election, shall be duly qualified.
Vacancies in office not elsewhere provided for.

ARTICLE VII.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Judicial power, where vested.	SECTION 1. The judicial power of the state shall be vested in one supreme court; in circuit courts; in county and probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The general assembly may also vest such jurisdiction as may be deemed necessary in municipal corporation courts, courts of common pleas, where established, and, when deemed expedient, may establish separate courts of chancery.
Establishment of additional courts
Supreme court.	SEC. 2. The supreme court shall be composed of three judges, one of whom shall be styled chief justice, and elected as such; any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of two judges shall, in every case, be necessary to a decision.
Chief justice.
Quorum.
Increase of number of judges of supreme court.	SEC. 3. When the population of the state shall amount to one million, the general assembly may, if deemed necessary, increase the number of judges of the supreme court to five; and, on such increase, a majority of judges shall be necessary to make a quorum or a decision.
General jurisdiction of supreme court.	SEC. 4. The supreme court, except in cases otherwise provided by this constitution, shall have appellate jurisdiction only, which shall be coextensive with the state, under such restrictions as may from time to time be prescribed by law (ff). It shall have a general superintending control over all inferior courts of law and equity; and, in aid of its appellate and supervisory jurisdiction, it shall have power to issue writs of error and supersedeas, certiorari, habeas corpus, prohibition, mandamus and quo warranto, and other remedial writs, and to hear and determine the same (gg). Its judges shall be conservators of the peace throughout the state, and shall severally have power to issue any of the aforesaid writs.

Jurisdiction of individual judges of supreme court.

SEC. 5. In the exercise of original jurisdiction the supreme court shall have power to issue writs of quo warranto to the circuit judges and chancellors when created, and to officers of political corporations when the question involved is the legal existence of such corporations (hh).

Jurisdiction of supreme court in quo warranto.

SEC. 6. A judge of the supreme court shall be at least thirty years of age, of good moral character, and learned in the law; a citizen of the United States and two years a resident of the state, and who has been a practicing lawyer eight years, or whose service upon the bench of any court of record, when added to the time he may have practiced law, shall be equal to eight years. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state and shall hold their offices during the term of eight years from the date of their commissions; but at the first meeting of the court after the first election under this constitution the judges shall by lot divide themselves into three classes, one of which shall hold his office for four, one for six and the other for eight years, after which each judge shall be elected for a full term of eight years. A record shall be made in the court of this classification.

(rr) Under existing laws a person who is sheriff and collector holds two offices. McCabe ex parte, 33—396. But section 46 makes the office of collector subject to the control of the legislature, which has power to provide for his appointment by the governor, or in any other mode it may direct. Falconer v. Shores, 37—386.

(ss) The office of collector of revenue is not elective, and the filling of vacancies in the office is not within the provision of section 50. Falconer v. Shores, 37—386.

to prosecute the appeal and save the county from costs on account of the same being taken.

Contested election for county, township or municipal officers.

SEC. 52. That in all cases of contest for any county, township or municipal office, an appeal shall lie at the instance of the party aggrieved, from any inferior board, council or tribunal to the circuit court, on the same terms and conditions on which appeals may be granted to the circuit court in other cases, and on such appeals the case shall be tried de novo.

ARTICLE VIII.

APPORTIONMENT.

Number of representatives.

Ratio of representation.

Apportionment of representatives.

SECTION 1. The house of representatives shall consist of not less than seventy-three, nor more than one hundred members. Each county now organized shall always be entitled to one representative, the remainder to be apportioned the several counties according to the number of adult male inhabitants, taking two thousand as the ratio, until the number of representatives amounts to one hundred, when they shall not be further increased; but the ratio of representation shall, from time to time, be increased, as hereinafter provided, so that the representatives shall never exceed that number. And until the enumeration of the inhabitants is taken by the United States government, A. D. 1880, the representatives shall be apportioned among the several counties, as follows:

The County of Arkansas shall elect one representative. The County of Ashley shall elect one representative. The County of Benton shall elect two representatives. The Counties of Clark, Pike and Montgomery shall compose 30th district.
the Thirtieth District and elect one senator (*).

And the senate shall never consist of less than thirty nor more than thirty-five members. Number of senators.

SEC. 3. Senatorial districts shall at all times consist of contiguous territory, and no county shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial district. Principles of formation of senatorial districts.

SEC. 4. The division of the state into senatorial districts and the apportionment of representatives to the several counties shall be made by the general assembly at the first regular session after each enumeration of the inhabitants of the state by the federal or state government shall have been ascertained, and at no other time. Apportionments, when to be made.

ARTICLE IX.

EXEMPTION.

SECTION 1. The personal property of any resident of this state who is not married or the head of a family, in specific articles to be selected by such resident, not exceeding in value the sum of two hundred dollars in addition to his or her wearing apparel, shall be exempt from seizure on attachment, or sale on execution, or other process from any court issued for the collection of any debt by contract (tt); provided that no property shall be exempt from execution for debts contracted for the purchase money therefor while in the hands of the vendee. Exemption of personal property of persons other than heads of families from seizure for debt.

SEC. 2. The personal property of any resident of this state who is married or the head of a family, in specific articles to be selected Exemption of
erty of heads of families.

(*) The Counties of Garland and Montgomery shall compose the Thirty-first Senatorial District and elect one senator. Act March 6, 1883.

(tt) The exemption clause of the constitution is highly remedial and should be liberally construed. The statutory action for use and occupation is subject to exemption under this section. S. L., I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Hart, 38—112. But personal property is not exempt from judgments for tort or fraud, nor from the costs in such cases. Musick v. Enyart, 33—688.
Smith v. Ragdale, 36—297.

Exempted personal property may be sold by the debtor, and the execution creditor can not follow it into the hands of the purchaser; but property taken in exchange must take its position subject to the exemption laws in force, and retains its own nature. *Bennett v.
Hulsem, 33—762.*

The exemption laws are for the protection of the poor, and the state is subject to their operation. They apply to a judgment on a bail bond and executions issued on it. *Eate v

by such resident, not exceeding in value the sum of five hundred dollars in addition to his or her wearing apparel, and that of his or her family, shall be exempt from seizure on attachment, or sale on execution, or other process from any court on debt by contract (*).

Homestead exemption.

SEC. 3. The homestead of any resident of this state who is married or the head of a family shall not be subject to the lien of any judgment, or decree of any court, or to sale under execution or other process thereon, except such as may be rendered for the purchase money or for specific liens, laborers' or mechanics' liens for improving the same, or for taxes, or against executors, administrators, guardians, receivers, attorneys for moneys collected by them and other trustees of an express trust for moneys due from them in their fiduciary capacity (uu).

Extent of exemption of homestead outside of city, town or village.

SEC. 4. The homestead outside any city, town or village, owned and occupied as a residence, shall consist of not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres of land, with the improvements thereon, to be selected by the owner, provided the same shall not exceed in value the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars, and in no event shall the homestead be reduced to less than eighty acres, without regard to value.

Extent of exemption of homestead situate in city, town or village.

SEC. 5. The homestead in any city, town or village, owned and occupied as a residence, shall consist of not exceeding one acre of land, with the improvements thereon, to be selected by the owner, provided the same shall not exceed in value the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars, and in no event shall such homestead be reduced to less than one-quarter of an acre of land, without regard to value.

Homestead exemption for benefit of widow.

SEC. 6. If the owner of a homestead die, leaving a widow, but no children, and said widow has no separate homestead in her own right, the same shall be exempt and the rents and profits thereof shall vest in her during her natural life, provided that if the owner leaves children, one or more, said child or children shall share with said widow and be entitled to half the rents and profits till each of them arrives at twenty-one years of age—each child's rights to cease at twenty-one years of age—and the shares to go to the younger children, and then all to go to the widow, and provided that said widow or children may reside on the homestead or not; and in case of the death of the widow all of said homestead

Proviso — rights of children during minority.

(uu) As to contracts made before the adoption of the constitution of 1868, the homestead exemption act of 1852 was revived by the first section of the schedule to this constitution. Lindsay v. Norrill, 36—545. As to debts contracted after the adoption of the constitution of 1868 and before the adoption of this constitution, see section 9 of this article. For meaning of term "homestead," see Williams v. Dorris, 31—463.

A debtor does not forfeit his homestead rights by making a fraudulent conveyance of the homestead. Bennett v. Hulson, 33—762. But in a suit to set aside such conveyance the homestead must be claimed. Turner v. Vaughn, Id., 454.

A tenant in common is entitled to a homestead in the estate in common. Sentell v. Armor, 35—49. Sims v. Thompson, 39—301.

Continuous actual occupation is not necessary to preserve a homestead. Removal for a temporary purpose or with the intention of reoccupying it will not forfeit the homestead right. Euper v. Alkire, 57—283.

shall be vested in the minor children of the testator or intestate (vv).

SEC. 7. The real and personal property of any femme covert in this state acquired either before or after marriage, whether by gift, grant, inheritance, devise or otherwise, shall, so long as she may choose, be and remain her separate estate and property and may be devised, bequeathed or conveyed by her the same as if she were a femme sole, and the same shall not be subject to the debts of her husband (ww).

Separate property of married women.

SEC. 8. The general assembly shall provide for the time and mode of scheduling the separate personal property of married women.

Scheduling of separate personal property of married women

SEC. 9. The exemptions contained in the constitution of 1868 shall apply to all debts contracted since the adoption thereof and prior to the adoption of this constitution.

Effect of exemptions of constitution of 1868.

SEC. 10. The homestead provided for in this article shall inure to the benefit of the minor children, under the exemptions herein provided, after the decease of the parents.

Homestead exemption for benefit of minor orphan children.

ARTICLE X.

AGRICULTURE, MINING AND MANUFACTURE.

SECTION 1. The general assembly shall pass such laws as will foster and aid the agricultural, mining and manufacturing interests of the state, and may create a bureau to be known as the mining, manufacturing and agricultural bureau.

Agricultural, mining and manufacturing interests of state. Mining, manufacturing and agricultural bureau.

SEC. 2. The general assembly, when deemed expedient, may create the office of state geologist, to be appointed by the governor, by and with the advise and consent of the senate, who shall hold his office for such time and perform such duties and receive such compensation as may be prescribed by law. Provided, that he shall be at all times subject to removal by the governor for incompetency or gross neglect of duty.

State geologist.

Term of office.

Compensation.

Removal.

SEC. 3. The general assembly may, by general law, exempt from taxation for the term of seven years from the ratification of this constitution the capital invested in any or all kinds of mining and manufacturing business in this state, under such regulations and restrictions as may be prescribed by law.

Exemption from taxation of mines and manufactures.

(vv) See Johnston v. Turner, 29—280; Hoback v. Hoback, 33—399; Booth v. Goodwin, 29—63; Alzheimer v. Davis, 37—316.

(ww) The effect of this section is to make all property acquired after the adoption of this constitution by a woman who is, or may afterward become, covert her separate property as effectually as if conveyed to her by deed to her separate use. Ward v. Estate of Ward, 36—586. But this constitution did not and could not divest the vested marital rights of the husband acquired in lands of the wife before its adoption. Shryock v. Cannon, 39—434.

Under this provision (section 7) a married woman may convey her separate estate and acknowledge the execution of a deed for registration as a femme sole, and if her acknowledgment be insufficient to admit her deed to registration it will still be good between her and her grantee. Roberts and Wife v. Wilcoxson and Rose, 36—355. She can not, however, make an executory contract to convey land which will bind her or her heirs; but if, under such executory contract, her vendee should make payments on the land, such payments will be a charge upon it enforceable in equity upon her refusal to convey. Felkner v. Tighe, 39—357.

See also Chrisman v. Partee and Wife, 38—31.

ARTICLE XI.

MILITIA.

Persons liable to military duty.

Organization of militia.

Volunteer companies.

Privilege of militia from arrest at muster, etc.

Authority to call out volunteers and militia.

SECTION 1. The militia shall consist of all able-bodied male persons, residents of the state, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, except such as may be exempted by the laws of the United States or this state, and shall be organized, officered, armed and equipped and trained in such manner as may be provided by law.

SEC. 2. Volunteer companies of infantry, cavalry or artillery may be formed in such manner and with such restrictions as may be provided by law.

SEC. 3. The volunteer and militia forces shall in all cases (except treason, felony and breach of the peace) be privileged from arrest during their attendance at muster and the election of officers, and in going to and returning from the same.

SEC. 4. The governor shall, when the general assembly is not in session, have power to call out the volunteers or militia, or both, to execute the laws, repel invasion, repress insurrection and preserve the public peace in such manner as may be authorized by law.

ARTICLE XII.

MUNICIPAL AND PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.

Revocation of existing charters and grants for non use.

Limitation of power of incorporation by special act.

Incorporation of cities and towns.

Limitation of legislative power of municipal corporations: And of their power of taxation. Payment of existing indebtedness

SECTION 1. All existing charters or grants of special or exclusive privileges under which a bona fide organization shall not have taken place and business been commenced in good faith at the time of the adoption of this constitution shall thereafter have no validity.

SEC. 2. The general assembly shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers, except for charitable, educational, penal or reformatory purposes, where the corporations created are to be and remain under the patronage and control of the state (xx).

SEC. 3. The general assembly shall provide, by general laws, for the organization of cities (which may be classified) and incorporated towns, and restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money and contracting debts, so as to prevent the abuse of such power (yy).

SEC. 4. No municipal corporation shall be authorized to pass any laws contrary to the general laws of the state; nor levy any tax on real or personal property to a greater extent, in one year, than five mills on the dollar of the assessed value of the same. Provided, that, to pay indebtedness existing at the time of the adoption of this constitution, an additional tax of not more than five mills on the dollar may be levied (zz).

(xx) See City of Little Rock v. Parish, county clerk, 36—166.

(yy) A municipal corporation has no inherent power to levy taxes. It can only levy such as are authorized by law, and the legislature has power, subject to constitutional limitations, to provide in what manner and to what extent taxes shall be levied to support municipal corporations and how their debts shall be paid. Vance v. City of Little Rock, 30—435. See note (bbb) post.

SEC. 5. No county, city, town or other municipal corporation shall become a stockholder in any company, association or corporation; or obtain or appropriate money for, or loan its credit to, any corporation, association, institution or individual.

Municipal corporations not to become stockholders. Or financially assist corporations, etc.

SEC. 6. Corporations may be formed under general laws, which laws may, from time to time, be altered or repealed. The general assembly shall have the power to alter, revoke or annul any charter of incorporation now existing and revokable at the adoption of this constitution, or any that may hereafter be created, whenever, in their opinion, it may be injurious to the citizens of this state, in such manner, however, that no injustice shall be done to the corporators.

General incorporation laws. Power of alteration and revocation.

SEC. 7. Except as herein provided, the state shall never become a stockholder in, or subscribe to, or be interested in, the stock of any corporation or association.

State not to be interested in stock of corporations, etc.

SEC. 8. No private corporation shall issue stocks or bonds, except for money or property actually received or labor done, and all fictitious increase of stock or indebtedness shall be void; nor shall the stock or bonded indebtedness of any private corporation be increased, except in pursuance of general laws, nor until the consent of the persons holding the larger amount in value of stock shall be obtained at a meeting held after notice given for a period not less than sixty days, in pursuance of law.

Issue and increase of stock, etc., of private corporations.

SEC. 9. No property, nor right of way, shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation until full compensation therefor shall be first made to the owner, in money, or first secured to him by a deposit of money, which compensation, irrespective of any benefit from any improvement proposed by such corporation, shall be ascertained by a jury of twelve men, in a court of competent jurisdiction, as shall be prescribed by law (aaa).

Compensation for property and right of way taken for use of corporations.

SEC. 10. No act of the general assembly shall be passed authorizing the issue of bills, notes or other paper which may circulate as money.

Legislation authorizing issue of circulating paper prohibited.

SEC. 11. Foreign corporations may be authorized to do business in this state under such limitations and restrictions as may be prescribed by law. Provided, that no such corporation shall do any business in this state except while it maintains therein one or more known places of business and an authorized agent or agents

Foreign corporations.

(zz) It was the intention of the constitutional convention to cut off utterly all power in counties, cities and towns to levy taxes beyond the limits assigned in this section and in section 9 of article 16. But where bonds had been lawfully issued by them, under a law directing a levy of taxes to pay them, such bonds are protected by the constitution of the United States; and the constitutional limit of five mills for old indebtedness existing at the ratification of the constitution may be exceeded, if necessary, for the payment of such debts. But there is no power after having levied a tax for such protected debt to levy besides a tax of five mills for other indebtedness. Brodie v. McCabe, 33—690. See note (bbh) post.

in the same upon whom process may be served; and, as to contracts made or business done in this state, they shall be subject to the same regulations, limitations and liabilities as like corporations of this state, and shall exercise no other or greater powers, privileges or franchises than may be exercised by like corporations of this state, nor shall they have power to condemn or appropriate private property.

State not to assume liabilities of counties or corporations.

Exceptions.

Indebtedness of corporations to state.

SEC. 12. Except as herein otherwise provided, the state shall never assume or pay the debt or liability of any county, town, city or other corporation whatever, or any part thereof, unless such debt or liability shall have been created to repel invasion, suppress insurrection or to provide for the public welfare and defense. Nor shall the indebtedness of any corporation to the state ever be released or in any manner discharged save by payment into the public treasury.

ARTICLE XIII.

COUNTIES, COUNTY SEATS AND COUNTY LINES (bbb).

Minimum limits of counties prescribed.

Exceptions.

Consent of voters of territory affected requisite to change of county lines.

Change of county seat.

County seats of new counties.

Lines of new counties.

Division of Sebastian County into two districts

SECTION 1. No county now established shall be reduced to an area of less than six hundred square miles nor to less than five thousand inhabitants; nor shall any new county be established with less than six hundred square miles and five thousand inhabitants (ccc). Provided, that this section shall not apply to the Counties of Lafayette, Pope and Johnson, nor be so construed as to prevent the general assembly from changing the line between the Counties of Pope and Johnson.

SEC. 2. No part of a county shall be taken off to form a new county or a part thereof without the consent of a majority of the voters in such part proposed to be taken off (ddd).

SEC. 3. No county seat shall be established or changed without the consent of a majority of the qualified voters of the county to be affected by such change, nor until the place at which it is proposed to establish or change such county seat shall be fully designated. Provided, that in formation of new counties the county seat may be located temporarily by provisions of law.

SEC. 4. In the formation of new counties no line thereof shall run within ten miles of the county seat of the county proposed to be divided, except the county seat of Lafayette County.

SEC. 5. Sebastian County may have two districts and two county seats, at which county, probate and circuit courts shall be held as may be provided by law, each district paying its own expenses.

(bbb) Counties, cities and towns are municipal corporations created by the legislature, and derive all their powers from it unless otherwise provided by the state constitution. Eagle v. Beard, 33—497.

(ccc) See Bittle v. Stuart, judge, 34—224.

(ddd) The power to change county lines is inherent in the legislature, subject to express constitutional restrictions and the essential requisites of the state which are implied in our frame of government. The consent of a majority of the voters in the part taken off is only required in the case of new counties to be formed out of portions of old ones. Reynolds v. Holland, 35—56; Pulaski Co. v. County Judge of Saline Co., 37—339.

ARTICLE XIV.

EDUCATION.

SECTION 1. Intelligence and virtue being the safeguards of liberty and the bulwark of a free and good government, the state shall ever maintain a general, suitable and efficient system of free schools whereby all persons in the state between the ages of six and twenty-one years may receive gratuitous instruction.

Free school system.

SEC. 2. No money or property belonging to the public school fund, or to this state for the benefit of schools or universities, shall ever be used for any other than for the respective purposes to which it belongs.

School funds to be used exclusively for purposes for which set apart.

SEC. 3. The general assembly shall provide by general laws for the support of common schools by taxes, which shall never exceed in any one year two mills on the dollar on the taxable property of the state, and by an annual per capita tax of one dollar, to be assessed on every male inhabitant of this state over the age of twenty-one years. Provided, the general assembly may by general law authorize school districts to levy by a vote of the qualified electors of such district a tax not to exceed five mills on the dollar in any one year for school purposes (eee). Provided further, that no such tax shall be appropriated to any other purpose nor to any other district than that for which it was levied.

State school tax.

Poll tax for school fund.

School district tax.

SEC. 4. The supervision of public schools and the execution of the laws regulating the same shall be vested in and confided to such officers as may be provided for by the general assembly.

Supervision of public schools etc.

ARTICLE XV.

IMPEACHMENT AND ADDRESS.

SECTION 1. The governor and all state officers, judges of the supreme and circuit courts, chancellors and prosecuting attorneys shall be liable to impeachment for high crimes and misdemeanors and gross misconduct in office, but the judgment shall go no further than removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under this state. An impeachment, whether successful or not, shall be no bar to an indictment.

Impeachments.

Judgment.

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment. All impeachments shall be tried by the senate. When sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation; no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members thereof. The chief justice shall preside unless he is impeached or otherwise disqualified, when the senate shall select a presiding officer.

Power of impeachment. Trial.

(eee) This clause deprived the county courts of jurisdiction to levy the district school taxes in cities and towns organized into single school districts upon the estimate of the board of school directors and without a vote of the electors of the district. Cole v. Blackwell, 38-271.

Removal upon
address.

SEC. 3. The governor, upon the joint address of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the general assembly, for good cause, may remove the auditor, treasurer, secretary of state, attorney-general, judges of the supreme and circuit courts, chancellors and prosecuting attorneys.

ARTICLE XVI.

FINANCE AND TAXATION.

Loan of public credit prohibited

Issue of interest bearing evidences of public indebtedness, except to pay present debt, prohibited.

Payment of state debt.

Misappropria-
tion of public moneys.

Salaries and fees.

Clerks, etc., of
state.

Uniform rule of

Taxation of privileges, etc.

SECTION 1. Neither the state nor any city, county, town or other municipality in this state shall ever loan its credit for any purpose whatever; nor shall any county, city, town or municipality ever issue any interest-bearing evidences of indebtedness, except such bonds as may be authorized by law to provide for and secure the payment of the present existing indebtedness, and the state shall never issue any interest-bearing treasury warrants or scrip (fff).

SEC. 2. The general assembly shall from time to time provide for the payment of all just and legal debts of the state.

SEC. 3. The making of profit out of public moneys, or using the same for any purpose not authorized by law, by any officer of the state or member or officer of the general assembly, shall be punishable as may be provided by law; but part of such punishment shall be disqualification to hold office in this state for a period of five years.

SEC. 4. The general assembly shall fix the salaries and fees of all officers in the state, and no greater salary or fee than that fixed by law shall be paid to any officer, employe or other person, or at any rate other than par value; and the number and salaries of the clerks and employes of the different departments of the state shall be fixed by law.

SEC. 5. All property subject to taxation shall be taxed according to its value (ggg), that value to be ascertained in such manner as the general assembly shall direct, making the same equal and uniform throughout the state. No one species of property from which a tax may be collected shall be taxed higher than another species of property of equal value, provided the general assembly shall have power from time to time to tax hawkers, peddlers, ferries, exhibitions and privileges in such manner as may be deemed proper. Provided, further, that the following property shall be exempt from taxation: Public property used exclusively for public purposes; churches used as such; cemeteries used exclusively as such; school buildings and apparatus; libraries and grounds used exclusively for school purposes, and buildings and grounds and materials used exclusively for public charity.

(fff) County scrip issued since the adoption of this constitution can not be made to bear interest by the treasurer's indorsement thereon, "Not paid for want of funds." Jacks & Co. v. Turner, 36—89.

(ggg) See Lee Co. v. Abrahams, 34—166; Murphy v. State, 38—514; Peay v. City of Little Rock, 32—31.

SEC. 6. All laws exempting property from taxation other than as provided in this constitution shall be void.

Exemption by statutory enactment void.

SEC. 7. The power to tax corporations and corporate property shall not be surrendered or suspended by any contract or grant to which the state may be a party.

Taxation of corporate property.

SEC. 8. The general assembly shall not have power to levy state taxes for any one year to exceed in the aggregate one per cent. of the assessed valuation of the property of the state for that year.

Maximum rate of state taxes.

SEC. 9. No county shall levy a tax to exceed one-half of one per cent. for all purposes, but may levy an additional one-half of one per cent. to pay indebtedness existing at the time of the ratification of this constitution (hhh).

Maximum rate of county taxes.

SEC. 10. The taxes of counties, towns and cities shall only be payable in lawful currency of the United States, or the orders or warrants of said counties, towns and cities respectively.

County and municipal taxes, in what payable.

SEC. 11. No tax shall be levied except in pursuance of law, and every law imposing a tax shall state distinctly the object of the same; and no moneys arising from a tax levied for one purpose shall be used for any other purpose.

Levy and specific appropriation of taxes.

SEC. 12. No money shall be paid out of the treasury until the same shall have been appropriated by law, and then only in accordance with said appropriation.

Disbursements.

SEC. 13. Any citizen of any county, city or town may institute suit in behalf of himself and all others interested, to protect the inhabitants thereof against the enforcement of any illegal exactions whatever (iii).

Right of citizen to sue in behalf of inhabitants of county or municipality.

ARTICLE XVII.

RAILROADS, CANALS AND TURNPIKES.

SECTION 1. All railroads, canals and turnpikes shall be public highways, and all railroads and canal companies shall be common carriers. Any association or corporation organized for the purpose shall have the right to construct and operate a railroad between any points within this state, and to connect at the state line with railroads of other states. Every railroad company shall have the right with its road to intersect, connect with or cross any other road, and shall receive and transport each the other's passengers, tonnage and cars, loaded or empty, without delay or discrimination.

Railroads, etc., public highways. Transportation companies common carriers. Right to construct railroads.

Intersection and connection of railroads.

(hhh) See note (zz) ante. This section creates a limitation upon the taxing power of the counties unless there be an exceptional case arising under prior contracts, and neither the legislature, nor the state courts, nor the federal courts, can direct or force a county to make a valid levy in excess of such limitation. Graham v. Parham, 32—676. See also Lee Co. v. The State, 36—281; Cope Co., Judge, v. Collins, 37—649.

(iii) By this section chancery has power to inquire into the validity of municipal exactions, and to enjoin their collection when found invalid; but to enjoin a city from prosecutions for violations of its ordinances is beyond its usual relief. Taylor v. Pine Bluff 34—663; Oil Co. v. Little Rock, 39—412.

Transportation companies to maintain office in state.
Transfers of stock.
Books.

SEC. 2. Every railroad, canal or turnpike corporation operated or partly operated in this state shall maintain one office therein, where transfers of its stock shall be made and where its books shall be kept for inspection by any stockholder or creditor of such corporation, in which shall be recorded the amount of capital stock subscribed or paid in, and the amounts owned by them respectively, the transfers of said stock and the names and places of residence of the officers.

Equal right to transportation.

SEC. 3. All individuals, associations and corporations shall have equal right to have persons and property transported over railroads, canals and turnpikes, and no undue or unreasonable discrimination shall be made in charges for, or in facilities for transportation of freight or passengers within the state, or coming from or going to any other state. Persons and property transported over any railroad shall be delivered at any station at charges not exceeding the charges for transportation of persons and property of the same class in the same direction to any more distant station; but excursion and commutation tickets may be issued at special rates.

Regulation of charges.

Parallel or competing lines of transportation not to be consolidated or controlled by same parties.

SEC. 4. No railroad, canal or other corporation, or the lessees, purchasers or managers of any railroad, canal or corporation, shall consolidate the stock, property or franchises of such corporation with or lease or purchase the works or franchises of, or in any way control, any other railroad or canal corporation owning or having under its control a parallel or competing line, nor shall any officer of such railroad or canal corporation act as an officer of any other railroad or canal corporation owning or having control of a parallel or competing line; and the question whether railroads or canals are parallel or competing lines shall, when demanded by the party complainant, be decided by a jury as in other civil issues.

Prohibitions upon officers, etc., of transportation companies.

SEC. 5. No president, director, officer, agent or employe of any railroad or canal company shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in the furnishing of materials or supplies to such company or in the business of transportation as a common carrier of freight or passengers over the works owned, leased, controlled or worked by such company; nor in any arrangement which shall afford more advantageous terms or greater facilities than are offered or accorded to the public. And all contracts and arrangements in violation of this section shall be void.

Discrimination of charges between transportation companies and individuals prohibited.
Preferences in furnishing cars or motive power prohibited.

SEC. 6. No discrimination in charges or facilities for transportation shall be made between transportation companies and individuals or in favor of either by abatement, drawback or otherwise, and no railroad or canal company or any lessee, manager or employe thereof shall make any preferences in furnishing cars or motive power.

General assembly to prevent grant of free passes to officers of the state.

SEC. 7. The general assembly shall prevent by law the granting of free passes by any railroad or transportation company to any officer of this state, legislative, executive or judicial.

SEC. 8. The general assembly shall not remit the forfeiture of the charter of any corporation now existing, or alter or amend the same or pass any general or special law for the benefit of such corporation, except on condition that such corporation shall thereafter hold its charter subject to the provisions of this constitution.

Conditions of remission of forfeiture of charter or legislation favorable to corporations.

SEC. 9. The exercise of the right of eminent domain shall never be abridged or so construed as to prevent the general assembly from taking the property and franchises of incorporated companies and subjecting them to public use the same as the property of individuals.

Eminent domain over property of corporations.

SEC. 10. The general assembly shall pass laws to correct abuses and prevent unjust discrimination and excessive charges by railroad, canal and turnpike companies for transporting freight and passengers, and shall provide for enforcing such laws by adequate penalties and forfeitures.

Legislation to prevent abuses by transportation companies.

SEC. 11. The rolling stock and all other movable property belonging to any railroad company or corporation in this state shall be considered personal property, and shall be liable to execution and sale in the same manner as the personal property of individuals, and the general assembly shall pass no law exempting any such property from execution and sale.

Movable property of corporations personal property; Not to be exempted from taxation.

SEC. 12. All railroads which are now or may be hereafter built and operated, either in whole or in part, in this state shall be responsible for all damages to persons and property, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the general assembly.

Damages by railroads to persons and property.

SEC. 13. The directors of every railroad corporation shall annually make a report under oath to the auditor of public accounts of all of their acts and doings, which report shall include such matters relating to railroads as may be prescribed by law, and the general assembly shall pass laws enforcing by suitable penalties the provisions of this section.

Annual report of railroad companies to auditor.

SCHEDULE.

Retention of existing laws.

Effect of exemption laws in force at adoption of constitution of 1868.

Distinction between sealed and unsealed instruments.

Competency of witnesses.

First general election for officers and election for submission of constitution to the people.

SECTION 1. All laws now in force which are not in conflict or inconsistent with this constitution shall continue in force until amended or repealed by the general assembly, and all laws exempting property from sale on execution or by decree of a court which were in force at the time of the adoption of the constitution of 1868 shall remain in force with regard to contracts made before that time. Until otherwise provided by law, no distinction shall exist between sealed and unsealed instruments concerning contracts between individuals executed since the adoption of the constitution of 1868, provided that the statutes of limitation with regard to sealed and unsealed instruments in force at that time continue to apply to all instruments afterward executed until altered or repealed (mmm).

SEC. 2. In civil actions no witness shall be excluded because he is a party to the suit or interested in the issue to be tried (nnn). Provided, that in actions by or against executors, administrators or guardians in which judgment may be rendered for or against them, neither party shall be allowed to testify against the other as to any transactions with or statements of the testator, intestate or ward, unless called to testify thereto by the opposite party (ooo). Provided, further, that this section may be amended or repealed by the general assembly.

SEC. 3. An election shall be held at the several election precincts of every county of the state on Tuesday, the 13th day of October, 1874, for governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney-general, commissioner of state lands for two years, unless the office is sooner abolished by the general assembly, chancellor and clerk of the separate chancery court of Pulaski County, chief justice and two associate justices of the supreme court, a circuit judge and prosecuting attorney for each judicial circuit provided for in this constitution, senators and representatives to the general assembly, all county and township officers

(mmm) This section continues in force, subject to legislation, the provision of the constitution of 1868 abolishing private seals, but limits its application to instruments executed after the adoption of that constitution. It also renews the application of the statute of limitations of ten years (existing at the date of the adoption of the constitution of 1868) to sealed instruments executed after that date, and not barred by the limitation applicable to unsealed instruments when this constitution was adopted. Dyer v. Gill, 32—410. See also Shinn v. Tucker, 33—421.

As to first and second clauses of this section, see note (nn) to sec. 28, art. VII; note (uu) to sec. 3, art. IX, and Worthen v. Roots, 34—363.

(nnn) Husband and wife are still incompetent to testify for or against each other. Collins v. Mack, 31—684; Watkins v. Turner, 34—663. But a married woman interpleading for property seized as her husband's in an action of replevin against him is a competent witness for herself on the trial of the interplea. Berlin v. Cantrell, 33—611. And in an action against husband and wife to foreclose a mortgage on a homestead, the wife may defend to avoid foreclosure of dower, and as to this may testify for herself, but not in aid of the defense of her husband. Klenk v. Noble and wife, 37—238.

The evidence of the parties in a suit for divorce is admissible, but will not sustain a decree unless corroborated. Brown v. Brown, 38—324; Kurtz v. Kurtz, Id., 119.

(ooo) See Giles v. Wright, 26—476; Bozeman v. Browning, 31—364; Wassell v. Armstrong, 35—247; Bird v. Jones, 37—195.

provided for in this constitution; and also for the submission of this constitution to the qualified electors of the state for its adoption or rejection.

SEC. 4. The qualification of voters at the election to be held as provided in this schedule shall be the same as is now prescribed by law.

Qualifications of voters thereat.

SEC. 5. The state board of supervisors hereinafter mentioned shall give notice of said election immediately after the adoption of this constitution by this convention by proclamation in at least two newspapers published at Little Rock and such other newspapers as they may select. And each county board of supervisors shall give public notice in their respective counties of said election immediately after their appointment.

Notice thereof.

SEC. 6. The governor shall also issue a proclamation enjoining upon all peace officers the duty of preserving good order on the day of said election and preventing any disturbance of the same.

Governor's proclamation enjoining good order at such election.

SEC. 7. Augustus H. Garland, Gordon N. Peay and Dudley E. Jones are hereby constituted a state board of supervisors of said election, who shall take an oath faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties of their office, a majority of whom shall be a quorum, and who shall perform the duties herein assigned them. Should a vacancy occur in said board by refusal to serve, death, removal, resignation or otherwise, or if any member should become incapacitated from performing said duties, the remaining members of the board shall fill the vacancy by appointment. But, if all the places on said board become vacant at the same time, the said vacancies shall be filled by the president of this convention.

Vacancies therein.

SEC. 8. Said state board shall at once proceed to appoint a board of election supervisors for each county of this state, consisting of three men of known intelligence and uprightness of character, who shall take the same oath as above provided for the state board. A majority of each board shall constitute a quorum and shall perform the duties herein assigned to them; and vacancies occurring in the county boards shall be filled by the state board.

County boards of supervisors of election.

Vacancies therein.

SEC. 9. The state board shall provide the form of poll-books, and each county board shall furnish the judges of each election precinct with three copies of the poll-books in the form prescribed and with ballot-boxes at the expense of the county.

Poll-books and ballot-boxes for the election.

SEC. 10. The state board of supervisors shall cause to be furnished in pamphlet form a sufficient number of copies of this constitution to supply each county supervisor and judge of election with a copy, and shall forward the same to the county election boards for distribution.

Distribution to officers of the election of copies of the constitution.

SEC. 11. The boards of county election supervisors shall at once proceed to appoint three judges of election for each election precinct in their respective counties, and the judges shall appoint three election clerks for their respective precincts, all of whom shall be good, competent men, and take an oath as prescribed Judges of the election and election clerks.

Case of absence of judges of the election from the polls.	above. Should the judges of any election precinct fail to attend at the time and place provided by law or decline to act, the assembled electors shall choose competent persons in the manner provided by law to act in their place, who shall be sworn as above.
Conduct of the election. Qualifications of voters, how decided.	SEC. 12. Said election shall be conducted in accordance with existing laws, except as herein provided. As the electors present themselves at the polls to vote the judges of the election shall pass upon their qualifications and the clerks of the election shall register their names on the poll-books if qualified; and such registration by said clerks shall be a sufficient registration in conformity with the constitution of this state, and then their votes shall be taken.
Registration.
Style of ballot.	SEC. 13. Each elector shall have written or printed on his ticket "For Constitution" or "Against Constitution," and also the offices and the names of the candidates for the offices for whom he desires to vote.
Deposit of tickets. Election to vote only in township or ward of residence. Numbering of tickets.	SEC. 14. The judges shall deposit the tickets in the ballot-box; but no elector shall vote outside of the township or ward in which he resides. The names of the electors shall be numbered, and the corresponding numbers shall be placed on the ballots by the judges when deposited.
Drinking houses to be closed on day of the election. Sale or gift of intoxicating liquor prohibited.	SEC. 15. All dram shops and drinking houses in this state shall be closed during the day of said election and the succeeding night, and any person selling or giving away intoxicating liquors during said day or night shall be punished by fine not less than two hundred dollars for each and every offense, or imprisoned not less than six months, or both.
Hours of voting. Counting of ballots.	SEC. 16. The polls shall be opened at eight o'clock in the forenoon and shall be kept open until sunset. After the polls are closed the ballots shall be counted by the judges at the place of voting as soon as the polls are closed, unless prevented by violence or accident, and the results by them certified on the poll-books and the ballots sealed up. They shall be returned to the county board of election supervisors, who shall proceed to cast up the votes and ascertain and state the number of votes cast for the constitution and the number cast against the constitution, and also the number of votes cast for each candidate voted for for any office, and shall forthwith forward to the state board of supervisors, duly certified by them, one copy of the statement or abstracts of the votes so made out by them, retain one copy in their possession and file one copy in the office of the county clerk, where they shall also deposit for safe-keeping the ballots, sealed up, and one copy of the poll-books, retaining possession of the other copies.
Disposition of returns.
Copies of abstract of returns, ballots and poll-books, where filed.
Ascertainment and publication of result of election on adoption of constitution.	SEC. 17. The state board of supervisors shall at once proceed, on receiving such returns from the county board, to ascertain therefrom and state the whole number of votes given for the constitution and the whole number given against it, and if a majority of all votes cast be in favor of the constitution they shall at once make public that fact by publication in two or more of the leading newspapers published in the City of Little Rock, and this constitution, from that date, shall be in force; and they shall also make out and file in the office of the secretary of state an abstract of all the votes cast for the constitution and all the votes cast against it, and also an abstract of all votes cast for every candidate voted for at the election, and file the same in the office of the secretary of state, showing the candidates elected. They shall also make out and certify and lay before each house of the general assembly a list of the members elected to that house, and shall also make out, certify and deliver to the speaker of the house of representatives an abstract of all votes cast at the election for any and all persons for the office of governor, secretary of state, treasurer of state, auditor of state, attorney-general and commissioner of state lands, and the said speaker shall cast up the votes and announce the names of the persons elected to these offices. The governor, secretary of state, treasurer of state, auditor of state, attorney-general and commissioner of state lands chosen at said election shall qualify and enter upon the discharge of the duties of their respective offices within fifteen days after the announcement of their election as aforesaid.

SEC. 18. All officers shown to be elected by the abstract of said election filed by the state board of supervisors in the office of the secretary of state, required by this constitution to be commissioned, shall be commissioned by the governor.

SEC. 19. At said election the qualified voters of each county and senatorial district, as defined in article eight of this constitution, shall elect respectively representatives and senators according to the numbers and apportionment contained in said article. The board of election supervisors of each county shall furnish certificates of election to the person or persons elected to the house of representatives as soon as practicable after the result of the election has been ascertained, and such board of election supervisors in each county shall make a correct return of the election for senator or senators to the board of election supervisors of the county first named in the senatorial apportionment, and said board shall furnish certificates of election to the person or persons elected as senator or senators in said senatorial district as soon as practicable.

SEC. 20. All officers elected under this constitution, except the governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer, attorney-general and commissioner of state lands, shall enter upon the duties of their several offices when they shall have been declared duly elected by said state board of supervisors and shall have duly qualified. All such officers shall qualify and enter upon the duties of their offices within fifteen days after they have been duly notified of their election.

SEC. 21. Upon the qualification of the officers elected at said election the present incumbents of the offices for which the election is held shall vacate the same and turn over to the officers thus elected and qualified all books, papers, records, moneys and documents belonging or pertaining to said offices by them respectively held.

state lands.

Penalty of fraud
by officers of the

SEC. 25. Any election officer appointed under the provisions of this schedule who shall fraudulently and corruptly permit any person to vote illegally, or refuse the vote of any qualified elector, cast up or make a false return of said election, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five years nor more than ten years. And any person who shall vote when not a qualified elector, or vote more than once, or bribe any one to vote contrary to his wishes, or intimidate or prevent any elector by threats, menace or promises from voting, shall be guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than five years.

Or other persons.

at the election.

SEC. 26. All officers elected at the election provided for in this schedule shall hold their offices for the respective periods provided for in the foregoing constitution, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The first general elections after the ratification of this constitution shall be held on the first Monday of September, A. D. 1876. Nothing in this constitution and the schedule thereto shall be so construed as to prevent the election of congressmen at the time as now prescribed by law.

Election of congressmen.

Appropriation to
of the election.

SEC. 27. The sum of five thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated to defray the expenses of the election provided for in this schedule, and the auditor of state shall draw his warrant on the treasurer for such expenses not exceeding said amount on the certificate of the state board of supervisors of election.

Present salaries

SEC. 28. For the period of two years from the adoption of this constitution, and until otherwise provided by law, the respective officers herein enumerated shall receive for their services the following salaries per annum:

For governor the sum of $3,500.00; for secretary of state the sum of $2,000.00; for treasurer the sum of $2,500.00; for auditor the sum of $2,500.00; for attorney-general the sum of $2,000.00; for commissioner of state lands the sum of $2,000.00; for judges of the supreme court, each, the sum of $3,500.00; for judges of circuit and chancery courts, each, the sum of $2,500.00; for prosecuting attorneys, each, the sum of $400.00; for members of the general assembly the sum of $6.00 per day and twenty cents per mile for each mile traveled in going to and returning from the seat of government over the most direct and practicable route.

Per diem and mileage of members of general assembly.

Done in convention at Little Rock the seventh day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and of the Independence of the United States the ninety-ninth.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto subscribed our names.

THE

OF

OF 1836.

We, the people of the Territory of Arkansas, by our representatives, in convention assembled, at Little Rock, on Monday, the fourth day of January, A. D. 1836, and of the independence of the United States the sixtieth year, having the right of admission into the union as one of the United States of America, consistent with the federal constitution, and by virtue of the treaty of cession by France to the United States of the Province of Louisiana, in order to secure to ourselves and our posterity the enjoyment of all the rights of life, liberty and property, and the free pursuit of happiness, do mutually agree with each other to form ourselves into a free and independent state, by the name and style of "The State of Arkansas," and do ordain and establish the following constitution for the government thereof:

ARTICLE I.

OF BOUNDARIES.

We do declare and establish, ratify and confirm the following as the permanent boundaries of said State of Arkansas, that is to say: Beginning in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River, on the parallel of thirty-six degrees north latitude; running from thence west with the said parallel of latitude to the St. Francis River; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river to the parallel of thirty-six degrees thirty minutes north; from thence west to the south-west corner of the State of Missouri; and from thence to be bounded on the west to the north bank of Red River, as by acts of congress and treaties heretofore defining the western limits of the Territory of Arkansas; and to be bounded on the south side of Red River by the Mexican boundary line to the north-west corner of the State of Louisiana; thence east with the Louisiana state line to the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river to the thirty-sixth degree of north latitude, the point of beginning.

ARTICLE II.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

That the great and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and unalterably established, WE DECLARE:

SECTION 1. That all free men, when they form a social compact, are equal and have certain inherent and indefeasible rights, amongst which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty; of acquiring, possessing and protecting property and reputation, and of pursuing their own happiness.

SEC. 2. That all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their peace, safety and happiness. For the advancement of these ends they have, at all times, an unqualified right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think proper.

SEC. 3. That all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own conscience, and no man can of right be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship or to maintain any ministry against his consent; that no human authority can, in any case whatever, interfere with the rights of conscience, and that no preference shall ever be given to any religious establishment or mode of worship.

SEC. 4. That the civil rights, privileges or capacities of any citizen shall in no wise be diminished or enlarged on account of his religion.

SEC. 5. That all elections shall be free and equal.

SEC. 6. That the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate.

SEC. 7. That printing presses shall be free to every person, and no law shall ever be made to restrain the rights thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty.

SEC. 8. In prosecutions for the publication of papers investigating the official conduct of officers or men in public capacity, or where the matter published is proper for public information, the truth thereof may be given in evidence; and in all indictments for libels the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts.

SEC. 9. That the people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers and possessions from unreasonable searches and seizures, and that general warrants, whereby any officer may be commanded to search suspected places without evidence of the fact committed, or to seize any person or persons not named whose offenses are not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty and shall not be granted.

SEC. 10. That no free man shall be taken or imprisoned, or dis seized of his freehold, liberties or privileges, or outlawed or exiled, or in any manner destroyed or deprived of his life, liberty or property, but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land.

SEC. 11. That in all criminal prosecutions the accused hath a right to be heard by himself and counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof; to meet the witnesses face to face; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and in prosecutions by indictment or presentment a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district in which the crime shall have been committed, and shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

SEC. 12. That no person shall, for the same offense, be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb.

SEC. 13. That all penalties shall be reasonable and proportioned to the nature of the offense.

SEC. 14. That no man shall be put to answer any criminal charge but by presentment, indictment or impeachment.

SEC. 15. That no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

SEC. 16. That all prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient securities, unless in capital offenses where the proof is evident or the presumption great. And the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless where, in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

SEC. 17. That excessive bail shall in no case be required nor excessive fines imposed.

SEC. 18. That no ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, shall ever be made.

SEC. 19. That perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a republic and shall not be allowed, nor shall any hereditary emolument, privileges or honors ever be granted or conferred in this state.

SEC. 20. That the citizens have a right, in a peaceable manner, to assemble together for their common good, to instruct their representatives and to apply to those invested with the power of the government for redress of grievances or other proper purposes by address or remonstrance.

SEC. 21. That the free white men of this state shall have a right to keep and to bear arms for their common defense.

SEC. 22. That no soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 23. The military shall be kept in strict subordination to the civil power.

SEC. 24. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people; and, to guard against any encroachments on the rights herein retained or any transgression of any of the higher powers herein delegated, we declare that everything in this article is excepted out of the general powers of the government and shall forever remain inviolate, and that all laws contrary thereto, or to the other provisions herein contained, shall be void.

ARTICLE III.

OF DEPARTMENTS.

SECTION 1. The powers of the government of the State of Arkansas shall be divided into three distinct departments, each of them to be confided to a separate body of magistracy, to wit: Those which are legislative to one, those which are executive to another and those which are judicial to another.

SEC. 2. No person or collection of persons, being of one of those departments, shall exercise any power belonging to either of the others, except in the instances hereinafter expressly directed or permitted.

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of this state shall be vested in a general assembly, which shall consist of a senate and a house of representatives.

QUALIFICATION OF ELECTORS.

SEC. 2. Every free white male citizen of the United States who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years and who shall have been a citizen of this state six months shall be deemed a qualified elector, and be entitled to vote in the county or district where he actually resides for each and every office made elective under this state or under the United States. Provided, that no soldier, seaman or marine in the army or navy of the United States shall be entitled to vote at any election within this state.

TIME OF CHOOSING REPRESENTATIVES.

SEC. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of members to be chosen every second year by the qualified electors of the several counties.

QUALIFICATION OF A REPRESENTATIVE.

SEC. 4. No person shall be a member of the house of representatives who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, who shall not be a free white male citizen of the United States, who shall not have been an inhabitant of this state one year, and who shall not at the time of his election have an actual residence in the county he may be chosen to represent.

QUALIFICATION OF A SENATOR.

SEC. 5. The senate shall consist of members to be chosen every four years by the qualified electors of the several districts.

SEC. 6. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, who shall not be a free white male citizen of the United States, who shall not have been an inhabitant of this state one year, and who shall not at the time of his election have an actual residence in the district he may be chosen to represent.

MEETING OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

SEC. 7. The general assembly shall meet every two years, on the first Monday of November, at the seat of government, until altered by law.

MODE OF ELECTION AND TIME, AND PRIVILEGE OF ELECTORS.

SEC. 8. All general elections shall be viva voce until otherwise directed by law, and shall commence and be holden every two years on the first Monday in October until altered by law, and the electors, in all cases except in cases of treason, felony and breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest during their attendance on elections, and in going to and returning therefrom.

DUTY OF GOVERNOR.

SEC. 9. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as shall occur in either house of the general assembly.

SEC. 10. No judge of the supreme, circuit or inferior courts of law or equity, secretary of state, attorney for the state, state auditor or treasurer, register or recorder, clerk of any court of record, sheriff, coroner, member of congress, nor any other person holding any lucrative office under the United States or this state (militia officers, justices of the peace, postmasters and judges of the county court excepted), shall be eligible to a seat in either house of the general assembly.

SEC. 11. No person who now is, or shall be hereafter, a collector or holder of public money, nor any assistant or deputy of such holder or collector of public money, shall be eligible to a seat in either house of the general assembly, nor to any office of profit or trust, until he shall have accounted for and paid over all sums for which he may have been liable.

SEC. 12. The general assembly shall exclude from every office of trust or profit, and from the right of suffrage within this state, all persons convicted of bribery, perjury or other infamous crime.

SEC. 13. Every person who shall have been convicted of directly or indirectly giving or offering any bribe to procure his election or appointment shall be disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit under this state; and any person who shall give or offer any bribe to procure the election or appointment of any person shall, on conviction thereof, be disqualified from being an elector or from holding office of trust or profit under this state.

SEC. 14. No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office under this state which shall have been created or the emoluments of which shall have been increased during his continuance of office, except to such office as shall be filled by the election of the people.

SEC. 15. Each house shall appoint its own officers, and shall judge of the qualifications, returns and elections of its own members. Two-thirds of each house shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house shall provide.

SEC. 16. Each house may determine the rule of its proceedings, punish its own members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled the second time for the same offense. They shall each, from time to time, publish a journal of their proceedings, except such parts as may, in their opinion, require secrecy; and the yeas and nays upon any question shall be entered on the journal at the desire of any five members.

SEC. 17. The door of each house when in session, or in committee of the whole, shall be kept open, except in cases which may require secrecy; and each house may punish by fine and imprisonment any person not a member who shall be guilty of disrespect to the house, by any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence during their session; but such imprisonment shall not extend beyond the final adjournment of that session.

SEC. 18. Bills may originate in either house and be amended or rejected by the other, and every bill shall be read on three different days in each house, unless two-thirds of the house where the same is pending shall dispense with the rules; and every bill having passed both houses shall be signed by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives.

SEC. 19. Whenever an officer, civil or military, shall be appointed by the joint or concurrent vote of both houses, or by the separate vote of either house, of the general assembly, the vote shall be taken viva voce and entered on the journal.

SEC. 20. The senators and representatives shall in all cases except treason, felony or breach of the peace be privileged from arrest during the session of the general assembly, and for fifteen days before the commencement and after the termination of each session; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

SEC. 21. The members of the general assembly shall severally receive from the public treasury compensation for their services, which may be increased or diminished; but no alteration of such compensation of members shall take effect during the session at which it is made.

MANNER OF BRINGING SUITS AGAINST THE STATE.

SEC. 22. The general assembly shall direct by law in what courts and in what manner suits may be commenced against the state.

SEC. 23. They shall have power to pass all laws that are necessary to prohibit the introduction into this state of any slave or slaves who may have committed any high crime in any other state or territory.

SEC. 24. The general assembly shall not have power to pass any bill of divorce, but may prescribe by law the manner in which such cases shall be investigated in the courts of justice and divorces granted.

SEC. 25. The general assembly shall have power to prohibit the introduction of any slave or slaves for the purpose of speculation or as an article of trade or merchandise; to oblige the owner of any slave or slaves to treat them with humanity; and in the prosecution of slaves for any crime they shall not be deprived of an impartial jury; and any slave who shall be convicted of a capital offense shall suffer the same degree of punishment as would be inflicted on a free white person, and no other; and courts of justice before whom slaves shall be tried shall assign them counsel for their defense.

SEC. 26. The governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and all the judges of the supreme, circuit and inferior courts of law and equity, and the prosecuting attorneys for the state shall be liable to impeachment for any malpractice or misdemeanor in office; but judgment in such cases shall not extend farther than removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under this state. The party impeached, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to be indicted, tried and punished according to law.

SEC. 27. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, and all impeachments shall be tried by the senate; and when sitting for that purpose the senators shall be on oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. When the governor shall be tried the chief justice of the supreme court shall preside, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of all the senators elected; and for reasonable cause, which shall not be sufficient ground of impeachment, the governor shall, on the joint address of two-thirds of each branch of the legislature, remove from office the judges of supreme and inferior courts. Provided, the cause or causes of removal be spread on the journals, and the party charged be notified of the same, and heard by himself and counsel before the vote is finally taken and decided.

SEC. 28. The appointment of all officers not otherwise directed by this constitution shall be made in such manner as may be prescribed by law; and all officers, both civil and military, acting under the authority of this state shall, before entry on the duties of their respective offices, take an oath or affirmation to support the constitution of the United States and of this state, and to demean themselves faithfully in office.

SEC. 29. No county now established by law shall ever be reduced by the establishment of any new county or counties to less than nine hundred square miles, nor to a less population than its ratio of representation in the house of representatives; nor shall any county be hereafter established which shall contain less than nine hundred square miles (except Washington County, which may be reduced to six hundred square miles), or a less population than would entitle each county to a member in the house of representatives.

SEC. 30. The style of the laws of this state shall be: "Be it enacted by the general assembly of the State of Arkansas."

SEC. 31. The state shall, from time to time, be divided into convenient districts, in such manner that the senate shall be based upon the free white male inhabitants of the state, each senator representing an equal number, as nearly as practicable; and until the first enumeration of the inhabitants shall be taken the district shall be arranged as follows:

The County of Washington shall compose one district, and elect two senators.

The Counties of Carroll, Searcy and Izard shall compose one district, and elect one senator.

The Counties of Independence and Jackson shall compose one district, and elect one senator.

The Counties of Lawrence and Randolph shall compose one district, and elect one senator.

The Counties of Johnson and Pope shall compose one district, and elect one senator.

The Counties of Crawford and Scott shall compose one district, and elect one senator.

The Counties of Conway and Van Buren shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of Pulaski, White and Saline shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of Hot Spring, Clark and Pike shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of Hempstead and Lafayette shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of Sevier and Miller shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of Chicot and Union shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of Arkansas and Jefferson shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of Phillips and Monroe shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of St. Francis and Greene shall compose one district, and elect one senator.
 The Counties of Crittenden and Mississippi shall compose one district, and elect one senator.

And the senate shall never consist of less than seventeen, nor more than thirty-three members. And, as soon as the senate shall meet after the first election to be held under this constitution, they shall cause the senators to be divided by lot into two classes—nine of the first class and eight of the second; and the seats of the first class shall be vacated at the end of two years from the time of their election, and the seats of the second class at the end of four years from the time of their election, in order that one class of the senators may be elected every two years.

SEC. 32. An enumeration of the inhabitants of the state shall be taken under the direction of the general assembly on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight, and at the end of every four years thereafter; and the general assembly shall, at the first session after the return of every enumeration, so alter and arrange the senatorial districts that each district shall contain, as nearly as practicable, an equal number of free white male inhabitants. Provided, that Washington County, as long as its population shall justify the same, may, according to its numbers, elect more than one senator; and such districts shall then remain unaltered until the return of another enumeration, and shall at all times consist of contiguous territory; and no county shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial district.

SEC. 33. The ratio of representation in the senate shall be fifteen hundred free white male inhabitants to each senator, until the senators amount to twenty-five in number, and then they shall be equally apportioned upon the same basis throughout the state, in such ratio as the increased numbers of free white male inhabitants may require, without increasing the senators to a greater number than twenty-five, until the population of the state amounts to five hundred thousand souls; and when an increase of senators takes place, they shall, from time to time, be divided by lot and classed as prescribed above.

SEC. 34. The house of representatives shall consist of not less than fifty-four, nor more than one hundred, representatives, to be apportioned among the several counties in this state, according to the number of free white male inhabitants therein, taking five hundred as the ratio until the number of representatives amounts to seventy-five, and when they amount to seventy-five they shall not be further increased until the population of the state amounts to five hundred thousand souls. Provided, that each county now organized shall, although its population may not give the existing ratio, always be entitled to one representative; and until the first enumeration shall be taken the representatives shall be apportioned among the several counties, as follows:

The County of Washington shall elect six representatives.
 The County of Scott shall elect one representative.
 The County of Johnson shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Pope shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Conway shall elect one representative.
 The County of Van Buren shall elect one representative.
 The County of Carroll shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Searcy shall elect one representative.
 The County of Izard shall elect one representative.
 The County of Independence shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Crawford shall elect three representatives.
 The County of Jackson shall elect one representative.
 The County of Lawrence shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Randolph shall elect two representatives.
 The County of White shall elect one representative.
 The County of Pulaski shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Saline shall elect one representative.
 The County of Hot Spring shall elect one representative.
 The County of Clark shall elect one representative.
 The County of St. Francis shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Pike shall elect one representative.
 The County of Hempstead shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Miller shall elect one representative.
 The County of Sevier shall elect one representative.
 The County of Lafayette shall elect one representative.
 The County of Union shall elect one representative.
 The County of Arkansas shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Jefferson shall elect one representative.
 The County of Monroe shall elect one representative.
 The County of Phillips shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Greene shall elect one representative.
 The County of Crittenden shall elect two representatives.
 The County of Mississippi shall elect one representative.
 The County of Chicot shall elect two representatives.

And at the first session of the general assembly after the return of every enumeration the representation shall be equally divided and reapportioned among the several counties, according to the number of free white males in each county, as above prescribed.

MODE OF AMENDING THE CONSTITUTION.

The general assembly may at any time propose such amendments to this constitution as two-thirds of each house shall deem expedient, which shall be published in all the newspapers published in this state three several times, at least twelve months before the next general election; and if, at the first session of the general assembly after such general election, two-thirds of each house shall, by yeas and nays, ratify such proposed amendments, they shall be valid to all intents and purposes as parts of this constitution. Provided, that such proposed amendments shall be read on three several days in each house, as well when the same are proposed as when they are finally ratified.

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The supreme executive power of this state shall be vested in a chief magistrate, who shall be styled "The Governor of the State of Arkansas."

SEC. 2. The governor shall be elected by the qualified electors at the time and places where they shall respectively vote for representatives.

SEC. 3. The returns of every election for governor shall be sealed up and transmitted to the speaker of the house of representatives, who shall, during the first week of the session, open and publish them in the presence of both houses of the general assembly. The person having the highest number of votes shall be the governor; but if two or more shall be equal and highest in votes, one of them shall be chosen governor by the joint vote of both houses. Contested elections for governor shall be determined by both houses of the general assembly in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 4. The governor shall hold his office for the term of four years from the time of his installation, and until his successor shall be duly qualified, but he shall not be eligible for more than eight years in any term of twelve years. He shall be at least thirty years of age, a native-born citizen of Arkansas, or a native-born citizen of the United States, or a resident of Arkansas ten years previous to the adoption of this constitution, if not a native of the United States, and shall have been a resident of the same at least four years next before his election.

SEC. 5. He shall, at stated times, receive a compensation for his services, which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected, nor shall he receive, within that period, any other emolument from the United States, or any one of them, or from any foreign power.

SEC. 6. He shall be commander-in-chief of the army of this state, and of the militia thereof, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

SEC. 7. He may require any information in writing from the officers of the executive department on any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 8. He may, by proclamation, on extraordinary occasions, convene the general assembly at the seat of government, or at a different place if that shall have become, since their last adjournment, dangerous from an enemy or from contagious diseases. In case of disagreement between the two houses with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper—not beyond the day of the next meeting of the general assembly.

SEC. 9. He shall, from time to time, give to the general assembly information of the state of the government, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he may deem expedient.

SEC. 10. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 11. In all criminal and penal cases, except in those of treason and impeachment, he shall have power to grant pardons after conviction and remit fines and forfeitures under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by law. In cases of treason, he shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to grant reprieves and pardons, and he may, in the recess of the senate, respite the sentence until the end of the next session of the general assembly.

SEC. 12. There shall be a seal of this state, which shall be kept by the governor and used by him officially, and the present seal of the territory shall be the seal of the state until otherwise directed by the general assembly.

SEC. 13. All commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the State of Arkansas, be sealed with the seal of the state, signed by the governor, and attested by the secretary of state.

SEC. 14. There shall be a secretary of state elected by a joint vote of both houses of the general assembly, who shall continue in office during the term of four years and until his successor in office be duly qualified. He shall keep a fair register of all the official acts and proceedings of the governor and shall, when required, lay the same and all papers, minutes and vouchers relative thereto before the general assembly, and shall perform such other duties as may be required by law.

SEC. 15. Vacancies that may happen in offices the election to which is vested in the general assembly shall be filled by the governor during the recess of the general assembly by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next session.

SEC. 16. Every bill which shall have passed both houses shall be presented to the governor. If he approve it he shall sign it, but if he shall not approve it he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter his objections at large upon their journals and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of the whole number elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, by which, likewise, it shall be reconsidered, and if approved by a majority of the whole number elected to that house it shall be a law; but in such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days, Sundays excepted, after it shall have been presented to him the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in such case it shall not be a law.

SEC. 17. Every order or resolution to which the concurrence of both houses may be necessary, except on questions of adjournment, shall be presented to the governor, and before it shall take effect be approved by him, or, being disapproved, shall be repassed by both houses according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SEC. 18. In case of the impeachment of the governor, his removal from office, death, refusal to qualify, resignation or absence from the state, the president of the senate shall exercise all the authority appertaining to the office of governor until another governor shall have been elected and qualified, or until the governor, absent or impeached, shall return or be acquitted.

SEC. 19. If, during the vacancy of the office of governor, the president of the senate shall be impeached, removed from office, refuse to qualify, resign, die or be absent from the state, the speaker of the house of representatives shall, in like manner, administer the government.

SEC. 20. The president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives, during the time they respectively administer the government, shall receive the same compensation which the governor would have received had he been employed in the duties of his office.

SEC. 21. Whenever the office of governor shall have become vacant by death, resignation, removal from office or otherwise, provided such vacancy shall not happen within eighteen months of the term for which the late governor shall have been elected, the president of the senate or speaker of the house of representatives, as the case may be, exercising the powers of governor for the time being, shall immediately cause an election to be held to fill such vacancy, giving, by proclamation, sixty days' previous notice thereof, which election shall be governed by the same rules prescribed for general elections of governor as far as applicable; the returns shall be made to the secretary of state, who, in presence of the acting governor and judges of the supreme court, or one of them at least, shall compare them, and, together with said acting governor and judges, declare who is elected; and if there be a contested election it shall be decided by the judges of the supreme court in manner to be prescribed by law.

SEC. 23. No person shall hold the office of governor and any other office or commission, civil or military, either in this state or under any state, or the United States or any other power, at one and the same time.

SEC. 24. There shall be elected by the joint vote of both houses of the general assembly an auditor and treasurer for this state, who shall hold their offices for the term of two years and until their respective successors are elected and qualified, unless sooner removed, and shall keep their respective offices at the seat of government and perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law; and in case of vacancy by death, resignation or otherwise, such vacancy shall be filled by the governor as in other cases.

MILITIA.

SECTION 1. The militia of this state shall be divided into convenient divisions, brigades, regiments and companies, and officers of corresponding titles and rank elected to command them, conforming, as nearly as practicable, to the general regulations of the army of the United States.

SEC. 2. Major-generals shall be elected by the brigadier-generals and field officers of their respective divisions; brigadier-generals shall be elected by the field officers and commissioned company officers of their respective brigades; field officers shall be elected by the officers and privates of their respective regiments, and captains and subaltern officers shall be elected by those subject to military duty in their respective companies.

SEC. 3. The governor shall appoint the adjutant-general and other members of his staff, and major-generals, brigadier-generals and commanders of regiments shall respectively appoint their own staff, and all commissioned officers may continue in office during good behavior, and staff officers during the same time, subject to be removed by the superior officer from whom they respectively derive their commissions.

ARTICLE VI.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of this state shall be vested in one supreme court, in circuit courts, in county courts and in justices of the peace. The general assembly may also vest such jurisdiction as may be deemed necessary in corporation courts, and when they deem it expedient may establish courts of chancery.

SEC. 2. The supreme court shall be composed of three judges, one of whom shall be styled chief justice, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of any two of said judges shall in every case be necessary to a decision. The supreme court, except in cases otherwise directed by this constitution, shall have appellate jurisdiction only, which shall be coextensive with the state, under such restrictions and regulations as may from time to time be prescribed by law. It shall have a general superintending control over all inferior and other courts of law and equity. It shall have power to issue writs of error and suppetendous, certiorari and habeas corpus, mandamus and quo warrantu and other remedial writs, and to hear and determine the same. Said judges shall be conservators of the peace throughout the state, and shall severally have power to issue any of the aforesaid writs.

SEC. 3. The circuit court shall have original jurisdiction over all criminal cases which shall not be otherwise provided for by law, and exclusive original jurisdiction of all crimes amounting to felony at the common law, and original jurisdiction of all civil cases which shall not be cognizable before justices of the peace, until otherwise directed by the general assembly, and original jurisdiction in all matters of contract where the sum in controversy is over one hundred dollars. It shall hold its terms at such place in each county as may be by law directed.

SEC. 4. The state shall be divided into convenient circuits, each to consist of not less than five nor more than seven counties contiguous to each other, for each of which a judge shall be elected, who during his continuance in office shall reside and be a conservator of the peace within the circuit for which he shall have been elected.

SEC. 5. The circuit courts shall exercise a superintending control over the county courts and over justices of the peace in each county in their respective circuits, and shall have power to issue all the necessary writs to carry into effect their general and specific powers.

SEC. 6. Until the general assembly shall deem it expedient to establish courts of chancery the circuit courts shall have jurisdiction in matters of equity, subject to appeal to the supreme court in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 7. The general assembly shall by joint vote of both houses elect the judges of the supreme and circuit courts, a majority of the whole number in joint vote being necessary to a choice. The judges of the supreme court shall be at least thirty years of age; they shall hold their offices during the term of eight years from the date of their commissions. Immediately after such election by the first general assembly, the president of the senate and speaker of the house of representatives shall proceed by lot to divide the judges into three classes. The commissions of the first class shall expire at the end of four years; of the second class at the end of six years, and of the third class at the end of eight years, so that one-third of the whole number shall be chosen every four, six and eight years. The judges of the circuit court shall be at least twenty-five years of age, and shall be elected for the term of four years from the date of their commissions. The supreme court shall appoint its own clerk or clerks for the term of four years. The qualified voters of each county shall elect a clerk of the circuit court for their respective counties, who shall hold his office for the term of two years; and courts of chancery, if any be established, shall appoint their own clerks.

SEC. 8. The judges of the supreme and circuit courts shall at stated times receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, which shall not be diminished during the time for which they are elected. They shall not be allowed any fees or perquisites of office, nor hold any other office of trust or profit under this state or the United States. The state's attorneys and clerks of the supreme and circuit courts and courts of chancery, if any such be established, shall receive for their services such salaries, fees and perquisites of office as shall be from time to time fixed by law.

SEC. 9. There shall be established in each county in the state a court to be holden by the justices of the peace, and called the county court, which shall have jurisdiction in all matters relating to county taxes, disbursements of money for county purposes, and in every other case that may be necessary to the internal improvement and local concerns of the respective counties.

SEC. 10. There shall be elected by the justices of the peace of their respective counties a presiding judge of the county court, to be commissioned by the governor, and hold his office for the term of two years, and until his successor is elected and qualified. He shall, in addition to the duties that may be required of him by law as a presiding judge of the county court, be a judge of the court of probate, and have such jurisdiction in matters relative to the estates of deceased persons, executors, administrators and guardians, as may be prescribed by law, until otherwise directed by the general assembly.

SEC. 11. The presiding judge of the county court and justices of the peace shall receive for their services such compensation and fees as the general assembly may from time to time by law direct.

SEC. 12. No judge shall preside on the trial of any cause in the event of which he may be interested, or where either of the parties shall be connected with him by affinity or consanguinity within such degrees as may be prescribed by law, or in which he may have been of counsel or have presided in any inferior court, except by consent of all the parties. In case all or any of the judges of the supreme court shall be thus disqualified from presiding on any cause or causes, the court or judges thereof shall certify the same to the governor of the state, and he shall immediately commission specially the requisite number of men of law knowledgeable for the trial and determination thereof. The same course shall be pursued in the circuit and other inferior courts as prescribed in this section for cases in the supreme court. Judges of the circuit courts may temporarily exchange circuits, or hold courts for each other, under such regulations as may be pointed out by law. Judges shall not charge juries with regard to matter of fact, but may state the testimony and declare the law.

SEC. 13. The general assembly shall, by a joint vote of both houses, elect an attorney for the state for each circuit established by law, who shall continue in office two years and reside within the circuit for which he was elected at the time of and during his continuance in office. In all cases where an attorney for the state of any circuit fails to attend and prosecute according to law the court shall have power to appoint an attorney pro tempore. The attorney for the circuit in which the supreme court may hold its terms shall attend the supreme court and prosecute for the state.

SEC. 14. All writs and other process shall run in the name of the "State of Arkansas" and bear teste and be signed by the clerks of the respective courts from which they issue. Indictments shall conclude: "Against the peace and dignity of the State of Arkansas."

SEC. 15. The qualified voters residing in each township shall select the justices of the peace for their respective townships. For every fifty voters there may be elected one justice of the peace, provided that each township, however small, shall have two justices of the peace. Justices of the peace shall be elected for the term of two years, and shall be commissioned by the governor and reside in the townships for which they were elected during their continuance in office. They shall have individually, or two or more of them jointly, exclusive original jurisdiction in all matters of contract, except in actions of covenant where the sum in controversy is of one hundred dollars and under. Justices of the peace shall in no case have jurisdiction to try and determine any criminal case or penal offense against the state, but may sit as examining courts and commit, discharge or recognize to the court having jurisdiction, for further trial, offenders against the peace. For the foregoing purposes they shall have power to issue all necessary process. They shall also have power to bind to keep the peace or for good behavior.

SEC. 16. The qualified voters of each township shall elect one constable for the term of two years, who shall, during his continuance in office, reside in the township for which he was elected. Incorporated towns may have a separate constable and a separate magistracy.

SEC. 17. The qualified voters of each county shall elect one sheriff, one coroner, one treasurer and one county surveyor for the term of two years. They shall be commissioned by the governor, reside in their respective counties during their continuance in office and be disqualified for the office a second term if it should appear that they, or either of them, are in default for any moneys collected by virtue of their respective offices.

ARTICLE VII.

GENERAL PROVISIONS—EDUCATION.

Knowledge and learning generally diffused through a community being essential to the preservation of a free government, and diffusing the opportunities and advantages of education through the various parts of the state being highly conducive to this end, it shall be the duty of the general assembly to provide by law for the improvement of such lands as are, or hereafter may be, granted by the United States to this state for the use of schools, and to apply any funds which may be raised from such lands, or from any other source, to the accomplishment of the object for which they are, or may be, intended. The general assembly shall from time to time pass such laws as shall be calculated to encourage intellectual, scientific and agricultural improvement by allowing rewards and immunities for the promotion and improvement of arts, science, commerce, manufactures and natural history, and countenance and encourage the principles of humanity, industry and morality.

EMANCIPATION OF SLAVES.

SECTION 1. The general assembly shall have no power to pass laws for the emancipation of slaves without the consent of the owners. They shall have no power to prevent emigrants to this state from bringing with them such persons as are deemed slaves by the laws of any one of the United States. They shall have power to pass laws to permit owners of slaves to emancipate them, saving the right of creditors and preventing them from becoming a public charge. They shall have power to prevent slaves from being brought to this state as merchandise, and also to oblige the owners of slaves to treat them with humanity.

SEC. 2. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or his own confession in open court.

SEC. 3. No person who denies the being of a God shall hold any office in the civil department of this state, nor be allowed his oath in any court.

SEC. 4. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of an appropriation by law, nor shall any appropriation of money for the support of an army be made for a longer term than two years, and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published with the promulgation of the laws.

SEC. 5. Absence on business of this state, or of the United States, or on a visit or necessary private business, shall not cause a forfeiture of a residence once obtained.

SEC. 6. No lottery shall be authorized by this state, nor shall the sale of lottery tickets be allowed.

SEC. 7. Internal improvement shall be encouraged by the government of this state, and it shall be the duty of the general assembly, as soon as may be, to make provision by law for ascertaining the proper objects of improvement in relation to roads, canals and navigable waters; and it shall also be their duty to provide by law for an equal, systematic and economical application of the funds which may be appropriated to these objects.

SEC. 8. Returns for all elections for officers who are to be commissioned by the governor, and for members of the general assembly, shall be made to the secretary of state.

SEC. 9. Within five years after the adoption of this constitution the laws—civil and criminal—shall be revised, digested and arranged, and promulgated in such manner as the general assembly may direct; and a like revision, digest and promulgation shall be made within every subsequent period of ten years.

SEC. 10. In the event of the annexation of any territory to this state, by a session from the United States, laws may be passed extending to the inhabitants of such territory all the rights and privileges which may be required by the terms of such cession, anything in this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 11. The person of a debtor, except where there is strong presumption of fraud, shall neither be imprisoned nor continued in prison after delivering up his estate for the benefit of his creditors, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

REVENUE.

SECTION 1. All revenues shall be raised by taxation to be fixed by law.

SEC. 2. All property subject to taxation shall be taxed according to its value—that value to be ascertained in such manner as the general assembly shall direct, making the same equal and uniform throughout the state. No one species of property from which a tax may be collected shall be taxed higher than another species of property of equal value. Provided, the general assembly shall have power to tax merchants, hawkers, peddlers and privileges in such manner as may, from time to time, be prescribed by law. And provided, further, that no other or greater amount of revenue shall at any time be levied than required for the necessary expenses of the government, unless by a concurrence of two-thirds of both houses of the general assembly.

SEC. 3. No poll-tax shall be assessed for other than county purposes.

SEC. 4. No other or greater tax shall be levied on the productions or labor of the country than may be required for expenses of inspection.

ESTABLISHMENT OF BANKS.

SECTION 1. The general assembly may incorporate one state bank, with such amount of capital as may be deemed necessary, and such number of branches as may be required for the public convenience, which shall become the repository of the funds belonging to or under control of the state, and shall be required to loan them out throughout the state and in each county in proportion to representation. And they shall further have power to incorporate one other banking institution, calculated to aid and promote the great agricultural interests of the country, and the faith and credit of the state may be pledged to raise the funds necessary to carry into operation the two banks herein specified. Provided, such security can be given by the individual stockholders as will guarantee the state against loss or injury.

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise from the change of government, we declare that all writs, actions, prosecutions, judgments, claims and contracts of individuals and bodies corporate shall continue as if no change had taken place, and all process which may be issued under the authority of the Territory of Arkansas previous to the admission of Arkansas into the union of the United States shall be as valid as if issued in the name of the state.

SEC. 2. All laws now in force in the Territory of Arkansas which are not repugnant to this constitution shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or be altered or repealed by the general assembly.

SEC. 3. All fines, penalties and escheats accruing to the Territory of Arkansas shall accrue to the use of the state.

SEC. 4. All recognizances heretofore taken, or which may be taken before the change of territorial to a permanent state government, shall remain valid and shall pass over to and be prosecuted in the name of the state, and all bonds executed to the governor of the territory, or to any other officer or court in his or their official capacity, shall pass over to the governor or other state authority and their successors in office, for the uses therein respectively expressed, and may be sued for and recovered accordingly. All criminal prosecutions and penal actions which may have arisen or which may arise before the change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the state. All actions at law which now are or may be pending in any of the courts of record in the Territory of Arkansas may be commenced in or transferred to any court of record of the state which shall have jurisdiction of the subject-matter thereof, and all suits in equity may in like manner be commenced in or transferred to the court having chancery jurisdiction.

SEC. 5. All officers, civil and military, now holding commissions under authority of the United States, or of the Territory of Arkansas shall continue to hold and exercise their respective offices until they shall be superseded under the authority of the state.

SEC. 6. The first session of the general assembly of the State of Arkansas shall be held at the City of Little Rock, which shall be and remain the seat of government until otherwise provided for by law.

SEC. 7. Elections shall be held at the several precincts on the first Monday of August next for a governor; also, one representative to the congress of the United States; also, for senators and representatives to the next general assembly, clerks of the circuit and county courts, sheriffs, coroners, county surveyors and treasurers, justices of the peace and constables.

SEC. 8. The next general assembly shall be holden on the second Monday of September next.

SEC. 9. The election shall be conducted according to the existing laws of the Territory of Arkansas, and the returns of all township elections held in pursuance thereof shall be made to the clerks of the proper counties within five days after the day of election. The clerks of the circuit courts of the several counties shall immediately thereafter certify the returns of the election of governor, and transmit the same to the speaker of the house of representatives, at the seat of government, in such time that they may be received on the second Monday of September next. As soon as the general assembly shall be organized the speaker of the house of representatives and the president of the senate shall, in the presence of both houses, examine the returns and declare who is duly elected to fill that office; and if any two or more persons shall have an equal number of votes and a higher number than any other person, the general assembly shall determine the election by a joint vote of both houses; and the returns of the election for member to congress shall be made to the secretary of state within thirty days after the day of election.

SEC. 10. The oaths of office may be administered by any judge or justice of the peace until the general assembly shall otherwise direct.

Done in convention at Little Rock, in the State of Arkansas, the thirtieth day of January, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and thirty-six, and in the sixtieth year of the independence of the United States of America.

AMENDMENTS

CONSTITUTION OF ARKANSAS OF 1836.

Proposed by the General Assembly, begun and held at the City of Little Rock, in the State of Arkansas, on the first Monday of November, one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, and ratified by the General Assembly, begun and held at the City of Little Rock, on the first Monday of November, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six:

1. No bank or banking institution shall be hereafter incorporated or established in this state.
2. The general assembly shall have power to compel the judges of the circuit courts to interchange circuits, either temporarily or permanently, under such regulations as may be provided by law.
3. The general assembly shall have power to confer such jurisdiction as it may from time to time deem proper on justices of the peace in all matters of contract, covenants and in actions for the recovery of fines and forfeitures when the amount claimed does not exceed one hundred dollars, and in actions and prosecutions for assault and battery, and other penal offenses less than felony, which may be punishable by fine only.
4. Judges of the supreme and circuit courts, clerks of the supreme and circuit courts, attorneys for the state, sheriffs, coroners, county treasurers, justices of the peace, constables and all other officers whose term is fixed by the constitution to a specific number of years shall hold their respective offices for the term now specified and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Ratified November 17, 1846.

Proposed by the General Assembly, begun and held at the City of Little Rock, in the State of Arkansas, on the first Monday of November, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, and ratified by the General Assembly, begun and held at the City of Little Rock, on the first Monday of November, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight:

1. That the qualified voters of each judicial circuit in the State of Arkansas shall elect their circuit judge.
2. That the qualified voters of each judicial circuit shall elect their prosecuting attorney for the state.
3. That the qualified voters of each county shall elect a county and probate judge.
4. That no member of the general assembly shall be elected to any office within the gift of the general assembly during the term for which he shall have been elected.
5. That the general assembly of the State of Arkansas shall not be restricted as to the number of counties that shall compose a judicial circuit in this state.

Ratified November 24, 1848.

Proposed by the General Assembly, begun and held at the City of Little Rock, in the State of Arkansas, on the first Monday of November, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, and ratified by the General Assembly, begun and held at the City of Little Rock, on the first Monday of November, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, viz.:

That the words, "except Washington County, which may be reduced to six hundred square miles," included in parentheses in section 29 of article IV, be stricken out of said constitution.

Ratified December 2, 1850.

CONSTITUTION

OF 1864.

We, the people of the State of Arkansas, having the right to establish for ourselves a constitution in conformity with the constitution of the United States of America, recognizing the legitimate consequences of the existing rebellion, do hereby declare the entire action of the late convention of the State of Arkansas, which assembled in the City of Little Rock on the 4th day of March, 1861, was, and is, null and void, and is not now, and never has been, binding and obligatory upon the people.

That all the action of the State of Arkansas under the authority of said convention, of its ordinances, or of its constitution, whether legislative, executive, judicial or military (except as hereinafter provided), was, and is, hereby declared null and void, provided that this ordinance shall not be so construed as to affect the rights of individuals, or change county boundaries or county seats, or to make invalid the acts of justices of the peace or other officers in their authority to administer oaths or take and certify the acknowledgment of deeds of conveyance or other instruments of writing, or in the solemnization of marriages; and provided, further, that no debt or liability of the State of Arkansas incurred by the action of said convention, or of the legislature, or any department of the government under the authority of either, shall ever be recognized as obligatory.

And we, the people of the State of Arkansas, in order to establish therein a state government loyal to the government of the United States, to secure to ourselves and our posterity the protection and blessings of the federal constitution and the enjoyment of all the rights of liberty and the free pursuit of happiness, do agree to continue ourselves as a free and independent state by the name and style of "The State of Arkansas," and do ordain and establish the following constitution for the government thereof:

ARTICLE I.

BOUNDARIES OF THE STATE.

We do declare and establish, ratify and confirm the following as the permanent boundaries of the State of Arkansas, that is to say: Beginning in the middle of the Mississippi River, on the parallel of thirty-six degrees north latitude, to the St. Francis River; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river to the parallel of thirty-six degrees thirty minutes north, from the west to the south-west corner of the State of Missouri, and from thence to be bounded on the west to the north bank of Red River, as by acts of congress of the United States and treaties heretofore defining the western limits of the Territory of Arkansas; and to be bounded on the south side of Red River by the boundary line of the State of Texas, to the north-west corner of the State of Louisiana; thence east with the Louisiana state line to the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river to the thirty-sixth degree of north latitude, the point of beginning—these being the boundaries of the State of Arkansas as defined by the constitution thereof, adopted by a convention of the representatives of the people of said state on the 30th day of January, Anno Domini eighteen hundred and thirty-six, being the same boundaries which limited the area of the Territory of Arkansas as it existed prior to that time.

ARTICLE II.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

That the great and essential principles of liberty and free government may be unalterably established, we DECLARE:

SECTION 1. That all men, when they form a social compact, are equal, and have certain inherent and indefeasible rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, of acquiring, possessing and protecting property and reputation and of pursuing their own happiness.

SEC. 2. That all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are formed on their authority and instituted for their peace and happiness. For the advancement of these ends they have, at all times, an unqualified right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think proper.

SEC. 3. That all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences, and no man can of right be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry against his consent; that no human authority can, in any case whatever, interfere with the rights of conscience, and that no preference shall ever be given to any religious establishment or mode of worship.

SEC. 4. That the civil rights, privileges or capacities of any citizen shall in no wise be diminished or enlarged on account of his religion.

SEC. 5. That all elections shall be free and equal.

SEC. 6. That the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate.

SEC. 7. That printing presses shall be free to every person, and no law shall ever be made to restrain the rights thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject—being responsible for the abuse of that liberty.

SEC. 8. In prosecutions for the publication of papers investigating the official conduct of officers or men in public capacity, or where the matter published is proper for public information, the truth thereof may be given in evidence, and in all indictments for libels the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts.

SEC. 9. That the people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers and possessions from unreasonable search and seizures, and that general warrants, whereby any officer may be commanded to search suspected places without evidence of the fact committed, or to seize any person or persons not named whose offenses are not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty, and shall not be granted.

SEC. 10. That no man shall be taken or imprisoned, or dis seized of his freehold, liberties or privileges, or outlawed or exiled, or in any manner destroyed or deprived of his life, liberty or property, but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land.

SEC. 11. That in all criminal prosecutions the accused hath a right to be heard by himself and counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof; to meet the witnesses face to face; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and in prosecutions by indictment or presentment a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district in which the crime may have been committed, and shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

SEC. 12. That no person shall for the same offense be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb.

SEC. 13. That all penalties shall be reasonable, and proportionate to the nature of the offense.

SEC. 14. That no man shall be put to answer any criminal charge but by presentment, indictment or impeachment, except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 15. That no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate under any law of this state.

SEC. 16. That all prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient securities, unless in capital offenses where the proof is evident or the presumption great. And the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless where, in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

SEC. 17. That excessive bail shall in no case be required, nor excessive fines imposed.

SEC. 18. That no ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligations of contracts, shall ever be made.

SEC. 19. That perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a republic and shall not be allowed, nor shall any hereditary emoluments, privileges or honors ever be granted or conferred in this state.

SEC. 20. That the citizens have a right, in a peaceable manner, to assemble together for their common good, to instruct their representatives and to apply to those invested with the power of the government for redress of grievances or other proper purposes, by address or remonstrance.

SEC. 21. That the free white men of this state shall have a right to keep and to bear arms for their common defense.

SEC. 22. That no soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 23. The military shall be kept in strict subordination to the civil power.

SEC. 24. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people, and, to guard against any encroachments on the rights herein retained or any transgression of any of the higher powers herein delegated, we declare that everything in this article is excepted out of the general powers of the government and shall forever remain inviolate, and that all laws contrary thereto, or to the other provisions herein contained, shall be void.

ARTICLE III.

OF DEPARTMENTS.

SECTION 1. The power of the government of the State of Arkansas shall be divided into three distinct departments, each of them to be confided to a separate body of magistracy, to wit: those which are legislative to one, those which are executive to another, and those which are judicial to another.

SEC. 2. No person or collection of persons, being of one of those departments, shall exercise any power belonging to either of the others, except in the instances hereinafter expressly directed or permitted.

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of this state shall be invested in a general assembly, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

QUALIFICATIONS OF ELECTORS.

SEC. 2. Every free white male citizen of the United States who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years, and who shall have been a citizen of the state six months next preceding the election, shall be deemed a qualified elector and be entitled to vote in the county or district where he actually resides, or, in case of volunteer soldiers, within their several military departments or districts, for each and every office made elective under the state or under the United States, provided that no soldier, seaman or marine in the regular army or navy of the United States shall be entitled to vote at any election within the state in time of peace, and provided, further, that any one entitled to vote in this state in the county where he resides may vote for the adoption or rejection of this constitution in any county in this state.

TIME OF CHOOSING REPRESENTATIVES.

SEC. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of members to be chosen every second year by the qualified electors of the several counties.

QUALIFICATIONS OF A REPRESENTATIVE.

SEC. 4. No person shall be a member of the house of representatives who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years; who shall not be a free white male citizen of the United States; who shall not have been an inhabitant of this state one year, and who shall not, at the time of his election, have an actual residence in the county he may be chosen to represent.

QUALIFICATIONS OF A SENATOR.

SEC. 5. The senate shall consist of members to be chosen every four years by the qualified electors of the several districts.

SEC. 6. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years; who shall not be a free white male citizen of the United States; who shall not have been an inhabitant of the state one year, and who shall not, at the time of his election, have an actual residence in the district he may be chosen to represent.

SEC. 7. The general assembly shall meet every two years, on the first Monday in November, at the seat of government until changed by law, except that the general assembly for the year 1864 shall meet on the second Monday in April of that year.

MODE OF ELECTION AND TIME AND PRIVILEGES OF ELECTORS.

SEC. 8. All general elections shall be visa voce until otherwise directed by law, and commence and be holden every two years, on the first Monday in August, until altered by law, (except that) the first election under this constitution shall be held on the second Monday in March, 1864, and the electors in all cases, except in cases of treason, felony and breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest during their attendance on elections and in going to and returning therefrom.

DUTY OF GOVERNOR.

SEC. 9. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as shall occur in either house of the general assembly.

SEC. 10. No judge of the supreme, circuit or inferior courts of law or equity, secretary of state, attorney-general of the state, district attorneys, state auditor or treasurer, register or recorder, clerk of any court of record, sheriff, coroner or member of congress, nor any other person holding any lucrative office under the United States or this state (militia officers, justices of the peace, postmasters and judges of the county courts excepted), shall be eligible to a seat in either house of the general assembly.

SEC. 11. No person who now is, or shall be hereafter, a collector or holder of public money, nor any assistant or deputy of such holder or collector of public money, shall be eligible to a seat in either house of the general assembly, nor to any office of trust or profit, until he shall have accounted for and paid over all sums for which he may have been liable.

SEC. 12. The general assembly shall exclude from every office of trust or profit, and from the right of suffrage within this state, all persons convicted of bribery or perjury or other infamous crime.

SEC. 13. Every person who shall have been convicted, either directly or indirectly, of giving or offering any bribe to procure his election or appointment shall be disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit under this state; and any person who shall give or offer any bribe to procure the election or appointment of any person shall, on conviction thereof, be disqualified from being an elector, or from holding office of trust or profit under this state.

SEC. 14. No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office under this state which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during his continuance in office, except to such office as shall be filled by the election of the people.

SEC. 15. Each house shall appoint its own officers and shall judge of the qualifications, returns and elections of its own members. Two-thirds of each house shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house shall provide.

SEC. 16. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its own members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled a second time for the same offense. They shall each from time to time publish a journal of their proceedings, except such parts as may require secrecy, and the yeas and nays upon any question shall be entered on the journal at the desire of any five members.

SEC. 17. The door of each house when in session or in committee of the whole shall be kept open, except in cases which may require secrecy; and each house may punish by fine and imprisonment any person not a member who shall be guilty of disrespect to the house by any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence during their session; but such imprisonment shall not extend beyond the final adjournment of that session.

SEC. 18. Bills may originate in either house and be amended or rejected in the other, and every bill for an act shall be read three times before each house, twice at length, and in no case shall a bill be read more than twice on one day; and the vote upon the passage of any law shall in all cases be taken by yeas and nays, and by recording the same; and every bill having passed both houses shall be signed by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives.

SEC. 19. Whenever an officer, civil or military, shall be appointed by the joint or concurrent vote of both houses or by the separate vote of either house of the general assembly, the vote shall be taken viva voce and entered on the journal.

SEC. 20. The senators and representatives shall in all cases, except treason, felony or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during the session of the general assembly and for fifteen days before the commencement and after the termination of each session, and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

SEC. 21. The members of the general assembly shall severally receive from the public treasury compensation for their services, which may be increased or diminished; but no alteration of such compensation of members shall take effect during the session at which it is made.

MANNER OF BRINGING SUITS AGAINST THE STATE.

SEC. 22. The general assembly shall direct by law in what courts and in what manner suits may be commenced against the state.

SEC. 23. The general assembly shall not have power to pass any bill of divorce, but may prescribe by law the manner in which such cases may be investigated in the courts of justice and divorces granted.

SEC. 24. The governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and all judges of the supreme, circuit and inferior courts of law and equity, and the prosecuting attorneys for the state, shall be liable to impeachment for any malpractice or misdemeanor in office; but judgment in such cases shall not extend further than removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of trust or profit under this state. The party impeached, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to be indicted, tried and punished according to law.

SEC. 25. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, and all impeachments shall be tried by the senate, and when sitting for that purpose the senators shall be on oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. When the governor shall be tried the chief justice of the supreme court shall preside, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of all the senators elected; and for reasonable cause which shall not be sufficient grounds for impeachment the governor shall, on the joint address of two-thirds of each branch of the legislature, remove from office the judges of the supreme and inferior courts. Provided, the cause or causes of removal be spread on the journals, and the party charged be notified of the same and heard by himself and counsel before the vote is finally taken and decided.

SEC. 26. The appointment of all officers not otherwise directed by this constitution shall be made in such manner as may be prescribed by law; and all officers, both civil and military, acting under the authority of this state shall, before entering on the duties of their respective offices, take an oath or affirmation to support the constitution of the United States and of this state, and to demean themselves faithfully in office.

SEC. 27. No county now established by law shall ever be reduced, by the establishment of any new county or counties, to less than six hundred square miles nor to a less population than its ratio of representation in the house of representatives, nor shall any county be hereafter established which shall contain less than six hundred square miles or a less population than would entitle each county to a member in the house of representatives.

SEC. 28. The style of the laws of this state shall be: "Be it enacted by the general assembly of the State of Arkansas."

SEC. 29. The state shall, from time to time, be divided into convenient districts, in such manner that the senate shall be based upon the free white male inhabitants of the state, each senator representing an equal number as nearly as practicable, and the senate shall never consist of less than seventeen nor more than thirty-three members, and as soon as the senate shall meet after the first election to be held under this constitution, they shall cause the senators to be divided by lot into two classes, nine of the first class and eight of the second, and the seats of the first class shall be vacated at the end of two years from the time of their election, and the seats of the second class at the end of four years from the time of their election, in order that one class of the senators may be elected every two years.

SEC. 30. An enumeration of the inhabitants of the state shall be taken under the direction of the general assembly on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and at the end of every ten years thereafter, and the general assembly shall, at the first session after the return of every enumeration, so alter and arrange the senatorial districts that each district shall contain, as nearly as practicable, an equal number of free white male inhabitants.

SEC. 31. The ratio of representation in the senate shall be fifteen hundred free white male inhabitants to each senator, until the senators amount to twenty-five in number, and then they shall be equally apportioned upon the same basis throughout the state, in such ratio as the increased number of free white male inhabitants may require, without increasing the senators to a greater number than twenty-five, until the population of the state amounts to five hundred thousand souls, and when an increase of senators takes place they shall, from time to time, be divided by lot and be classed as prescribed above.

SEC. 32. The house of representatives shall consist of not less than fifty-four nor more than one hundred representatives, to be apportioned among the several counties in this state, according to the number of free white male inhabitants therein, taking five hundred as the ratio, until the number of representatives amounts to seventy-five, and when they amount to seventy-five they shall not be further increased until the population of the state amounts to five hundred thousand souls. Provided, that each county now organized shall, although its population may not give the existing ratio, always be entitled to one representative, and at the first session of the general assembly after the return of every enumeration the representation shall be equally divided and reapportioned among the several counties, according to the number of free white males in each county, as above prescribed.

MODE OF AMENDING THE CONSTITUTION.

The general assembly may at any time propose such amendments to this constitution as two-thirds of each house shall deem expedient, which shall be published in all the newspapers published in this state three several times, at least twelve months before the next general election, and if, at the first session of the general assembly after such general election, two-thirds of each house shall, by yeas and nays, ratify such proposed amendments, they shall be valid to all intents and purposes as parts of this constitution. Provided, that such proposed amendments shall be read on three several days in each house, as well when the same are proposed as when they are finally ratified.

ARTICLE V.

ABOLISHMENT OF SLAVERY.

SECTION 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude shall hereafter exist in this state, otherwise than for the punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been convicted by due process of law, nor shall any male person arrived at the age of twenty-one years, nor female arrived at the age of eighteen years, be held to serve any person as a servant under any indenture or contract hereafter made, unless such person shall enter into such indenture or contract while in a perfect state of freedom, and on condition of a bona fide consideration received or to be received for their services.

Nor shall any indenture of any negro or mulatto hereafter made and executed out of this state, or if made in this state, where the term of service exceeds one year, be of the least validity, except those given in case of apprenticeship, which shall not be for a longer term than until the apprentice shall arrive at the age of twenty-one years, if a male, or the age of eighteen years, if a female.

ARTICLE VI.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The supreme executive power of this state shall be vested in a chief magistrate, who shall be styled "the Governor of Arkansas."

SEC. 2. The governor shall be elected by the qualified electors at the time and places where they shall respectively vote for representatives.

SEC. 3. The returns of every election for governor, except those of the election of eighteen hundred and sixty-four, which shall be sealed and directed as ordered in the schedule appended to this constitution, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the speaker of the house of representatives, who shall, during the first week of the session, open and publish them in the presence of both houses of the general assembly. The person having the highest number of votes shall be governor, but, if two or more shall be equal and highest in votes, one of them shall be chosen governor by the joint vote of both houses of the general assembly in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 4. The governor shall hold his office for the term of four years from the time of his installation and until his successor shall be duly qualified, but he shall not be eligible for more than eight years in any term of twelve years. He shall be at least thirty years of age, a native-born citizen of Arkansas, or a native-born citizen of the United States, or a resident of Arkansas ten years previous to the adoption of this constitution, if not a native of the United States, and shall have been a resident of the same at least four years next before his election.

SEC. 5. He shall, at stated times, receive a compensation for his services, which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected, nor shall he receive, within that period, any other emolument from the United States, or any one of them, or from any foreign power.

SEC. 6. He shall be commander-in-chief of the army of this state and of the militia thereof, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

SEC. 7. He may require any information in writing from the officers of the executive department on any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 8. He may, by proclamation, on extraordinary occasions convene the general assembly at the seat of government, or at a different place if that shall have become, since their last adjournment, dangerous from an enemy or from contagious diseases. In case of disagreement between the two houses with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper, not beyond the day of the next meeting of the general assembly.

SEC. 9. He shall, from time to time, give to the general assembly information of the state of the government and recommend to their consideration such measures as he may deem expedient.

SEC. 10. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 11. In all criminal and penal cases, except in those of treason and impeachment, he shall have power to grant pardons, after conviction, and remit fines and forfeitures under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by law. In cases of treason he shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to grant reprieves and pardons, and he may, in the recess of the senate, respite the sentence until the end of the next session of the general assembly.

SEC. 12. There shall be a seal of this state, which shall be kept by the governor and used by him officially.

SEC. 13. All commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the State of Arkansas, be sealed with the seal of this state, signed by the governor and attested by the secretary of state.

SEC. 14. There shall be elected a secretary of state by the qualified voters of the state, who shall continue in office during the term of four years and until his successor in office be duly qualified; he shall keep a fair register of all official acts and proceedings of the governor, and shall, when required, lay the same and all papers, minutes and vouchers relative thereto before the general assembly, and shall perform such other duties as may be required by law.

SEC. 15. Vacancies that may happen in offices the election of which is vested in the general assembly shall be filled by the governor, during the recess of the general assembly, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next session.

SEC. 16. Vacancies that may occur in offices the election to which is vested in the people, within less than one year before the expiration of their term, shall be filled by the governor granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next term; but if one year or a longer period remains unexpired at the time of the vacancy, then and in that case the governor shall order an election to be held to fill the vacancy.

SEC. 17. Every bill which shall have passed both houses shall be presented to the governor. If he approve it he shall sign it; but if he shall not approve it he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter his objections at large upon their journals and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of the whole number elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, by which, likewise, it shall be reconsidered; and if approved by a majority of the whole number elected to that house it shall be a law; but in such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days, Sundays excepted, after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in such case it shall not be a law.

SEC. 18. Every order or resolution to which the concurrence of both houses may be necessary, except on questions of adjournment, shall be presented to the governor before it shall take effect, be approved by him, or, being disapproved, shall be repassed by both houses according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SEC. 19. A lieutenant-governor shall be chosen at every election for governor in the same manner, continue in office for the same time and possess the same qualifications. In voting for governor and lieutenant-governor the electors distinguish for whom they vote as governor and for whom as lieutenant-governor.

SEC. 20. He shall, by virtue of his office, be president of the senate, have a right when in committee of the whole to debate, and whenever the senate are equally divided shall give the casting vote.

SEC. 21. Whenever the government shall be administered by the lieutenant-governor, or he shall be unable to attend as president of the senate, the senate shall elect one of their own members as president of the senate for that occasion, and if, during the vacancy of the office of the governor, the lieutenant-governor shall be impeached, removed from office, refuse to qualify, or resign, or die, or be absent from the state, the president of the senate shall in like manner administer the government.

SEC. 22. The lieutenant-governor while he acts as president of the senate shall receive for his services the same compensation which shall for the same period be allowed to the speaker of the house of representatives, and no more; and during the time he administers the government as governor he shall receive the same compensation which the governor would have received had he been employed in the duties of his office.

SEC. 23. In case of an impeachment of the governor, his removal from office, death, refusal to qualify, resignation or absence from the state, the lieutenant-governor shall exercise all the power and authority appertaining to the office of governor until the time pointed out by this constitution for the election of a governor shall arrive, unless the general assembly shall provide by law for the election of governor to fill such vacancy.

SEC. 25. No person shall hold the office of governor or lieutenant-governor and any other office or commission, civil or military, either in this state or under any state, or the United States, or any other power, at one and the same time.

SEC. 26. There shall be elected by the qualified voters of this state an auditor and treasurer for this state, who shall hold their offices for the term of two years, and until their respective successors are elected and qualified, unless sooner removed; and shall keep their respective offices at the seat of government and perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law; and, in case of vacancy by death, resignation or otherwise, such vacancy shall be filled by the governor as in other cases.

MILITIA.

SECTION 1. The militia of this state shall be divided into convenient divisions, brigades, regiments and companies, and officers of corresponding titles and rank elected to command them, conforming as nearly as practicable to the general regulations of the army of the United States; and all officers shall be elected by those subject to military duty in their several districts, except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The governor shall appoint the adjutant-general and other members of his staff, and major-generals, brigadier-generals and commanders of regiments shall respectively appoint their own staff; and all commissioned officers may continue in office during good behavior, and staff officers during the same time, subject to be removed by the superior officer from whom they respectively derive their commissions.

ARTICLE VII.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of this state shall be vested in one supreme court, in circuit courts, in county courts and in justices of the peace. The general assembly may also vest such jurisdiction as may be deemed necessary in corporation courts, and, when they deem it expedient, may establish courts of chancery.

SEC. 2. The supreme court shall be composed of three judges, one of whom shall be styled chief justice, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of any two of said judges shall in every case be necessary to a decision.

The supreme court, except in cases otherwise directed by this constitution, shall have appellate jurisdiction only, which shall be co-extensive with the state, under such restrictions and regulations as may from time to time be prescribed by law.

It shall have a general superintending control over all inferior and other courts of law and equity. It shall have power to issue writs of error, supersedeas, certiorari and habeas corpus, mandamus and quo warranto and other remedial writs, and to hear and determine the same. Said judges shall be conservators of the peace throughout the state, and shall have power to issue any of the aforesaid writs.

SEC. 3. The circuit court shall have original jurisdiction over all criminal cases which shall not be otherwise provided for by law, and exclusive original jurisdiction of all crimes amounting to felony at the common law, and original jurisdiction of all civil cases which shall not be cognizable before justices of the peace, until otherwise directed by the general assembly, and original jurisdiction in all matters of contract where the sum in controversy is over two hundred dollars. It shall hold its terms at such place in each county as may be by law directed.

SEC. 4. The state shall be divided into convenient circuits, each to consist of not less than five nor more than seven counties contiguous to each other, for each of which a judge shall be elected, who, during his continuance in office, shall reside and be a conservator of the peace within the circuit for which he shall have been elected.

SEC. 5. The circuit court shall exercise a superintending control over the county courts and over justices of the peace in each county in their respective circuits, and shall have power to issue all the necessary writs to carry into effect their general and specific powers.

SEC. 6. Until the general assembly shall deem it expedient to establish courts of chancery, the circuit courts shall have jurisdiction in matters of equity, subject to appeal to the supreme court, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 7. The qualified voters of this state shall elect the judges of the supreme court. The judges of the supreme court shall be at least thirty years of age; they shall hold their offices during the term of eight years from the date of their commissions, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Immediately after such election by the people, the lieutenant-governor and speaker of the house of representatives shall proceed by lot to divide the judges into three classes. The commissions of the first class shall expire at the end of four years, of the second class at the end of six years, and of the third class at the end of eight years, so that one-third of the whole number shall be chosen every four, six and eight years.

SEC. 8. The qualified voters of each judicial district shall elect a circuit judge. The judges of the circuit court shall be at least twenty-five years of age, and shall be elected for the term of four years from the date of their commissions, and shall serve until their successors are elected and qualified.

SEC. 9. The supreme court shall appoint its own clerk or clerks for the term of four years; the qualified voters of each county shall elect a clerk of the circuit court for the respective counties, who shall hold his office for the term of two years and until his successor is elected and qualified, and courts of chancery, if any be established, shall appoint their own clerks.

SEC. 10. The judges of the supreme court and circuit courts shall, at stated times, receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, which shall not be diminished during the time for which they are elected; they shall not be allowed any fees or perquisites of office, nor hold any other office of trust or profit under this state or the United States. The attorney-general, the state's attorneys and clerks of the supreme and circuit courts and courts of chancery, if any such be established, shall receive for their services such salaries, fees and perquisites of office as shall, from time to time, be fixed by law.

SEC. 11. There shall be established in each county in the state a court to be holden by the justices of the peace—a court called the county court—which shall have jurisdiction in all matters relating to taxes, disbursements of money for county purposes, and in every other case that may be necessary to the internal improvement and local concerns of the respective counties.

SEC. 12. The qualified voters of each county shall elect a county and probate judge, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified. He shall, in addition to the duties that may be required of him by law as a presiding judge of the county court, be a judge of the court of probate, and have such jurisdiction in matters relating to the estates of deceased persons, executors, administrators and guardians as may be prescribed by law, until otherwise directed by the general assembly.

SEC. 13. The presiding judge of the probate and county court and justices of the peace shall receive for their services such compensation and fees as the general assembly may, from time to time, by law direct.

SEC. 14. No judge shall preside on the trial of any cause in the event of which he may be interested, or where either of the parties shall be connected with him by affinity or consanguinity within such degrees as may be prescribed by law, or in which he may have been counsel, or have presided in any inferior court, except by consent of all the parties. In case all or any of the judges of the supreme court shall be thus disqualified from presiding on any cause or causes, the court or judges thereof shall certify the same to the governor of the state, and he shall immediately commission, specially, the requisite number of men of law knowledge for the trial and determination thereof. The same course shall be pursued in the circuit and inferior courts as prescribed in this section for cases of the supreme court. Judges of the circuit courts may temporarily exchange circuits or hold courts for each other under such regulations as may be pointed out by law. Judges shall not charge juries with regard to matter of fact, but may state the testimony and declare the law.

SEC. 15. The qualified voters thereof shall elect an attorney for the state for each judicial circuit established by law, who shall continue in office two years and until his successor is elected and qualified, and reside within the circuit for which he was elected at the time of and during his continuance in office. In all cases where an attorney for the state of any circuit fails to attend and prosecute according to law, the court shall have power to appoint an attorney pro tempore.

SEC. 16. The qualified voters of this state shall elect an attorney-general, whose salary shall be the same as that of circuit judge, who shall be learned in the law, who shall be at least thirty years of age, and shall hold his office for the term of four years from the date of his commission and until his successor is elected and qualified, and whose duty it shall be to prosecute the state's pleas before the supreme court, and give his opinion in writing on all questions of law or equity when required by the governor or other officer of the state, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 17. All writs and other process shall run in the name of the "State of Arkansas," and bear teste and be signed by the clerks of the respective courts from which they issue. Indictments shall conclude: "Against the peace and dignity of the State of Arkansas."

SEC. 18. The qualified voters residing in each township shall elect the justices of the peace for each township. For every one hundred voters there may be elected one justice of the peace. Provided, that each township, however small, shall have two justices of the peace. Justices of the peace shall be elected for the term of two years, and shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified; shall be commissioned by the governor, and shall reside in the township for which they are elected during their continuance in office. The first election for justices of the peace shall take place on the second Monday in March, 1864, and the second election on the first Monday in August, 1866, and at the regular elections thereafter. Justices of the peace, individually, or two or more of them jointly, shall have original jurisdiction in cases of bastardy and in all matters of contract and actions for the recovery of fines and forfeiture where the amount claimed does not exceed two hundred dollars, and concurrent jurisdiction with circuit courts where the amount claimed exceeds one hundred dollars and does not exceed two hundred dollars, and such jurisdiction as may be provided by law in actions ex delicto where the damages claimed do not exceed one hundred dollars, and prosecutions for assault and battery and other penal offenses less than felony punishable by fine only. Every action cognizable before a justice of the peace, instituted by summons or warrant, shall be brought before some justice of the peace of the township where the defendant resides. They may also sit as examining courts, and commit, discharge or recognize any person charged with any crime of any grade. For the foregoing purposes, they shall have power to issue all necessary process. They shall also have power to bind to keep the peace or for good behavior.

SEC. 19. The qualified voters of each township shall elect one constable for the term of two years, who shall hold his office till his successor is elected and qualified, who shall, during his continuance in office, reside in the township for which he was elected. Incorporated towns may have a separate constable and a separate magistracy.

SEC. 20. The qualified voters of each county shall elect one sheriff, one coroner and one county surveyor for the term of two years and until their successors are elected. They shall be commissioned by the governor, reside in their respective counties during their continuance in office and be disqualified for the office a second term if it should appear that they, or either of them, are in default for moneys collected by virtue of their respective offices.

ARTICLE VIII.

SECTION 1. Knowledge and learning generally diffused throughout a community being essential to the preservation of a free government, and diffusing the opportunities and advantages of education through the various parts of the state being highly conducive to this end, it shall be the duty of the general assembly to provide by law for the improvement of such lands as are, or hereafter may be, granted by the United States to this state for the use of schools, and to apply any funds which may be raised from such lands, or from any other source, to the accomplishment of the object for which they are, or may be, intended. The general assembly shall, from time to time, pass such laws as shall be calculated to encourage intellectual, scientific and agricultural improvement by allowing rewards and immunities for the promotion and improvement of arts, science, commerce, manufactures and natural history, and countenance and encourage the principles of humanity, industry and morality.

SEC. 2. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or his own confession in open court.

SEC. 3. No person who denies the being of a God shall hold any office in the civil department of this state or be allowed his oath in any court.

SEC. 4. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of an appropriation by law, nor shall any appropriation of money for the support of an army be made for a longer term than two years, and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published with the promulgation of the laws.

SEC. 5. Absence on business of this state or of the United States, or on a visit or necessary private business, shall not cause a forfeiture of a residence once obtained.

SEC. 6. No lottery shall be authorized by this state, nor shall the sale of lottery tickets be allowed.

SEC. 7. Internal improvements shall be encouraged by the government of this state, and it shall be the duty of the general assembly, as soon as may be, to make provision by law for ascertaining the proper objects of improvement in relation to roads, canals and navigable waters; and it shall also be their duty to provide by law for an equal, systematic and economical application of the funds which may be appropriated to these objects.

SEC. 8. Returns for all elections for officers who are to be commissioned by the governor, and for members of the general assembly, shall be made to the secretary of state, except, in the election of 1864, they may be made as directed in the schedule appended to this constitution.

SEC. 9. Within five years after the adoption of this constitution the laws, civil and criminal, shall be revised, digested and arranged and promulgated in such manner as the general assembly may direct, and a like revision, digest and promulgation shall be made within every subsequent period of ten years.

SEC. 10. In the event of the annexation of any territory to this state by a cession from the United States, laws may be passed extending to the inhabitants of such territory all the rights and privileges which may be required by the terms of such cession, anything in this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 11. Imprisonment for debt shall not be allowed in this state except when an allegation of fraud on the part of the debtor shall be clearly proved.

SEC. 12. Any person who shall, after the adoption of this constitution, fight a duel or send or accept a challenge for that purpose, or be aider or abettor in fighting a duel, shall be deprived of the right of suffrage and of the right of holding any office of honor or profit in this state, and shall be punished otherwise in such manner as is, or may be, prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IX.

REVENUE.

SECTION 1. All revenue shall be raised by taxation, to be fixed by law.

SEC. 2. All property subject to taxation shall be taxed according to its value, that value to be ascertained in such manner as the general assembly shall direct, making the same equal and uniform throughout the state. No one species of property from which a tax may be collected shall be taxed higher than another species of property of equal value. Provided, the general assembly shall have the power to tax merchants, hawkers, peddlers and privileges in such manner as may from time to time be prescribed by law; and provided, further, that no other or greater amount of revenue shall at any time be levied than required for the necessary expenses of the government, unless by a concurrence of two-thirds of both houses of the general assembly.

SEC. 3. No poll-tax shall be assessed for other than county purposes.

SEC. 4. No other or greater tax shall be levied on the productions or labor of the country than may be required for expenses of inspection.

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. In order that civil government may be in full operation and effect at the earliest day possible, it is further ordained and provided that a general vote on the ratification of the constitution and ordinance of this convention and a general election shall be taken and held throughout the state, as far as practicable, on the second Monday of March next, as follows, to wit: Any number of persons, being white male citizens of the state over the age of twenty-one years, at the county seat of any county, or (in case of volunteer soldiers in the federal army) at the camp of their respective companies, having first taken the oath prescribed in the president's proclamation of December 8, 1863, before any justice of the peace or other person authorized to administer an oath within the county in which they reside, or within which they are encamped, may appoint a commissioner of elections, with power to appoint such election judges as may be necessary, who shall also be an enrolling officer for said county or company, who shall proceed as follows, to wit: Said commissioners shall prepare an enrolling and poll-book, to which shall be appended the constitution, ordinances and schedule of this convention. One column shall then be headed with the oath contained in said proclamation of the president; another column headed, "Constitution and ordinances ratified; another column, "Constitution and ordinances rejected." Other columns shall be arranged so that a vote may be taken for all officers to be voted for within the county or company where the election is proposed to be held. Said commissioner shall then take the oath aforesaid before any justice of the peace or other officer authorized to administer oaths, and enroll his own name at the head of the column, under the said oath written out in full. The said commissioner shall then, on the said second Monday of March next, within usual election hours, proceed to hold an election as follows, vide voce; and provided, also, that said commissioner may keep the polls open for three days, to wit: Every white male citizen over the age of twenty-one years, of the county or (in case of a military company) of the state, presenting himself to vote, and not being included in the exceptions contained in the said proclamation, shall take the oath contained in said proclamation, administered by any justice of the peace or other officer authorized to administer oaths; and when his name has been thereafter duly enrolled or subscribed in the proper column, the commissioner shall cause his vote to be recorded, first upon the question of the constitution and ordinances, and then in the election of all officers to be voted for.

SEC. 2. That within five days after the holding of said election said commissioner shall foot up the said vote and certify the result over his signature as commissioner. He shall then make a duplicate of said book (except that the constitution and ordinances of this convention need not be appended to the copy), and forward the said copy to Little Rock, addressed to the provisional government. The original book shall be preserved by said commissioner and deposited by him as soon as the counties are organized with the clerk of the county wherein the election is held, or (in case of soldiers) in the county wherein the voters reside.

SEC. 3. Within ten days after the receipt of the said enrolling and election return-books by the provisional governor, it shall be his duty, with the assistance of the secretary of state, to examine the same and declare the result by proclamation, as follows, to wit:

First. Whether the constitution and ordinances of this convention have been adopted or rejected within the meaning of the president's proclamation.

Second. He shall announce the whole vote polled for or against said constitution and ordinances.

Third. He shall declare what persons are elected to the various offices throughout the state, except that of governor and lieutenant-governor of state, deciding the result by plurality.

SEC. 4. All persons thus declared to be elected state officers shall enter upon the discharge of their respective offices as soon thereafter as they take and subscribe an oath before any justice of the peace, or other officer authorized to administer oaths, as follows: That they will faithfully perform the duties of their respective offices; that they will support the constitution and laws of the state and of the United States; and said oath, in case of state officers, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state; and, in case of county officers, they shall enter upon the duties of their respective offices immediately after the election upon filing said oath with the county commissioners.

SEC. 5. At the first session of the legislature, and during the first week of the session, the said provisional governor shall place the said return books before that body, who shall declare the result as to the election of governor and lieutenant-governor and secretary of state, who, before entering upon the duties of their respective offices, shall take the oath herein prescribed for other officers.

SEC. 6. It is also further ordained and declared that in counties wherein, for any cause, elections are not held on the said second Monday of March next, the same may be held for the several local officers provided for in the constitution, ordinances and schedule of this convention in the same manner as hereinbefore described, at any time thereafter, till the whole state is fully organized and represented.

SEC. 7. The officers to be voted for in this election are governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney-general, three judges of the supreme court, nine circuit judges and nine district attorneys (according to act of January 15, 1861), county judges, clerks, sheriffs, coroners, constables, justices of the peace and all other officers provided for in the constitution and ordinances of this convention, or which may exist by law, and members of the legislature, according to the ratio or apportionment of senatorial districts in force in the year 1860, and members to congress in districts Nos. 1 and 2, according to the act approved January 19, 1861 (no election being ordered in district No. 3, this convention recognizing the election of Colonel James M. Johnson as the representative from that district). And it is further hereby declared that all laws in force in this state on the fourth day of March, 1861, are still in force, not inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution, and which have not expired by limitation therein contained.

OF THE
STATE OF ARKANSAS,

As Adopted by the Convention February 11, 1868.

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of Arkansas, grateful to God for our civil and religious liberty, and desiring to perpetuate its blessings and secure the same to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution:

ARTICLE I.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security and benefit of the people, and they have the right to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require it; but the paramount allegiance of every citizen is due to the federal government in the exercise of all its constitutional powers as the same may have been or may be defined by the supreme court of the United States; and no power exists in the people of this or any other state of the federal union to dissolve their connection therewith, or perform any act tending to impair, subvert or resist the supreme authority of the United States. The constitution of the United States confers full powers on the federal government to maintain and perpetuate its existence; and whensoever any portion of the states, or the people thereof, attempt to secede from the federal union, or forcibly resist the execution of its laws, the federal government may by warrant of the constitution employ armed force in compelling obedience to its authority.

SEC. 2. The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right. In all criminal prosecutions for libel the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and, if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives, and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted.

SEC. 3. The equality of all persons before the law is recognized, and shall ever remain inviolate; nor shall any citizen ever be deprived of any right, privilege or immunity, nor exempted from any burden or duty, on account of race, color or previous condition.

SEC. 4. The citizens have a right, in a peaceable manner, to assemble together for their common good, to instruct their representatives and to petition for the redress of grievances and other proper purposes.

SEC. 5. The citizens of this state shall have the right to keep and bear arms for their common defense.

SEC. 6. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate and shall extend to all cases at law without regard to the amount in controversy; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 7. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed; nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted; nor witnesses be unreasonably detained.

OF THE
STATE OF ARKANSAS,

As Adopted by the Convention February 11, 1868.

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of Arkansas, grateful to God for our civil and religious liberty, and desiring to perpetuate its blessings and secure the same to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution:

ARTICLE I.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security and benefit of the people, and they have the right to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require it; but the paramount allegiance of every citizen is due to the federal government in the exercise of all its constitutional powers as the same may have been or may be defined by the supreme court of the United States; and no power exists in the people of this or any other state of the federal union to dissolve their connection therewith, or perform any act tending to impair, subvert or resist the supreme authority of the United States. The constitution of the United States confers full powers on the federal government to maintain and perpetuate its existence; and whensoever any portion of the states, or the people thereof, attempt to secede from the federal union, or forcibly resist the execution of its laws, the federal government may by warrant of the constitution employ armed force in compelling obedience to its authority.

SEC. 2. The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right. In all criminal prosecutions for libel the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and, if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives, and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted.

SEC. 3. The equality of all persons before the law is recognized, and shall ever remain inviolate; nor shall any citizen ever be deprived of any right, privilege or immunity, nor exempted from any burden or duty, on account of race, color or previous condition.

SEC. 4. The citizens have a right, in a peaceable manner, to assemble together for their common good, to instruct their representatives and to petition for the redress of grievances and other proper purposes.

SEC. 5. The citizens of this state shall have the right to keep and bear arms for their common defense.

SEC. 6. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate and shall extend to all cases at law without regard to the amount in controversy; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 7. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed; nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted; nor witnesses be unreasonably detained.

SEC. 8. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the county or judicial district wherein the crime shall have been committed—which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law—and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel in his defense.

SEC. 9. No person shall be held to answer a criminal offense unless on the presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases of impeachment or in cases of petit larceny, assault, assault and battery, affray, vagrancy and such other minor cases as the general assembly shall make cognizable by justices of the peace, or arising in the army or navy of the United States, or in the militia when in actual service in time of war or public danger; and no person, after having been once acquitted by a jury for the same offense, shall be again put in jeopardy of life or liberty; but, if in any criminal prosecution the jury be divided in opinion, the court before which the trial may be had may, in its discretion, discharge the jury and commit or bail the accused for trial at the same or next term of said court; nor shall any person be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses—murder and treason—when the proof is evident or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require.

SEC. 10. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property or character; he ought to obtain justice freely and without purchase, completely and without denial, promptly and without delay, conformably to the laws.

SEC. 11. Treason against the state shall only consist in levying war against the same or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

SEC. 12. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or things to be seized.

SEC. 13. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts shall ever be passed; and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

SEC. 14. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in this state, but this shall not prevent the general assembly from providing for imprisonment or holding to bail persons charged with fraud in contracting said debt. A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale for the payment of debts or liabilities.

SEC. 15. Private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation therefor.

SEC. 16. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power. No standing army shall be kept up in this state in time of peace, and no soldier shall in time of peace be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 17. Suits may be brought by or against the state in such manner and in such courts as may be by, law provided.

SEC. 18. The general assembly shall not grant to any citizen, or class of citizens, privileges or immunities which, upon the same terms, shall not equally belong to all citizens.

SEC. 19. The right of suffrage shall be protected by laws regulating elections, and prohibiting, under adequate penalties, all undue influence from bribery, tumult or other improper conduct.

SEC. 20. Foreigners who are or may become bona fide residents of this state shall be secured the same rights in respect to the acquisition, possession, enjoyment and descent of property as are secured to native-born citizens.

SEC. 21. No religious test or amount of property shall ever be required as a qualification for any office of public trust under the state. No religious test or amount of property shall ever be required as a qualification of any voter at any election in this state; nor shall any person be rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law or equity in consequence of his opinion upon the subject of religion; and the mode of administering an oath or affirmation shall be such as shall be most consistent with and binding upon the conscience of the person to whom such oath or affirmation may be administered.

SEC. 22. Any person who shall, after the adoption of this constitution, fight a duel or send or accept a challenge for that purpose, or be aider or abettor in fighting a duel, either in this state or elsewhere, shall thereby be deprived of the right of holding any office of honor or profit in this state, and shall be forever disqualified from voting at any election, and shall be punished otherwise in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 23. Religion, morality and knowledge being essential to good government, the general assembly shall pass suitable laws to protect every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of public worship, and to encourage schools and the means of instruction.

SEC. 24. All lands in this state are declared to be allodial, and feudal tenures of every description, with all their incidents, are prohibited. Leases and grants of land for a longer period than twenty-one years hereafter made, in which shall be reserved any rent or service of any kind, shall be held a conveyance in fee to the lessee.

SEC. 25. The action of the convention of the State of Arkansas which assembled in the City of Little Rock on the fourth (4th) day of March, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one (1861), was and is null and void. All the action of the State of Arkansas under the authority of said convention, of its ordinances or its constitution, whether legislative, executive, judicial or military, was and is hereby declared null and void; and no debt or liability of the State of Arkansas incurred by the action of said convention or of the general assembly, or any department of the government under the authority of either, shall ever be recognized as obligatory. Provided, that this ordinance shall not be so construed as to effect the rights of private individuals arising under contracts between the parties, or to change county boundaries or county seats, or to make invalid the acts of justices of the peace or other officers in their authority to administer oaths or take and certify the acknowledgment of deeds of conveyance or other instruments of writing, or in the solemnization of marriage.

ARTICLE II.

BOUNDARIES.

We do declare and establish, ratify and confirm the following as the permanent boundaries of said State of Arkansas, that is to say: Beginning at the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River on the parallel of thirty-six (36) degrees north latitude; running from thence west with the said parallel of latitude to the Saint Francis River; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river to the parallel of thirty-six (36) degrees thirty (30) minutes north; from thence west with the boundary line of the State of Missouri to the south-west corner of that state; and thence to be bounded on the west to the north bank of Red River, as by acts of congress and treaties heretofore defining the western limits of the Territory of Arkansas; and to be bounded on the south side of Red River by the boundary line of the State of Texas to the north-west corner of the State of Louisiana; thence east with the Louisiana state line to the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river, including an island in said river, known as "Belle Point Island," to the thirty-sixth (36th) degree of north latitude, the place of beginning.

ARTICLE III.

The seat of government shall be at Little Rock, where it is now established.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. The powers of government are divided into three departments—the legislative, the executive and the judicial.

SEC. 2. No person belonging to one department shall exercise the powers properly belonging to another, excepting in the cases expressly provided in this constitution.

ARTICLE V.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The legislative power in this state shall be vested in a general assembly, which shall consist of a senate and a house of representatives.

SEC. 2. The general assembly shall meet every two years on the first Monday of January, at the seat of government, until altered by law; but the first general assembly elected after the adoption of this constitution shall meet on the second (2d) day of April. A. D. one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight (1868).

SEC. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of members chosen every second year by the qualified electors of the several districts.

SEC. 4. No person shall be a member of the house of representatives who shall not have attained the age of twenty-one years and have been one year a resident of this state; who shall not be a male citizen of the United States; who shall not at the time of his election have an actual residence in the district he may be chosen to represent, and who shall not be a qualified elector as provided in this constitution.

SEC. 5. The senate shall consist of members chosen every fourth year by the qualified electors of the several districts.

SEC. 6. No person shall be a member of the senate who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years and have been one year a resident of this state; who shall not be a male citizen of the United States; who shall not at the time of his election have an actual residence in the district he may be chosen to represent, and who shall not be a qualified elector as provided in this constitution.

SEC. 7. The number of members composing the senate shall be twenty-six (26), and of the house of representatives eighty-two (82).

SEC. 8. The general assembly shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of this state in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five (1875), and every tenth (10th) year thereafter; and the first general assembly elected after each enumeration so made, and also after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, may rearrange the senatorial and representative districts according to the number of inhabitants as ascertained by such enumeration. Provided, that there shall be no apportionment other than that made in this constitution until after the enumeration to be made in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five (1875).

SEC. 9. Senators shall be chosen at the same time and in the same manner that members of the house of representatives are required to be. Senatorial districts shall be composed of convenient contiguous territory, and no representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial one. The senatorial districts shall be numbered in regular series, and the term of senators chosen for the districts designated by odd numbers shall expire in two (2) years, and the term of senators chosen for the districts designated by even numbers shall expire in four (4) years; but thereafter senators shall be chosen for the term of four (4) years, excepting when an enumeration of the inhabitants of the state is made, in which case, if a rearrangement of the senatorial districts is made, the regulation above stated shall govern the term of office.

SEC. 10. Removals of senators and representatives from their respective districts shall be deemed a vacation of their office.

SEC. 11. No person holding any office under the United States, or this state, or any county office, except postmasters, notaries public, officers of the militia and township officers shall be eligible to or have a seat in either branch of the general assembly; and all votes given for any such person shall be void.

SEC. 12. Senators and representatives shall, in all cases (treason, felony or breach of the peace excepted), be privileged from arrest during the session of the general assembly. They shall not be subject to any civil process during the session of the general assembly or for fifteen days next before the commencement and next after the termination of each session. And they shall not be questioned in any other place for remarks made in either house.

SEC. 13. A majority of the members of each house shall constitute a quorum to transact business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house may prescribe.

SEC. 14. Each house shall choose its own officers, determine the rules of its proceedings, judge of the qualifications, election and return of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause, nor for any cause known to his constituents at the time of his election. The reasons for any such expulsion shall be entered upon the journal with the names of the members voting thereon.

SEC. 15. The general assembly shall prescribe by law the manner in which the state printing shall be executed and the accounts rendered therefor, and shall prohibit all charges for constructive labor. They shall not rescind or alter any contract for such printing, or release the person or persons taking the same, or his or their securities, from the performance of any of the provisions of such contract.

SEC. 16. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same, excepting such parts as may require secrecy. The yeas and nays of the members of either house upon any question shall be entered on the journal at the request of five members. Any member of either house may dissent and protest against any act, proceeding or resolution which he may deem injurious to any person or the public, and have the reason of his dissent entered on the journal.

SEC. 17. In all elections by either house, or in joint convention, the votes shall be given viva voce. All votes on nominations to the senate shall be taken by yeas and nays, and published with the journal of its proceedings.

SEC. 18. The doors of each house shall be open, unless the public welfare requires secrecy. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than where the general assembly may then be in session.

SEC. 19. Bills may originate in either house of the general assembly, but all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, though the senate may propose amendments, as on other bills.

SEC. 20. No portion of the public funds or property shall ever be appropriated by virtue of any resolution. No appropriation shall be made except by a bill duly passed for that purpose.

SEC. 21. Every bill and joint resolution shall be read three times, on different days, in each house before the final passage thereof, unless two-thirds of the house where the same is pending shall dispense with the rules. No bill or joint resolution shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of all the members voting. On the final passage of all bills the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and entered on the journal.

SEC. 22. No act shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be embraced in its title. No public act shall take effect or be in force until ninety (90) days from the expiration of the session at which the same is passed, unless it is otherwise provided in the act.

SEC. 23. No law shall be revised, altered or amended by reference to its title only, but the act revised and the section or sections of the act as altered or amended shall be enacted and published at length.

SEC. 24. No new bill shall be introduced into either house during the last three days of the session without the unanimous consent of the house in which it originated.

SEC. 25. The general assembly, at its first session, shall provide suitable laws for the registration of qualified electors and for the prevention of frauds in elections.

SEC. 26. The general assembly shall provide for the speedy publication of all statute laws of a public nature, and of such judicial decisions as it may deem expedient. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free of publication by any person.

SEC. 27. The style of the laws of the state shall be: "Be it enacted by the general assembly of the State of Arkansas."

SEC. 28. The general assembly may enact laws providing for county, township or precinct governments.

SEC. 29. It shall be the duty of the general assembly, from time to time, as circumstances may require, to frame and adopt a penal code, founded on principles of reformation.

SEC. 30. The general assembly shall not change the venue in any criminal or penal prosecution, but shall provide for the same by general laws.

SEC. 31. The general assembly may pass laws authorizing appeals in criminal or penal cases and regulating the right of challenge of jurors therein.

SEC. 32. The general assembly shall direct by law when and how juries shall be selected from judicial districts in criminal and civil cases.

SEC. 33. The general assembly shall regulate by law by whom and in what manner writs of election shall be issued to fill the vacancies which may happen in either branch thereof.

SEC. 34. The general assembly may declare the cases in which any office shall be deemed vacant, and also for the manner of filling the vacancy where no provision is made for that purpose in this constitution.

SEC. 35. Every bill and concurrent resolution, except of adjournment, passed by the general assembly shall be presented to the governor for approval before it becomes a law. If he approve, he shall sign it; if not, he shall return it with his objections to the house in which it originated, which shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and reconsider it. On such reconsideration, if a majority of the members elected agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall be reconsidered. If approved by a majority of the members elected to that house it shall become a law. In such cases the vote of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of members voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill be not returned by the governor within three (3) days (Sundays excepted) after it has been presented to him, the same shall become a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not become a law. The governor may approve, sign and file in the office of the secretary of state, within three (3) days after the adjournment of the general assembly, any act passed during the last three (3) days of the session, and the same shall become a law.

SEC. 36. Each house may punish by imprisonment, during its session, any person not a member who shall be guilty of any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in their presence; but no such imprisonment shall at any time exceed twenty-four (24) hours.

SEC. 37. No citizen of this state shall be disfranchised, or deprived of any of the rights or privileges secured to any citizen thereof, unless the same is done by the law of the land, or the judgment of his peers, except as hereinafter provided. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, either by indentures, apprenticeships, or otherwise, in the state, except for the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

SEC. 38. The general assembly shall have no power to make compensation for emancipated slaves.

SEC. 39. The general assembly shall have no power to grant divorces, to change the names of individuals, or to direct the sale of estates belonging to infants or other persons laboring under legal disabilities, by special legislation; but, by general laws, shall confer such powers on the courts of justice.

SEC. 40. The general assembly shall not authorize, by private or special law, the sale or conveyance of any real estate belonging to any person, or vacate or alter any road laid out by legal authority, or any street in any city or village, or in any recorded town plat; but shall provide for the same by general laws.

SEC. 41. The general assembly shall not authorize any lottery, and shall prohibit the sale of lottery tickets.

SEC. 42. In case of a contested election, only the claimant decided entitled to the seat, in either house in which the contest may take place, shall receive from the state per diem, compensation and mileage.

SEC. 43. No collector, holder or disburser of public moneys shall have a seat in the general assembly, or be eligible to any office of trust or profit under this state, until he shall have accounted for and paid over, as provided by law, all sums for which he is liable.

SEC. 44. The general assembly shall have power to alter and regulate the jurisdiction and proceedings in law and equity, subject to the provisions of this constitution.

SEC. 45. The general assembly shall direct by law in what manner and in what courts suits may be brought by and against the state.

SEC. 46. It shall be the duty of the general assembly to make adequate provision for the maintenance of paupers throughout the state.

SEC. 47. The general assembly shall not have power to authorize any municipal corporation to pass any laws contrary to the general laws of the state, or to levy any tax on real or personal property to a greater extent than two (2) per centum of the assessed value of the same.

SEC. 48. The general assembly shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers. Corporations may be formed under general laws; but all such laws may, from time to time, be altered or repealed. Dues from corporations shall be secured by such individual liability of the stockholders, and other means, as may be prescribed by law; but in all cases each stockholder shall be liable over and above the stock by him or her owned, and any amount unpaid thereon, to a further sum, at least equal in amount to such stock. The property of corporations now existing, or hereafter created, shall forever be subject to taxation, the same as the property of individuals. No right of way shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation until full compensation therefor shall be first made in money, or first secured by a deposit of money, to the owner, irrespective of any benefit from any improvement proposed by such corporation; which compensation shall be ascertained by a jury of twelve men in a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 49. The general assembly shall provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages by general laws, and restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, so as to prevent the abuse of such power.

SEC. 50. All corporations with banking and discounting privileges shall, preparatory to issuing bills as currency, deposit the bonds of this state, equal in amount to the capital stock of such corporation, with the auditor of the state, who shall not permit an issue of circulation exceeding eighty per centum of the amount of bonds so deposited, such circulation being receivable for all taxes and dues to the state, and the individual liability of stockholders shall be as hereinbefore directed. Provided, that corporations chartered or existing under any act of the congress of the United States shall be exempted from these provisions.

SEC. 51. The general assembly, on the day of final adjournment, shall adjourn at twelve o'clock at noon.

ARTICLE VI.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The executive department of this state shall consist of a governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney-general and superintendent of public instruction—all of whom shall hold their several offices for the term of four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified. They shall be chosen by the qualified electors of this state at the time and places of choosing the members of the general assembly.

SEC. 2. The supreme executive power of this state shall be vested in the governor.

SEC. 3. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant-governor who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years; who shall not have been five years a citizen of the United States; who shall not, at the time of his election, have had an actual residence in this state for one year next preceding his election, and who shall not be a qualified elector as prescribed in this constitution.

SEC. 4. In elections for governor and lieutenant-governor, the person having the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. But, in case that two or more persons shall have an equal and the highest number of votes for governor or lieutenant-governor, the general assembly shall, by joint vote, choose one of such persons. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state, and may call out such forces to execute the laws, suppress insurrections, repel invasions or preserve the public peace. He shall transact all necessary business with other officers of the state government, and may require information in writing of the officers of the executive department upon any subject pertaining to the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the governor to see that the laws are faithfully executed.

SEC. 6. He may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions.

SEC. 7. He shall give to the general assembly, and at the close of his official term to the next general assembly, information by message concerning the condition of the state, and recommend such means to their consideration as he may deem expedient.

SEC. 8. He may convene the general assembly at some other place when the seat of government becomes dangerous from the prevalence of disease or the presence of a common enemy.

SEC. 9. He may grant reprieves, pardons and commutations after conviction for all offenses, except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper; subject, however, to such regulations as may be prescribed by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason he may suspend execution of the sentence until the matter shall be reported to the general assembly at its next session, when the general assembly shall either pardon, commute the sentence, direct the execution of the same, or grant a further reprieve. The governor shall communicate to the general assembly, at each session, information concerning each case of pardon, reprieve or commutation granted, and the reasons therefor.

SEC. 10. In case of the impeachment of the governor, his removal from office, death, resignation, inability or removal from the state, the powers and duties of the governor shall devolve upon the lieutenant-governor during the residue of the term or until the disabilities of the governor are removed.

SEC. 11. During a vacancy in the office of governor, if the lieutenant-governor resign, be impeached, displaced, absent from the state, or incapable of acting, the president pro tempore of the senate shall act as governor until the vacancy be filled or the disability cease.

SEC. 12. The lieutenant-governor shall, by virtue of his office, be president of the senate, and when there is an equal division he shall give the casting vote.

SEC. 13. No member of congress or any other person holding any office under the United States or this state shall execute the office of governor.

SEC. 14. The lieutenant-governor and the president of the senate pro tempore, while performing the office of governor, shall receive the same compensation as the governor.

SEC. 15. All official acts of the governor—his approval of the laws excepted—shall be authenticated by the great seal of the state, which seal shall be kept by the secretary of state.

SEC. 16. The governor shall, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint a convenient number of notaries public, not to exceed six for each county, who shall discharge such duties as are now, or as may hereafter be, prescribed by law.

SEC. 17. All commissions issued to persons holding office under the provisions of this constitution shall be in the name and by the authority of the people of the State of Arkansas, sealed with the great seal of the state, signed by the governor and countersigned by the secretary of state.

SEC. 18. The governor, chief justice, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney-general and superintendent of public instruction shall severally reside and keep all public records, books, papers and documents which may pertain to their respective offices at the seat of government.

SEC. 19. The returns of every election for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney-general and superintendent of public instruction shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government by the returning officers and directed to the presiding officer of the senate, who, during the first week of the session, shall open and publish the same in presence of the members then assembled. The person having the highest number of votes shall be declared elected, but, if two or more shall have the highest and equal number of votes for the same office, one of them shall be chosen by a joint vote of both houses. Contested elections shall likewise be determined by both houses of the general assembly in such manner as is or may hereafter be prescribed by law.

SEC. 20. The secretary of state shall keep a fair record of all official acts and proceedings of the governor, and shall, when required, lay the same, and all papers, minutes and vouchers relative thereto, before the general assembly, and shall perform such other duties as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law.

SEC. 21. The auditor, treasurer, attorney-general and superintendent of public instruction shall perform such duties as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law.

SEC. 22. In case of the death, impeachment, removal from the state or other disability of the secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney-general and superintendent of public instruction, the vacancies in their several offices thus occasioned shall be filled by appointment of the governor, which appointment shall be made for the unexpired terms of said officers, or until said disabilities are removed, or until elections are held to fill said vacancies.

SEC. 23. Until the general assembly shall otherwise provide, the governor shall appoint a suitable person who shall be styled commissioner of public works and internal improvements, who shall hold his office for the term of four years and until his successor is duly commissioned and qualified. It shall be the duty of the commissioner of public works and internal improvements to superintend all public works which may be carried on by the state, and have a supervising control over all internal improvements in which the state is interested; and, until otherwise provided by the general assembly, he shall be ex officio commissioner of immigration and of state lands, and shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. He shall receive for his services the same salary as provided by law for the auditor of state.

SEC. 24. The officers of the executive department mentioned in this article shall at stated times receive for their services a compensation to be established by law, which shall not be diminished during the period for which they shall have been elected or appointed.

SEC. 25. The officers of the executive department and judges of the supreme court shall not be eligible, during the period for which they may be elected or appointed to their respective offices, to any position in the gift of the qualified electors or of the general assembly of this state.

SEC. 26. The returns of every election for state, county and judicial officers not herein provided for shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government by the returning officers and directed to the secretary of state, who shall open and publish the same, and the persons so elected shall be duly commissioned by the governor.

ARTICLE VII.

JUDICIARY.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the state shall be vested in the senate sitting as a court of impeachment, a supreme court, circuit courts and such other courts inferior to the supreme court as the general assembly may from time to time establish.

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment. All impeachments shall be tried by the senate. When sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members thereof. The chief justice shall preside, and the secretary of state shall act as clerk of the court. Provided, that in case of the trial of either of them the person appointed temporarily to perform the duties of the office shall act.

The governor and all other civil officers under this state shall be liable to impeachment for any misconduct or maladministration of their respective offices; but judgment in such cases shall not extend farther than to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under this state. The party, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial and judgment according to law.

SEC. 3. Two terms of the supreme court shall be held at the seat of government annually. Provided, that the general assembly may provide by law for holding said court at three other places. The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, for the term of eight years, and four associate justices, who shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the state at large for the term of eight years. Provided, that two of the associate justices first chosen under this constitution shall serve for four years after the next general election and two of them for eight years after said election, said times to be determined by lot; but thereafter the associate justices shall be chosen for the full term.

SEC. 4. The supreme court shall have general supervision and control over all inferior courts of law and equity. It shall have power to issue writs of error, supersedeas, certiorari, habeas corpus, mandamus, quo warranto and other remedial writs, and to hear and determine the same. Final judgments in the inferior courts may be brought by writ of error or by appeal into the supreme court in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 5. The inferior courts of the state as now constituted by law, except as hereinafter provided, shall remain with the same jurisdiction as they now possess. Provided, that the general assembly may provide for the establishment of such inferior courts, changes of jurisdiction or abolition of existing inferior courts as may be deemed requisite. The judges of the inferior courts herein provided for, or of such as may hereafter be established by law, shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, for the term of six years and until such time as the general assembly may otherwise direct. Provided, that the general assembly shall not interfere with the term of office of any judge.

SEC. 6. All writs and other processes shall run in the name of the State of Arkansas, and bear teste and be signed by the clerks of the respective courts from which they issue. Indictments shall conclude: "Against the peace and dignity of the State of Arkansas."

SEC. 7. No judge shall preside on the trial of any cause in the event of which he may be interested, or where either of the parties shall be connected with him by affinity or consanguinity within such degrees as may be prescribed by law, or in which he may have been counsel or have presided in any inferior court.

SEC. 8. In case all or any of the judges of the supreme court shall be disqualified from presiding on any cause or causes, the court or judges thereof shall certify the same to the governor of the state, and he shall immediately commission, specially, the required number of men learned in the law for the trial and determination thereof.

SEC. 9. Whenever at ten o'clock A. M. of the second day of any term of the inferior courts of this state the judge thereof is not present, or if present, and he can not for any cause properly preside at the trial of any case then pending therein, the attorneys of said court then present may elect a special judge, who shall preside during the trial of such case or cases, or shall hold said court until the appearance of the regular judge thereof. The proceedings in such cases shall be entered at large upon the record.

SEC. 10. The judges of the inferior courts may temporarily exchange circuits or hold courts for each other under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 11. Judges shall not charge juries with regard to matters of fact, but shall declare the law. In all trials by jury the judges shall give their instructions and charges in writing; and, if the trial is by the court, he shall reduce to writing his findings upon the facts in the case, and shall declare the law in the same manner he is required to do when instructing juries.

SEC. 12. Any judge whose appointment or election is herein provided for shall be at least twenty-five years of age, a qualified elector of this state, and shall have been for one year an actual resident of the state, and shall reside in the circuit or district to which he may be appointed or elected.

SEC. 13. The judges of the supreme and inferior courts shall, at stated times, receive a compensation for their services as is now or may hereafter be provided by law, and which shall not be diminished during the respective terms for which they may be elected or appointed.

SEC. 14. The inferior courts shall hold annually such terms as the general assembly may direct.

SEC. 15. All appeals from inferior courts shall be taken in such manner and to such courts as may be provided by law. Appeals may be taken from courts of justices of the peace to such courts and in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 16. When a vacancy occurs in the office of judge of the supreme or any of the inferior courts it shall be filled by appointment of the governor, which appointee shall hold his office the residue of the unexpired term and until his successor is elected and qualified.

SEC. 17. The supreme court and such other courts as may be established by law shall be courts of record and shall each have a common seal.

SEC. 18. The supreme court shall appoint a clerk of such court and also a reporter of its decisions. The decisions of the supreme court shall be in writing and signed by the judges concurring therein. Any judge dissenting therefrom shall give the reasons of such dissent in writing over his signature; all such decisions shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court and be published in such manner as the general assembly may direct. The clerk and reporter shall hold their respective offices for the term of six years, subject to removal by the court for cause.

SEC. 19. A county clerk shall be elected by the qualified electors in each organized county in this state, for the term of four years, and shall perform such duties and receive such fees as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law.

SEC. 20. In each township in this state there shall be elected by the qualified electors thereof two justices of the peace, who shall hold their offices for the term of four years. Provided, that in such townships as may contain more than two hundred qualified electors an additional justice of the peace may be chosen. Justices of the peace shall have exclusive original jurisdiction in all actions of contract and replevin where the amount in controversy does not exceed two hundred dollars, and concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court where the amount in controversy does not exceed five hundred dollars. In criminal causes the jurisdiction of justices of the peace shall extend to all matters less than felony for final determination and judgment.

SEC. 21. Any suitor in any court in this state shall have the right to prosecute or defend his suit either in his own proper person or by attorney.

SEC. 22. In the courts of this state there shall be no exclusion of any witness in civil actions because he is a party to, or is interested in, the issue to be tried, and no person convicted of infamous crime shall be a competent witness in any cause without the consent of both parties to the controversy. Provided, that in actions by or against executors, administrators or guardians, in which judgment may be rendered for or against them, neither party shall be allowed to testify against the other as to any transactions with or statements to the testator, intestate or ward, unless called to testify thereto by the opposite party or required to testify thereto by the court. The judges of the supreme and all inferior courts shall be conservators of the peace throughout their respective jurisdictions.

ARTICLE VIII.

FRANCHISE.

SECTION 1. The following classes of persons shall not be permitted to register, vote or hold office in this state: First—Persons who may have been convicted before any court of this state, or of the United States or any other state, of any crime punishable by law with death or confinement in the penitentiary. Provided, that any person disfranchised under this section who may be pardoned or his sentence commuted, such pardon or commutation of sentence shall remove all disabilities imposed by this section. Second—Paupers, idiots and insane persons.

SEC. 2. Every male person who has attained the age of twenty-one years and who is a citizen of the United States, or who has legally declared his intention to become a citizen thereof, who shall have resided in this state six months, and in the county in which he offered his vote ten days next preceding the election, shall be deemed a qualified elector and entitled to vote, if registered, unless disqualified by some one of the clauses of section one of this article.

SEC. 3. In all elections by the people the electors shall vote by ballot. The secrecy of the ballot shall be preserved inviolate, and the general assembly shall provide suitable laws for that purpose. On the day of an election held by the people no elector shall be subject to arrest on any civil process. The general assembly shall pass adequate laws to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors on the day on which any election by the people may be held.

NOTE.—The act of January 23, 1873, providing for the submission of the foregoing article as an amendment to the constitution for ratification by the people, provides that if such amendment should be ratified, it should be substituted for and known as ARTICLE VIII. Hence the amendment takes its place in the body of the constitution.

Submitted to the people for ratification on the third day of March, 1873, and declared ratified on the nineteenth day of April, 1873, by proclamation of the governor of that date.—[DIGESTER.]

ARTICLE IX.

EDUCATION.

SECTION 1. A general diffusion of knowledge and intelligence among all classes being essential to the preservation of the rights and liberties of the people, the general assembly shall establish and maintain a system of free schools for the gratuitous instruction of all persons in this state between the ages of five and twenty-one years, and the funds appropriated for the support of common schools shall be distributed to the several counties in proportion to the number of children and youths therein between the ages of five and twenty-one years, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law, but no religious or other sect or sects shall ever have any exclusive right to, or control of any part of, the school funds of this state.

SEC. 2. The supervision of public schools shall be vested in a superintendent of public instruction and such other officers as the general assembly shall provide. The superintendent of public instruction shall receive such salary and perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 3. The general assembly shall establish and maintain a state university, with departments for instruction in teaching, in agriculture and the natural sciences, as soon as the public school fund will permit.

SEC. 4. The proceeds of all lands that have been or hereafter may be granted by the United States to this state, and not otherwise appropriated by the United States or this state; also all mines [moneys?], stocks, bonds, lands and other property now belonging to any fund for purposes of education; also the net proceeds of all sales of lands and other property and effects that may accrue to this state by escheat, or from sales of estrays, or from unclaimed dividends or distributive shares of the estates of deceased persons, or from fines, penalties or forfeitures; also any proceeds of the sales of public lands which may have been or may be hereafter paid over to this state (congress consenting); also the grants, gifts or devises that have been or hereafter may be made to this state, and not otherwise appropriated by the terms of the grant, gift or devise, shall be securely invested and sacredly preserved as a public school fund, which shall be the common property of the state; the annual income of which fund, together with one dollar per capita to be annually assessed on every male inhabitant of this state over the age of twenty-one years, and so much of the ordinary annual revenue of the state as may be necessary, shall be faithfully appropriated for establishing and maintaining the free schools and the university in this article provided for, and for no other uses or purposes whatever.

SEC. 5. No part of the public school fund shall be invested in the stocks or bonds or other obligations of any state or any county, city, town or corporation. The stocks belonging to any school fund or university fund shall be sold in such manner and at such times as the general assembly shall prescribe, and the proceeds thereof and the proceeds of the sales of any lands or other property which now belongs or may hereafter belong to said school fund may be invested in the bonds of the United States.

SEC. 6. No township or school district shall receive any portion of the public school fund, unless a free school shall have been kept therein for not less than three months during the year, for which distribution thereof is made. The general assembly shall require by law that every child of sufficient mental and physical ability shall attend the public schools, during the period between the ages of five and eighteen years, for a term equivalent to three years, unless educated by other means.

SEC. 7. In case the public school fund shall be insufficient to sustain a free school at least three months in every year in each school district in this state, the general assembly shall provide by law for raising such deficiency by levying such tax upon all taxable property in each county, township or school district as may be deemed proper.

SEC. 8. The general assembly shall, as far as it can be done without infringing upon vested rights, reduce all lands, moneys or other property used or held for school purposes in the various counties of this state into the public school fund herein provided for.

SEC. 9. Provision shall also be made by general laws for raising such sum or sums of money by taxation or otherwise in each school district as may be necessary for the building and furnishing of a sufficient number of suitable school-houses for the accommodation of all the pupils within the limits of the several school districts.

ARTICLE X.

FINANCES, TAXATION, PUBLIC DEBT AND EXPENDITURES.

SECTION 1. The levying of taxes by the poll is grievous and oppressive; therefore, the general assembly shall never levy a poll-tax excepting for school purposes.

SEC. 2. Laws shall be passed taxing, by a uniform rule, all moneys, credits, investments in bonds, joint stock companies or otherwise; and also all real and personal property, according to its true value in money; but burying-grounds, public school-houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall never be taxed. Real estate shall be appraised at least once every five years, by an appraiser to be provided for by law, at its true value in money. Personal property shall be appraised in such manner as may be provided by law at its true value in money, but the general assembly may exempt from taxation personal property to the value of five hundred dollars to each tax-payer.

SEC. 3. The general assembly shall provide by law for taxing the notes and bills discounted or purchased, moneys loaned and all other property, effects or dues of every description, without deduction, of all banks now existing or hereafter created, and of all bankers, so that all property employed in banking shall always bear a burden of taxation equal to that imposed on other property of individuals.

SEC. 4. The general assembly shall provide for raising revenue sufficient to defray the expenses of the state for each year; and also a sufficient sum to pay the interest on the state debt.

SEC. 5. No tax shall be levied except in pursuance of law; and every law imposing a tax shall state distinctly the object of the same.

SEC. 6. The credit of the state or counties shall never be loaned for any purpose without the consent of the people thereof expressed through the ballot-box.

SEC. 7. The general assembly may require the exhibit of receipts and expenditures of state and county officers at such time and manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 8. No money shall be paid out of the treasury until the same shall have been appropriated by law.

SEC. 9. The state may contract debts to supply casual deficits or failures in revenues, or to meet expenses not otherwise provided for; and the money arising from the creation of such debts shall be appropriated to the purpose for which it was obtained or to pay the debts so contracted, and to no other.

SEC. 10. In addition to the above power, the state may contract debts to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, preserve the public peace, defend the state in time of war, or to redeem the present outstanding indebtedness of the state; but the money arising from the contracting of such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which it was raised and no other, and all debts incurred to redeem the present outstanding indebtedness of the state shall be so contracted as to be payable by the sinking fund hereinafter provided for, as the same shall accumulate.

SEC. 11. The faith of the state being pledged for the payment of its debt, in order to provide therefor there shall be created a sinking fund, which shall be sufficient to pay the accruing interest on such debt, and annually to reduce the same. The said sinking fund shall consist of such net earnings and profits of public institutions, bonds, stocks or other property of the state, or of any other funds or resources that are or may be provided by law.

SEC. 12. The governor, secretary of state and attorney-general are hereby created a board of commissioners, to be styled "the commissioners of the sinking fund."

SEC. 13. The commissioners of the sinking fund shall immediately preceding each regular session of the general assembly make an estimate of the probable amount of the fund provided by the eleventh section of this article from all sources, except from taxation, and report the same, together with all their proceedings relative to said fund and the public debt, and transmit the same to the general assembly; and the general assembly shall make all necessary provision for raising and disbursing said sinking fund in pursuance of the provisions of this article.

SEC. 14. It shall be the duty of said commissioners faithfully to apply in such manner as the general assembly may by law direct said fund, together with all moneys that may be by the general assembly appropriated to that object, to the payment of the interest as it becomes due and the redemption of the principal of the public debt of the state, excepting only school and trust funds held by the state.

SEC. 15. The principal arising from the sale of all lands donated to the state for school purposes shall be paid into the treasury, and the state shall pay interest thereon for the support of schools at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

SEC. 16. The state shall never assume the debts of county, town, city or other corporation unless such debts have been created to repel invasion, suppress insurrection or to provide for the public welfare and defense.

SEC. 17. The general assembly shall tax all privileges, pursuits and occupations that are of no real use to society; all others shall be exempt, and the amount thus raised shall be paid into the treasury.

ARTICLE XI.

MILITIA.

SECTION 1. All able-bodied electors in this state shall be liable to military duty in the militia of this state, but all citizens of any denomination whatever, who, from scruples of conscience, may be averse to bearing arms, shall be exempt therefrom upon such conditions as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. The general assembly shall provide for organizing, equipping and disciplining the militia in such manner as it shall deem expedient, not incompatible with the laws of the United States.

SEC. 3. The governor shall be commander-in-chief, and shall have power to call out the militia to execute the laws, to suppress insurrection, to repel invasion and to preserve the public peace.

ARTICLE XII.

EXEMPTED PROPERTY.

SECTION 1. The personal property of any resident of this state to the value of two thousand dollars, to be selected by such resident, shall be exempted from sale on execution or other final process of any court issued for the collection of any debt contracted after the adoption of this constitution.

SEC. 2. Hereafter the homestead of any resident of this state who is a married man or head of a family shall not be encumbered in any manner while owned by him except for taxes, laborers' and mechanics' liens and securities for the purchase money thereof.

SEC. 3. Every homestead not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres of land, and the dwelling and appurtenances thereon, to be selected by the owner thereof, and not in any town, city or village, or in lieu thereof, at the option of the owner, any lot in any city, town or village, with the dwelling and appurtenances thereon, owned and occupied by any resident of this state, and not exceeding the value of five thousand dollars, shall be exempted from sale on execution or any other final process from any court; but no property shall be exempt from sale for taxes, for the payment of obligations contracted for the purchase of said premises, for the erection of improvements thereon or for labor performed for the owner thereof. Provided, that the benefit of the homestead herein provided for shall not be extended to persons who may be indebted for dues to the state, county, township, school or other trust funds.

SEC. 4. If the owner of a homestead die, leaving a widow, but no children, the same shall be exempt, and the rents and profits thereof shall accrue to her benefit during the time of her widowhood, unless she be the owner of a homestead in her own right.

SEC. 5. The homestead of a family, after the death of the owner thereof, shall be exempt from the payment of his debts, in all cases, during the minority of his children, and also so long as his widow shall remain unmarried, unless she be the owner of a homestead in her own right.

SEC. 6. The real and personal property of any female in this state, acquired either before or after marriage, whether by gift, grant, inheritance, devise or otherwise, shall, so long as she may choose, be and remain the separate estate and property of such female, and may be devised or bequeathed by her the same as if she were a femme sole. Laws shall be passed providing for the registration of the wife's separate property, and when so registered, and so long as it is not entrusted to the management or control of her husband otherwise than as an agent, it shall not be liable for any of his debts, engagements or obligations.

ARTICLE XIII.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

SECTION 1. Any amendments to this constitution may be proposed in either house of the general assembly, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election, and shall be published as provided by law, for three months previous to the time of making such choice; and if in the general assembly so next chosen as aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the general assembly to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people, in such manner and at such time as the general assembly shall provide; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments, by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of the constitution of this state.

SEC. 2. If two or more amendments shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be submitted in such manner that the electors shall vote for, or against, each of said amendments separately.

ARTICLE XIV.

APPORTIONMENT.

SECTION 1. The congressional districts shall remain as they now are. Provided, that the general assembly may, at the first session held after the adoption of this constitution, redistrict the state for congressional purposes.

SEC. 2. Until after the apportionment as herein provided for, the senatorial and representative districts shall be composed of the following counties, to wit: The First, of Jackson, Craighead, Poinsett, Cross and Mississippi; Second, of Lawrence, Randolph and Greene; Third, of Madison, Marion, Carroll, Fulton and Izard; Fourth, of Independence and Van Buren; Fifth, of Searey, Pope and Conway; Sixth, of Newton, Johnson and Yell; Seventh, of Washington and Benton; Eighth, of Crawford, Franklin and Sebastian; Ninth, of Crittenden, St. Francis and Woodruff; Tenth, of Pulaski and White; Eleventh, of Phillips and Monroe; Twelfth, of Prairie and Arkansas; Thirteenth, of Scott, Polk, Montgomery and Hot Spring; Fourteenth, of Hempstead; Fifteenth, of Lafayette and Little River; Sixteenth, of Union and Calhoun; Seventeenth, of Clark, Pike and Sevier; Eighteenth, of Columbia; Nineteenth, of Ouachita; Twentieth, of Jefferson and Bradley; Twenty-first, of Dallas, Saline and Perry; Twenty-second, of Ashley, Chicot, Drew and Desha. The senators and representatives shall be apportioned among the several senatorial and representative districts as follows, to wit:

- First District—One senator and four representatives.
- Second District—One senator and three representatives.
- Third District—One senator and four representatives.
- Fourth District—One senator and three representatives.
- Fifth District—One senator and three representatives.
- Sixth District—One senator and three representatives.
- Seventh District—One senator and four representatives.
- Eighth District—One senator and four representatives.
- Ninth District—One senator and four representatives.
- Tenth District—Two senators and six representatives.
- Eleventh District—Two senators and six representatives.
- Twelfth District—One senator and four representatives.
- Thirteenth District—One senator and three representatives.
- Fourteenth District—One senator and three representatives.
- Fifteenth District—One senator and three representatives.
- Sixteenth District—One senator and two representatives.
- Seventeenth District—One senator and four representatives.
- Eighteenth District—One senator and three representatives.
- Nineteenth District—One senator and two representatives.
- Twentieth District—Two senators and six representatives.
- Twenty-first District—One senator and two representatives.
- Twenty-second District—Two senators and six representatives.

SEC. 6. The credit of the state or counties shall never be loaned for any purpose without the consent of the people thereof expressed through the ballot-box.

SEC. 7. The general assembly may require the exhibit of receipts and expenditures of state and county officers at such time and manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 8. No money shall be paid out of the treasury until the same shall have been appropriated by law.

SEC. 9. The state may contract debts to supply casual deficits or failures in revenues, or to meet expenses not otherwise provided for; and the money arising from the creation of such debts shall be appropriated to the purpose for which it was obtained or to pay the debts so contracted, and to no other.

SEC. 10. In addition to the above power, the state may contract debts to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, preserve the public peace, defend the state in time of war, or to redeem the present outstanding indebtedness of the state; but the money arising from the contracting of such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which it was raised and no other, and all debts incurred to redeem the present outstanding indebtedness of the state shall be so contracted as to be payable by the sinking fund hereinafter provided for, as the same shall accumulate.

SEC. 11. The faith of the state being pledged for the payment of its debt, in order to provide therefor there shall be created a sinking fund, which shall be sufficient to pay the accruing interest on such debt, and annually to reduce the same. The said sinking fund shall consist of such net earnings and profits of public institutions, bonds, stocks or other property of the state, or of any other funds or resources that are or may be provided by law.

SEC. 12. The governor, secretary of state and attorney-general are hereby created a board of commissioners, to be styled "the commissioners of the sinking fund."

SEC. 13. The commissioners of the sinking fund shall immediately preceding each regular session of the general assembly make an estimate of the probable amount of the fund provided by the eleventh section of this article from all sources, except from taxation, and report the same, together with all their proceedings relative to said fund and the public debt, and transmit the same to the general assembly; and the general assembly shall make all necessary provision for raising and disbursing said sinking fund in pursuance of the provisions of this article.

SEC. 14. It shall be the duty of said commissioners faithfully to apply in such manner as the general assembly may by law direct said fund, together with all moneys that may be by the general assembly appropriated to that object, to the payment of the interest as it becomes due and the redemption of the principal of the public debt of the state, excepting only school and trust funds held by the state.

SEC. 15. The principal arising from the sale of all lands donated to the state for school purposes shall be paid into the treasury, and the state shall pay interest thereon for the support of schools at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

SEC. 16. The state shall never assume the debts of county, town, city or other corporation unless such debts have been created to repel invasion, suppress insurrection or to provide for the public welfare and defense.

SEC. 17. The general assembly shall tax all privileges, pursuits and occupations that are of no real use to society; all others shall be exempt, and the amount thus raised shall be paid into the treasury.

ARTICLE XI.

MILITIA.

SECTION 1. All able-bodied electors in this state shall be liable to military duty in the militia of this state, but all citizens of any denomination whatever, who, from scruples of conscience, may be averse to bearing arms, shall be exempt therefrom upon such conditions as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. The general assembly shall provide for organizing, equipping and disciplining the militia in such manner as it shall deem expedient, not incompatible with the laws of the United States.

SEC. 3. The governor shall be commander-in-chief, and shall have power to call out the militia to execute the laws, to suppress insurrection, to repel invasion and to preserve the public peace.

ARTICLE XII.

EXEMPTED PROPERTY.

SECTION 1. The personal property of any resident of this state to the value of two thousand dollars, to be selected by such resident, shall be exempted from sale on execution or other final process of any court issued for the collection of any debt contracted after the adoption of this constitution.

SEC. 2. Hereafter the homestead of any resident of this state who is a married man or head of a family shall not be encumbered in any manner while owned by him except for taxes, laborers' and mechanics' liens and securities for the purchase money thereof.

SEC. 3. Every homestead not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres of land, and the dwelling and appurtenances thereon, to be selected by the owner thereof, and not in any town, city or village, or in lieu thereof, at the option of the owner, any lot in any city, town or village, with the dwelling and appurtenances thereon, owned and occupied by any resident of this state, and not exceeding the value of five thousand dollars, shall be exempted from sale on execution or any other final process from any court; but no property shall be exempt from sale for taxes, for the payment of obligations contracted for the purchase of said premises, for the erection of improvements thereon or for labor performed for the owner thereof. Provided, that the benefit of the homestead herein provided for shall not be extended to persons who may be indebted for dues to the state, county, township, school or other trust funds.

SEC. 4. If the owner of a homestead die, leaving a widow, but no children, the same shall be exempt, and the rents and profits thereof shall accrue to her benefit during the time of her widowhood, unless she be the owner of a homestead in her own right.

SEC. 5. The homestead of a family, after the death of the owner thereof, shall be exempt from the payment of his debts, in all cases, during the minority of his children, and also so long as his widow shall remain unmarried, unless she be the owner of a homestead in her own right.

SEC. 6. The real and personal property of any female in this state, acquired either before or after marriage, whether by gift, grant, inheritance, devise or otherwise, shall, so long as she may choose, be and remain the separate estate and property of such female, and may be devised or bequeathed by her the same as if she were a femme sole. Laws shall be passed providing for the registration of the wife's separate property, and when so registered, and so long as it is not entrusted to the management or control of her husband otherwise than as an agent, it shall not be liable for any of his debts, engagements or obligations.

ARTICLE XIII.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

SECTION 1. Any amendments to this constitution may be proposed in either house of the general assembly, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election, and shall be published as provided by law, for three months previous to the time of making such choice; and if in the general assembly so next chosen as aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the general assembly to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people, in such manner and at such time as the general assembly shall provide; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments, by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of the constitution of this state.

SEC. 2. If two or more amendments shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be submitted in such manner that the electors shall vote for, or against, each of said amendments separately.

ARTICLE XIV.

APPORTIONMENT.

SECTION 1. The congressional districts shall remain as they now are. Provided, that the general assembly may, at the first session held after the adoption of this constitution, redistrict the state for congressional purposes.

SEC. 2. Until after the apportionment as herein provided for, the senatorial and representative districts shall be composed of the following counties, to wit: The First, of Jackson, Craighead, Poinsett, Cross and Mississippi; Second, of Lawrence, Randolph and Greene; Third, of Madison, Marion, Carroll, Fulton and Izard; Fourth, of Independence and Van Buren; Fifth, of Searcy, Pope and Conway; Sixth, of Newton, Johnson and Yell; Seventh, of Washington and Benton; Eighth, of Crawford, Franklin and Sebastian; Ninth, of Crittenden, St. Francis and Woodruff; Tenth, of Pulaski and White; Eleventh, of Phillips and Monroe; Twelfth, of Prairie and Arkansas; Thirteenth, of Scott, Polk, Montgomery and Hot Spring; Fourteenth, of Hempstead; Fifteenth, of Lafayette and Little River; Sixteenth, of Union and Calhoun; Seventeenth, of Clark, Pike and Sevier; Eighteenth, of Columbia; Nineteenth, of Ouachita; Twentieth, of Jefferson and Bradley; Twenty-first, of Dallas, Saline and Perry; Twenty-second, of Ashley, Chicot, Drew and Desha. The senators and representatives shall be apportioned among the several senatorial and representative districts as follows, to wit:

- First District—One senator and four representatives.

- Twenty-first District—One senator and two representatives.
- Twenty-second District—Two senators and six representatives.

ARTICLE XV.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SECTION 1. The president of the convention shall, immediately after the adjournment thereof, cause this constitution to be deposited in the office of the secretary of state, and shall transmit a copy of the same to the president of the United States, to be by him laid before the congress of the United States.

SEC. 2. In all cases not otherwise provided for in this constitution, the general assembly may determine the mode of filling all vacancies in all offices, and of choosing all necessary officers, and shall define their respective powers and duties and provide suitable compensation for all officers.

SEC. 3. All general elections shall be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November, and shall be biennial, commencing at the general election of A. D. 1868; but all officers elected under the provisions of this constitution and schedule, except members of congress, at the election commencing on the thirteenth day of March, 1868, shall hold and continue in office in accordance with the provisions of this constitution the same as though elected at the general election to be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November, 1868; and no election shall be held for said officers at the general election of 1868.

SEC. 4. All chartered cities and villages under the laws of this state shall hold their municipal elections for the year 1868 at such times and places as may be provided in this constitution and the schedule to the same.

SEC. 5. The term of office of all township and precinct officers shall expire thirty days after this constitution goes into effect, and the governor shall thereafter appoint such officers, whose term of office shall continue until the general assembly shall provide by law for an election of said officers.

SEC. 6. Until the general assembly shall otherwise provide, a prosecuting attorney for each judicial circuit shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, who shall hold his office for the term of four years and until his successor is chosen and qualified. Provided, that the general assembly shall not interfere with the term of any appointed prosecuting attorney.

SEC. 7. The compensation of senators and representatives shall be six dollars per diem during the first session after the adoption of this constitution, but may afterward be prescribed by law. Provided, no increase of compensation shall be prescribed which shall take effect until the period for which the members of the house of representatives then existing shall have expired.

SEC. 8. Senators and representatives shall receive twenty cents per mile for each mile necessarily traveled in going to and returning from the seat of government in attending each session of the general assembly, until otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 9. All salaries, fees and per diem or other compensation of all state, county, town or other officers within the state shall be payable in such funds as may by law be receivable for state taxes.

SEC. 10. Any public fund set apart by the general assembly for one purpose shall not be used for another, unless in each case otherwise specially authorized by law.

SEC. 11. This convention shall appoint not more than three persons, learned in the law, whose duty it shall be to revise and rearrange the statute laws of this state, both civil and criminal, so as to have but one law on any one subject; and also three other persons, learned in the law, whose duty it shall be to prepare a code of practice for the courts, both civil and criminal, in this state, by abridging and simplifying the rules of practice and laws in relation thereto; all of whom shall, at as early a day as practicable, report the result of their labors to the general assembly for their adoption or modification. The general assembly shall provide suitable compensation for said persons appointed as aforesaid.

SEC. 12. No county now established by law shall ever be reduced by the establishment of any new county or counties to less than six hundred square miles; nor shall any county be hereafter established which shall contain less than six hundred square miles.

SEC. 13. No indenture of any person hereafter made and executed out of this state, or, if made in this state, where the term of service exceeds one year, shall be of the least validity, except those given in cases of apprenticeships, which shall not be for a longer term than until the apprentice shall arrive at the age of twenty-one years if a male, or eighteen years if a female.

SEC. 14. All contracts for the sale or purchase of slaves are null and void, and no court of this state shall take cognizance of any suit founded on such contracts; nor shall any amount ever be collected or recovered on any judgment or decree which shall have been, or which hereafter may be, rendered on account of any such contract or obligation on any pretext, legal or otherwise.

SEC. 15. There shall be a great seal of the state, which shall be kept and used officially by the secretary of state, and the seal heretofore in use in this state shall continue to be the great seal of the state until another shall have been adopted by the general assembly.

SEC. 16. Private seals are hereby abolished, and hereafter no distinction shall exist between sealed and unsealed instruments concerning contracts between individuals. All laws of this state not in conflict with this constitution shall remain in full force until otherwise provided by the general assembly, or until they expire by their own limitation. Nothing herein shall be construed to impair vested rights under provisions of existing laws.

SEC. 17. All officers of this state—executive, legislative and judicial—before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices shall take the following oath: "I, ———, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am not disfranchised by the constitution or laws of the United States, or the constitution of the State of Arkansas; that I will honestly and faithfully support and defend the constitution and laws of the United States, the union of states, and the constitution and laws of the State of Arkansas, and that I will honestly and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter to the best of my ability. So help me, God."

SEC. 18. The term of all officers elected or appointed under the provisions of this constitution shall expire on the first day of January, 1873, unless herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 19. No one shall be precluded from being elected or appointed to any office by reason of having been a delegate to this convention or an officer of the same.

SEC. 20. No person shall be allowed or qualified to sit on any jury who is not a qualified elector.

SEC. 21. The general assembly may, by general law, declare the legal rate of interest upon contracts in which no rate of interest is specified, but no law limiting the rate of interest for which individuals may contract in this state shall ever be passed.

SEC. 22. All judges and clerks of election appointed under provisions of this constitution [shall take and subscribe to the oath of an elector as provided in section five, of article VIII, before they enter upon the duties of said offices];* and said judges are hereby authorized to administer the oath to each other and to the clerks; also to administer the same to all electors offering to vote. Said judges and clerks shall also swear to discharge their respective duties to the best of their ability according to law. Judges of election may appoint a suitable number of persons who shall, with themselves, be conservators of the peace, and they are hereby empowered to arrest all offenders. Any one refusing to act as such when called on by the judges shall be subject to a fine of at least one hundred dollars or imprisonment not less than six months, or both.

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. On the thirteenth day of March, A. D. 1868, and such successive days as hereinafter provided, an election shall be held for members of the house of representatives of the United States, governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney-general, superintendent of public instruction, judges of the supreme court, members of the general assembly and all county officers, and also for the submission of this constitution to the people for their adoption or rejection.

SEC. 2. Upon the days designated as aforesaid every qualified elector under the provisions of this constitution may vote for all officers to be elected under this constitution at such election, and also for or against the adoption of this constitution.

SEC. 3. In voting for or against the adoption of this constitution, the words "For Constitution" or "Against Constitution" shall be written or printed on the ballot of each voter, but no voter shall vote for or against this constitution on a separate ballot from that cast by him for officers to be elected at said election under this constitution.

SEC. 4. A board of commissioners is hereby appointed, to consist of James L. Hodges, Joseph Brooks and the president of this convention, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum to transact business, who shall keep an office for the transaction of business in Little Rock, and who may employ such clerical force as may be necessary, said clerks not to receive more per day for each day actually employed than the per diem paid the assistant secretaries of this convention, and who are empowered and authorized to appoint, or cause to be appointed, suitable persons for judges and clerks of election in each county in this state, to hold the election therein for all state and county officers, and for members of the general assembly and of the house of representatives of the United States, and also for the ratification of this constitution. Said election shall be held at such times and places in each county, commencing on the thirteenth day of March and continuing on such successive days as the commissioners may direct, to secure a full and fair vote at such election.

SEC. 5. The judges of election, appointed as aforesaid, shall make returns of the same to said commissioners in such manner and under such regulations as said commissioners may prescribe, which returns shall show the number of votes cast at said election for and against this constitution, and the number cast for each candidate for the offices provided for in this constitution and schedule.

SEC. 6. Any person contesting the election under this constitution for any state office or member of the general assembly shall do so before said board of commissioners, who shall have power to decide and declare the right to any office contested, and give the candidate legally elected a certificate of the same. Provided, said commissioners may, in the cases of members of the general assembly whose right to the seats may be contested, refer the same to the general assembly for their determination. Said board of commissioners shall appoint the judges and clerks of the municipal elections to be held under the provisions of this constitution. Said judges shall conduct and make returns of said elections in the manner prescribed by the charter of the city or village in which said municipal election shall be held.

SEC. 7. Said commissioners shall appoint suitable persons as boards in every county to hear and decide all cases of contested county elections.

SEC. 8. The said commissioners shall have power to inquire into the fairness or validity of the voting upon the ratification of this constitution, and to count the votes given at said election, and shall reject all fraudulent or illegal votes cast at said election; and said commissioners shall also have power, whenever it is made to appear that fraud, fear, violence, improper influence or restraint were used, or persons were prevented or intimidated from voting at such elections, to take such steps, either by setting aside the election and ordering a new one, or rejecting votes, or correcting the result in any county or precinct as may in such cases be just and equitable.

SEC. 9. The said commissioners shall declare the result of the election upon the ratification of this constitution, and, if adopted, the president of this convention shall transmit a certified copy of the same, together with an abstract of the votes cast, to the president of the United States, to be by him laid before the congress of the United States for their approval or rejection, and shall also declare the officers elected thereunder; and, if declared ratified, the constitution shall, from and after that date, be in full force and effect.

SEC. 10. No person disqualified from voting or registering under this constitution shall vote for candidates for any office, nor shall be permitted to vote for the ratification or rejection of this constitution at the polls herein authorized. The governor and all other officers elected under this constitution shall enter upon the duties of their offices when they shall have been declared duly elected by said board of commissioners, and shall have duly qualified. All officers shall qualify and enter upon the discharge of the duties of their offices within fifteen days after they have been duly notified of their election or appointment.

SEC. 11. Upon notice of the election or appointment and qualification of the officers elected or appointed under this constitution, the present incumbents of all state, county and city offices shall vacate the same and turn over to the officers so elected or appointed and qualified hereunder all books, papers, records, moneys and documents belonging or pertaining to said offices, on application made by the officers elected or appointed and qualified under this constitution.

SEC. 12. Any person may vote at the polls herein authorized for the election of officers and ratification of this constitution whom the judges of said election shall be satisfied by oath of the person offering to vote, and such other satisfactory evidence as they may require, is a legally qualified elector under this constitution. Provided, the judges of election shall administer to every person offering to vote at said election the oath prescribed in this constitution.

SEC. 13. In the event that either of the three commissioners appointed by section four hereof should be a candidate for any office, the other two commissioners shall canvass the vote so far as it relates to that office, and issue the certificate to the person elected.

SEC. 14. In case of death or any disability of any member or members of said board of commissioners, the remaining commissioner or commissioners shall have power to fill such vacancy; and said commissioner or commissioners so appointed shall have full power to act as though originally appointed.

SEC. 15. Any person selling or giving away intoxicating liquor during the time of the election herein provided for shall be punished by a fine not less than two hundred dollars for each and every offense, or imprisonment not less than six months, or both.

SEC. 16. Said commissioners shall provide suitable poll-books for each county and such instructions as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this schedule. Judges and clerks of election thus appointed shall receive the same per diem as the boards of registrars provided for in the act entitled "An act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel states," passed March 2, 1867, and acts supplementary thereto.

SEC. 17. The commissioners herein appointed shall receive for their services for each day actually employed such compensation per day and allowances, and in such manner, as are now provided for members of this convention. All expenses incurred under this schedule not otherwise provided for shall be paid out of the appropriation for defraying the expenses of this convention.

Done in convention, at Little Rock, the eleventh day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-second. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

TREATY

FRENCH REPUBLIC.

The president of the United States of America and the first consul of the French Republic, in the name of the French people, desiring to remove all source of misunderstanding relative to objects of discussion mentioned in the second and fifth articles of the convention of the 8th Vendemiaire, an. 9 (30th September, 1800), relative to the rights claimed by the United States in virtue of the treaty concluded at Madrid the 27th October, 1795, between his Catholic majesty and the said United States, and willing to strengthen the union and friendship which, at the time of the said convention, was happily re-established between the two nations, have respectively named their plenipotentiaries, to wit: The president of the United States of America, by and with the advice and consent of the senate of the said states, Robert R. Livingston, minister plenipotentiary, and James Monroe, minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary of the said states near the government of the French Republic; and the first consul, in the name of the French people, the French citizen Barbe Marbois, minister of the public treasury, who, after having respectively exchanged their full powers, have agreed to the following articles:

ARTICLE 1. Whereas, By article the third of the treaty concluded at St. Ildefonso the 9th Vendemiaire, an. 9 (1st October, 1800), between the first consul of the French Republic and his Catholic majesty, it was agreed as follows: "His Catholic majesty promises and engages, on his part, to retrocede to the French Republic six months after the full and entire execution of the conditions and stipulations herein relative to his royal highness the Duke of Parma, the colony or province of Louisiana, with the same extent that it now has in the hands of Spain, and that it had when France possessed it, and such as it should be after the treaties subsequently entered into between Spain and other states." And whereas, in pursuance of the treaty, and particularly of the third article, the French Republic has an incontestible title to the domain and to the possession of the said territory. The first consul of the French Republic, desiring to give to the United States a strong proof of his friendship, doth hereby cede to the United States in the name of the French Republic, forever and in full sovereignty, the said territory, with all its rights and appurtenances, as fully and in the same manner as they have been acquired by the French Republic in virtue of the above-mentioned treaty concluded with his Catholic majesty.

ART. 2. In the cession made by the preceding article are included the adjacent islands belonging to Louisiana, all public lots and squares, vacant lands and all public buildings, fortifications, barracks and other edifices which are not private property. The archives, papers and documents relative to the domain and sovereignty of Louisiana and its dependencies will be left in the possession of the commissaries of the United States, and copies will be afterward given in due form to the magistrates and municipal officers of such of the said papers and documents as may be necessary to them.

ART. 3. The inhabitants of the ceded territory shall be incorporated in the union of the United States, and admitted as soon as possible, according to the principles of the federal constitution, to the enjoyment of all the rights, advantages and immunities of citizens of the United States; and, in the meantime, they shall be maintained and protected in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and the religion which they profess.

ART. 4. There shall be sent, by the government of France, a commissary to Louisiana, to the end that he do every act necessary, as well to receive from the officers of his Catholic majesty the said country and its dependencies, in the name of the French Republic, if it thus has not been already done, as to transmit it in the name of the French Republic to the commissary or agent of the United States.

ART. 5. Immediately after the ratification of the present treaty by the president of the United States, and in case that of the first consul shall have been previously obtained, the commissary of the French Republic shall remit all the military posts of New Orleans and other parts of the ceded territory to the commissary or commissaries named by the president to take possession; the troops, whether of France or Spain, who may be there shall cease to occupy any military post from the time of taking possession, and shall be embarked as soon as possible in the course of three months after the ratification of this treaty.

ART. 6. The United States promise to execute such treaties and articles as may have been agreed between Spain and the tribes and nations of Indians until, by mutual consent of the United States and the said tribes or nations, other suitable articles shall have been agreed upon.

ART. 7. As it is reciprocally advantageous to the commerce of France and the United States to encourage the communication of both nations for a limited time in the country ceded by the present treaty, until general arrangements for the commerce of both nations may be agreed on, it has been agreed between the contracting parties that the French ships coming directly from France or any of her colonies, loaded only with the produce or manufactures of France or any of her said colonies, and the ships of Spain, coming directly from Spain or any of her colonies, loaded only with the produce or manufactures of Spain or her colonies, shall be admitted, during the space of twelve years, in the ports of New Orleans and in all other legal ports of entry within the ceded territory in the same manner as the ships of the United States coming directly from France or Spain or any of their colonies, without being subject to any other or greater duty on merchandise, or other greater tonnage, than those paid by the citizens of the United States. During the space of time above mentioned, no other nation shall have a right to the same privileges in the ports of the ceded territory. The twelve years shall commence three months after the exchange of ratifications, if it shall take place in France, or three months after it shall have been notified at Paris to the French government, if it shall take place in the United States. It is, however, well understood that the object of the above article is to favor the manufactures, commerce, freight and navigation of France and Spain, so far as relates to the importations that the French and Spanish shall make into the said ports of the United States, without in any sort affecting the regulations that the United States may make concerning the exportation of the produce and merchandise of the United States, or any right they may have to make such regulations.

ART. 8. In future and forever after the expiration of twelve years, the ships of France shall be treated upon the footing of the most favored nations in the ports above mentioned.

ART. 9. The particular convention signed this day by the respective ministers, having for its object to provide for the payment of debts due to the citizens of the United States by the French Republic prior to the 30th September, 1800 (8th Vendemiaire, 9), is approved, and to have its execution in the same manner as if it had been inserted in the present treaty, and it shall be ratified in the same form and in the same time, so that the one shall not be ratified distinct from the other. Another particular convention, signed at the same date as the present treaty, relative to a definitive rule between the contracting parties, is in like manner approved, and will be ratified in the same form and in the same time and jointly.

ART. 10. The present treaty shall be ratified in good and due form, and the ratifications shall be exchanged in the space of six months after the date of the signature by the ministers plenipotentiary, and sooner if possible.

In faith whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed these articles in the French and English languages, declaring, nevertheless, that the present treaty was originally agreed to in the French language; and have thereunto put their seals.

Done at Paris the tenth day of Floréal, in the eleventh year of the French Republic, and the 30th of April, 1803.

CONVENTION

BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND THE FRENCH REPUBLIC.

The president of the United States of America and the first consul of the French Republic, in the name of the French people, in consequence of the treaty of cession of Louisiana, which has been signed this day, wishing to regulate definitely everything which has relation to the said cession, have authorized to this effect the plenipotentiaries, that is to say: The president of the United States has, by and with the advice and consent of the senate of the said states, nominated for their plenipotentiaries Robert R. Livingston, minister plenipotentiary of the United States and James Monroe, minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary of the said United States near the government of the French Republic, and the first consul of the French Republic, in the name of the French people, has named, as plenipotentiary of the said republic, the French citizen, Barbe Marbois, who, in virtue of their full powers, which have been exchanged this day, have agreed to the following articles:

ARTICLE 1. The government of the United States engages to pay to the French government, in the manner specified in the following article, the sum of sixty millions of francs, independent of the sum which shall be fixed by another convention for the payment of debts due by France to citizens of the United States.

ART. 2. For the payment of the sum of sixty millions of francs, mentioned in the preceding article, the United States shall create a stock of eleven millions two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, bearing an interest of six per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly in London, Amsterdam or Paris, amounting, by the half-year, to three hundred and thirty-seven thousand five hundred dollars, according to the proportions which shall be determined by the French government to be paid at either place; the principal of said stock to be reimbursed at the treasury of the United States in annual payments of not less than three millions of dollars each, of which the first payment shall commence fifteen years after the date of the exchange of ratifications. The stock shall be transferred to the government of France, or to such person or persons as shall be authorized to receive it, in three months at most after the exchange of the ratifications of this treaty, and after Louisiana shall be taken possession of in the name of the government of the United States.

It is further agreed that if the French government should be desirous of disposing of the said stock, to receive the capital in Europe at shorter terms, that its measures for that purpose shall be taken so as to favor, in the greatest degree possible, the credit of the United States, and to raise to the highest price the said stock.

ART. 3. It is agreed that the dollar of the United States specified in the present convention shall be fixed at five francs 333-100000, or five livres eight sous turnois.

The present convention shall be ratified in good and due form, and the ratification shall be exchanged in the space of six months, to date from this day or sooner if possible.

In faith of which the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the above articles, both in the French and English languages, declaring, nevertheless, that the present treaty has been originally agreed on and written in the French language; to which they have hereunto affixed their seals.

Done at Paris, the tenth of Floreal, eleventh year of the French Republic (30th April, 1803).

ACT OF ADMISSION.

AN ACT for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes.

WHEREAS, The people of the Territory of Arkansas did, on the thirtieth day of January, in the present year, by a convention of delegates called and assembled for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government, which constitution and state government, so formed, is republican; and,

WHEREAS, The number of inhabitants within the said territory exceeds forty-seven thousand seven hundred persons, computed according to the rule prescribed by the constitution of the United States; and the said convention have, in their behalf, asked the congress of the United States to admit the said territory into the Union as a state on an equal footing with the original states:

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the State of Arkansas shall be one, and is hereby declared to be one, of the United States of America, and admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states in all respects whatever; and the said state shall consist of all the territory included within the following boundaries, to wit: Beginning in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River, on the parallel of thirty-six degrees north latitude; running from thence west, with the said parallel of latitude, to the St. Francis River; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river to the parallel of thirty-six degrees thirty minutes north; from thence west to the south-west corner of the State of Missouri; and from thence to be bounded on the west to the north bank of Red River by the lines described in the first article of the treaty between the United States and the Cherokee Nation of Indians west of the Mississippi, made and concluded at the City of Washington on the twenty-sixth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-eight; and to be bounded on the south side of Red River by the Mexican boundary line to the north-west corner of the State of Louisiana; thence east, with the Louisiana state line, to the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River; thence up the middle of the main channel of the said river to the thirty-sixth degree of north latitude, the point of beginning.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That until the next general census shall be taken, the said state shall be entitled to one representative in the house of representatives of the United States.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That all the laws of the United States, which are not locally inapplicable, shall have the same force and effect within the said State of Arkansas as elsewhere within the United States.

* * * * *
SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That the State of Arkansas is admitted into the Union upon the express condition that the people of the said state shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the public lands within the said state, nor shall they levy a tax on any of the lands of the United States within the said state; and nothing in this act shall be construed as an assent by congress to all or any of the propositions contained in the ordinances of the said convention of the people of Arkansas, nor to deprive the State of Arkansas of the same grants, subject to the same restrictions, which were made to the State of Missouri by virtue of an act entitled "An act to authorize the people of the Missouri Territory to form a constitution and state government, and for the admission of such state into the Union, on an equal footing with the original states, and to prohibit slavery in certain territories," approved the sixth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and twenty.

Approved June 16, 1836.

NOTE.—Sections 4, 5, 6 and 7 of this act relate to the organization of the district court of the United States in this state, and, having been superseded by subsequent legislation, are omitted.

COMPACT.

AN ACT supplementary to the act entitled "An act for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes."

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That in lieu of the propositions submitted to the congress of the United States, by an ordinance passed by the convention of delegates at Little Rock, assembled for the purpose of making a constitution for the State of Arkansas, which are hereby rejected; and that the following propositions be, and the same are, hereby offered to the general assembly of the State of Arkansas, for their free acceptance or rejection; which, if accepted, under the authority granted to the general assembly for this purpose by the convention which framed the constitution of the said state, shall be obligatory upon the United States:

First. That the section numbered sixteen in every township, and when such section has been sold or otherwise disposed of, other lands equivalent thereto, and as contiguous as may be, shall be granted to the state, for the use of the inhabitants of such township for the use of schools (a).

Second. That all salt springs, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining to each, shall be granted to the said state, for the use of the said state, the same to be selected by the general assembly thereof on or before the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and forty; and the same, when so selected, to be used under such terms, conditions and regulations as the general assembly of the said state shall direct. Provided, that no salt spring the right whereof is now vested in any individual or individuals, or which may hereafter be confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall, by this section, be granted to said state. And provided, also, that the general assembly shall never sell or lease the same, at any one time, for a longer period than ten years, without the consent of congress; and that nothing contained in the act of congress entitled "An act authorizing the governor of the Territory of Arkansas to lease the salt springs in said territory, and for other purposes," or in any other act shall be construed to give to the said state any further or other claim whatsoever to any salt springs, or lands adjoining thereto, than those hereby granted (b).

Third. That five per cent. of the net proceeds of the sale of lands lying within the said state, and which shall be sold by congress from and after the first day of July next, after deducting all expenses incident to the same, shall be reserved for making public roads and canals within the said state, under the direction of the general assembly thereof.

Fourth. That a quantity of land, not exceeding five sections, be, and the same is, hereby granted to the said state, in addition to the ten sections which have already been granted, for the purpose of completing the public buildings of the said state at Little Rock; which said five sections shall, under the direction of the general assembly of said state, be located, at any time, in legal divisions of not less than one quarter section, in such townships and ranges as the general assembly aforesaid may select, on any of the unappropriated lands of the United States within the said state.

Fifth. That the two entire townships of land which have already been located by virtue of the act entitled "An act concerning a seminary of learning in the Territory of Arkansas," approved the second of March, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven, are hereby vested in and confirmed to the general assembly of the said state, to be appropriated solely to the use of such seminary by the general assembly (c). Provided, that the five foregoing propositions, herein offered, are on the condition that the general assembly or legislature of the said state, by virtue of the powers conferred upon it by the convention which framed the constitution of the said state, shall provide, by an ordinance irrevocable without the consent of the United States, that the said general assembly of the said state shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, nor with any regulations congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers thereof; and that no tax shall be imposed on lands the property of the United States; and that in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents; and that the bounty lands granted, or hereafter to be granted, for military services during the late war, shall, while they continue to be held by the patentees or their heirs, remain exempt from any tax laid by order or under the authority of the state, whether for state, county, township or any other purpose, for the term of three years from and after the date of the patents respectively.

Approved June 23, 1836.

(a) See Compact Amended, first act, permitting sale of the sixteenth section. By an act of congress of the 20th May, 1826, it is made the duty of the secretary of the treasury, in cases where no land in any township or fractional township had been theretofore appropriated for the use of schools (in the states in which the sixteenth section is reserved for the use of schools) to select lands within the land districts for the use of schools in such township or fractional township.

(b) See Compact Amended, last act, authorizing sale of salt spring lands.

(c) See Compact Amended, second act.

ACCEPTANCE OF COMPACT.

Be it ordained by the general assembly of the State of Arkansas, By virtue of the authority vested in said general assembly by the provisions of the ordinance adopted by the convention of delegates assembled at Little Rock, for the purpose of forming a constitution and system of government for said state, that the propositions set forth in "An act supplementary to the act entitled 'an act for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes,' " be, and the same are, hereby freely accepted, ratified and irrevocably confirmed as articles of compact and union between the State of Arkansas and the United States.

And be it further ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the general assembly of the State of Arkansas shall never interfere, without the consent of the United States, with the primary disposal of the soil within said state owned by the United States, nor with any regulations congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers thereof; and that no tax shall be imposed on lands the property of the United States; and that in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than resident; and that the bounty lands granted, or hereafter to be granted, for military services during the late war, shall, while they continue to be held by the patentees or their heirs, remain exempt from any tax laid by order or under the authority of the state, whether for state, county, township or any other purpose, for the term of three years from and after the date of the patents respectively.

Approved October 18, 1836.

COMPACT AMENDED.

ADDITIONAL ACTS.

SCHOOL LANDS.

AN ACT to authorize the legislatures of the States of Illinois, Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee to sell the lands heretofore appropriated for the use of schools in those states.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the legislatures of Illinois, Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee be and they are hereby authorized to provide by law for the sale and conveyance in fee simple of all or any part of the lands heretofore reserved and appropriated by congress for the use of schools within said states, and to invest the money arising from the sales thereof in some productive fund, the proceeds of which shall be forever applied, under the direction of said legislatures, to the use and support of schools within the several townships and districts of country for which they were originally reserved and set apart, and for no other use or purpose whatever. Provided, said land, or any part thereof, shall in no wise be sold without the consent of the inhabitants of such township or district, to be obtained in such manner as the legislatures of said states shall by law direct; and in the apportionment of the proceeds of said fund each township and district shall be entitled to such part thereof, and no more, as shall have accrued from the sum or sums of money arising from the sale of the school lands belonging to such township or district.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the legislatures of said states be and they are hereby authorized to make such laws and needful regulations as may be deemed expedient to secure and protect from injury or waste the sections reserved by the laws of congress for the use of schools to each township, and to provide by law, if not deemed expedient to sell, for leasing the same for any term not exceeding four years, in such manner as to render them productive and most conducive to the object for which they were designed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That if the proceeds accruing to any township or district from said fund shall be insufficient for the support of schools therein, it shall be lawful for said legislatures to invest the same in the most secure and productive manner, until the whole proceeds of the fund belonging to such township or district shall be adequate to the permanent maintenance and support of schools within the same. Provided, that the legislatures aforesaid shall in no case invest the proceeds of the sale of the lands in any township in manner aforesaid without the consent of the inhabitants in said township or district, to be obtained as aforesaid.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That any sales of such lands, reserved as aforesaid, as have been made in pursuance of any of the laws enacted by the legislatures of said states, and not inconsistent with the principles of this act, are hereby ratified and confirmed so far as the assent of the United States to the same may be necessary to the confirmation thereof.

Approved February 15, 1843.

SEMINARY LANDS.

AN ACT giving the assent of congress to a change of the compact entered into between the United States and the State of Arkansas on her admission into the Union.

WHEREAS, The congress of the United States, by an act supplementary to an act for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes, approved June 23, 1836, in the fifth proposition made to the State of Arkansas, and which was subsequently accepted by the general assembly of the State of Arkansas, provides that the two entire townships of land located by virtue of an act of congress entitled "An act concerning a seminary of learning in the Territory of Arkansas," approved the second day of March, 1827, which, by the first recited act of congress, were vested in and confirmed to the general assembly of the State of Arkansas, to be appropriated solely to the use and support of a university in said state; and,

WHEREAS, The general assembly of the State of Arkansas have by their resolution, approved December 18, 1844, asked for a modification of said compact to authorize said general assembly to appropriate said seventy-two sections of land to common school purposes; therefore,

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the assent of congress be and is hereby given to the change in said compact asked for by the general assembly so as to authorize and empower the general assembly of the State of Arkansas, and they are hereby authorized and empowered, to appropriate said seventy-two sections of land for the use and benefit of common schools in said state, or in any other mode the said general assembly may deem proper for the promotion of education in said state.

Approved July 29, 1846.

SALT SPRING LANDS.

By the third section of an act of congress entitled "An act to give the consent of congress to the sale of certain salt spring lands heretofore granted to the States of Michigan, Illinois and Arkansas, it is enacted as follows, viz.:

That the State of Arkansas shall be and hereby is authorized to sell, in such manner as the legislature of said state shall by law direct, the whole or any part of the saline lands granted to said state by virtue of an act supplementary to the act entitled "An act for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes," approved June 23, 1836.

Approved March 3, 1847.

ADMISSION OF THE STATE

TO

REPRESENTATION IN CONGRESS.

WHEREAS, The people of Arkansas, in pursuance of the provisions of an act entitled "An act for the more efficient government of the rebel states," passed March 2, 1867, and the acts supplementary thereto, have framed and adopted a constitution of state government which is republican, and the legislature of said state has duly ratified the amendment to the constitution of the United States proposed by the thirty-ninth congress, and known as article fourteen; therefore,

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the State of Arkansas is entitled and admitted to representation in congress as one of the states of the Union, upon the following fundamental condition: That the constitution of Arkansas shall never be so amended or changed as to deprive any citizen or class of citizens of the United States of the right to vote who are entitled to vote by the constitution herein recognized, except as a punishment for such crimes as are now felonies at common law, whereof they shall have been duly convicted under laws equally applicable to all the inhabitants of said state. Provided, that any alteration of said constitution, prospective in its effect, may be made in regard to the time and place of residence of voters.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, }
June 20, 1868. }

The president of the United States having returned to the house of representatives, in which it originated, the bill entitled "An act to admit the State of Arkansas to representation in congress," with his objections thereto, the house of representatives proceeded, in pursuance of the constitution, to reconsider the same, and

Resolved, that the said bill do pass, two-thirds of the house of representatives agreeing to pass the same.

Attest:

EDWARD MCPHERSON,
Clerk H. R. U. S.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, }
June 22, 1868. }

The senate having proceeded, in pursuance of the constitution, to reconsider the bill entitled "An act to admit the State of Arkansas to representation in congress, returned to the house of representatives by the president of the United States, with his objections, and sent by the house of representatives to the senate, with the message of the president returning the bill.

Resolved, That the bill do pass, two-thirds of the senate agreeing to pass the same.

AUTHENTICATION.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES CONCERNING AUTHENTICATION.

SECTION 1. The acts of the legislature of any state or territory, or of any country subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, shall be authenticated by having the seal of such state, territory or country affixed thereto (a). The records and judicial proceedings of the courts of any state or territory or of any such country shall be proved or admitted in any other court within the United States by the attestation of the clerk and the seal of the court annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of the judge, chief justice or presiding magistrate, that the said attestation is in due form. And the said records and judicial proceedings so authenticated shall have such faith and credit given to them in every court within the United States as they have by law or usage in the courts of the state from which they are taken. Rev. Stat. U. S., sec. 905, second ed. (b).

(a) An exemplification of an act of the legislature of a state, under the great seal of the state, is evidence, though not attested by the governor or any other principal officer of the state. U. S. v. Johns, 4 Dallas, 412. See also 5 Sergt. & Rawle, 533; 1 Pet., 352; 11 Wheat., 392.

(b) The judicial proceedings here referred to are generally understood to be the proceedings of courts of general jurisdiction, and not those which are merely of municipal authority. 1 Greenl. Ev., § 505. And accordingly it has been held that the judgments of justices of the peace were not within the meaning of these constitutional and statutory provisions. Snyder v. Wise, 10 Barr, 157; Warren v. Flagg, 2 Pick, 448; Robinson v. Prescott, 4 N. Hamp., 450; Mahurin v. Bickford, 6 Ib., 567; Silver Lake Bank v. Harding, 5 Ohio, 545; Thomas v. Robinson, 3 Wend., 267. In Connecticut and Vermont, however, it is held that if the justice is bound by law to keep a record of his proceedings, they are within the meaning of the act of congress. Bissell v. Edwards, 5 Day, 363; Starkweather v. Loomis, 2 Vern., 573; Blodgett v. Jordan, 6 Ib., 580; and see Scott v. Cleveland, 3 Monr., 62. But the proceedings of courts of chancery and of probate, as well as of the courts of common law, may be thus proved. Scott v. Blanchard, 8 Martin (N. S.), 303; Balfour v. Chew, 5 Ib., 517; Johnson v. Rannels, 6 Ib., 621; Ripple v. Ripple, 1 Rawle, 381; Craig v. Brown, Pet. C. C., 352; Hunt v. Lyle, 8 Yerg., 142; Barbour v. Watts, 2 A. K. Marsh, 290, 293.

This does not apply to the records of the courts of the United States. Mason's Administrator v. Laurason, 1 Cr. C. C., 190. But, though in terms it applies only to the state courts, the rule is equally applicable to those of the United States. Tooker v. Thompson, 3 McLean, 94. And a judgment of a court of the United States is admissible when authenticated in the manner provided in this act. Buford v. Hickman, Hemp., 232. See infra 11.

It seems to be generally agreed that this method of authentication is not exclusive of any other which the states may think proper to adopt. Kean v. Rice, 12 S. & R. 203, 208; The State v. Stude, 1 D. Chipm., 303; Raynham v. Canton, 3 Pick., 293; Biddis v. James, 6 Binn., 321; Ex parte Povall, 3 Leigh, 816; Pepon v. Jenkins, 2 Johns. Cas., 119; Ellmore v. Mills, 1 Hayw., 359; Baker v. Field, 2 Yeates, 532.

The clerk who certifies the record must be the clerk of the same court or of its successor, the certificate of his under-clerk, in his absence, or of the clerk of any other tribunal, office or body being held incompetent for this purpose. Sampson v. Overton, 4 Bibb., 409; Lothrop v. Blake, 3 Barr., 496; Donohoo v. Brannon, 1 Overt., 328; Schnertzell v. Young, 3 H. & McHen., 502. A surrogate acts as a clerk in certifying his proceedings, and, as he also acts in the capacity of judge, he must certify to the authentication. Callin v. Underhill, 4 McLean, 199.

Whenever the court whose record is certified has no seal, this fact should appear either in the certificate of the clerk or in that of the judge. Craig v. Brown, Pet. C. C., 353. The seal of the court must be annexed to the record itself; it is not enough that it is annexed to the judge's certificate. Turner v. Wallington, W. C. C. 126.

The certificate must be given by the judge, if there be but one; or, if there be more than one, then by the chief justice or presiding judge or magistrate of the court from whence the record comes; and he must possess that character at the time he gives the certificate. A certificate that he is the judge that presided at the time of trial, or that he is the senior judge of the courts of law in the state, is deemed insufficient. Lothrop v. Blake, 3 Barr, 495; Stephenson v. Bannister, 3 Bibb., 369; Kirtland v. Smith, 2 Martin (N. S.), 497. And so is the certificate of a judge styling himself "one of the judges" of the court. Stewart v. Gray, Hemp., 94. See Callin v. Underhill, 4 McLean, 199; Erli v. Scott, 2 Harris, 22.

SEC. 2. All records and exemplifications of books, which may be kept in any public office of any state or territory, or of any country subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, not appertaining to a court (c), shall be proved or admitted in any court or office in any other state or territory, or in any such country, by the attestation of the keeper of the said records or books, and the seal of his office annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of the presiding justice of the court of the county, parish or district in which such office may be kept, or of the governor or secretary of state, the chancellor or keeper of the great seal of the state, or territory, or country, that the said attestation is in due form, and by the proper officers. If the said certificate is given by the presiding justice of a court, it shall be further authenticated by the clerk or prothonotary of the said court, who shall certify under his hand and the seal of his office that the said presiding justice is duly commissioned and qualified; or, if given by such governor, secretary, chancellor or keeper of the great seal, it shall be under the great seal of the state, territory or country aforesaid in which it is made. And the said records and exemplifications, so authenticated, shall have such faith and credit given to them in every court and office within the United States as they have by law or usage in the courts or offices of the state, territory or country as aforesaid, from which they are taken. Ib., sec. 906.

SEC. 3. Whenever any person claiming to be interested in or entitled to land, under any grant or patent from the United States, applies to the department of the interior for copies of papers filed and remaining therein in any wise affecting the title to such land, it shall be the duty of the secretary of the interior to cause such copies to be made out and authenticated under his hand and the seal of the general land office for the person so applying. Ib., sec. 460.

SEC. 4. Copies of any books, records, papers or documents in any of the executive departments, authenticated under the seals of such departments, respectively, shall be admitted in evidence equally with the originals thereof. Ib., sec. 882.

A record of another state is not admissible if the certificate of the presiding magistrate omit to state that the attestation of the clerk is in due form. Trigg v. Conway, 11 Hemp., 538. The phrase "due form" means the form of attestation used in the state from whence the record comes. Craig v. Brown, Pet. C. C., 354. And the certificate of the presiding judge, being the evidence prescribed by law that this form has been observed, is at once indispensable and conclusive. Ferguson v. Harwood, 7 C. R., 408; Tooker v. Thompson, 3 McLean, 93; Taylor v. Carpenter, 2 W. & M., 4. A certificate that the person whose name is signed to the attestation is clerk of the court, and that the signature is his own handwriting, is not in conformity with the provisions of the act. Craig v. Brown, Pet. C. C., 352. Where, however, the record of a judgment of a state court is offered in evidence in the circuit court sitting within the same state, the certificate of the clerk and seal of the court are sufficient authentication. Mcwister v. Spalding, 3 McLean, 24.

The words "true and correct transcript" are equivalent to a "full and complete transcript" in the certificate of a record by the clerk of a court. Where a judge who certifies that the attestation of the clerk is in due form describes himself as judge of the court, it is sufficient under the act of congress, without saying that he is "the judge," "sole judge," etc. Buller v. Owen, use, etc., 7 Ark. Rep., 369; Central Bank of Geo. v. Veasey, 14 Ark. Rep., 671.

In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the court will presume in favor of the regularity of the official proceedings of a sister state—as where the seal of a court is affixed on paper without wax or any tenacious substance—that the sealing was according to the laws of the state. State v. Lawson, 14 Ark. Rep., 114.

A judgment of a state court has the same credit, validity and effect in every other court within the United States which it had in the state where it was rendered; and whatever pleas would be good in a suit thereon in such state, and none others, can be pleaded in any other court within the United States. Hampton v. McConnell, 3 Wh., 231; Mills v. Duryee, 7 Cr., 481; Westervelt v. Lewis, 2 McLean, 511; Taylor v. Carpenter, 2 W. & M., 4; Warren Manufacturing Co. v. Etna Insurance Co., 2 Paine, 502; Whitaker v. Bramson, Ib., 209; Green v. Sarmiento, Pet. C. C., 74; s. c. 3 W. C. C., 17; Bryant v. Hunters, Ib., 48; Field v. Gibbs, Pet. C. C., 157; Armstrong v. Carson's Executors, 2 Dall., 302; 2 Am. Leading Cases, 774. But although this act makes a judgment regularly recovered in another state and duly authenticated conclusive evidence of an established demand, as of the date of such judgment, it does not prevent the several states from enacting statutes of limitation barring actions on such judgments in their courts. Bank of the State of Alabama v. Dalton, 9 How., 522; McElmoyle v. Cohen, 13 Pet., 312. Nor does it apply to a judgment recovered against a non-resident joint debtor without notice to him; such a judgment is not entitled to any faith or credit out of the state in which it was rendered. D'Arcy v. Ketchum, 11 How., 165; see also Barkman v. Hopkins et al., 11 Ark. Rep., 157; Buford and Pugh v. Kirkpatrick, 13 Ark. Rep., 33.

The record of a debt against an administrator in one state is not sufficient evidence of the debt against an administrator of the same estate in another state. McLean v. Meek, 18 How., 16.

This section does not relate to the admissibility of acts, etc., of a state in its own courts or in the courts of the United States sitting in that state. Town of South Ottawa v. Perkins, 94 U. S., 260.

The record of a district court of the United States is not within the provisions of this section, but is, when duly certified by the clerk under its seal, admissible as evidence in every other court of the United States. Turnbull v. Payson, 95 U. S., 418.

(c) These are obviously among the public writings recognized by the common law as invested with an official character, and therefore susceptible of proof by secondary means, but which are not of the nature of judicial records or judgments. Of this kind are acts and orders of the executive of the state; the acts of the legislative bodies; the journals of either branch of the legislature; registers kept in public offices; books which contain the official proceedings of corporations, if the public at large are concerned with them; parish registers and the like. Snyder v. Wise, 10 Barr, 158. See Drummond's Administrator v. Magruder, 9 Cr., 122; 1 Burr's Trial, 98.

SEC. 5. The commissioner of the general land office shall cause to be prepared, and shall certify, under the seal of the office, such copies of records, books and papers on file in his office as may be applied for to be used in evidence in courts of justice. Ib., sec. 2469.

SEC. 6. Literal exemplifications of any records which have been or may be granted in virtue of the preceding section shall be deemed of the same validity in all proceedings, whether at law or in equity, wherein such exemplifications are adduced in evidence, as if the names of the officers signing and countersigning the same had been fully inserted in such record. Ib., sec. 2470.

SEC. 7. Copies of any records, books or papers in the general land office, authenticated by the seal and certified by the commissioner thereof, or, when his office is vacant, by the principal clerk, shall be evidence equally with the originals thereof. And literal exemplifications of any such records shall be held, when so introduced in evidence, to be of the same validity as if the names of the officers signing and countersigning the same had been fully inserted in such record. Ib., sec. 891.

GRANTS OF LAND.

SEMINARY LANDS (a).

AN ACT concerning a seminary of learning in the Territory of Arkansas.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the secretary of the treasury be and he is hereby authorized to set apart and reserve from sale out of any of the public lands within the Territory of Arkansas to which the Indian title has been or may be extinguished, and not otherwise appropriated, a quantity of land not exceeding two entire townships, for the use and support of an university within the said territory, and for no other use or purpose whatsoever (b), to be located in tracts of land of not less than an entire section, corresponding with any of the legal divisions into which the public lands are authorized to be surveyed, one of which said townships so set apart and reserved from sale shall be in lieu of an entire township of land directed to be located on the waters of the Arkansas River, in said territory, for the use of a seminary of learning therein, by an act of congress entitled, "An act making provision for the establishment of additional land offices in the Territory of Missouri," approved February the seventeenth, one thousand eight hundred and eighteen.

Approved March 2, 1827.

GRANT OF TEN SECTIONS OF LAND FOR PUBLIC BUILDINGS AT LITTLE ROCK (c).

AN ACT granting a quantity of land to the Territory of Arkansas for the erection of a public building at the seat of government of said territory.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the legislature of the Territory of Arkansas be and they are hereby authorized to select (d), or cause to be selected, a quantity of the unappropriated public lands in the Territory of Arkansas, not exceeding ten sections, and in portions not less than one quarter section, which is hereby granted to said territory for the purpose of raising a fund for the erection of a public building at Little Rock, the seat of government of said territory.

SEC. 2. That the legislature of said territory be and they are hereby authorized to adopt such measures for the sale of said tract of land, or any part thereof, at such times and manner and convey the same by such deeds as they shall deem expedient, and upon the presentation of such deeds of conveyance as shall be adopted by said legislature and given to the purchasers to the commissioner of the general land office, it shall be the duty of the president to issue patents to the purchasers as in other cases.

Approved March 2, 1831.

(a) By an act of congress of March 2, 1833, the governor of the territory was authorized to select and sell twenty sections of the seminary lands and to lease the remainder.

(b) See Compact and Compact Amended.

(c) An additional grant of five sections was made to the state on the 23d of June, 1836, for the completion of the public buildings. See Compact.

(d) See next act authorizing the governor of the territory to select.

AN ACT to authorize the governor of the Territory of Arkansas to select ten sections of land granted to said territory for the purpose of building a legislative house for said territory and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That all the authority and power is hereby vested in and given to the governor of the Territory of Arkansas which was vested in and given to the legislature of the Territory of Arkansas by an act of congress of the second of March, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one, by which a quantity of land, not exceeding ten sections, was granted to said territory for the purpose of raising a fund for the erection of a public building at Little Rock, the seat of government of said territory (e).

SEC. 2. That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as authorizing any expense on the part of the United States for selecting said lands or building said house other than the aforesaid grant of ten sections of the unappropriated lands.

Approved July 4, 1832.

GRANT OF ONE THOUSAND ACRES FOR BUILDING A JAIL AND COURT-HOUSE AT LITTLE ROCK.

AN ACT granting to the Territory of Arkansas one thousand acres of land for the erection of a court-house and jail at Little Rock.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That there be granted to the Territory of Arkansas a quantity of land not exceeding one thousand acres, contiguous to and adjoining the town of Little Rock, for the erection of a court-house and jail in said town, which lands shall be selected by the governor (f) of the territory by legal subdivisions, and disposed of in such manner as the legislature may by law direct, and the proceeds of the lands so disposed of shall be applied toward building a court-house and jail in said town of Little Rock, and the surplus, if any, may be applied to such other objects as the legislature of said territory may deem proper.

Approved June 15, 1832.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT LANDS.

Sections eight and nine of "An act (of congress) to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of public lands and to grant pre-emption rights.

SECTION 8. There shall be granted to each state specified in the first section of this act (the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Alabama, Missouri, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Michigan), five hundred thousand acres of land for purposes of internal improvement. Provided, that to each of the said states which have already received grants for said purposes there is hereby granted no more than a quantity of land which shall, together with the amount such state has already received as aforesaid, make five hundred thousand acres, the selections in all of the said states to be made within their limits respectively, in such manner as the legislature thereof shall direct (g); and located in parcels conformably to sectional divisions and subdivisions, of not less than three hundred and twenty acres in any one location, on any public land, except such as is or may be reserved from sale by any law of congress or proclamation of the president of the United States, which said locations may be made at any time after the lands of the United States in said states respectively shall have been surveyed according to existing laws; and there shall be and hereby is granted to each new state that shall be hereafter admitted into the Union upon such admission so much land as, including such quantity as may have been granted to such state before its admission and while under a territorial government, for purposes of internal improvement as aforesaid, as shall make five hundred thousand acres of land, to be selected and located as aforesaid.

(e) By an act of congress of January 16, 1838, the locations and sales made by Governor Pope, with certain exceptions, were confirmed.

(f) The selections having been made by an act of congress of the second of March, 1833, it was directed that a patent for the lands be issued to the governor of the territory and his successors in office, and that the governor be authorized to lay off and sell the same in lots.

(g) See next act authorizing the governor to select.

SEC. 9. The lands herein granted to the states above named shall not be disposed of at a price less than one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, until otherwise authorized by a law of the United States; and the net proceeds of the sales of said lands shall be faithfully applied to objects of internal improvement within the states aforesaid, respectively, namely: Roads, railways, bridges, canals and improvement of water-courses and draining of swamps; and such roads, railways, canals, bridges and water-courses, when made or improved, shall be free for the transportation of the United States mail and munitions of war, and for the passage of their troops without the payment of any toll whatever.

Approved 4th September, 1841.

AN ACT to authorize the governors of the States of Illinois, Arkansas and Missouri to cause to be selected the lands therein mentioned.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That so much of the eighth section of the act entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands and to grant pre-emptions," approved September fourth, eighteen hundred and forty-one, as provides that the selections of the grants of land made to the several states therein mentioned, for the purposes of internal improvement, shall be made, respectively, in such manner as the legislatures thereof shall direct, is so far modified as to authorize the governors of the States of Illinois, Arkansas and Missouri to cause the selections to be made for those states without the necessity of convening the legislatures thereof for that purpose.

Approved March 19, 1842.

SWAMP LANDS.

AN ACT to enable the State of Arkansas and other states to reclaim the "swamp lands" within their limits.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That to enable the State of Arkansas to construct the necessary levees and drains to reclaim the swamp and overflowed lands therein, the whole of those swamp and overflowed lands, made unfit thereby for cultivation, which shall remain unsold at the passage of this act shall be and the same are hereby granted to said state.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the secretary of the interior, as soon as may be practicable after the passage of this act, to make out an accurate list and plats of the lands described as aforesaid, and transmit the same to the governor of the State of Arkansas; and at the request of said governor cause a patent to be issued to the state therefor, and on that patent the fee simple to said lands shall vest in said State of Arkansas, subject to the disposal of the legislature thereof. Provided, however, that the proceeds of said lands, whether from sale or by direct appropriation in kind, shall be applied exclusively, as far as necessary, to the purpose of reclaiming said lands by means of the levees and drains aforesaid.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That, in making out a list and plats of the land aforesaid, all legal subdivisions, the greater part of which is "wet and unfit for cultivation," shall be included in said list and plats; but when the greater part of a subdivision is not of that character, the whole of it shall be excluded therefrom.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the provisions of this act be extended to and their benefits be conferred upon each of the other states of the Union in which such swamp and overflowed lands, known and designated as aforesaid, may be situated.

Approved September 28, 1850.

RAILROAD LANDS.

AN ACT granting the right of way and making a grant of land to the States of Arkansas and Missouri, to aid in the construction of a railroad from a point on the Mississippi opposite the mouth of the Ohio River, via Little Rock, to the Texas boundary, near Fulton, in Arkansas, with branches to Fort Smith and the Mississippi River.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the right of way through the public lands be and the same is hereby granted to the States of Arkansas and Missouri, for the construction of a railroad from a point on the Mississippi River, opposite the mouth of the Ohio, in the State of Missouri, via Little Rock, to the Texas boundary line, near Fulton, in Arkansas, with branches from Little Rock, in Arkansas, to the Mississippi River and to Fort Smith, in said state, with the right to take the necessary materials of earth, stone, timber, etc., for the construction thereof. Provided, that the right of way shall not exceed one hundred feet on each side of the length thereof, and a copy of the survey of said road, made under the direction of the legislatures of the said states, shall be forwarded to the proper local land offices, respectively, and to the general land office at Washington City, within ninety days after the completion of the same.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That there be and is hereby granted to the States of Arkansas and Missouri, respectively, for the purpose of aiding in making the railroad and branches as aforesaid, within their respective limits, every alternate section of land, designated by even numbers, for six sections in width on each side of said road and branches; but in case it shall appear that the United States have, when the line or route of said road is definitely fixed by the authority aforesaid, sold any part of any section hereby granted, or that the right of pre-emption has attached to the same, then it shall be lawful for any agent or agents, to be appointed by the governor of said state, to select, subject to the approval aforesaid, from the lands of the United States most contiguous to the tier of sections above specified so much land in alternate sections or parts of sections as shall be equal to such lands as the United States have sold, or to which the right of pre-emption has attached as aforesaid, which lands, being equal in quantity to one-half of six sections in width on each side of said road, the States of Arkansas and Missouri shall have and hold to and for the use and purpose aforesaid. Provided, that the lands to be located shall in no case be further than fifteen miles from the line of the road. And provided, further, that the lands hereby granted shall be applied in the construction of said road, and shall be disposed of only as the work progresses, and shall be applied to no other purpose whatsoever. And provided, further, that any and all lands reserved to the United States by any act of congress, for the purpose of aiding in any object of internal improvement, or in any manner for any purpose whatsoever, be and the same are hereby reserved to the United States from the operation of this act, except so far as it may be found necessary to locate the routes of the said railroad and branches through such reserved lands.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the sections and parts of sections of land which by such grant shall remain to the United States within six miles on each side of said road shall not be sold for less than double the minimum price of the public lands when sold.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the said lands hereby granted to the said states shall be subject to the disposal of the legislatures thereof, for the purpose aforesaid, and no other; and the said railroad and branches shall be and remain a public highway for the use of the government of the United States, free from toll or other charge upon the transportation of any property or troops of the United States.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the lands hereby granted to said states shall be disposed of by said states only in the manner following: that is to say, that a quantity of land not exceeding one hundred and twenty sections, and included within a continuous length of twenty miles of said road, may be sold; and when the governors of said state or states shall certify to the secretary of the interior that twenty continuous miles of said road is completed, then another like quantity of land hereby granted may be sold: and so from time to time until said road is completed; and if said road is not completed within ten years, no further sales shall be made, and the land unsold shall revert to the United States.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the United States mail shall at all times be transported on the said road and branches, under the direction of the postoffice department, at such prices as congress may by law direct.

Approved February 9, 1853.

AN ACT to revive and extend the provisions of "An act granting the right of way and making a grant of land to the States of Arkansas and Missouri, to aid in the construction of a railroad from a point upon the Mississippi, opposite the mouth of the Ohio River, via Little Rock, to the Texas boundary, near Fulton, in Arkansas, with branches to Fort Smith and the Mississippi River," approved February 9, 1853, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the "Act granting the right of way and making a grant of land to the States of Arkansas and Missouri to aid in the construction of a railroad from a point upon the Mississippi opposite the mouth of the Ohio River, via Little Rock, to the Texas boundary, near Fulton, in Arkansas, with branches to Fort Smith and the Mississippi River," approved February nine, eighteen hundred and fifty-three, with all the provisions therein made, be, and the same is, hereby revived and extended for the term of ten years from the passage of this act; and all the lands therein granted which reverted to the United States under the provisions of said act be, and the same are, hereby restored to the same custody, control and condition, and made subject to the uses and trusts in all respects as they were before and at the time such reversion took effect. Provided, that all mineral lands within the limits of this grant and the grant made in section two of this act are hereby reserved to the United States. And provided, further, that all property and troops of the United States shall at all times be transported over said railroad and branches at the cost, charge and expense of the company or corporation owning or operating said road and branches, respectively, when so required by the government of the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That there is hereby granted, added to and made part of the donation of lands hereby renewed and made, subject to the same uses and trusts, and under the same custody, control and conditions, and to be held and disposed of in the same manner as if included in the original grant, all the alternate sections and parts of sections designated by odd numbers lying along the outer line of lands heretofore granted, and within five miles on each side thereof, excepting lands reserved or otherwise appropriated by law, or to which the right of pre-emption or homestead settlement has attached. Provided, that the additional quantity of lands hereby granted, when added to the lands specified in section one hereof, shall not exceed, in the aggregate quantity of lands by this act granted, sufficient to amount to ten sections for each mile of railroad. And provided, further, that the lands embraced in this grant and the grant revived by section one of this act shall be disposed of only as follows: Whenever proof shall be furnished, satisfactory to the secretary of the interior, that any section of ten consecutive miles of said road and branches is completed, in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, as a first-class railroad, the said secretary of the interior shall issue patents for all the lands granted as aforesaid, not exceeding ten sections per mile, situate opposite to and within the limits of twenty miles of the section of said road and branches thus completed, and when like proof shall be furnished that another section of ten miles of said road in said states, or on the said branches, respectively, connecting with the preceding section, is completed as aforesaid, the secretary of the interior shall issue patents in like manner as in case of the first completed sections, and so on, from time to time, until the whole is completed as herein provided, when the secretary of the interior shall issue patents for all the remaining lands herein granted, not exceeding the aggregate amount provided for and located as required by sections one and two of this act. And provided, further, that if one section of twenty miles of each of said railroads and branches shall not be fully constructed and completed as a first-class railroad within three years from the time this act becomes a law, and at least one section of twenty miles on each of said roads and branches in each year thereafter, and the whole of said roads and branches within ten years from the time this act shall take effect, then and in either of said cases all the lands granted or the grant of which is revived or extended by this act, and which at the time shall be unpatented to or for the benefit of the road or company making or suffering such failure, shall revert to the United States.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That all the lands mentioned in this act, and hereby granted, are hereby reserved from entry, pre-emption or appropriation to any other purpose than herein contemplated, for the said term of ten years from the passage of this act. Provided, that all lands heretofore given to the State of Missouri for the construction of the Cairo and Fulton Railroad, or for the use of said road, lying in the State of Missouri, and all lands proposed to be granted by this act for the use or in aid of the road herein named, and lying in said State of Missouri, shall be granted and patented to the said state whenever the road shall be completed through said state, which lands may be held by said state and used toward paying the state the amount of bonds heretofore issued by it to aid said company, and all interest accrued or to accrue thereon. Provided, further, that the provisions of this act, so far as the same relate to the Memphis and Little Rock and the Little Rock and Fort Smith branches of said road, shall not take effect until the secretary of the interior shall make and file a certificate in his office and the office of the secretary of state of Arkansas, stating that the companies or corporations claiming the benefit of this act in behalf of said branches have reorganized their boards of directors in a lawful manner, and, after such reorganization, that they have, respectively, rescinded all acts, resolutions or other proceedings transferring the lands, rights or privileges of such corporations or companies to any convention, state or authority recognizing or acting in concert with or under the authority of the late so-called Confederate States of America.

AN ACT making a grant of lands, in alternate sections, to aid in the construction and extension of the Iron Mountain Railroad, from Pilot Knob, in the State of Missouri, to Helena, in Arkansas.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That there be and is hereby granted to the State of Missouri, for the purpose of aiding in the construction and extension of the Iron Mountain Railroad, from its present terminus at Pilot Knob to a point on the southern boundary line of the State of Missouri, every alternate section of land, designated by odd numbers, for ten sections in width on each side of said road; but in case it shall appear, when the route of said road is definitely fixed, that the United States have sold any sections or parts thereof granted as aforesaid, or that the right of pre-emption has attached to the same, then it shall be lawful for any agent or agents, to be appointed by the governor of said state, to select, subject to the approval of the secretary of the interior, from the lands of the United States nearest to the tiers of sections above specified, so much land in sections or parts of sections, to be selected as aforesaid, as shall be equal to such lands as the United States have sold or otherwise appropriated, or to which the rights of pre-emption have attached; which lands, thus selected, shall be held by the State of Missouri for the use and purposes aforesaid, and for none other. Provided, that the lands so located shall be within the Ironton land district as now established, and not more than twenty miles from the line of said road. And provided, further, that all mineral lands except those containing coal and iron, and any lands heretofore reserved to the United States by any act of congress, or in any other manner by competent authority, for the purpose of aiding in any object of internal improvement, or for any other purpose whatever, be, and the same are, reserved to the United States from the operation of this act, except so far as it may be found necessary to locate the routes of said railroad through the same, in which case the right of way only shall be granted, subject to the approval of the president of the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That there be and is hereby granted to the State of Arkansas, for the purpose of aiding in the construction and extension of a railroad from the point where the Iron Mountain Railroad intersects the southern boundary line of Missouri, by the nearest and most practicable route, to a point at or near the Town of Helena, on the Mississippi River, every alternate section of land, designated by odd numbers, for ten sections in width on each side of said road; but in case it shall appear, when the line of said road is definitely fixed, that the United States have sold any sections or parts thereof granted as aforesaid, or that the right of pre-emption has attached to the same, then it shall be lawful for any agent or agents, to be appointed by the governor of said state to select, subject to the approval of the secretary of the interior, from the lands of the United States nearest to the tiers of sections above specified, so much land in alternate sections, designated as aforesaid, as shall be equal to such lands as the United States have sold or otherwise appropriated, or to which the rights of pre-emption have attached; which lands, thus selected, shall be held by the State of Arkansas for the use and purposes aforesaid, and for none other. Provided, that the land so selected and located shall in no case be further than twenty miles from the line of road when the same shall be located. And provided, further, that all mineral lands, except those containing coal and iron, and any lands heretofore reserved to the United States by any act of congress, or in any other manner by competent authority, for the purpose of aiding in any object of internal improvement, or for any other purpose whatever, be and the same are reserved to the United States from the operation of this act, except so far as it may be found necessary to locate the routes of said railway through the same, in which case the right of way only shall be granted, subject to the approval of the president of the United States.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the sections and parts of sections of land which shall remain to the United States within ten miles on either side of said road, and the even sections and parts of sections corresponding to the odd ones selected within twenty miles of the same, shall not be sold for less than double the minimum price of the public lands when sold, nor shall any of the said lands become subject to private entry until the same shall have been first offered at public sale to the highest bidder at or above the minimum price as aforesaid. Provided, that actual bona fide settlers under the pre-emption laws of the United States may, after the proof of settlement, improvement and occupation, as now provided by law, purchase the same at the increased minimum price. And provided, also, that settlers under the provisions of the homestead law, who comply with the terms and requirements of this [said] act, shall be entitled to patents for an amount not exceeding eighty acres each, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the said railroads shall be and remain public highways, so far as the same may be constructed under this act, for the use of the government of the United States, free of all toll or other charges upon the transportation of any property or troops of the United States, and at the costs in all respects of said railroad companies; and the said roads are hereby required to be constructed within the term of five years from and after the first day of July, Anno Domini eighteen hundred and sixty-six.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the lands hereby granted to said States of Missouri and Arkansas shall be disposed of by said states for the purposes aforesaid only, and in the manner following, namely: Whenever the governor of either of said states shall certify to the secretary of the interior that any section of ten consecutive miles of either of said roads is completed in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, as a first-class railroad, and the said secretary shall be satisfied that said state has complied in good faith with this requirement, the said secretary of the interior shall issue to the said state patents for all the lands granted and selected as aforesaid, not exceeding ten sections per mile, situated opposite to and within a limit of twenty miles of the line of said section of road thus completed, extending along the whole length of said completed section of ten miles of road, and no further. And when the governor of said state shall certify to the secretary of the interior, and the secretary shall be satisfied, that another section of said road, ten consecutive miles in extent, connecting with the preceding section or with some other first-class railroad which may be at the time in successful operation, is completed as aforesaid, the said secretary of the interior shall issue to the said state patents for all the lands granted and situated opposite to and within the limits of twenty miles of the line of said completed section of road or roads, and extending the length of said section and no further, and not exceeding ten sections of land per mile for all that part of said road thus completed under the provisions of this act and the act to which this is an amendment, and so, from time to time, until said roads and branches are completed. And when the governor of said state shall so certify, and the secretary of the interior shall be satisfied, that the whole of any one of said roads and branches is completed in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, as a first-class railroad, the said secretary of the interior shall issue to the said state patents to all the remaining lands granted for and on account of said completed road and branches in this act, situated within the said limits of twenty miles from the line thereof, throughout the entire length of said road and branches. Provided, that no land shall be granted or conveyed to said states under the provisions of this act on account of the construction of any railroad or part thereof that has been constructed under the provisions of any other act, at the date of the passage of this act, and adopted as a part of the line of railroad provided for in this act. And provided, that nothing herein contained shall interfere with any existing rights acquired under any law of congress heretofore enacted making grants of land to the said States of Missouri and Arkansas to aid in the construction of railroads. And provided, further, that should said states, or either of them, fail to complete the roads herein recited within the time prescribed by this act, then the lands undisposed of as aforesaid, within the states so failing, shall revert to the United States.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That so soon as the governor of either of said states shall file or cause to be filed with the secretary of the interior maps designating the routes of said roads herein mentioned, then it shall be the duty of the secretary of the interior to withdraw from market the lands embraced within the provisions of this act.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That nothing contained in this act shall be held as vesting in the State of Arkansas title to the lands herein recited for the trust purpose aforesaid, or authorizing said state to make any disposition of the same, until said state shall be restored in all respects to its former relation to the national government and be represented in the congress of the United States.

Approved July 4, 1866.

AN ACT to extend the time for the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad Company to complete the first section of twenty miles of said road.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That an act approved July twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, entitled "An act to revive and extend the provisions of 'An act granting the right of way and making a grant of land to the States of Arkansas and Missouri, to aid in the construction of a railroad from a point upon the Mississippi River opposite the mouth of the Ohio River, via Little Rock, to the Texas boundary, near Fulton, in Arkansas, with branches to Fort Smith and the Mississippi River,' approved February nine, eighteen hundred and fifty-three, and for other purposes," be so amended as to extend the time to the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad Company for building the first section of twenty miles provided for in the second section of said act, for the term of three years from the thirteenth day of May, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, the time of filing the certificate of organization to said company provided for in the third section of said act. Provided, that the land granted by the act hereby revived shall be sold to actual settlers only, in quantities not greater than one-quarter of a section to one purchaser, and for a price not exceeding two dollars and fifty cents per acre.

Approved April 10, 1869.

A RESOLUTION extending the time for the completion of the first section of twenty miles of the Cairo and Fulton Railroad.

Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That in case the Cairo and Fulton Railroad Company shall complete the first section of twenty miles of said road by the twentieth day of December, eighteen hundred and seventy, and the secretary of the interior shall be satisfied of such completion, then the said company shall be entitled to its lands in all respects and to the same extent as it would have been had said twenty miles been completed by the twenty-eighth of April, eighteen hundred and seventy, as provided by law relating to said railroad company.

Approved May 6, 1870.

AN ACT to amend an act entitled "An act to extend the time for the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad Company to complete the first section of twenty miles of said road," approved April ten, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the proviso of an act entitled "An act to extend the time for the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad Company to complete the first section of twenty miles of said road," approved April ten, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, be and the same hereby is repealed.

Approved March 8, 1870.

NATURALIZATION.

NATURALIZATION LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

SECTION 1. An alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner, and not otherwise:

First. He shall declare on oath before a circuit or district court of the United States, or a district or supreme court of the territories, or a court of record of any of the states having common-law jurisdiction and a seal and clerk, two years at least prior to his admission, that it is bona fide his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty, and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of which the alien may be at the time a citizen or subject.

Second. He shall at the time of his application to be admitted declare on oath before some one of the courts above specified that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty, and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject, which proceedings shall be recorded by the clerk of the court.

Third. It shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court admitting such alien that he has resided within the United States five years at least, and within the state or territory where such court is at the time held one year at least; and that during that time he has behaved as a man of a good moral character, attached to the principles of the constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; but the oath of the applicant shall in no case be allowed to prove his residence.

Fourth. In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship has borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, he shall in addition to the above requisites make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in the court to which his application is made, and his renunciation shall be recorded in the court.

Fifth. Any alien who was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States before the twenty-ninth day of January, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five, may be admitted to become a citizen on due proof made to some one of the courts above specified that he has resided two years at least within the jurisdiction of the United States, and one year at least immediately preceding his application within the state or territory where such court is at the time held; and on his declaring on oath that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty, and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, state or sovereignty whereof he was before a citizen or subject; and also on its appearing to the satisfaction of the court that during such term of two years he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; and where the alien applying for admission to citizenship has borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, on his, moreover, making in the court an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility. All of the proceedings required in this condition to be performed in the court shall be recorded by the clerk thereof.

Sixth. Any alien who was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, between the eighteenth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-eight, and the eighteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and who has continued to reside within the same, may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States without having made any previous declaration of his intention to become such; but whenever any person without a certificate of such declaration of intention makes application to be admitted a citizen, it must be proved to the satisfaction of the court that the applicant was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States before the eighteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and has continued to reside within the same; and the residence of the applicant within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States for at least five years immediately preceding the time of such application must be proved by the oath of citizens of the United States, which citizens shall be named in the record as witnesses; and such continued residence within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States when satisfactorily proved, and the place where the applicant has resided for at least five years, shall be stated and set forth, together with the names of such citizens, in the record of the court admitting the applicant; otherwise the same shall not entitle him to be considered and deemed a citizen of the United States.

SEC. 2. The declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, required by section one, may be made by an alien before the clerk of any of the courts named in said section, and all such declarations heretofore made before any such clerk are hereby declared as legal and valid as if made before one of the courts named in said section.

SEC. 3. Any alien, of the age of twenty-one years and upward, who has enlisted or may enlist in the armies of the United States, either the regular or the volunteer forces, and has been or may be hereafter honorably discharged, shall be admitted to become a citizen of the United States upon his petition without any previous declaration of his intention to become such, and he shall not be required to prove more than one year's residence within the United States previous to his application to become such citizen; and the court admitting such alien shall, in addition to such proof of residence and good moral character as now provided by law, be satisfied by competent proof of such person's having been honorably discharged from the service of the United States.

SEC. 4. Any alien, being under the age of twenty-one years, who has resided in the United States three years next preceding his arriving at that age, and who has continued to reside therein to the time he may make application to be admitted a citizen thereof, may, after he arrives at the age of twenty-one years, and after he has resided five years within the United States, including the three years of his minority, be admitted a citizen of the United States, without having made the declaration required in the first condition of section one; but such alien shall make the declaration required therein at the time of his admission; and shall further declare, on oath, and prove to the satisfaction of the court, that, for two years next preceding, it has been his bona fide intention to become a citizen of the United States; and he shall in all other respects comply with the laws in regard to naturalization.

SEC. 5. When any alien who has complied with the first condition specified in section one dies before he is actually naturalized, the widow and the children of such alien shall be considered as citizens of the United States, and shall be entitled to all rights and privileges as such upon taking the oaths prescribed by law.

SEC. 6. The provisions of this title shall apply to aliens being free white persons, and to aliens of African nativity, and to persons of African descent (*).

SEC. 7. No alien shall be admitted to become a citizen who has not for the continued term of five years next preceding his admission resided within the United States.

SEC. 8. No alien who is a native citizen or subject, or a denizen, of any country, state or sovereignty with which the United States are at war, at the time of his application, shall be then admitted to become a citizen of the United States; but persons resident within the United States, or the territories thereof, on the 18th day of June, 1812, who had before that day made a declaration, according to law, of their intention to become citizens of the United States, or who were on that day entitled to become citizens without making such declaration, may be admitted to become citizens thereof, notwithstanding they were alien enemies at the time and in the manner prescribed by the laws heretofore passed on that subject; nor shall anything herein contained be taken or construed to interfere with or prevent the apprehension and removal, agreeably to law, of any alien enemy at any time previous to the actual naturalization of such alien.

SEC. 9. The children of persons who have been duly naturalized under any law of the United States, or who, previous to the passing of any law on that subject by the government of the United States, may have become citizens of any one of the states, under the laws thereof, being under the age of twenty-one years at the time of the naturalization of their parents, shall, if dwelling in the United States, be considered as citizens thereof; and the children of persons who now are, or have been, citizens of the United States shall, though born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States, be considered as citizens thereof; but no person heretofore proscribed by any state, or who has been legally convicted of having joined the army of Great Britain during the Revolutionary War, shall be admitted to become a citizen without the consent of the legislature of the state in which such person was proscribed.

SEC. 10. The police court of the District of Columbia shall have no power to naturalize foreigners.

SEC. 11. Every seaman, being a foreigner, who declares his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States in any competent court, and shall have served three years on board of a merchant vessel of the United States subsequent to the date of such declaration, may, on his application to any competent court, and the production of his certificate of discharge and good conduct during that time, together with the certificate of his declaration of intention to become a citizen, be admitted a citizen of the United States; and every seaman, being a foreigner, shall after his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, and after he shall have served such three years, be deemed a citizen of the United States for the purpose of manning and serving on board any merchant vessel of the United States, anything to the contrary in any act of congress notwithstanding; but such seaman shall, for all purposes of protection as an American citizen, be deemed such after the filing of his declaration of intention to become such citizen. Rev. Stat. U. S., title 30.

SEC. 12. Any woman who is now, or may hereafter be, married to a citizen of the United States, and who might herself be lawfully naturalized, shall be deemed a citizen. Ib., sec. 1994.

- 219, 220, 221, 222, 223. Proceedings in the probate court under "Chapters of the Digest" declared valid.

LETTERS—BY AND TO WHOM GRANTED.

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the courts of probate in term time, or the clerks thereof in vacation, subject to the confirmation or rejection of the court, to grant letters testamentary and of administration. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 1; Act April 16, 1873, sec. 6.

SEC. 2. Letters testamentary and of administration shall be granted in the county in which the testator or intestate resided; or, if he had no known residence, and lands be devised in the will or the intestate die possessed of lands, such letters shall be granted in the county where the lands lie, or one of them if they lie in several counties; and, if the deceased had no such place of residence and no lands, such letters may be granted in the county in which the testator or intestate died, or where the greater part of his estate may be. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 2.

SEC. 3. When any one shall die leaving a widow or children, and it shall be made to appear to the probate court that the estate of the deceased does not exceed three hundred dollars (b), the court shall make an order that the estate

(b) Although the probate court may fall to make an order vesting the entire estate of a deceased husband in the widow when it does not exceed three hundred dollars, she may, in a proceeding to compel her to account for the estate, show that it did not exceed that sum, and thus avail herself of the benefit of the statute. Hampton v. Physick, 24—561. The word "estate" in this and the next section means the whole mass of the decedent's property, both real and personal, and, if it is of less value than three hundred dollars, is given by the law proprio vigore to the widow; or, if no widow, to the minor children of the deceased, and an order of the probate court is not necessary to vest it. Harrison v. Lamar, 33—824. The proceeding of the probate court to declare the estate in the widow is in rem, and no notice to the heirs is necessary. Ib.

The value of both the real and personal property of an estate is to be estimated in determining whether it may be vested in the widow; but if the remainder interest in the homestead and the personal property are, together, of less value than eight hundred dollars, the widow may retain absolutely three hundred dollars of the property and continue her occupation of the homestead. Word v. West, 38—243.

vest absolutely in the widow or children, as the case may be; and in all cases when the estate does not exceed eight hundred dollars the widow or children, as the case may be, shall be entitled to retain the amount of three hundred dollars of the property at cash price. Act Jan. 2, 1851.

SEC. 4. When any man shall die leaving minor children and no widow, and his estate shall not be above the value of three hundred dollars, his entire estate shall pass to and vest in his minor children for their support and education, and the probate court shall not be required to appoint an administrator on such estate. Act Jan. 12, 1853.

SEC. 5. It shall not be the duty of the clerk or court to issue letters of administration on the estate of any deceased person, unless it shall in the opinion of said clerk or court be necessary to preserve such estate from waste or damage, or to protect the rights of creditors. Act Dec. 21, 1846, sec. 2.

SEC. 6. Letters testamentary or of administration shall in no case be granted to a clerk of the court of probate or his deputy; to a person of unsound mind, under the age of twenty-one years, or to a married woman; nor shall an executor of an executor, in consequence thereof, be the executor of the first testator. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 3.

SEC. 7. Letters of administration shall be granted to the representatives of the intestate who may apply for the same and are qualified, preferring first the husband or wife, or one of the persons entitled by law to a distribution of the intestate's estate, as the court or clerk may be of the opinion will best manage and improve the estate; and if no such person applies for letters within thirty days after the death of the intestate, letters of administration may be granted to any creditor of the intestate who may apply for the same within sixty days after the death of the intestate, or to such other person as the court may appoint; and the court, or clerk thereof in vacation, on the application of any person interested, may issue a citation to any person entitled to administration as aforesaid, calling on him to take out letters of administration. Ib., sec. 4.

SEC. 8. If such person shall neglect to appear and take out letters within ten days after the service of such citation, such neglect shall be considered as a renunciation, by such person, of the administration. Ib., sec. 5.

SEC. 9. In such case, and in all others where the person entitled to administration shall file his renunciation thereof in writing with the clerk of the court of probate, letters of administration shall be granted to the person next entitled thereto. Ib., sec. 6.

SEC. 10. After the probate of any will, letters testamentary shall be granted to the person therein appointed executor, if qualified.

SEC. 11. If there are more persons than one named as executors in the will, and a part of them refuse to act, or are disqualified, the letters shall be granted to the other persons appointed therein (c). Ib., secs. 7 and 8.

SEC. 12. If all such persons refuse to act, or are disqualified, letters of administration, with the will annexed, shall be granted to the person to whom administration would have been granted if there had been no will. Ib., sec. 9.

(c) Where two or more persons are named as executors, the renunciation or refusal of one to join or take upon himself the execution of a will can not be evidenced by acts in pais, but must be shown by matter of record. Newton's exr. v. Cocke, exr., 10—169.

The authority of an executor relates to the grant of administration to him by the probate court, and not to the mechanical issuance of letters testamentary as evidence of his authority. Ludlow v. Flournoy, 34—451.

SEC. 13. If the validity of any will be contested, or the executor be a minor, or absent from the state, letters of administration shall be granted during the time of such contest, minority or absence to some other person, who shall take charge of the property and administer the same, according to law, under the direction of the court, and account for, pay and deliver all moneys and property of the estate to the executor or regular administrator, when qualified to act. Ib., sec. 10.

SEC. 14. Neither letters testamentary nor of administration shall be granted to any non-resident of this state; and if any person to whom letters testamentary or of administration shall be granted shall, before he makes a final settlement, become a non-resident of this state, he shall thereby forfeit such letters, and the court shall, on motion of any person interested, revoke and set aside the letters testamentary or of administration granted such executor or administrator, and grant administration to any other person qualified (d). Act Dec. 31, 1850, secs. 1 and 4.

AFFIDAVIT TO BE MADE BEFORE GRANT OF LETTERS.

SEC. 15. Every person applying for letters of administration shall, at the time of making such application, make and subscribe an affidavit, stating, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the value of the estate, the names and residences of the heirs of the deceased, if known, that the deceased died without a will, that he will make a perfect inventory of, and faithfully administer, all and singular, the goods and chattels, rights and credits of the deceased, and pay his debts, as far as the assets which may come to his hands will extend and the law direct, and that he will account for and pay over, according to law, all assets which shall come to his hands or possession. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 11.

SEC. 16. Such affidavit shall be made in open court, or before the clerk in vacation; and a similar affidavit, with such variations as the case may require, shall be made by every administrator de bonis non, and by an administrator during a contest about a will or the minority or absence of an executor. Ib., sec. 12.

SEC. 17. Every administrator, with the will annexed, and executor, at the time letters are granted to him, shall make and subscribe an affidavit that he will make a true and perfect inventory of the estate, and faithfully execute the last will of the testator, pay the debts and legacies as far as the assets will extend and the law direct, render just accounts of his administration, and faithfully perform all things required by law touching such administration or executorship. Ib., sec. 13.

BOND TO BE GIVEN BEFORE GRANT OF LETTERS.

SEC. 18. The court of probate, or the clerk thereof in vacation, subject to the approval or rejection of the court in term time, shall take a bond from the person to whom letters of administration are granted, with two or more sufficient securities, residents of the county, to the State of Arkansas, in such sum as the court or clerk shall deem sufficient—not less than double the amount of the estimated value of the estate. Ib., sec. 14.

(d) The removal of an executor or administrator from the state does not eo instanti vacate his letters. This requires the action of the court, on motion. McCreary v. Taylor, 38—393; Haynes v. Semmes, 39—399.

SEC. 19. Such bond shall be conditioned as follows: "The condition of the above obligation is such that if the above bounden A. B., administrator of all and singular the goods and chattels, rights and credits of C. D., deceased, shall make, or cause to be made, a true and perfect inventory of all and singular the goods and chattels, rights and credits of the deceased which have or may come to the hands, possession or knowledge of him, the said A. B., or into the hands or possession of any other person for him, and the same, so made, shall return and exhibit in the office of the clerk of the court of probate, for the county of —, within sixty days from the date of the above obligation, and all and singular the goods and chattels, rights and credits of the deceased which shall come to the hands, possession or knowledge of him, the said A. B., he shall well and truly administer according to law, and pay the debts of the deceased as far as his assets will extend and the law direct; and, further, make or cause to be made just and true accounts of his administration, and make due and proper settlement thereof, from time to time, according to law or the lawful order, sentence or decree of any court having competent jurisdiction, and shall moreover well and truly do and perform all other matters and things touching such administration that are or may be prescribed by law, or enjoined on such administrator by the lawful order, sentence or decree of any court having competent jurisdiction, then the above obligation to be void and of no effect; otherwise to remain in full force and virtue." Ib., sec. 15.

SEC. 20. A similar bond, with such variations as the case may require, shall be given by all executors and administrators, with the will annexed, or of the goods, chattels and effects remaining unadministered during the time of a contest about any will, or of the minority or absence of an executor. Ib., sec. 16.

SEC. 21. No sheriff, clerk of any court, or the deputy of either, or attorney at law, shall be taken as security in the bond of any executor or administrator, unless by special permission of the court of probate, and such permission shall be entered on the record. Ib., sec. 17.

SEC. 22. The court, or the clerk in vacation, shall take special care to take as securities persons who are solvent and sufficient, and who are not bound in too many other bonds; and the court or clerk may take testimony, or examine on oath the applicant, or the persons offered as securities, in order to be satisfied of their solvency. Ib., sec. 18.

BONDS AND LETTERS TO BE RECORDED, AND COPIES EVIDENCE.

SEC. 23. The clerk of the court of probate shall record in a well-bound book, to be kept for that purpose, all bonds given by executors and administrators, and present all such bonds as may have been taken in vacation to the court at the first term after the taking of the same, for confirmation, and an entry shall be made in the record of such court of the confirmation or rejection of any such bond. Ib., sec. 19.

SEC. 24. It shall also be the duty of such clerk to record, in a book to be kept for that purpose, all letters testamentary and of administration granted by the court or clerk in vacation. Ib., sec. 20.

SEC. 25. If any clerk of the court of probate shall deliver any letters testamentary or of administration to any executor or administrator without recording the same, he may be fined by the court in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars. Ib., sec. 21.

SEC. 26. Copies of such letters testamentary or of administration, and the official bonds given by executors or administrators, legally authenticated, shall be evidence in the same manner as the originals. Ib., sec. 22.

FORM OF LETTERS.

SEC. 27. All letters testamentary to be issued to executors shall be in the following form: "County of —, ss. The State of Arkansas to all persons to whom these presents shall come, greeting: Know ye, that the last will and testament of A. B., of —, deceased, hath in due form of law been exhibited, proved and recorded in the office of the clerk of the court of probate for — county, a copy of which is hereunto annexed; and inasmuch as it appears that C. D. has been appointed executor, in and by the said last will and testament, to execute the same, and to the end that the property of the testator may be preserved for those who shall appear to have a legal right or interest therein, and that the said last will may be executed according to the request of the testator, we do hereby authorize him, the said C. D., as such executor, to collect and secure all and singular the goods and chattels, rights and credits which were of the said A. B., at the time of his death, in whosoever hands or possession the same may be found; and to perform and fulfill all such duties as may be enjoined upon him by said will, so far as there shall be property and the law charge him; and in general to do and perform all other acts which now are or hereafter may be required of him by law.

"In testimony whereof, I, A. B., clerk of the circuit court (or county clerk) and ex officio clerk of the court of probate in and for the said county of —, have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court, at office in —, this — day of —, A. D. 18—. A. B., Clerk."

SEC. 28. Letters of administration shall be in the following form: "County of —, ss. The State of Arkansas to all persons to whom these presents shall come, greeting: Know ye, that whereas, A. B., of the county of —, died intestate, as it is said, on or about the — day of —, A. D. 18—, having at the time of his death personal property in this state which may be lost, destroyed or diminished in value, if speedy care be not taken of the same; to the end, therefore, that the said property may be collected, preserved and disposed of according to law, we do hereby appoint C. D., of the county of —, administrator of all and singular the goods and chattels, rights and credits which were of the said A. B. at the time of his death, with full power and authority to secure and dispose of the said property according to law, and collect all moneys due said deceased, and in general to do and perform all other acts and things which are or hereafter may be required of him by law.

"In testimony whereof, I, A. B., clerk of the circuit court (or county clerk) and ex officio clerk of the court of probate in and for the county of —, aforesaid, have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court, at office, this — day of —, A. D. 18—. A. B., Clerk."

SEC. 29. In all cases where letters of administration, with the will annexed, letters of administration de bonis non, during minority or absence, shall be issued, the same shall be in conformity with the foregoing forms as near as may be. Ib., secs. 23, 24, 25.

WHEN LETTERS TO BE REVOKED.

SEC. 30. If, after letters of administration are granted, a will of the deceased be found, and probate thereof be made, such letters shall be revoked by the court of probate, and letters testamentary or of administration, with the will annexed, be granted. Ib., sec. 26.

SEC. 31. If any will be proved, and letters testamentary thereon granted, and such will be afterward set aside, the letters testamentary shall be revoked, and letters of administration de bonis non granted. Ib., sec. 27.

SEC. 32. If an executrix or administratrix marry, her husband shall not thereby acquire any interest in the effects of the testator or intestate, nor shall the administration thereof devolve on him; but such marriage shall extinguish her powers, and her letters shall be revoked, and letters of administration, with the will annexed, or de bonis non, shall be granted to some person entitled thereto, or such person as the court may deem most suitable (e). Ib., sec. 28.

SEC. 33. If any executor or administrator shall become of unsound mind, or waste or mismanage the estate, or act so as to endanger his co-executor, the court of probate, upon complaint in writing, made by any person interested, supported by affidavit, and fifteen days' previous notice of the time and place of hearing such complaint having been given to the person complained of, shall hear such complaint, and if it be found just, the letters shall be revoked. Ib., sec. 29.

WHEN NEW BOND MAY BE REQUIRED.

SEC. 34. If any heir, legatee, creditor, or security, or other person interested in any estate, shall file in court an affidavit stating that the affiant has reason to believe that any security in the executor's or administrator's bond has become, or is likely to become, insolvent, or has died, or has removed from the state, or that the principal in such bond has become, or is likely to become, insolvent, or is wasting the estate, or that the penalty of such bond is insufficient, or that such bond has not been taken according to law, and shall have given the principal in such bond fifteen days' notice of the time and place of hearing such complaint, the court shall examine the same and make such order as shall seem proper (f). Ib., sec. 30.

SEC. 35. If an additional bond be given and approved, it shall discharge the former securities from any liability for the misconduct of the principal, after the filing such additional bond; and such former securities shall only be liable for such misconduct as happened prior to giving the new bond (g). Ib., sec. 31.

SEC. 36. If such person shall fail to give such additional security as may be required by the court within ten days after the making of the order requiring additional security, his letters shall from thenceforth be revoked, and his authority from that time cease. Ib., sec. 32.

SEC. 37. It shall be the duty of the probate judge, at the first term held after the first day of January in each year, to examine all executors', administrators' and guardians' bonds, and, if it shall appear to the court that any of such bonds are or have become insufficient from any cause whatever, the court shall make an order that the bonds so found to be insufficient be strengthened and perfected within ten days from the date of such order, and that, upon the failure of any executor, administrator or guardian to comply with the order of the court, his letters be revoked. Act March 24, 1883.

RESIGNATION, DEATH OR REMOVAL OF EXECUTOR OR ADMINISTRATOR.

SEC. 38. If any executor or administrator shall make application to resign his administration, it shall be the duty of the court to examine such application, and, if it should be of opinion that no material injury will result to the estate in consequence of such resignation, to make an order accepting the resignation of such executor or administrator, and from that time all his powers shall cease. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 33.

SEC. 39. The court shall in no case accept the resignation of any executor or administrator until he shall have exhibited his accounts as far as he may have proceeded in such administration. Ib., sec. 34.

SEC. 40. If there be more than one executor of any estate, and the letters of part of them be revoked or surrendered, or part die, those who remain shall discharge all the duties required by law touching such estate. Ib., sec. 35.

SEC. 41. If all the executors or administrators of any estate die or resign, or their letters be revoked, in cases not otherwise provided for, letters of administration de bonis non shall be granted to the person to whom administration would have been granted if the original letters had not been obtained, or the person obtaining them had renounced the administration, or to such other person as may be appointed by the court; and such administrator shall perform the like duties and incur the like liabilities as the former executor or administrator (h). Ib., sec. 36.

SEC. 42. If any executor or administrator die or resign, or his letters be revoked, he, or his legal representative, shall account for, pay and deliver to his successor, or the surviving or remaining executor, all money and personal property, and all the rights, credits, deeds, evidences of debt and papers of any kind belonging to the estate of the deceased, at such time and in such manner as the court shall order; and such court, in case of a refusal to comply with such order, shall have power to enforce the same by attachment. Ib., sec. 37.

SEC. 43. The succeeding administrator or the remaining executor may proceed at law against the delinquent and his securities, or either of them, or any other person having in his possession any part of the estate. Ib., sec. 38.

POWER OF EXECUTOR BEFORE PROBATE OF WILL.

SEC. 44. The power of the executor over the testator's estate before probate of the will and obtaining letters testamentary shall extend to the burial of the deceased in a manner suitable to his condition, the payment of the necessary

(h) The extent of the power and authority of an administrator de bonis non is simply to collect and administer such property and effects of the deceased unadministered as remain in specie and are capable of being identified as the specific property or estate represented by him. Finn v. Hempstead, 24—111. He can not sue the representative or sureties of a former administrator for property of his intestate lost, wasted, mismanaged or converted by him. Only creditors, legatees, distributees or others interested in the estate can maintain such action. State v. Rottaken, 34—144; Ludlow v. Flourney, Ib., 451; Williams v. Cubage, 36—307.

funeral expenses, and the taking care of the estate; but in such cases, if the will shall be rejected when presented for probate and such executor never qualify, he shall not be liable, as an executor, of his own wrong, unless he refuse to deliver up the estate to the person authorized to receive the same (i). Ib., sec. 41.

SEC. 45. The preceding section shall not be so construed as to exempt any person claiming to be executor as aforesaid from liability for any waste or mismanagement of such estate. Ib., sec. 42.

INVENTORY AND APPRAISEMENT.

SEC. 46. Every executor and administrator, immediately after receiving his letters, shall collect and take into possession the goods and chattels, moneys, books, papers and evidences of debt of the testator or intestate, except the property reserved by this act as the absolute property of the widow; and he shall make a true and perfect inventory thereof, describing the books and papers, the debts due or to become due to the deceased, the names of the debtors, the date of the contract, the amount of interest due thereon, the rate of interest and such further descriptions as will render it a perfect inventory of the estate. Ib., sec. 43.

SEC. 47. Each executor or administrator shall annex to such inventory an affidavit, stating that it is a full inventory and description of all the moneys, goods, chattels, books, papers and evidences of debt and of all debts due or becoming due, as far as he has been able to ascertain them, except the property reserved as the absolute property of the widow, and that he was not indebted or bound in any contract to the deceased at the time of his death, except as stated in the inventory. Ib., sec. 44.

SEC. 48. Such inventory and affidavit shall be filed in the office of the clerk within sixty days after the letters are granted. Ib., sec. 45.

SEC. 49. If, after making the first inventory, any other personal property shall come to the possession or knowledge of the executor or administrator, he shall file an additional inventory, similar to the inventory required by the preceding provisions of this act. Ib., sec. 46.

SEC. 50. If any executor or administrator, or other person interested in any estate, shall file in court an affidavit stating that the affiant has good cause to believe that any person in such affidavit named has concealed or embezzled any goods, chattels, moneys, books, papers or evidences of debt of the deceased, the court shall have power to cause such person to appear before it and examine him on oath for the discovery of the same. Ib., sec. 47.

SEC. 51. If the person so cited shall fail to appear, the court shall have power to compel his attendance by attachment, and, if such person shall, after his appearance, refuse to answer proper interrogatories, the court may commit him to jail until he answer or be otherwise discharged according to law. Ib., secs. 48 and 49.

SEC. 52. If any such person shall be convicted of unlawfully detaining any such goods, chattels, moneys, effects, books, papers or evidences of debt, the court may compel the delivery thereof to the executor or administrator entitled to receive the same by attachment (j). Ib., sec. 50.

(i) Under our administration system, an executor de son tort, as at common law, is unknown. Rust, ex. v. Witherington, 17—129. See also Barasien v. Odum, Ib., 122; Diamond v. Shell, 15—26; McDearmon v. Mayfield, 29—631.

SEC. 53. It shall be the duty of every executor and administrator, immediately after having the personal estate of the deceased collected, to cause the same to be appraised by three disinterested householders of the county, who, before entering on their duties, shall make an affidavit that they are not interested, nor of kin to any person interested, in the estate as heir or legatee, and that they will, according to the best of their abilities, view and appraise the personal property to them produced. Ib., sec. 51.

SEC. 54. Such appraisers shall view and appraise such property, and make a list thereof, specifying each article appraised and its value, and showing the total amount of the appraisement, which shall be signed by the appraisers, or any two of them. And each of them shall be entitled to receive for his services the sum of one dollar for each day he may be engaged in appraising any estate, to be allowed as expenses of administration. Ib., secs. 52 and 55.

SEC. 55. Such appraisement and the affidavit of the appraisers shall be filed in the office of the clerk within sixty days after letters are granted. Ib., sec. 53.

SEC. 56. Every executor or administrator shall cause similar appraisements to be made and filed of all personal estate which shall come to his possession after the first appraisement. Ib., sec. 54.

SEC. 57. The inventories and appraisements may be given in evidence, but shall not be conclusive for or against the executor or administrator. Other evidence may be admitted to vary the effect thereof. Ib., sec. 56.

SEC. 58. It shall be the duty of the clerk to record in a well-bound book or books all inventories, appraisements and sale bills filed by executors, administrators and guardians in his office, or in the probate court of his county.

SEC. 59. The clerk shall receive for recording the papers named in the preceding section the same fees as are allowed by law for similar services in the probate court. Act of March 21, 1881.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS, ETC.

SEC. 60. Within thirty days after letters testamentary or of administration are granted on any estate, the executor or administrator shall advertise at the court-house door for six weeks, and, if ordered by the court, shall publish in some newspaper (k) printed in this state for six weeks, a notice that letters testamentary or of administration have been granted to him, stating the date thereof, and requiring all persons having claims against the estate to exhibit the same to the executor or administrator, properly authenticated, within one year after the date of such letters, or they may be precluded from any benefit in the estate, and that if such claims be not exhibited within two years from the date of such letters they shall be forever barred and precluded from any benefit from such estate (l). Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 57.

(j) For the construction given to sections 50, 51, 52, see Moss v. Sandefur, 15—381.

(k) See SECS. 4356—4360.

(l) It is the duty of the executor or administrator, at his official peril, to give the notice to creditors required by the statute, but this is not a condition precedent to the exhibition of claims within the required period. Bennett et al. v. Dawson et al., 15—412.

SEC. 61. When any intestate has left no known heirs the administrator shall, in addition to the notice required in the preceding section, publish a notice for six weeks, containing the name of the intestate, a description of his person, the time and place of his death, the place of his nativity, if known, and the appraised value of his estate. Ib., sec. 58.

WIDOW'S ALLOWANCE.

SEC. 62. In addition to dower (*), a widow shall be allowed to keep as her absolute property all the wearing apparel of the family, her wheels, looms and other implements of industry; all yarn, cloth and clothing made up in the family for their own use; such grain, meat, vegetables, groceries and other provisions on hand as may be necessary for the subsistence of the widow and her family for twelve months, and as many beds, with bedding, and such other household and kitchen furniture as shall be necessary for herself and the family of the deceased residing with her and under her control; nor shall any property acquired by the widow be sold to pay any debts of her husband contracted before marriage, nor shall such property be embraced in the schedule of the effects of his estate, should the same be deemed insolvent (m). Ib., sec. 62.

SEC. 63. In addition to the property specified in the preceding section, the widow, when the estate is not insolvent, may take such personal property as she may wish, not to exceed the appraised value of one hundred and fifty dollars, and the executor or administrator shall deliver to the widow such articles as she may select, not exceeding the value aforesaid, and shall take her receipt therefor, which shall be a good voucher in the settlement of his accounts. Ib., sec. 63.

SEC. 64. The widow shall apply for such property before it is distributed or sold, and not after. Ib., sec. 64.

SEC. 65. No widow shall be required to give bond and security to refund any portion of the property of the deceased, selected by her before she receives the same. Ib., sec. 129.

SEC. 66. Until the widow's dower be apportioned, the court shall order such sum to be paid to her out of the rent of the real estate as shall be in proportion to her interest therein. Ib., sec. 139.

SEC. 67. If, upon the return of the inventory and appraisement of any estate, it shall appear, to the satisfaction of the court, that the whole amount of the estate is not more than that to which the widow is by law entitled, without being subject to the payment of the debts, and that there are no debts due the estate, or that they are so small that they would not defray the expenses of administration, the court, in its discretion, may make an order that such estate be delivered to the widow, and that all further proceedings under said administration be dispensed with, unless further estate be discovered, or the court order the administration to be proceeded with (†). Ib., sec. 140.

(*) The widow is entitled, as part of her dower, absolutely and in her own right, to one-third part of the personal estate, including cash on hand and choses in action. SEC. 2591.

LANDS—ASSETS.

SEC. 68. Lands shall be assets in the hands of the executor or administrator, and shall be deemed in their possession and subject to their control for the payment of debts (n). Act Dec. 21, 1846, sec. 2.

SEC. 69. All improvements made on the public lands of the United States by a testator or intestate shall be assets in the hands of the executor or administrator, unless the same may have been disposed of by will (o). Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 72.

LANDS MAY BE RENTED—WHEN AND HOW.

SEC. 70. The judge may in vacation authorize and empower administrators and executors to rent out the lands and tenements in their possession and under their control, as such administrators and executors. Act Feb. 21, 1859, sec. 1.

SEC. 71. Before the judge shall authorize the renting of real estate it shall be the duty of such administrator or executor to present his petition in writing, verified by affidavit, showing the condition of such real estate and the reason why such application was not made in term time, and if, upon reading such petition, the said judge shall be satisfied that it will be to the interest of the estate to rent out the real estate, he shall indorse an order upon such petition authorizing the renting out of the real estate for a time not exceeding one year, and such petition so indorsed shall be filed by the said judge in the office of the clerk of the proper county. Ib., sec. 2.

GROWING CROP.

SEC. 72. If any person die, leaving a crop ungathered or in an unfinished state, so that the estate would suffer loss from the want of care and additional labor, the executor or administrator may, until the meeting of the court, procure such labor to be performed as may be indispensable to the saving of such crop, and the court may in such cases authorize such further labor to be performed as the interest of the estate may require, and all sums of money paid for any such labor, if approved by the court, shall be allowed as expenses of administration. Rev. Stat., chap 4, sec. 71.

SALE OF PERSONAL ESTATE., ETC.

SEC. 73. The personal estate of deceased persons shall not be sold unless the same be ordered by last will and testament or by direction of the court; and when so ordered or directed the executor or administrator shall sell the same at public sale, giving such credit as he may deem most advantageous to the estate, not exceeding twelve months, and taking bonds or notes with good and sufficient security from the purchaser (p). Ib., sec. 65, and Act Dec. 21, 1846, sec. 1.

(p) A debt contracted by an intestate can not be set off against one contracted with his administrator in favor of the estate, because it interferes with the course of administration. Bizzell et al. v. Stone et al., 12—378. An executor or administrator to whom notes are executed for personal property and rent of land of his

SEC. 74. Whenever it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court, by the affidavit of the administrator, that there is a debt due said estate which can not be realized in money, the court may authorize said administrator to compromise said debt upon such terms as it may direct, and to receive property for the same. Act Dec. 11, 1848, sec. 1.

SEC. 75. All property acquired by any administrator by virtue of the foregoing section shall be sold in such manner as the court may direct. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 76. When it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court, by the affidavit of the executor or administrator, that there is a debt due said estate which can not be realized in money or property under existing laws, the court may make an order authorizing the sale of the same at public auction upon such terms as it may direct. Act Jan. 19, 1855, sec. 1.

SEC. 77. No administrator or executor shall offer at public vendue any choses in action as hereinbefore provided until he shall have used due diligence to collect the same, and the court shall be fully satisfied that said demands can not be collected, and willing to allow said executor or administrator credit therefor in his annual settlement as a desperate claim (*). Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 78. When any sale shall take place, as prescribed in section seventy-six, it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to indorse thereon that the same was sold by order of the court, which indorsement, so made as aforesaid, shall vest the legal title therein in the holder thereof, and shall be prima facie evidence that said sale was made in due form of law. Ib., sec. 3.

SEC. 79. If it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the judge by the petition of any administrator of any intestate estate, supported by his affidavit, that all or any portion of the personal property of the estate of his intestate is liable to waste, be lost or greatly depreciate, it shall and may be lawful for the judge to make an order in vacation authorizing said administrator to sell the same in the manner prescribed by law. Act Nov. 29, 1852, sec. 1.

SEC. 80. Said order shall be in writing, certified to by said judge, and be by him filed with the clerk, whose duty it shall be, without delay, to spread the same upon the record. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 81. Said administrator shall make a report of said sale to the next term of the court. Ib., sec. 3.

SEC. 82. Every executor or administrator shall give notice of the time and place of the sale of personal property by advertisements put up in five of the most public places in the county at least twenty days before the day of sale. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 66.

SEC. 83. If any testator direct his personal estate not to be sold, the same shall be reserved from sale, unless such sale be necessary for the payment of debts. Ib., sec. 67.

SEC. 84. At every public sale the executor or administrator shall employ a competent auctioneer and a clerk, not interested in the estate, nor of kin to any heir or legatee of the estate; and such clerk shall keep a true account of the sales made, make a list of sales, specifying each article sold, the price for testator or intestate holds them in his fiduciary capacity as a part of the general assets of the estate, and has no power by assignment as collateral security or otherwise to appropriate them to the payment of one creditor to the exclusion of others. Payne, Huntington & Co. v. Flournoy, 29—500.

which it was sold and the name of the purchaser, and shall annex to such list an affidavit stating that the same is a true account of the sales made by such executor or administrator at the time specified. Ib., sec. 68.

SEC. 85. Such list of sales, with the affidavit of the clerk annexed thereto, shall be filed in the office of the clerk within thirty days after such sale. Ib., sec. 69.

SEC. 86. It shall be the duty of the court, at each term thereof, to examine all inventories and sale-bills filed since the last term of such court, to see if they have been made and filed according to law, and to cause citations to be issued to compel all delinquents to comply with the law. Ib., sec. 76.

SEC. 87. Every executor or administrator, on settling his accounts, shall be charged with and be accountable for the net proceeds of the sale of all personal property sold by him under the provisions of this act, notwithstanding the same may amount to more or less than the appraised value thereof. Ib., sec. 79.

SALE OF WILD STOCK.

SEC. 88. If any executor or administrator shall represent to the court, on oath, that there is wild stock belonging to the estate of his testator or intestate which he is unable to collect or command, the court may order such executor or administrator to proceed and sell such stock at public auction, without taking an inventory or making an appraisal thereof, on such credit as the court may deem reasonable, not exceeding nine months, taking bonds or notes with good and sufficient security from the purchaser. Ib., sec. 164.

SEC. 89. The court shall require the executor or administrator to give fifteen days' notice of the time and place of such sale by advertisements set up in at least six of the most public places in the county in which such stock shall be described as near as possible, and the number and in what neighborhood they range. Ib., sec. 165.

SEC. 90. The executor or administrator making such sale shall, at the next term of the court thereafter, make return of such sales, and the court shall charge him with the amount thereof, which shall be accounted for as other assets. Ib., sec. 166.

MONEY, INTEREST, ETC.

SEC. 91. If, on the return of any inventory, or at any other time, it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that there is a surplus of money in the hands of any executor or administrator that will not shortly be required for the expenses of administration or the payment of debts, such court shall have discretionary power to order the executor or administrator to lend out such money on such time and on such security as may be approved by the court. Ib., sec. 75.

SEC. 92. All interest received by executors and administrators shall be assets in their hands; and, if they lend the money of the deceased, or use it for their private purposes, they shall be chargeable with interest thereon for the use of the estate. Ib., sec. 73.

SEC. 93. The court shall exercise equitable control in making executors and administrators accountable for interest accruing to the estate on account of money loaned by them belonging to the estate, or otherwise, and for that purpose may take testimony or examine the executor or administrator on oath (q). Ib., sec. 74.

SEC. 94. All executors and administrators may give receipts and discharges for money received by them on account of the deceased; but, if there be more than one executor, a majority shall join in such receipt or discharge, or it shall be void. Ib., sec. 78.

SEC. 95. If any person shall appoint his debtor executor of his last will and testament, such appointment shall not extinguish the debt, but it shall be assets in his hands. Ib., sec. 61.

DEMANDS AGAINST ESTATES.

SEC. 96. Executors and administrators may assign the notes and bonds belonging to the estate to creditors, legatees and distributees, in discharge of such amount of their claims as will be equal to the amount of notes or bonds assigned (r). Ib., sec. 77.

SEC. 97. An executor or administrator may establish any demand he may have against his testator or intestate, by presenting and proving the same to the satisfaction of the court (*); and the court shall not allow any claim in favor of an executor or administrator against his testator or intestate, unless on legal and competent testimony; and the same affidavit shall be required of an executor or administrator as is required of other claimants. Ib., sec. 102.

SEC. 98. All demands against the estate of any deceased person shall be divided into the following classes:

First. Funeral expenses.

Second. Expenses of the last sickness (s), wages of servants and demands for medicines and medical attendance during the last sickness.

Third. Judgments rendered against the deceased in his life-time, and which are liens on the lands of the deceased, if he died possessed of any; otherwise to be regarded as debts due by contract (t).

Fourth. All demands, without regard to quality, which shall be exhibited to the executor or administrator, properly authenticated, within one year after the first granting of letters on the estate.

Fifth. All such demands as may be exhibited as aforesaid after the end of one year and within two years after the first letters granted on the estate; and all demands not exhibited to the executor or administrator, as required by this

(q) The statute for computing interest in ordinary cases of delayed debts has no application to cases in which fiduciaries upon equitable principles become chargeable with compound interest; and probate courts have the same discretion to compound interest, as to fiduciaries under their supervision, as appertains to a chancellor. Price v. Peterson, 38—494.

(r) An executor or administrator has no power to sell, assign or dispose of a note or debt due the testator or intestate in payment of one creditor before it is, upon settlement, ascertained how much is due him, and to the exclusion of others; and such sale or transfer vests no title. Whittaker v. Wright, 35—511.

(s) An administrator is a trustee, and can not speculate on claims against the estate. He will be allowed only what he pays for them, and interest. Wolf v. Banks, 41—104; Trimble v. James, 40—393.

(t) The estate of a deceased person in the hands of his administrator is not liable to pay for medical services rendered to the family of deceased after his death. Bomford et al. v. Grimes as adm., 17—367.

(u) But a claim founded on such judgment loses its priority if not presented to the administrator within one year after the grant of his letters, and should then be classed in the fifth class. Krith v. Parks, 31—664.

Where a creditor has acquired a specific lien on particular property of his debtor during his life-time, it may be enforced, after his death, without resorting to the general assets of his estate through the probate court. Barber v. Peay, Ib., 392; Richardson v. Hickman, 32—406; McClure v. Owens, Ib., 443.

act, before the end of two years from the granting of letters shall be forever barred (u). Ib., sec. 80.

SEC. 99. All actions pending against any person at the time of his death, which, by law, survive against the executor or administrator, shall be considered demands legally exhibited against such estate from the time such action shall be revived, and shall be classed accordingly (v). Ib., sec. 81.

SEC. 100. All actions commenced against any executor or administrator after the death of the testator or intestate shall be considered demands legally exhibited against such estate, from the time of serving the original process on the executor or administrator, and shall be classed accordingly. Ib., sec. 82.

SEC. 101. Any person may exhibit his claim against any estate as follows: If the demand be founded on a judgment, note or written contract, by delivering to the executor or administrator a copy of such instrument, with the assignment and credits thereon, if any, exhibiting the original; and if the demand be founded on an account, by delivering a copy thereof, setting forth each item distinctly and the credits thereon, if any (w).

SEC. 102. And the claimant shall also append to his demand an affidavit of its justice, which may be made by himself, or an agent, attorney or other person. If made by the claimant, it shall state that nothing has been paid or delivered toward the satisfaction of the demand, except what is credited thereon, and that the sum demanded, naming it, is justly due. If made by any other person, it shall state that the affiant is acquainted with the facts sworn to, or that he has made diligent inquiry and examination, and that he verily believes nothing has been paid or delivered toward the satisfaction of the demand, except the amount credited thereon, and that the sum demanded is justly due (x). Act Jan. 27, 1843, sec. 1; Act March 5, 1867, sec. 2; Act March 13, 1867, sec. 1.

SEC. 103. Before any executor or administrator shall pay or allow any such debt, the same shall be sworn to as aforesaid (y). Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 87.

(u) This applies to and runs against non-residents as well as resident claimants. Erwin v. Turner, 6—14. The two years statute of non-claim, and not the general statute of limitation, gives the rule of limitation to claims against the estates of deceased persons not barred at the time of the death of the debtor. Biscoe v. Madlin, 17—533, and cases cited. All demands subsisting at the time of the death of the testator or intestate, whether matured or not, capable of being asserted in a court of justice, whether of law or equity, must be exhibited within two years; also all coming into existence at any time after the death, and before the expiration of the two years. Bennett v. Dawson, 18—334.

Upon the death of a trustee, his indebtedness to the trust becomes a demand against his estate, to be authenticated, allowed, classed and paid out of the assets of his estate as other demands. Patterson v. McCann, 39—577; Hill v. State, 23—604. The statute of non-claim is a bar to the claims of the state, if not presented within the time prescribed, as in the case of individuals. Hill v. State, 23—604. The exhibition of a claim, properly authenticated, to an administrator, arrests the statute of non-claim; and the law does not limit the time of presentment to the court for classification. Randolph v. Ward, 29—238.

The claim of a ward against the estate of a deceased guardian must be presented to his administrator within two years after the grant of administration, whether there has been a final settlement of the guardianship or not. Connelly v. Weatherly, 33—658.

(v) Although no affidavit is required upon the revival of actions under this section, yet, if they are not revived against the executor or administrator within two years from the grant of letters, the claim will be barred. Goodrich v. Fritz, 9—440; State Bank v. Tucker, 15—39. After judgment of revival no presentation of the claim to the administrator is necessary. Eddins v. Graddy, 28—500.

(w) Upon the presentation of a claim for allowance, the administrator is entitled to, and may require the claimant to furnish him, a copy of the account or evidence of debt upon which the claim is founded. But the administrator may waive the copy. As to what would be a waiver see Borden v. Fowler, 14—471; Grimes v. Bush, 16—647; Grimes v. Booth, 19—224; Bellows v. Cheek, 20—424; Leake & Harvey v. Sutherland, 25—219; Randolph v. Ward, 29—238.

SEC. 104. In case of a debt due a corporation, the cashier or treasurer shall make the affidavit required in the preceding section. Ib., sec. 88.

SEC. 105. When an affidavit shall be required to be made by an officer of a corporation, executor, administrator or assignee, it shall be sufficient to state in such affidavit "that he has made diligent inquiry and examination, and that he does verily believe that nothing has been paid, except the amount credited, and that the sum demanded is justly due" (z). Ib., sec. 89.

SEC. 106. If the debt be assigned after the debtor's death, affidavit shall be made by the person who held the debt at the death of the debtor, as well as the assignee. Ib., sec. 90 (*).

SEC. 107. If the affidavit required for authenticating claims against deceased persons be not produced in an action against an executor or administrator for a debt against the deceased, the court shall, on motion, enter a judgment of nonsuit against the plaintiff; and the affidavit must appear to have been made prior to the commencement of the action (aa). Ib., sec. 91.

SEC. 108. If suit be brought for any debt due from a deceased person, without exhibiting to the executor or administrator an affidavit, made pursuant to law, and if such suit be not controverted, the court shall enter judgment against the plaintiff for costs (bb). Ib., sec. 92.

SEC. 109. If the executor or administrator shall be satisfied that the claim thus exhibited against the estate of his testator or intestate is just, he shall indorse thereon his approval and allowance of the same, and the time it was exhibited. Ib., sec. 84.

SEC. 110. Every executor and administrator shall keep a list of all demands legally exhibited against the estate of his testator or intestate, and class the same, and make return of such list to the court every year at the term at which he is required to make settlement (cc). Ib., sec. 85.

SEC. 111. It shall be the duty of every person having claims against the

(z) An affidavit by an officer of a corporation in a form prescribed by statute, omitting the words "that the sum demanded is justly due," is sufficient. State, use, etc., v. Collins, adm., 16—23.

(*) But see SEC. 102; Stone v. Kaufman, 25—186.

(aa) In the collection of claims against the estates of deceased persons, claimants may proceed by action according to the forms of the common law, or before the probate court in the summary manner prescribed by our statutes on administration. In the common law form of action, as well as in the summary proceeding before the probate court, if the plaintiff fail to produce an affidavit of the justice and non-payment of the claim, made before the commencement of the suit, on motion of defendant he may be nonsuited under this section; and this may be done at any time before final judgment, though defendant has no pleas in. SEC. 108 merely provides for the exhibition of such affidavit to the executor or administrator before suit is brought, and, in case of failure, imposes the penalty of costs upon the plaintiff. There is no conflict between the two sections, etc. Ryan et al., use, etc., v. Lemon, as adm., 7—78. See also Beirne & Burnside v. Imboden et al., 14—237; Alter v. Kinsworthy, 30—756.

This section does not apply to actions pending and undetermined at the death of the party. Pope's exr. v. Ashley's exr., 13—262.

(bb) If the suit be controverted, it is not indispensable that the affidavit be exhibited before suit brought. Maddin, adm., v. State Bank, 13—276. A judgment obtained in the circuit court against an administrator as such can not be executed until the estate is settled in the probate court. Adameon et al. v. Cummins et al., 10—541.

(cc) Where suit is brought against an administrator, and a judgment obtained for a debt due by the intestate, it is the duty of the administrator to return such claim to the probate court for classification, and no other presentation or notice of his claim is required of the creditor, nor approval by the administrator. Clark, admx., et al. v. Shelton, 16—474.

Real estate belonging to the estate of a deceased person can not be taken in execution and sold on judgments, either in federal or state courts; but judgment creditors, like all others, are remitted to the court exercising probate jurisdiction, to receive payment or their pro rata out of the assets of the estate, in due course of administration. Horner v. Hanks, 22—572; Yonley v. Lavender, 27—252.

But see Barber v. Peay, 31—392, and note (t) ante. The vendor's equitable lien is not affected by the probate and allowance of the claim against the estate of the vendee. Turner v. Horner, 29—440.

estate of any deceased person, after having exhibited his claim to the executor or administrator, as required, and after the same has been approved and allowed by him, to file the same, together with a copy of the notice served on the executor or administrator, in the office of the clerk; and said clerk shall, at the next term of the court after the filing of any such claim, present the same to the court for classification; and the clerk shall note the same on his record, stating the name of the claimant, and against whose estate the same is exhibited, the amount thereof, its class, and the date of filing the same. Ib., sec. 86.

SEC. 112. If any executor or administrator shall refuse to allow any claim or demand against the deceased, after the same may have been exhibited to him in accordance with law, such claimant may present his claim to the court for allowance, giving the executor or administrator ten days' notice of such application to the court (dd). Ib., sec. 95.

SEC. 113. The court shall have power to hear and determine all demands against any estate made, agreeably to the provisions of this act, and cause a concise entry of the order of allowance to be made on the record, which shall have the same force and effect as a judgment (ee). Ib., sec. 96.

SEC. 114. No demand against any estate shall be presented to the court for allowance until after the executor shall have refused to allow and class the same; and in all such cases, if the claimant be allowed his claim by the court, he shall be entitled to his costs. Ib., sec. 99.

SEC. 115. The court shall hear and determine all demands presented for allowance under this act, in a summary manner, without the forms of pleading, and in taking testimony shall be governed by the rules of law in such cases made and provided (ff). Ib., sec. 100.

SEC. 116. If neither party require a jury, the court shall decide the validity of the claim, and allow or disallow it; but, if either party require a jury, the court shall direct a jury to be forthwith summoned. Ib., sec. 101.

SEC. 117. The clerk shall keep an abstract of all demands established in the court, or allowed and approved by the executor or administrator, against any estate, which shall show the amount, class and date of filing each claim, and in whose favor. Ib., sec. 103.

(dd) The clause of this section requiring notice to be given the executor or administrator of such application is imperative. The probate court can take no jurisdiction of his person until the notice is given or waived. Pennington v. Gibbon, 6—147. See also State Bank v. Walker, 14—234; Hudson v. Breeding, 7—446.

A waiver of notice indorsed on a claim is tantamount to a rejection and reference of it to the probate court. Randolph v. Ward, 29—238.

An order of the probate court allowing a claim against an estate, presented for allowance at a term subsequent to the term at which the administrator was notified that it would be presented, is without jurisdiction of the person of the administrator and void. Baskins v. Wilds, 39—347. But if the administrator appears and does any substantive act in the cause, before judgment, it will be a waiver of notice. Ib., 352; Leake & Harcey v. Sutherland, 25—219.

(ee) The allowance and classification of a claim are conclusive after the expiration of the term, and the court has then no power to set it aside. Coelet et al. v. Biscoe, 12—95; McMorris, adm., v. Overholt, 14—244; Wright v. Campbell & Strong, 27—637.

Illegality in the allowance of a claim can not be set up in a collateral proceeding. Mays v. Rogers, 37—155. Such allowances are not barred by the statute of limitations, and there is no necessity for reviving them. Ib.; Rose v. Thompson, 36—254; Fort v. Blagg, 38—471.

Money advanced by a creditor to an administrator to improve the real estate of his intestate, and to protect it against an attachment suit, should be allowed, if at all, as expenses of administration. Nathan v. Lehman, Abraham & Co., 39—256.

Claims for necessary or useful personal services rendered an estate at the instance of an administrator, and not within his personal duties, may be presented to the probate court, not for allowance and classification, but for an order on the administrator to pay them as expenses of administration. Yarborough v. Ward, 34—204.

SEC. 118. All demands against any estate shall be paid by the executor or administrator, in the order in which they are classed; and no demand of one class shall be paid until the claims of all previous classes are satisfied; and, if there be not sufficient to pay the whole of any one class, such demands shall be paid in proportion to their amounts, which apportionment shall be made by the court (gg). Ib., sec. 104.

SEC. 119. In any case where a person, dying intestate, leaves a minor child, it shall be the duty of the court, upon the application of the guardian of such minor, should the estate be evidently solvent, to make such allowance, from time to time, for the maintenance and education of such minor as the court may deem necessary and proper; and the court shall order and direct the administrator or executor to pay the same to the guardian; the amount of which allowance so paid to the guardian shall, upon a final settlement of the administration and distribution of the estate, be charged against such minor, and be deducted from his share or distributive portion of the estate. Act Jan. 17, 1855, sec. 2.

SEC. 120. In all cases where minors when they arrive at their majority will have any estate due them, but have no guardian, the court having jurisdiction of the matter may, at its discretion, make an order directing the administrator or other person having control of the estate due, or that will be due, to such minor, to pay over, from time to time, such amount as the court may think proper for the support and education of said minor (hh). Act Feb. 1, 1859, sec. 1.

SETTLEMENT.

SEC. 121. Every executor or administrator shall, at the first term of the court after one year from the date of his letters, and at the corresponding term of said court every year thereafter until the administration be completed, present to such court a fair written statement or account current, in which he shall charge himself with the whole amount of the estate according to the sales-bill and appraisement, including all debts due the estate and money on hand at the death of the deceased, and credit himself with all sums of money lawfully expended in settling such estate, either by the payment of debts or otherwise, exhibiting with such account the receipts and vouchers for all moneys paid out (ii). Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 105.

SEC. 122. Such account shall be carefully examined by the court, and upon such examination the court shall allow such executor or administrator for all debts with which he stands charged which such court shall be satisfied could not be collected (jj), and shall allow the executor or administrator any sum not exceeding ten per centum on all sums less than one thousand dollars, and on all sums over one thousand dollars and less than five thousand five per centum, and on all sums over five thousand three per centum for his risk and trouble in attending to the settlement of such estate (kk). Ib., sec. 106.

(ii) The failure of an executor or administrator to present his account annually for settlement, as prescribed by this section, is a breach of the condition of his bond, for which any person interested in the estate may maintain an action. Scarborough v. State, 24—20. An executor is not entitled to a credit in the annual settlement of his accounts for payments, without order of court, to legatees or distributees; such payments are at the peril of the executor, and, though valid as between him and the legatee or distributee, not so as to others having paramount rights in the estate. McParton, adm., v. Dickson et al., 15—41.

If an executor or administrator claim credit in his settlement with the probate court for an illegal expenditure, the court should reject it, although it may have previously approved the expenditure and authorized him to take credit for it. Burk v. Coolidge, 35—180.

An administrator is not in his settlement accountable for waste, whatever his liability therefor may be otherwise. Reynolds v. C. & B. Co., 33—520.

SEC. 123. No executor or administrator shall be allowed to take credit for the percentage or fees on the estate of his testator or intestate at any annual settlement required by law to be made, except on such part of such estate as may be fully administered at the time of filing such settlement. Act. Jan. 6, 1851, sec. 1.

SEC. 124. In no case shall any executor or administrator be allowed percentage on any bonds, bills, notes or open accounts due his testator or intestate which shall be returned by him as unavailable. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 125. No estate of any deceased person, or any part thereof, shall be more than once charged with percentage or fees for administering and settling the same. Ib., sec. 3.

SEC. 126. After allowing the executor or administrator all just credits on his accounts, the courts shall strike the balance and determine what sums remain on hand; and such account, when approved and confirmed by the court, shall be entered at full length by the clerk of such court in a well-bound book, to be kept by him for that purpose. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 107.

SEC. 127. Every account presented to the court by any executor or administrator for settlement or confirmation shall, without being acted on, be continued until the next term of such court, subject to the inspection and examination of all persons interested in the settlement of such estate. Ib., sec. 108.

SEC. 128. Any person interested as heir, legatee or creditor may file exceptions to such account, or any item thereof, on or before the second day of the term of said court to which such account may be continued; and, if exceptions are not filed within the time specified, such account shall be examined and confirmed as hereinbefore provided, and such account when confirmed shall never thereafter be subject to investigation, unless in a court of chancery, upon the allegation of fraud in the settlement of such account, supported by the affidavit of the party making such allegation (ll.) Ib., sec. 109.

(jj) The destruction or larceny of notes does not entitle the administrator to a credit for them. They may still be sued upon as lost instruments and collected. Williams v. Cubage, 36—307.

(kk) This section fixes the compensation of an administrator for his entire trouble and risk in attending to the settlement of an estate, and not merely for collecting its debts. The probate judge may allow as such compensation the maximum per cent. upon the value of the estate fixed by the statute, or it may, in the exercise of a sound discretion, allow less than the maximum, according to the circumstances of the case. Bell, ex parte, 14—76.

The administrator is entitled to no commission on the proceeds of a sale of property belonging to his intestate made under a decree in chancery foreclosing a mortgage. Reynolds v. C. & B. Co., 30—520. Upon appeal from a probate court confirmation of an administrator's account of settlement, he may be allowed commissions in the circuit court, though he credited himself with none and none were allowed by the probate court. Williams v. Cubage, 36—307.

See also Tiner v. Christian, 27—306.

(ll) The final settlement of executors with the probate court is a record which can not be impeached in a collateral proceeding, but only by a direct proceeding in chancery for fraud. Dooley et al. v. Dooley et al., 14—122; Mock v. Plaints, 34—63; Shoggy v. Perkins, Ib., 117.

As to what will constitute a fraudulent settlement, see Ringgold v. Stone, 20—526; Stone v. Stillwell, 23—444; Osborne v. Graham, 30—66; Reinhardt v. Gartrell, 33—727; Jones v. Graham, 36—383.

SEC. 129. Immediately after the adjournment of each term of the court, it shall be the duty of the clerk to give notice by advertisement in some newspaper printed in the county, if there be any printed in such county, and, if none be printed there, by advertisements set up on the court-house door of said county and in the office of such clerk, of the several executors or administrators who may have, at such term of the court, filed their accounts for settlement and confirmation, calling on all persons interested in the settlement of any such estates to come forward and file exceptions to such accounts, if any they have, on or before the second day of the next term of the court for said county, or they will be forever barred from excepting to such accounts or any item thereof; and the expenses of such advertisement shall be allowed by the court as expenses of administration (mm). Ib., sec. 110.

SEC. 130. The names of all such administrators or executors shall be inclosed in one and the same notice, and the expenses of such advertisement shall be allowed by the court as other expenses of administration. Act Jan. 19, 1855.

SEC. 131. When exceptions shall have been filed to the account current of any executor or administrator, or any item thereof, the court shall hear and determine the same (*) at the term at which such exceptions may be filed, unless for good cause shown, when a continuance may be granted. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 111.

SEC. 132. The court may, if it be deemed expedient or necessary, refer any such account, with the exceptions against the same, to a master or commissioner to be examined and restated, and such master or commissioner shall be governed according to the rules laid down for the government of a master in chancery in auditing accounts (nn). Ib., sec. 112.

SEC. 133. In matters of exception to the account of any executor or administrator, the court or master or commissioner may examine testimony for and against such exception, and shall restate such account if it shall be found incorrect. Ib., sec. 113.

SEC. 134. Every master or commissioner to whom the account of any executor or administrator may be referred shall examine, and make report of such examination on the first day of the term of the court after the reference; and any person interested may except to such report, within the same time that is allowed for filing exceptions to the report of a master in chancery; and such exceptions shall be determined by the court at the same term at which they are made. Ib., sec. 114.

The discharge of an administrator by the probate court is only for so much of the funds belonging to the estate as is found by his settlement to be in his hands. He will still be liable for funds received and not accounted for. West v. Waddill, 33—575.

Mere illegal allowances to an administrator, not obtained by misrepresentation or deception upon the court, are no grounds for impeaching or setting aside a settlement in equity. The remedy is by appeal. Mock v. Pleasants, 31—33.

Persons under disabilities are not bound by their failure to except to administrators' settlements, and will be heard after their disabilities are removed to make out a case of fraud to their prejudice. Riley v. Norman, 39—158.

An order confirming an administrator's settlement, if erroneous, can be corrected only by appeal; but chancery may interfere to correct fraud, or relieve against accident, or upon some other ground of acknowledged equity jurisdiction, to prevent irremediable mischief. Trimble and wife v. James, adm., 40—393.

(mm) All persons interested in the settlement of an administrator are charged with notice of its filing. Jones v. Graham, 36—383.

(nn) For rules governing masters in chancery see SECS. 5259-5276.

SEC. 135. If the court or the master or commissioner shall find the account of any executor or administrator incorrect, such account shall be correctly stated, and, when so corrected, shall be confirmed by the court, and entered of record as required by the preceding provisions of this act. Ib., sec. 115.

SEC. 136. Each clerk shall keep a docket, and enter therein a list of all executors and administrators who have not made final settlements of their accounts, the date of their letters and the time at which they are required to make settlement, and such clerk shall put up, in some conspicuous place in his office, twenty days before each term of the court, a list of all executors and administrators whose settlements are required to be made at that term of the court. Ib., sec. 116.

SEC. 137. If any executor or administrator shall fail to present his account for settlement at the time prescribed by this act, it shall be the duty of the clerk to issue a citation to any county in the state where any such delinquent executor or administrator may reside, requiring him to present his accounts for settlement at the next term of the court, and show cause why an attachment should not be issued against him for not having presented his accounts according to law. Ib., sec. 117.

SEC. 138. If such citation be returned not served, the clerk shall, under direction of the court, issue an alias citation, which may be served on the party, or may be published in a newspaper thirty days before the return day thereof (*); and if, after such service or publication, no cause be shown why such settlement was not made as required, such executor or administrator may be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and such executor or administrator, and his securities, shall be liable, on his official bond, for all fines and forfeitures imposed on him, and for all damages sustained by reason of such failure to settle his accounts according to law. Ib., sec. 118.

SEC. 139. The court shall have power to issue attachments and all other process necessary to compel the settlement of executors' or administrators' accounts, and enforce the judgments and decrees of such court. Ib., sec. 119.

SEC. 140. In all cases where citation or attachment may be issued against any executor or administrator, for failing to settle his accounts, such delinquent shall pay all costs incurred thereby. Ib., sec. 120.

SEC. 141. If any executor or administrator shall fail to make settlement as required by law, and shall not show good cause for such failure, the court, after a service of a citation on the delinquent, may revoke his letters. Ib., sec. 40.

SEC. 142. At every settlement the court shall ascertain the amount of money which may have come to the hands of the executor or administrator from all sources, and the amount of claims allowed by the court, or passed by the executor or administrator, against the estate; and if there should not be sufficient to pay the whole of the debts and expenses of administration, the money remaining, after the expenses of administration are paid, shall be apportioned among the creditors according to the provisions of this act (oo). Ib., sec. 121.

SEC. 143. The court shall order the executor or administrator to pay the claims exhibited against the estate, according to such apportionment, reserving the amount apportioned for claims which remain undecided in his hands until such claims are decided. Ib., sec. 122.

(oo) See Quinlan v. Fitzpatrick & Teague, 25-471.

SEC. 144. If, upon such settlement, there shall be assets enough to satisfy all demands of any one class, legally exhibited against the estate, and legally entitled to be paid, the court shall order the executor or administrator to pay all the claims of such class.

SEC. 145. If any executor or administrator shall fail to pay any claim ordered to be paid as aforesaid when demanded, the clerk shall, on application, and being satisfied, by the affidavit of the applicant, that such demand has been made, issue execution for the amount ordered to be paid to such claimant and costs against the goods chattels, lands and tenements of such executor or administrator (pp). Ib., secs. 123, 134.

SEC. 146. If such execution be returned not satisfied, the claimant may sue out of the court a scire facias against the securities of such executor or administrator, referring to the official bond and the order for payment, the execution and the return thereon, requiring such securities to show cause why judgment should not be rendered against them for the amount of such claim, ordered to be paid as aforesaid. Ib., sec. 125.

SEC. 147. Such scire facias may be directed to any county of this state; and, upon the return thereof, duly served, if good cause to the contrary be not shown, the court shall render judgment against such security for the amount of the claim ordered to be paid, as aforesaid, and remaining unpaid, together with costs, and issue execution thereon. Ib., sec. 126.

LEGACIES AND DISTRIBUTION.

SEC. 148. No executor or administrator shall be compelled to pay legacies or distributive shares, unless the same are of a perishable nature or subject to injury, until two years after the date of his letters, unless ordered by the court so to do; and not then until bond, with good and sufficient security, be given by the legatee, or distributee, to refund his proportion of any debt which may afterward be established against the estate, and the costs attending the record thereof (qq). Ib., secs. 127, 128.

SEC. 149. If, at any settlement, it shall appear to the court that there are sufficient assets to pay all demands against the estate, an order shall be made requiring the payment of legacies, or distributive shares, and requiring security, as aforesaid. Ib., sec. 130.

SEC. 150. The payment of legacies or distributive shares may be compelled by attachment or execution against the executor or administrator. Ib., sec. 131.

SEC. 151. Each person entitled to a distributive share of any estate, and not applying for distribution, shall be notified in writing of any such application at least ten days before any such order shall be made; or, if such distributee is a non-resident of this state, a notice of such application shall be published in some newspaper in this state at least six weeks before any such order shall be made (rr). Ib., sec. 133.

SEC. 152. If, after the payment of legacies or distributive shares, it shall become necessary that the same, or any part thereof, be refunded for the payment of debts, the court shall, on application, apportion the same among the legatees or distributees according to the amount received by them, except that specific legacies shall not be required to be refunded, unless the residue be not sufficient to pay the debts. Ib., sec. 137.

SEC. 153. If any legatee or distributee shall fail to refund, according to such order, the court shall, on motion of the executor or administrator, ten days' notice having been given to the legatee or distributee and his security, enter judgment against such legatee or distributee and his security for the amount ordered by the court to be refunded by him. Ib., sec. 138.

SEC. 154. If, upon the final settlement of any estate, it shall appear that any legatee or distributee is a non-resident, or from other causes is not in a situation to receive his share of the estate and give a discharge therefor, or does not appear, by himself or agent, to receive the same, the court may, in its discretion, order the executor or administrator to lend the same on good security, to be approved of by the court, for such limited time as the court may direct (ss). Ib., sec. 140.

SEC. 155. No executor or administrator shall be held responsible for the money ordered to be loaned by the court, in case of the insolvency of the person to whom the loan may be made and his security. Ib., sec. 141.

SEC. 156. Whenever any executor or administrator shall have made final settlement of his accounts with the court, by which the balance in his hands distributable to the heirs or legatees shall be ascertained, and shall have paid over to the distributees, or legatees, or the guardian of any minor legatee or distributee, their share of the estate, such executor or administrator may file in court an abstract of such payments, and the receipt of the legatees, distributees or guardians; and at the term of the court after which such abstract and receipt are filed the court shall examine the same, and if no objections be made thereto, and none appear from the face of the papers, they shall be allowed and entered of record; and such executor or administrator shall, by such allowance, be discharged from so much of the sum found by such settlement with the court as aforesaid to be in his hands as the persons whose receipts are so allowed are entitled to (tt). Ib., sec. 143.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE (uu).

SEC. 157. The sale and conveyance of any lands and tenements authorized to be sold by any last will and testament shall be made by the executors, or such of them as shall undertake the execution of such will, or by the survivor, or by the administrator, with the will annexed, if no other person be appointed in such will for that purpose, or if the person so appointed refuse to perform the trust or die before he shall have completed the same. Ib., sec. 144.

(ss) An administrator is not authorized to invest in real estate, or otherwise, the balance in his hands, as such; but should distribute it to the representatives of the intestate, if known; if unknown, put it out at interest, under direction of the court, until called upon to pay it over. Wheat et al. v. Moss et al., 16—243.

(tt) The widow has no distributive share of the estate. Hill's adm. v. Mitchell, 5—608; but she now takes one-third of the personal estate absolutely as dower. SEC. 2591. See also SEC. 2599.

(uu) Where application is made to the court by an administrator for an order to sell real estate of his intestate, any person interested in the subject matter may, on proper showing to the court, make himself a party to the proceedings, and appeal therefrom to the circuit court. Marr, ex parte, 12—84. A sale of the real estate of a deceased person, made under the order of the court, conveys the legal title, though the proceedings

WHEN ORDERED FOR BENEFIT OF ESTATE.

SEC. 158. Upon a proper showing, to be made by the administrator of the estate of any deceased person, or the executor of the last will and testament of any such person, the probate court shall have power to order the sale and conveyance of any lands belonging to such estate, whenever in the judgment of such court it would be materially of advantage to the estate to make such sale, and to reinvest the proceeds of the sale in other lands, or securities of any kind, or apply the same to the preservation and protection of such estate.

SEC. 159. Any executor or administrator applying to have such order of sale made shall first give at least twenty days' notice of the time of making such application to the probate court by notice in some newspaper published in the county where the administration is pending, or, if there be no newspaper published in said county, by at least five written or printed notices put up in the most public places of such county.

SEC. 160. The petition for such sale shall set forth the reasons making it of advantage to the estate to make sale of said lands, and shall be sworn to by the petitioner.

SEC. 161. Any person interested in the estate may appear and resist the said proceedings by showing that due notice of such application has not been given, that the petition of such executor or administrator is not in accordance with the requirements of this act, or that it will not be of advantage to the estate to sell such lands, and upon the hearing of said petition the court shall order the sale of all the lands set forth in said petition, or any part thereof, or may refuse to order the sale of any of said lands, as it may deem most for the interest of the estate.

SEC. 162. Either party to said proceeding may appeal from any final order or judgment rendered therein to the circuit court, on the same terms as appeals are allowed from the final judgments of the probate courts; and on such appeal the matter shall be heard de novo in the circuit court, which court shall make all such orders and judgments in the premises as should have been made by the probate court, and shall proceed to carry the same into effect.

SEC. 163. Said proceeding shall be commenced in the probate court of the county in which the administration is pending; and, if any of the lands included in the proceeding shall lie in another county, the petitioner shall also give notice by putting up a notice at the court-house door of the county in which such lands lie for the period prescribed in section one hundred and fifty-nine; and in any case when the court shall not be satisfied that notice has been given as required by this act, the court may continue the cause and direct the proper notice to be given before the next term of the court.

may have been irregular, such court having competent jurisdiction of the subject matter. Bennett et al v. Owens et. al., 13—177; Sturdy and wife v. Jackoway, 19—499; George v. Norris, 23—121.

The executor or administrator of an estate has no interest in the lands of an intestate and no control over them, save as it may be necessary to subject them to the payment of general creditors. Kiernan v. Blackwell, 27—235.

An executor derives his powers from the will. If it authorizes him to sell lands he may do so without the order of any court; and, in the absence of fraud, his receipt to the purchaser for the purchase money is a sufficient discharge. Ludlow v. Flournoy, 34—451. But an administrator has no authority to sell the real property of his intestate except in the manner prescribed by the statute. Burganer v. Laird, 26—256.

SEC. 164. Whenever the court shall order a sale of lands under the provisions of this act, it shall first cause the lands to be appraised by three disinterested householders of the county in which said court is held or in which the lands to be appraised lie, who shall first take an oath in writing that they will well and truly appraise the lands, the description of which shall be included in their appraisal, according to the best of their ability.

SEC. 165. The said executor or administrator, having caused said appraisal to be made, shall proceed to sell the said lands, in separate tracts, to the highest bidder at the court-house door of the county in which the land may lie, on some day to be fixed by him, and between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and three o'clock in the afternoon, said sale to be on a credit of not less than three months, as the court may direct, bond and security to be given by the purchaser, to the approval of the said executor or administrator, and a lien to be retained on the land for the payment of the purchase money. Notice of the time and place of said sale shall be given in some newspaper published in the county in which such lands lie, if any such there be, and by at least five written or printed advertisements put up in the most public places of such county; but if at such sale the lands, or any part thereof, shall not bring two-thirds of their appraised value, the same shall be withheld from sale, and shall not be again offered for sale during the period of six months ensuing, and not then unless upon a new appraisal to be made by the order of the court, in which case the second sale shall be conducted in all respects as the first sale is required to be conducted.

SEC. 166. On making any sale as aforesaid, the executor or administrator shall execute to the purchaser a certificate of purchase, reciting such purchase and conditioned for the execution of a deed of conveyance to the purchaser on payment of the purchase money, which deed shall be made by such executor or administrator on payment of the purchase money, subject to the approval of the court.

SEC. 167. No sale under the provisions of this act shall be ordered unless it shall appear that the bond of the executor or administrator is sufficient in amount and sufficiently secured to make good all amounts which may come to his hands from the sale of the said lands, and from all other sources.

SEC. 168. The money arising from such sales shall, under the orders of the probate court, be applied to the purposes for which such sale was made.

SEC. 169. This act shall not apply to any lands which may have been specifically devised by the deceased. Act of Dec. 13, 1875.

SALE TO PAY DEBTS—PETITION FOR BY ADMINISTRATOR.

SEC. 170. Lands and tenements shall be assets in the hands of every executor or administrator for the payment of the debts of the testator or intestate (*). Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 145.

SEC. 171. If any testator be the owner of lands and tenements at the time of his death of which no provision is made by will, or if any person, being the owner of lands and tenements, die intestate, and such testator or intestate shall not have sufficient personal estate to pay his debts, it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to apply to the court of probate () by petition, describing said lands and containing a true and just account of all the debts of the testator or intestate which shall have come to his knowledge, and the amount of the assets in his hands to pay such claims. Ib., sec. 146.

SEC. 172. Every petition for the sale of lands and tenements, for the payment of the debts of any testator or intestate, shall be verified by the affidavit of the executor or administrator. Ib., sec. 147.

SEC. 173. On the presentation of such petition to the court, accompanied by the appraisement and list of sales of the personal property of such estate, if the court shall be satisfied that the personal estate is insufficient to pay the debts of such testator or intestate, the court shall order and direct the sale of all such lands as are set forth in such petition, or so much thereof as in the opinion of the court may be sufficient to pay the debts of the deceased (vv). Ib., sec. 148.

SEC. 174. The court ordering such sale shall fix the time and place for such sale, and direct the executor or administrator to cause notice to be put up, at least twenty days before the day of sale, at ten of the most public places in the county in which the lands are situate, giving a particular description of the lands to be sold, the place and terms of sale. Ib., sec. 149.

SEC. 175. The court shall specify in such order the length of credit to be given by the executor or administrator, and the kind of security to be taken (ww). Ib., sec. 150.

SEC. 176. The executor or administrator making such sale shall make his return of his proceedings therein at the next term of the court after such sale, together with an affidavit that he was not the purchaser of such lands or tenements, or any part thereof, and that they were not purchased for his use, and that he is not in any manner interested in the purchase thereof (xx). Ib., sec. 151.

SEC. 177. Such executor or administrator shall execute, acknowledge and deliver to the purchaser a deed for the land so sold, reciting in such deed the proceedings aforesaid, and conveying to such purchaser all the right, title and estate which the testator or intestate had in and to such lands and tenements at the time of his death. Ib., sec. 152.

SEC. 178. The purchaser of such lands and tenements shall, by virtue of such deed, possess all the right, title and estate that was in the deceased at the

The proceeding described in this section applies to sales for the payment of purchase money as well as for the payment of debts generally. Montgomery v. Johnson, 31—74.

The charge upon the real estate of a decedent for the payment of his debts is not perpetual. Application to sell lands must be made in a reasonable time, to be determined by the court under the circumstances of the case. A delay of ten years after the grant of administration, without showing any hindrance or proper cause for it, is unreasonable, and discharges the lien upon the real estate. Mays v. Rogers, 37—155.

An heir or devisee takes the estate subject to the debts of the deceased, and can transfer to another no greater right than he himself possesses. Howell v. Duke, 40—102; Hall v. Brewer, Ib., 433.

(vv) It is error to order more lands sold than is prayed for in the petition. Mays v. Rogers, 37—155.

(ww) The credit in probate sales of land for the payment of debts is not limited to six months, as in other judicial sales, but is left to the sound discretion of the court. Grider v. Apperson, 38—388.

(xx) An executor or administrator can not purchase any portion of the estate, as in equity he is held to be a trustee for the heirs, legatees and creditors. Wright v. Campbell & Strong, 27—637.

It is a fraud for an administrator to be interested in a purchase at his own sale, and equity will set aside the sale. Mock v. Pleasants, 34—63.

An attorney of an administrator, who prepares and files the petition and obtains an order for the sale of property of the deceased, is not allowed to purchase at the sale. West v. Waddill, 33—575.

A probate judge should not be allowed to purchase lands at a sale ordered by himself. And a purchaser of his bid, with knowledge that he was judge and that he made the order of sale, and purchased for his own benefit, is not an innocent purchaser. Livingston v. Cochran, 33—294.

time of his death, and shall hold such lands and tenements free from the debts of the testator or intestate (yy). Ib., sec. 153.

SEC. 179. No order for the sale of lands and tenements for the payment of debts shall be made by the court, unless it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that notice of the intended application for the sale of such lands and tenements has been given, at least four weeks before making such application, in some newspaper printed in the county where the lands lie, if there be any printed in such county, and, if none, by advertisements set up in at least six of the most public places in such county (zz). Ib., sec. 154.

SEC. 180. Before any executor or administrator shall sell any lands and tenements, or any interest therein, by order of the court, he shall have such lands and tenements appraised by three disinterested householders of the county in which the lands and tenements are situated (aaa). Ib., sec. 156.

SEC. 181. The said appraisers shall, before they enter on their duties, make and subscribe an affidavit that they will well and truly, according to the best of their abilities, view and appraise the lands and tenements which may be shown to them. Ib., sec. 157.

SEC. 182. After such appraisers shall have made their appraisal of such lands and tenements, they shall make out a statement, under their hands, and deliver the same to the executor or administrator, who shall file it in the office of the clerk of the court. Ib., sec. 158.

SEC. 183. It shall be the duty of the executor or administrator, if the lands and tenements ordered to be sold as aforesaid do not sell for two-thirds of the appraised value thereof, to reserve the same from sale. Ib., sec. 159.

SEC. 184. If from any cause the executor or administrator should fail to sell any lands and tenements ordered to be sold by the court at the time specified in such order, he shall report the facts to the court, accompanied by his affidavit of the truth thereof, and it shall then be the duty of the court to make an order that the same shall be offered for sale at the end of twelve months thereafter to the highest bidder, and it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to carry such order into full force and effect. Ib., sec. 160, and Act Dec. 23, 1846.

SEC. 185. If any person die, having purchased lands and tenements in his life-time and not having completed the payment, nor devised such lands and tenements, nor provided for the payment thereof by will, and the completion of such payment would be beneficial to the estate and not injurious to creditors, the executor or administrator may, by order of the court, complete such payment out of the assets in his hands, and such lands and tenements shall be disposed of as other real estate; but if the court should be of opinion that, after the payment of the debts, there will not be sufficient assets to pay for such lands and tenements, the court may order the executor or administra-

(zz) It is erroneous for the probate court to make an order for the sale of lands to pay debts, on the application of an administrator, without the notice required by the statute; but such order is not void for want of such notice, the proceeding being in rem, and the court having jurisdiction of the subject matter. Rogers v. Wilson, 13-507. The sale of real estate under an order made without notice, and otherwise irregular and grossly defective, is not a nullity, and will upon its confirmation divest the title of the heirs. Montgomery v. Johnson, 31-74.

(aaa) The failure of an administrator to have land appraised before selling it will not render the sale void if it be confirmed by the court. Bell v. Green, 38-78. A sale not confirmed is void, and confers no title on the purchaser. Ib.

for to sell at public sale all the right, title, interest or claim of the testator or intestate in and to such lands and tenements. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 161.

SEC. 186. If any person die, having mortgaged any lands and tenements, or pledged any personal property, or owning any equity of redemption, and shall not have devised the same or provided for the redemption thereof by will, the court, on the application of any person interested, may order the executor or administrator to redeem such estate out of the assets in his hands, if it would be beneficial to the estate and not injurious to the creditors; but if such redemption would be injurious to the estate or the creditors, or there should not be assets to redeem such estate after the payment of debts, the court may order all the right, title and interest of the estate of the deceased to such property to be sold at public auction. Ib., sec. 162.

SEC. 187. In all cases of the sales of the interest of the testator or intestate under the provisions of the two preceding sections, the executor or administrator shall be competent, by deed, to convey to the purchaser all the right, title and interest the testator or intestate had in and to such estate at the time of his death. Ib., sec. 163.

SALE ON PETITION OF CREDITOR.

SEC. 188. Any creditor of the estate of a deceased person who shall have a claim against said estate duly probated may present his petition to the probate court for an order to sell the lands of such estate or a sufficient amount thereof to pay the demands against said estate upon the conditions hereinafter stated.

SEC. 189. Said creditor shall demand in writing of the personal representative of said deceased sixty days before the next term of the probate court to present his petition in the manner now prescribed by law, or that may hereafter be prescribed, praying for an order to sell the lands belonging to his intestate, or a sufficient amount thereof to pay the demands probated against said estate; and if said personal representative shall fail or refuse to file his petition with the clerk of the probate court and give notice in the manner prescribed by law within twenty days after said demand, then, in that event, any creditor may apply by petition for an order to sell the lands of said deceased or a sufficient amount to pay the debts probated against said estate, setting forth in said petition the fact of demand and the failure of said representative to comply therewith.

SEC. 190. The probate court, if the facts will warrant, shall make an order in compliance with said petition and the law of administrations, ordering the administrator of the estate against which said petition is presented to sell the lands, in the order described, in the manner provided by law and pay the debts of his intestate out of the proceeds. Provided, no such order shall be made if there is sufficient personal assets in the administrator's hands to pay debts with (bbb).

SEC. 191. The probate court shall have power to compel the administrator to comply with the order made as herein provided by attachment or mandamus.

SEC. 192. Any creditor that shall present his petition under the provisions of this act to the probate court for an order to sell lands of a deceased person to pay debts, shall give notice as now prescribed by law for an administrator, and recite therein the fact of the failure of the personal representative of said estate to apply for an order to sell after a legal demand had been made on him to do so. Act of Feb. 15, 1877.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

SEC. 193. When any testator or intestate shall have entered into any contract for the conveyance of lands and tenements which was not executed and performed during his life, and shall not have given power by will to carry the same into execution, the party wishing a specific performance of such contract may file his petition against the executor or administrator (*) in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of the county in which the lands are situate, setting forth the facts on which he relies for such specific performance, and proceedings shall be had thereon as in other cases in chancery requiring the specific performance of contracts. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 167.

SEC. 194. If it should appear to the court that a specific execution of such contract ought to be made, such decree shall be made by the court as may appear just and proper, and upon such terms as the nature of the case may require, saving to infants, married women, persons of unsound mind and persons absent from the United States the term of five years after their respective disabilities are removed to appear and file their petition to set aside such decree for fraud and collusion, and on which petition the same proceedings shall be had as in like cases in courts of chancery. Ib., sec. 168.

SEC. 195. When the circuit court shall decree a specific performance or execution of any contract for the conveyance of lands and tenements, the executor or administrator shall make, execute, acknowledge and deliver to the petitioner a deed in pursuance of such decree, which deed shall be as effectual in law and equity as if it had been executed by the testator or intestate in his life-time; and the court shall have power to enforce any such decree by attachment. Ib., sec. 169.

SEC. 196. Any moneys coming to the possession of any executor or administrator by virtue of such decree shall be accounted for as other moneys of the testator or intestate. Ib., sec. 170.

SEC. 197. When any testator or intestate shall have entered into any contract for the conveyance of lands and tenements in his life-time which was not executed and performed during his life, and shall not have given power by will to carry the same into execution, it shall be lawful for the executor or administrator of such testator or intestate, with the approval of the court, in term time, to execute a deed of conveyance of and for such lands pursuant to the terms of the original contract, such executor or administrator being satisfied that payment has been made therefor according to the contract, and reciting the fact of such payment to the testator or intestate, or to such executor or administrator as the case may be, which deed may be acknowledged and recorded as other deeds, and shall have the same force and effect to pass the title of such testator or intestate to any such lands as if made pursuant to a decree of court. Act. Feb. 21, 1859, sec. 1.

SEC. 198. The provisions of this act shall apply to all cases where sales of lands shall have been made by an executor or by an administrator pursuant to an order of the court, and the duty shall or may devolve upon an administrator with the will annexed, or an administrator de bonis non, to complete such sale by executing the proper deed of conveyance. Ib., sec 2.

SUITS AGAINST EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

SEC. 199. The bond of any executor or administrator may be sued on at the instance of any legatee, distributee, creditor or other person interested, in the name of the state, to the use of such legatee, distributee, creditor or other person interested, for any mismanagement, waste or other breach of the condition of such bond; and the party to whose use suit is brought shall have judgment against the executor or administrator, and his securities, for the whole value of the estate mismanaged or wasted, with costs of suit; and the amount so recovered shall be distributed by the court in the same manner as if the same had been accounted for by the executor or administrator. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 171.

SEC. 200. No executor or administrator, or the security of any executor or administrator, shall be made liable for more than the amount of assets of the testator or intestate on account of having failed to plead or make defense, or on account of any omission or mistake in pleading, or false pleading of any such executor or administrator. Ib., sec. 172.

SEC. 201. All judgments which shall be of the goods and chattels of the deceased shall only render the executor or administrator liable for the amount of assets in his hands unadministered (ccc). Ib., sec. 173.

SEC. 202. Persons sued as executors or administrators shall not be made personally liable in any action, nor shall persons sued as executors of their own wrong be made liable to a greater extent than they otherwise would be by reason of any such person having pleaded any false plea (ddd). Rev. Stat., chap. 116, sec. 70.

ATTORNEYS OF EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

SEC. 203. When it shall become necessary, in the opinion of the court, for any executor or administrator to employ an attorney to prosecute any suit brought by or against such executor or administrator, the attorney so employed shall receive, as a compensation for his services, eight per centum on all sums less than three hundred dollars, and on all sums over three hundred and less than eight hundred dollars, four per centum, and on all sums over eight hundred, two and a half per centum. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, sec. 174.

SEC. 204. The same compensation may be allowed for defending suits when, in the opinion of the court, the employment of an attorney may be indispensably necessary to do justice to the estate. Ib., sec. 175.

SEC. 205. Such attorney's fees shall be paid as expenses of administration;

(ccc) See Tucker v. West, 31—647.

(ddd) Under our administration system an executor de son tort, as at common law, is unknown. Rust, ex. v. Witherington, 17—129. See, also, Barasieu v. Odum, Ib., 122.

but no attorney's fee shall be allowed any executor or administrator unless for the prosecuting or defending a suit under the direction of the court (eee). Ib., sec. 176.

FINAL SETTLEMENT.

SEC. 206. Each executor or administrator shall make final settlement of his administration within three years from the date of his letters testamentary or of administration. Ib., sec. 185.

REMOVAL OF ADMINISTRATIONS FROM ONE COUNTY TO ANOTHER.

SEC. 207. Where any person has taken out letters of administration on any estate in any county in this state, such administration may be removed to any other county in the manner and for the causes hereinafter set forth.

SEC. 208. The administrator, or a majority of the heirs of the estate, shall petition the court for the removal of such administration, and show that the greater portion of the property belonging to said estate is in the county to which such petition prays to remove such administration, or that the larger portion of the heirs or legatees of such estate live in the county to which it is sought to remove such administration, and that such heirs or legatees wish such removal.

SEC. 209. Every petition for the removal of any administration shall be verified by the oath of the administrator, or one of the heirs or legatees.

SEC. 210. If, on the receipt of the petition, the court shall be of opinion that the interest of the estate will be advanced by such removal, such court may make an order directing the change prayed for.

SEC. 211. No change of any administration shall be ordered by the court upon the petition of the administrator until such administrator shall have settled such estate as far as by law he should have settled the same at the time of his application.

SEC. 212. Where a majority of the heirs petition for the removal of an administration, and the court shall deem that the interest of the estate will be advanced by such removal, in addition to the order of removal, the court shall make a further order that the administrator shall settle the same with the court granting the removal by the next term thereafter, as far as by law he can settle the same, and in all things comply with the provisions of this act, touching the requisites of the removal thereof, as if the same were upon his own petition.

SEC. 213. When all the requisitions of this act shall have been complied with, the clerk shall make out a complete transcript of such administration and transmit the same to the clerk of the county to which the said administration is ordered to be removed.

(eee) Where a portion of the heirs and distributees employ an attorney to contest the settlement of the executor, the probate court has no power to direct the payment of the attorney's fee by the executor out of the residuary fund of the estate; if it be a proper case for contribution by all interested in the estate, the remedy is in chancery only. McParton, ex., v. Dickson et al., 15—97. Where there is no order of the probate court authorizing an administrator to employ an attorney, it is in the discretion of the court to allow him credit for fees paid to an attorney, and its order is conclusive where no abuse is shown. Reynolds v. C. & B. Co., 30—520; Turner v. Tapcott, Ib., 312. For construction of these sections, see Bill & Carlton v. Welch, 38—139.

SEC. 214. When any such transcript shall be filed, the court shall proceed thereon to final settlement, in the same manner as if such administration had been originally commenced in such court.

SEC. 215. The provisions of this act shall extend to the execution of last wills and testaments, and to letters of administration with the will annexed; and the same may be removed in like manner as in cases of administration on the estates of intestates.

SEC. 216. No clerk shall make out a transcript of any administration until the administrator shall file in his office the official certificate of the clerk of the county to which such administration is ordered to be removed that such administrator has there filed bond and security in double the amount of said estate. Rev. Stat., chap. 5.

ADMINISTRATION ON PRESUMPTION OF DEATH (ff).

SEC. 217. An estate recovered in any case in which the death of the person having right thereto shall have been presumed shall be restored to such person on making his personal appearance, or on making satisfactory proof of his being in full life, and he may recover the rents and profits of the estate during the time he may have been deprived thereof, with interest. Rev. Stat., chap. 46, sec. 2.

CERTAIN PROCEEDINGS HAD IN MATTERS OF ADMINISTRATION DECLARED VALID.

SEC. 218. All the official acts of the clerks of the probate courts done and performed between the sixth day of May, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, and the first day of June, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, in relation to the administration and settlement of the estates of deceased persons, and in the appointment of guardians and the settlement of their accounts, and also all the acts of executors, administrators and guardians done and performed, and all the orders, judgments and decrees of the probate courts, made and entered between the dates aforesaid, touching the estates of deceased persons and matters of guardianship as aforesaid, when the same have been done in accordance with the laws of the state then in force, be and the same are hereby confirmed and made valid. Act April 5, 1873.

SEC. 219. All letters testamentary, and all letters of administration, issued in substantial compliance with the "Chapters of the Digest," approved by the general assembly of the State of Arkansas, at the session begun and held at Little Rock on the seventeenth day of December, A. D. 1868, shall be in all respects valid, and have the same force and give the same power as though issued in compliance with law; and all legal acts done shall have complete and entire effect.

SEC. 220. Administrators of partnership effects shall close up said partnership business as surviving partners, but their acts as administrators heretofore performed, when legal, shall be valid and binding.

SEC. 221. Any administrator or executor who shall have made and filed any inventory or appraisement, or made any settlements with the court, or done any other act in substantial compliance with said chapters, shall not be subject to any penalty, forfeiture or liability by reason of it not being done in conformity with law; and if said inventories, appraisements, settlements or other acts would have been legal had they conformed to Gould's Digest, they shall be and are hereby made in all respects valid and binding.

SEC. 222. All sales of real or personal estate, and deeds executed in pursuance of said sales, by any executor or administrator, in substantial compliance with said chapters, shall be in all respects as valid and binding as they would have been if made in strict conformity with law.

SEC. 223. All allowances heretofore made, in substantial compliance with said chapters, shall be in all respects good, valid and binding, provided, upon the motion of any party interested, upon notice to the administrator or executor, the probate court shall proceed to reclass allowances heretofore made, under said chapters, in conformity with Gould's Digest. No allowance shall be placed in an inferior class without notice to the claimant or his attorney. Act Feb. 25, 1873.

CHAPTER II.

ADMINISTRATORS, PUBLIC.

SECTION

- 224. Sheriff, such ex officio.
- 225. Duties.
- 226. Bond.
- 227. Inventory; account.
- 228. When to account.

SECTION

- 229. Who to give information to public administrator.
- 230. What suits to institute.
- 231. Sheriff and his sureties responsible on bond for misconduct.

SECTION 224. The sheriff shall, by virtue of his office, be public administrator in and for his county.

SEC. 225. It shall be the duty of each public administrator to take into his charge all the estate, of every kind, of deceased persons in his county in the following cases:

First. Where a stranger dies intestate in his county without relations, or dies leaving a will, and the executor named is absent or fails to qualify and enter into bond as required by law.

Second. Where persons die intestate without any known heirs and administration is not taken by some responsible person.

Third. Where persons unknown are found dead or die in his county.

Fourth. Where money, property, papers or other estate is exposed to loss and damage and no other person administers on the same.

Fifth. Where the estate of any person who may have died elsewhere is left in his county, liable to be wasted, injured or lost, or is not in the lawful custody of some responsible person.

Sixth. In all other cases where the court of probate shall order him to take possession of any estate to prevent it from being injured, wasted or purloined (a). Rev. Stat., chap. 120, secs. 1 and 2.

(a) Until the sheriff assumes the duty of administering or is directed by the court to do so, he does not become the administrator of a particular estate, and can not be required to allow or reject a claim against it. Williamson v. Furbush, 81—539.

SEC. 226. When any property of any deceased person shall come into the hands of any public administrator, he shall enter into the like bond and security as is now or may hereafter be prescribed in cases of administrators in ordinary cases (b). Act Dec. 18, 1840, sec. 2.

SEC. 227. It shall be the duty of each public administrator to make a true and perfect inventory of all estates taken into his possession, and administer and account for the same as near as circumstances will permit, according to the law prescribing the duties of administrators, subject to the control and direction of the court of probate. Rev. Stat., chap. 120, sec. 3.

SEC. 228. If, at any time, letters testamentary or of administration be regularly granted on any estate in the hands and under the control of the public administrator, he shall, under the order of the court of probate, account for, pay and deliver to the executor or administrator thus appointed all the money, property and estate of every kind in his possession. Ib., sec. 4.

SEC. 229. It shall be the duty of all justices of the peace and constables in their respective counties to inform the public administrator of all property and estates known to them which are liable to waste or injury, and which by law ought to be in the possession of the public administrator. Ib., sec. 5.

SEC. 230. The public administrator shall institute all manner of suits that may be necessary to recover the property, debts, papers or other estate of the deceased, in the same manner as if letters of administration were actually granted to him, styling himself, in all such suits, the public administrator of the proper county. Ib., sec. 6.

SEC. 231. Every sheriff and his securities shall be responsible on his official bond for misconduct in discharging his duties of public administrator. Ib., sec. 7.

CHAPTER III.

ALIENS (a).

SECTION

232. Legal distinctions between citizens and resident aliens in regard to property prohibited.

233. Aliens may hold and inherit real estate as if they were citizens.

SECTION

234. Their personal property distributed as if they were citizens.

SECTION 232. No distinction shall ever be made by law between resident aliens and citizens in regard to the possession, enjoyment or descent of property. Art. II, sec. 20, Const.

A public administrator has no more or greater power, authority or rights than other administrators. State, use, etc., v. Rottaken, 34—144.

That there is no administrator upon an estate, and the sheriff refuses to administer, and the creditor is a non-resident and can not administer, afford no grounds for chancery to assume jurisdiction to administer the estate. The probate court has exclusive original jurisdiction, and the sheriff may be compelled to administer. Flash, Lewis & Co. v. Greham, 36—529.

(b) This section does not repeal section 231, and under that section the sheriff and his sureties on his official bond are liable for his misconduct in discharging the duties of public administrator. State, use, Higginbotham's adm. v. Watts et. al., 23—304.

(a) See art. VI, Const. U. S., note (mm).

SEC. 233. All aliens shall be capable of taking by deed or will lands and tenements in fee simple, or other less estate, and of holding, aliening and devising the same; and upon the decease of any alien having title by purchase or descent, according to this act, to any lands or tenements, such lands and tenements shall descend and pass as if such alien were a citizen of the United States; and it shall be no objection to the husband, widow or kindred of such alien, or any citizen deceased, taking lands and tenements by virtue of the laws of this state regulating the distribution of estates of intestates that they are aliens (b). Act December 15, 1874.

SEC. 234. The personal property of an alien dying intestate, who at the time of his death resided in this state, shall be distributed in the same manner as if he were a citizen, and it shall be no objection to the husband or widow of any alien or other intestate taking distributive shares of the deceased's personal estate that they are aliens. Rev. Stat., chap. 7.

CHAPTER IV.

APPRENTICES (a).

SECTION

- 235. Exclusive original jurisdiction in county courts.
- 236. Duty of court; when guardians to be directed to bind their wards; covenant of master.
- 237. Indenture to be approved by court and recorded.
- 238. Minors with parents living, when to be bound; indenture in such case, how made.
- 239. Father or mother may bind, when and how.
- 240. What covenants indenture shall contain when parents bind.

SECTION

- 241. Indentures by parents not obligatory until approved and recorded.
- 242. Complaints of apprentices against masters, grounds of.
- 243. Complaint of apprentice, how to be heard and order thereon.
- 244. Complaints of masters against apprentices, grounds of; proceeding thereon.

SECTION 235. The county court shall have exclusive original jurisdiction in all matters relating to the apprenticeship of minors. Act Feb. 5, 1875; art. VII, sec. 28, Const. ()*.

SEC. 236. It shall be the duty of said court to inquire into the situation of every orphan and such minors as have not sufficient estate for their maintenance, and in cases of minors or orphans having no estate for their maintenance and education, the court shall direct guardians to bind their wards apprentices until the age of twenty-one years, if males; if females, until the age of eighteen years, to some master or mistress to be chosen by the ward, if over ten years of age, who shall covenant to teach the apprentice some useful art, trade or business, to be particularized in the covenant; and shall be further bound therein to teach said apprentice reading, writing and arithmetic, to the rule of three inclusive. Rev. Stat., chap. 8, sec. 2; act Dec. 28, 1840.

(b) Under this statute aliens may take and transmit land by inheritance or otherwise, and they could at common law take by devise. Jones v. Minogue, 29—637. The state courts have concurrent jurisdiction with the federal courts over controversies between citizens and aliens. Ib.

(a) The contract of an infant in binding himself an apprentice, being an act manifestly for his benefit, is binding in law, and when bound he can not dissolve the relation. If such contract is binding, a right of action necessarily results to the injured party for a breach thereof. Woodruff v. Logan, 6—276.

(c) See SEC. 1407.

SEC. 237. The indenture shall be approved of by the court, and recorded by the recorder of the county. Rev. Stat., chap. 8, sec. 3.

SEC. 238. In case of minors whose parents, or either of them, are living, but have not the means of maintaining their children, or willfully neglect to support and educate their children, the court shall bind said children, as in case of orphans, and in such cases the indenture shall be made by the judge of the county court (*). Ib., sec. 4.

SEC. 239. The father of any minor, or, the father being dead, the mother, when the probate court has not appointed a guardian, may bind their children, being minors, in like manner as guardians, for the purpose of learning some useful art, trade or employment (b). Ib., sec. 5.

SEC. 240. In all such covenants, by parents binding their children, the indenture shall contain the covenant requiring the minors to be sent to school at least one-fourth of their time, after they are seven years of age. Ib., sec. 6.

SEC. 241. Such indentures by parents shall not be obligatory until the same shall be approved by the county court and recorded in the office of the recorder of the county (c). Ib., sec. 7.

SEC. 242. The county court shall, at all times, receive the complaints of apprentices who reside within their respective counties against their master or mistress, whether made in person, or by any other person for them, alleging undeserved or immoderate correction, insufficient allowance or quality or quantity of food, raiment or lodging, or want of proper instruction. Ib., sec. 8.

SEC. 243. The court shall hear and determine all such cases in a summary manner, without the intervention of formal pleadings, and make such order therein as, in their judgment, will relieve the party injured in future, or remove the apprentices and bind them with other masters when it shall be deemed necessary. Ib., sec. 9.

SEC. 244. It shall, in like manner, be the duty of the court to receive and hear complaints of masters against their apprentices for desertion without good cause, and may oblige the apprentice, for loss occasioned by an improper desertion, to make compensation by further services after the expiration of his apprenticeship. Ib., sec. 10.

(*) See Bowles v. Dixon, 32—96.

This section and the section taken from the act of December 28, 1840, are inserted as modified by the present constitution and the act of February 5, 1875.

(b) The father can not bind without written consent of mother. SEC. 4629.

(c) See Morrill v. Kenedy, 22—324.

CHAPTER V.

ARBITRATION AND AWARDS (a).

SECTION

- 245. How proceedings shall be.
- 246. What controversies may be submitted.
- 247. To be made by rule of court or consent.
- 248. Matter submitted to be stated, when.
- 249. Court shall state time in which the award is to be made and returned.
- 250. Oath of arbitrators, their power, etc.
- 251. Witnesses before, how summoned.
- 252. Failure of, to attend or testify, how punished.

SECTION

- 253. Personal representatives may make submission, how.
- 254. When court may set aside order of reference.
- 255. Time and place of meeting and making award.
- 256. When award made, judgment of the court.
- 257. Informality no cause to set aside.
- 258. Proceedings in, before justice's court.
- 259. Appeal from justice's judgment allowed.

SECTION 245. The proceedings upon arbitrations and awards, made under an order or rule of court, or by consent of parties, in vacation, shall be as herein prescribed.

SEC. 246. All controversies which might be the subject of a suit or action may be submitted to the decision of one or more arbitrators, or to two and their umpire, in the manner provided in this chapter.

SEC. 247. Parties may make such submission by rule of any court having jurisdiction of the subject matter, or by consent, in vacation.

SEC. 248. The parties making such submission shall, where there is no suit or action pending, by written agreement filed and noted on the record, or by an entry on the record, state what matter is submitted.

SEC. 249. The rule of the court shall state the time in which the award is to be made and returned; but the court may enlarge the time for making and returning an award.

SEC. 250. Arbitrators and the umpire, if there be one, before they proceed to act, shall take an oath to decide the controversy, to them submitted, according to law and evidence and the equity of the case, to the best of their judgment, without favor or affection; and a certificate of such oath shall be returned to the court with the award. They shall have power to examine either party, on oath, at the request of his adversary (b).

SEC. 251. Any one of the arbitrators shall have power to issue subpoenas for witnesses to attend their sitting and give evidence touching the matters referred to them, to which all sheriffs, and other like officers, shall give obedience.

SEC. 252. Witnesses failing to attend before arbitrators at the time and place designated, or who shall refuse to give evidence when they do attend, shall be reported to the court by the arbitrators, and proceeded against and punished as if the case had been pending in court.

(a) The provisions of this chapter do not repeal the common law on the same subject, nor are parties thereby prohibited from submitting controversies to arbitration without the intervention of a court. Wilkes v. Cotter, 28—519.

(b) An award will not be good as a statutory award, unless the proceedings of the arbitrators as to the oath taken by them and other duties have been substantially, if not strictly, in pursuance of the statute. But an arbitration and award as at common law are still good and enforceable, notwithstanding the statute. Collins v. Karatopsky, 36—316. See also Harris v. Hanie, 37—348.

SEC. 253. The personal representatives of a decedent, guardian of an infant, idiot or lunatic, or any trustee, may make a submission, as herein provided for, touching the estate of such decedent, infant or insane person, or in respect to which he is trustee. Any such submission, so made in good faith, and the award made thereon, shall be binding, and entered as the judgment or decree of the court. No such fiduciary shall be responsible for any loss sustained by an award adverse to the interest he represents, unless the same be caused by his fault or neglect.

SEC. 254. If any arbitrator shall fail or refuse to act, the court may set aside the order of reference.

SEC. 255. The arbitrators and umpire, if there be one, shall meet at such convenient times and places as may be necessary, of which the parties shall have reasonable notice, and hear such evidence as either party may adduce. They shall have power to administer oaths. They shall make their award in writing, stating therein the time when it is made, and sign the same. When the award is made out, one copy thereof shall be delivered to each of the contending parties and the original returned to the court, on which the arbitrators shall note the time of delivering a copy to each party.

SEC. 256. If such award is made out and returned, and copies delivered ten days before the term of the court next succeeding such delivery, the same shall be entered of record and made the judgment or decree of the court, unless, on exceptions filed, the award shall be set aside.

SEC. 257. No award shall be set aside for the want of form. But courts shall have power over awards on equitable principles as heretofore.

SEC. 258. Matters within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace may be submitted to arbitrators by an order, rule or agreement entered on his record book in the same manner, and the proceedings under it shall be the same in every respect as are authorized and required in other courts.

SEC. 259. Either party may appeal to the circuit court from the judgment of the justice on the award, as in other cases. Civil Code, sec. 494.

CHAPTER VI.

ARREST—PRIVILEGE FROM.

SECTION

260. Members and officers of legislature privileged from, and for what time.

261. Proceedings stayed during time of privilege.

262. Punishment of persons invading privilege.

263. Voters privileged, and for what time.

SECTION

264. Those doing militia duty, and for what time.

265. No person to be arrested in senate chamber, representative hall, or court of justice.

266. Not to extend to cases of treason, felony, etc.

267. Discharged on habeas corpus.

SECTION 260. The members of the senate and house of representatives and the clerks, sergeant-at-arms and doorkeepers of each branch of the general assembly shall be privileged from arrest during the session of the general assembly, and for fifteen days before the commencement and after the termination of each session (a).

SEC. 261. All proceedings in suits pending in any of the courts of this state, in which any of the persons named in the preceding section are parties, shall be stayed during the time aforesaid.

SEC. 262. If any person shall arrest either of the persons before named during the time they are privileged therefrom, such person shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred dollars, with costs, to be recovered by action in the name and for the use of the injured party.

SEC. 263. All persons qualified to vote for representatives in the general assembly shall be privileged from arrest during their attendance at any election and while on their way going to and returning from such election.

SEC. 264. No person shall be arrested while doing militia duty, under the order of his commanding officer, or while going to or returning from the place of duty or parade (b).

SEC. 265. No person shall be arrested in the senate chamber or house of representatives during their sitting, or in any court of justice during the sitting of the court.

SEC. 266. Nothing contained in the provisions of this act shall be so construed as to extend to cases of treason, felony or breach of the peace, or to privilege any person named from being served at any time or place herein specified with a summons or notice to appear (c).

SEC. 267. If any person shall be arrested contrary to the provisions of this act, such person shall be discharged on a writ of habeas corpus by any court or officer having authority to issue such writ, at the costs of the party procuring the arrest. Rev. Stat., chap. 10.

(a) See art. V, sec. 15, Const.

(c) As to privilege of witnesses, see SEC. 2881.

WHEN AND HOW AN ORDER OF ARREST MAY BE OBTAINED.

SECTION 268. A defendant in a civil action can be arrested and held to bail only upon the conditions and in the manner prescribed in this chapter (a). Civil Code, sec. 173.

SEC. 269. An order for the arrest of the defendant shall be made by the clerk of the court in which the action is brought at its commencement or at any time before judgment, when there is filed in his office an affidavit of the plaintiff, showing in all cases of arrest on civil process:

First. The nature of the plaintiff's claim or debt, and charging the defendant with fraud in contracting the same.

Second. That it is just.

Third. The amount or value which the affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover.

Fourth. That the affiant believes either that the defendant is about to depart from this state, and, with the intent to defraud his creditors, has concealed or removed from this state his property, or so much thereof that the process of the court, after judgment, can not be executed, or that the defendant has money, or securities for money, or evidence of debt, in the possession of himself, or of others for his use, and is about to depart from this state without leaving property therein sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim. Civil Code, sec. 174, as amended 1871.

(a) See art. II, sec. 16, Const.

SEC. 270. The order of arrest shall not be issued by the clerk until there has been executed in his office, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, a bond to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay to the defendant all damages which he may sustain by reason of the arrest, if the order is wrongfully obtained.

SEC. 271. The order of arrest shall be addressed and delivered, with a copy thereof, to the sheriff. It shall state the names of the parties to the action, the court in which the action is brought, and the amount of the plaintiff's claim specified in the affidavit, and shall require the sheriff to arrest the defendant and hold him to bail in the sum of the plaintiff's claim, with the probable costs of the action, not exceeding twenty-five dollars, and to make return of the order on a day to be named therein, with the bail bond, if any is taken.

SEC. 272. The return day of the order of arrest, when issued at the commencement of an action, shall be the same as that of the summons; when issued afterward, it may be another day in term, at the option of the plaintiff.

ORDER OF ARREST, PROCEEDINGS ON.

SEC. 273. The sheriff shall execute the order of arrest by arresting the defendant and delivering to him a copy thereof.

SEC. 274. The defendant, when arrested, shall be committed by the sheriff to the jail of his county, a copy of the order of arrest being delivered to the jailer, and, unless bailed, kept in custody in the manner provided by law in the case of a defendant taken in execution upon a judgment in a civil action, until discharged in the mode and upon the conditions herein prescribed for discharging a defendant taken in execution on judgment.

SEC. 275. The defendant may, before or after giving bail, deposit in the hands of the sheriff or in court, the amount of money mentioned in the order of arrest, whereupon he shall be discharged, or his bail, if any is given, shall be released.

SEC. 276. The sheriff shall pay into the court the money received by him in vacation, in lieu of bail, on the first day of the next term. Where it is received during the term, he shall pay it into the court immediately.

SEC. 277. The court shall make proper orders for the safe-keeping of money deposited in lieu of bail. It may direct the sheriff to keep the moneys, and, after final judgment in the action, shall order it to be paid to the party entitled thereto according to the result.

SEC. 278. Money deposited in the hands of the sheriff in lieu of bail, or directed by the court to be kept by him, shall be held upon his official responsibility, and he and his sureties shall be liable and may be proceeded against for any default in relation thereto, as in other cases of delinquency.

SEC. 279. Bail may be given by the defendant on his arrest, or at any time afterward before judgment. It shall be done by causing one or more sufficient bail to execute a bond to the plaintiff in the presence of the sheriff, or of the jailer where the defendant has been committed to jail, to the effect that, if judgment shall be rendered in the action against the defendant, he will render himself amenable to the process of the court thereupon. The bond, when accepted, shall be returned to the clerk's office and the defendant discharged.

SEC. 280. The bail must be a resident of this state and be worth double the sum specified in the order of arrest, beyond the amount of his debts, and have property in the state subject to execution at least equal in value to that sum. If two or more become bail, they must, in the aggregate, possess the same qualifications. The bail, if it is required by the sheriff, shall make affidavit to their qualifications before him.

SEC. 281. If the plaintiff objects to the bail for insufficiency, he may move his objections in court during the term at which the bail bond is returned and not afterward, except where the bond is returned within the last three days of the term, in which case the motion may be made on the first day of the succeeding term. The motion can not be made unless the plaintiff has given to the sheriff, or to the jailer where the bond was taken by him, notice thereof, and, if the notice is adjudged unreasonable, the court may continue the motion to some day in the same or the succeeding term.

SEC. 282. If the motion is not made, or the bail is not thereupon adjudged insufficient, the officer shall be exonerated from liability by reason of the insufficiency of the bail.

SEC. 283. The bail adjudged insufficient shall not be thereby released, but an order shall forthwith be made to re-arrest the defendant; and, thereupon, the same proceedings may be had, and with the like effect, as are directed upon an order of arrest.

SEC. 284. Upon judgments in actions in which the defendant has been arrested and held to bail, and in which the order of arrest has not been vacated, an execution against the body of the defendant may be issued. Civil Code, secs. 175-189.

SEC. 285. The defendant arrested or imprisoned, or liable to be arrested and imprisoned, on any such execution, may present his petition, in writing, to the circuit court in term time, or to the judge thereof in vacation, offering to deliver up all his property not exempt from sale on execution or other process issued for the collection of any debt. Rev. Stat., chap. 79, sec. 2; art. IX, secs. 1, 2, 3, Const.

SEC. 286. Every such debtor shall annex to and deliver with his petition to the court or judge a schedule, under oath, containing:

First. A full and true account of all his creditors.

Second. The place of residence of each creditor, if known to such debtor, and, if not, the fact to be stated.

Third. The sum owing to each creditor, the nature of each debt or demand, and whether arising on written security, on account, or otherwise.

Fourth. The true cause and consideration of such indebtedness, in each case, and the place where such indebtedness accrued.

Fifth. A statement of any existing judgment, mortgage, collateral or other security, for the payment of any such debt.

Sixth. A full and true inventory of all the estate, real, personal and mixed, in law and equity, of such debtor, and of all the books, vouchers and securities relating thereto.

Seventh. A full statement of the cause of the insolvency of such debtor. Rev. Stat., chap. 79, sec. 3.

SEC. 287. Upon the presentation of such petition and schedule, the court or judge shall make an order that reasonable notice of such application be given the judgment creditor. Ib., sec. 4.

SEC. 288. If the judgment debtor be imprisoned, or liable to be imprisoned, on said execution, such court or judge may direct him to be discharged from custody, on his entering into bond, with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the court or judge, to the plaintiff in the execution, in double the amount of the judgment, damages and costs, conditioned that he will be and appear before the court or judge at the time and place appointed for the hearing. Ib., sec. 5.

SEC. 289. At the time and place appointed, the court or judge may administer the following oath: "I do swear that the account of my creditors, and the inventory of my estate, which are annexed to my petition, are, in all respects, just and true; and that I have not, at any time or in any manner whatsoever, disposed of or made over any part of my estate for the future benefit of myself or my family, or in order to defraud any of my creditors; and that I have in no instance credited or acknowledged a debt for a greater sum than I honestly and truly owed, and that I have not paid, secured to be paid or compounded with any of my creditors with a view fraudulently to obtain the benefit of this act." Ib., sec. 7.

SEC. 290. If the court shall be satisfied that such debtor has not concealed or conveyed to any person, for the use of himself or any of his family or friends, or whereby to expect any future benefit to himself or his family, any part of his estate, effects or credits, and he shall answer all and every question or interrogatories touching his estate and losses, or the means of his insolvency, by word or in writing, as shall be put to him by the court or any creditor, and shall deliver to the sheriff of the county a copy of his petition and schedule, and all his property in possession therein mentioned not exempt from sale on execution, together with his books, title papers, evidences of debts and contracts of every kind whatsoever, an order shall be made discharging and exempting such debtor from arrest and imprisonment on such execution. Ib., sec. 8.

SEC. 291. Such order shall be a sufficient warrant to the sheriff or jailer to discharge such debtor from custody. Ib., sec. 9.

SEC. 292. No such debtor shall be discharged by the court until he shall file in the court the certificate of the sheriff that he has received all the property in possession mentioned in the petition and schedule of such debtor, together with his books, title papers, evidences of debt and contracts of every kind whatsoever subject to execution. Ib., sec. 10.

LIABILITY AND DISCHARGE OF BAIL AND OF OFFICERS.

SEC. 293. A surrender of the defendant to the sheriff of the county in which he was arrested, with a delivery to him of a copy of the order of arrest and of the bail bond by the defendant himself, or by his bail at any time before the liability of the bail is fixed, shall discharge the bail. The sheriff shall give to the bail a written acknowledgment of the surrender, and commit the defendant to the jail of his county with his order indorsed upon the copy of the bail bond delivered to the jailer.

SEC. 294. For the purpose of surrendering the defendant the bail may at any time or place arrest him, or authorize, in writing indorsed upon a copy of the order of arrest and bail bond, the sheriff or any constable to do so.

SEC. 295. A return of "not found" upon an execution against the body of the defendant, placed in the hands of the sheriff of the county in which he was arrested within twenty days after it might have issued upon the judgment, shall be necessary to fix the liability of the bail, which shall be to pay the amount of the judgment and costs.

SEC. 296. The bail can be proceeded against in a separate action only.

SEC. 297. He will be exonerated by the death of the defendant, or his removal from this state under process of law as a fugitive, before the return day of the summons served upon the bail in the action to enforce his liability, or by the imprisonment of the defendant in the penitentiary, or his legal discharge from the obligation to render himself amenable to the process of the court, or by his surrender to the sheriff of the county in which he was arrested in execution thereof, by the return day of the summons in the action against the bail, or within such further time as the court in which the action is pending may allow. If the defendant is confined in any jail of this state the bail will be exonerated by delivering to the jailer thereof, at any time before the return day of the summons in the action against the bail, a certified copy of the order of arrest and of the bail bond, with a written order thereupon to detain the defendant in custody until discharged by law from the action in which the bond was given. The jailer shall give a written acknowledgment of the receipt of the order, which shall be filed with the original bond.

SEC. 298. If after being arrested the defendant escapes, or is rescued, or bail is not taken, or is adjudged insufficient, or a deposit is not made, the sheriff shall be liable as bail unless he had committed the defendant to jail and obtained a written acknowledgment thereof from the jailer, in which case the jailer shall be so liable. Either officer may discharge himself from such liability by putting in sufficient bail at any time before judgment.

SEC. 299. The liability of the officer as bail shall be fixed in the manner provided for fixing the liability of the bail, and can be enforced only in a separate action against him, or against him and his securities in his official bond, as in other cases of delinquency.

SEC. 300. The bail adjudged insufficient shall be liable to the officer for the damages he may sustain by reason of such insufficiency. Civil Code, secs. 190-197.

MOTION TO VACATE AN ORDER OF ARREST.

SEC. 301. A defendant, against whom an order of arrest has been obtained, may, at any time before judgment in the action and before a decision of a motion on account of the insufficiency of the bail, apply to the court, or, in vacation, and before executing a bail bond, to the judge thereof or to a circuit judge, by motion, to vacate the order of arrest or to reduce the amount of bail. Reasonable notice of the motion shall be given to the plaintiff. If satisfied that the bail ought not to have been required, or that the sum for which it was demanded is too large, the court or judge may vacate the order of arrest or reduce the amount of bail.

SEC. 302. The decision of the motion shall be final in the action, but shall not affect the rights of the parties in any other action. Civil Code, secs. 198, 199, as amended 1871.

SEC. 303. Upon the vacation of the order of arrest the defendant shall be discharged, or the bail bond, if any is given, shall be canceled. If the motion is supported by affidavits or other evidence out of the record, the plaintiff may oppose it by affidavits or other evidence, in addition to that on which the order of arrest was obtained.

SEC. 304. The writ of scire facias against bail is abolished. Civil Code, secs. 200, 201.

CHAPTER VIII.

ASSIGNMENT FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.

SECTION

305. Inventory and bond to be filed, where.
306. Account current of assignee, when and where to be filed.
307. Examination of account and allowances to assignee.

SECTION

308. When court may allow assignee to employ an attorney.
309. Property assigned to be sold, when and how.

SECTION 305. In all cases in which any person shall make an assignment of any property, whether real, personal, mixed or choses in action, for the payment of debts before the assignee thereof shall be entitled to take possession, sell or in any way manage or control any property so assigned, he shall be required to file in the office of the clerk of the court exercising equity jurisdiction a full and complete inventory and description of such property, and also make and execute a bond to the State of Arkansas in double the estimated value of the property in said assignment, with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the clerk of said court, conditioned that such assignee shall execute the trust confided to him, sell the property to the best advantage and pay the proceeds thereof to the creditors mentioned in said assignment according to the terms thereof, and faithfully perform the duties according to law (a). Act Feb. 16, 1859, sec. 1, as amended by act Feb. 23, 1883.

SEC. 306. Such assignee shall, at the first term of the court after one year from the date of said assignment, and at the corresponding term of said court every year thereafter until the proceeds of the property assigned be disposed of for the benefit of creditors, present to the court a fair written statement, or

(a) Title to the property assigned vests in the assignee upon the execution and delivery of the deed by the assignor, and can not be defeated by an execution against the assignor coming to the hands of an officer after the delivery of the deed and before the filing of the schedule and bond. Clayton v. Johnson, 36—406.

An assignment by an insolvent debtor of all his property for the benefit of his creditors, with a stipulation for a full release from the accepting creditors, is not fraudulent. Ib.

The assignee in a deed of assignment can not maintain an action against an officer for taking the assigned goods under a writ of attachment against the assignor until he has filed the inventory and given the bond required by the statute. Falconer v. Hunt, 39—68; Thatcher v. Franklin, 37—64.

account current, in which he shall charge himself with the whole amount of the property assigned, including all debts due or to become due, and credit himself with all sums of money expended, either by payment of debts or otherwise, exhibiting with such account the receipts and vouchers for all moneys paid out to the creditors of said assignment, which said account, so made out, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the court and become a part of the record thereof, certified copies of which shall be competent evidence of the facts therein contained, in the same manner and to the same extent as the records of any other court. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 307. Such account shall be carefully examined by the court, and upon such examination the court shall allow the assignee for all debts with which he stands charged which the court shall be satisfied could not be collected, and shall allow the assignee any sum not exceeding ten per centum on all sums less than one thousand dollars, and on all sums over one thousand dollars five per centum for his risk and trouble in attending to the settlement of such assignment.

SEC. 308. In case any portion of the property becomes involved in litigation in the courts, the assignee may set forth the facts in such litigation in a petition to the court, and the court may allow the assignee to employ an attorney to either prosecute or defend such suits, stipulating the amount or per centum of such attorney's fee in each particular case, taking into consideration the amount in controversy, for which fee or per centum the assignee shall be entitled to credit. Act Feb. 23, 1883, secs. 2, 3.

SEC. 309. Said assignee shall be required to sell all the property assigned to him for the payment of debts, at public auction, within one hundred and twenty days after the execution of the bond required by this act (b), and shall give at least thirty days' notice of the time and place of such sale; and any person damaged by the neglect, waste or improper conduct of such assignee shall be entitled to bring his action on the bond, in the name of the state, for the use and benefit of such person. Act Feb. 16, 1859, sec. 3.

(b) A deed which authorizes the assignee to sell at private sale is in violation of this section and void. Raleigh v. Griffith, 37—150.

A deed of assignment which authorizes the assignee to retail the assigned goods privately for twelve months and then to sell the remnant at public sale is void as against non-assenting creditors. The sale must be public and within one hundred and twenty days after the assignee assumes the trust. Teah v. Roth, 39—66.

GROUNDS OF ATTACHMENT.

SECTION 309. The plaintiff in a civil action may, at or after the commencement thereof, have an attachment against the property of the defendant, in the cases and upon the grounds hereinafter stated, as a security for the satisfaction of such judgment as may be recovered (a):

First. In an action for the recovery of money (*), where the action is against—

1. A defendant or several defendants who, or some one of whom, is a foreign corporation or non-resident of the state (); or,
2. Who has been absent therefrom four months; or,
3. Has departed from this state with intent to defraud his creditors; or,
4. Has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of a summons (b); or,
5. So conceals himself that a summons can not be served upon him; or,
6. Is about to remove, or has removed, his property, or a material part thereof, out of this state, not leaving enough therein to satisfy the plaintiff's claim or the claim of said defendant's creditors (c); or,
7. Has sold, conveyed or otherwise disposed of his property, or suffered or permitted it to be sold, with the fraudulent intent to cheat, hinder or delay his creditors (d); or,
8. Is about to sell, convey or otherwise dispose of his property with such intent. But an attachment shall not be granted on the ground that the defendant or defendants, or any of them, is a foreign corporation or non-resident of this state for any claim other than a debt or demand arising upon contract.

9. The cause of attachment mentioned in the preceding subdivisions against one or more defendants to a civil action shall not authorize an attachment against any of the defendants who are not embraced in any of said subdivisions, but the estate or interest of such defendants only as are embraced therein shall be subject to attachment.

Second. In an action to recover possession of personal property where it has

(a) The code authorizes proceedings by attachment in suits in equity. American Land Co. v. Grady, 83—550.

(*) An action for damages is an action for money. See SEC. 6346.

() In proceedings by attachment against the property of a non-resident, the statute must be strictly followed. Bush v. Visant, 40—124.

(b) See note (d).

(c) If a debtor is removing his property out of the state, not leaving sufficient to pay all his debts, a creditor may attach, although sufficient be left to pay his debt; and testimony of other debts is admissible to prove the insufficiency of the property to pay all. Holliday v. Cohen, 34—707.

See note (*) to SEC. 361.

(d) A sale or conveyance by a debtor to cheat, hinder or delay any one creditor, or his removal from the county of his residence to avoid the service of summons by any one creditor, will justify an attachment of his property. Sherrill v. Bench, 37—560.

been ordered to be delivered to the plaintiff, and where the property, or part thereof, has been disposed of, concealed or removed, so that the order for its delivery can not be executed by the officer. Civil Code, sec. 216.

HOW OBTAINED.

SEC. 310. An order of attachment shall be made by the clerk of the court in which the action is brought in any case mentioned in the first subdivision of the preceding section, where there is filed in his office an affidavit of the plaintiff or of some one in his behalf, showing (e):

First. The nature of the plaintiff's claim.

Second. That it is just.

Third. The amount which the affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover; and,

Fourth. The existence in the action of some one of the grounds for an attachment enumerated in that subdivision, and in the case mentioned in the second subdivision of the preceding section where it is shown by such affidavit, or by the return of the sheriff or other officer upon the order for the delivery of the property claimed, that the facts mentioned in that subdivision exist. Civil Code, sec. 217, as amended 1871.

SEC. 311. When the return by the proper officer upon a summons against a defendant states that he has left the county to avoid the service of the summons, or has concealed himself therein for that purpose, it shall be equivalent to the statement of the fact in the affidavit mentioned in the last section.

SEC. 312. The order of attachment shall not be issued by the clerk until there has been executed in his office, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, a bond to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay to the defendant all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment if the order is wrongfully obtained (f).

SEC. 313. The order of attachment shall be directed and delivered to the sheriff or other officer, with as many copies thereof as the plaintiff may direct. It shall require him to attach and safely keep the property of the defendant in his county, not exempt from execution, or so much thereof as will satisfy the plaintiff's claim specified in his affidavit; which shall be stated in the order, and the probable costs of the action, not exceeding thirty dollars(*); also to summon the garnishees to answer in the action on the return day of the order, and to make due return thereof. The return day of the order of attachment when issued at the commencement of the action shall be the same as that of the summons; when issued afterward it may be another day in term, at the option of the plaintiff.

SEC. 314. Orders of attachment may be issued to the sheriffs or other officers of other counties, and several of them may, at the option of the plaintiff, be issued at the same time, or in succession; but such only as have

(f) The defendant can not object in the supreme court, for the first time, that no bond was filed by the plaintiff before the order of attachment was issued; nor can he object in that court, for the first time, that the affidavit for the attachment was insufficient. Such objections must first be made in the circuit court. Fletcher v. Menken, 37—206.

(*) See note (f) to SEC. 363.

SEC. 315. The affidavit or grounds of attachment may be amended so as to embrace any grounds of attachment that may exist up to and until the final judgment upon the same. If the amendment embrace grounds existing at the time of the commencement of said proceeding, and is sustained upon such grounds, the lien created by the suing out or levying of the original attachment shall be held good; but if the amendments embrace new grounds not existing at the time of suing out the original attachment, and the attachment shall be sustained on such new grounds only, the lien shall exist on the property levied upon from the filing of the same; and a general order sustaining the attachment, without designating the grounds upon which it is sustained, shall be equivalent to sustaining the same on grounds that existed at the time the attachment was sued out (g).

SEC. 316. Attachments may be sued out, and the actions in which the same are obtained may be prosecuted in any county in which property may be attached, or a garnishee, who is indebted or has property belonging to the defendant, is served with process. Civil Code, secs. 218-223.

SEC. 317. Whenever, in a civil action, the plaintiff shall have reason to believe that any other person is indebted to the defendant, or has in his hands or possession goods and chattels, moneys, credits and effects belonging to such defendant, the plaintiff may sue out a writ of garnishment, setting forth his cause of action against the defendant, and commanding the officer charged with the execution thereof to summon the person therein named as garnishee to appear at the return day of the summons in the action, if the writ shall have been issued at the commencement thereof; and, if not so issued, on such day as the court shall designate, to answer what goods, chattels, moneys, credits and effects he may have in his hands or possession belonging to such defendant; and in all such actions, where the plaintiff shall have obtained judgment, he may sue out a writ of garnishment setting forth such judgment, and shall proceed in the manner herein directed for the enforcement and collection thereof (h).

SEC. 318. The plaintiffs in all cases of garnishment may also have an attachment against the property of a garnishee, who is made a defendant thereto, by stating in his affidavit some one or more of the grounds of attachment mentioned in this chapter, and the amount which the garnishee is indebted to the principal debtor, and executing bond to said garnishee. Civil Code, sec. 224, as amended 1871.

EXECUTION AND RETURN OF (i).

SEC. 319. Where there are several orders of attachment against the same defendant they shall be executed in the order in which they were received by the sheriff or other officer.

(g) An affidavit for an attachment may be amended by inserting an omitted fact existing when it was made after judgment of quashal for the insufficiency. Nolen v. Royston, 36—561; Rogers v. Cooper, 33—406.

An affidavit in the court of a justice of the peace may be amended after appeal in the circuit court if the amendment contains no cause for attachment not existing at the commencement of the suit. Sherrill v. Bench, 37—560.

(h) It is only in suits by attachment that this section authorizes the issuance of a writ of garnishment before judgment against the defendant. Letingardt v. Deitz, 30—224; Littlejohn v. Lewis, 32—423.

(i) The plaintiff's right to an attachment is not affected by the manner in which the order of attachment is executed. The execution of the order, if wrongful, may be quashed, or the return, if defective, may be

SEC. 320. The order of attachment shall be executed by the sheriff or other officer without delay, in the following manner:

First. Upon real property by leaving with the occupant thereof, or, if there is no occupant, in a conspicuous place thereon, a copy of the order.

Second. Upon personal property, capable of manual delivery, by taking it into his custody and holding it subject to the order of the court.

Third. Upon other personal property by delivering a copy of the order, with a notice specifying the property attached, to the person holding the same; or, as to a debt or demand, to the person owing it; or, as to stock in a corporation, or property held, or a debt or demand owing by it, to the chief officer, or to the secretary, cashier, treasurer or managing agent thereof, and by summoning the person or corporation to answer as a garnishee in the action. The sheriff shall deliver copies to and summon such persons as garnishees as the plaintiff may direct.

SEC. 321. It shall be the duty of every person mentioned in the third subdivision of the last section, to whom the sheriff shall apply therefor, to furnish him with a certificate of the number of shares of the defendant in the stock of the corporation, a description of the property held by such corporation or person belonging to or for the benefit of the defendant, or the amount of the debt owing to the defendant by such corporation or person, whether due or not; and a failure to perform this duty may be punished by the court as a contempt.

SEC. 322. The defendant's personal property shall be first taken under an attachment; if enough thereof is not found, then his real property (*).

SEC. 323. Where the property to be attached is a fund in court, the execution of the order of attachment shall be by leaving with the clerk of the court a copy thereof, with a notice specifying the fund; and where several orders of attachment are executed upon such fund on the same day, they shall be satisfied out of it ratably.

SEC. 324. The sheriff shall not, in executing an order of attachment upon personal property held by the defendant jointly or in common with another person, take possession of such property until there has been executed a bond to such other person, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, to the effect that he shall pay to such person the damages he may sustain by the wrongful suing out of the order. Civil Code, secs. 226-231.

SEC. 325. An order of attachment binds the defendant's property in the county, which might be seized under an execution against him, from the time of the delivery of the order to the sheriff or other officer; and the lien to the plaintiff is completed upon any property or demand of the defendant by executing the order upon it in the manner directed in this chapter (j). Civil Code, sec. 232, as amended 1871.

SEC. 326. If, after an order of attachment has been placed in the hands of the sheriff or other officer, any property of the defendant is removed from the county, the sheriff may pursue and attach the same in another county within twenty-four hours after removal (k).

amended to conform to the facts; in either case there is no cause for discharging the attachment. Kurts v. Dunn, 36-648.

(*) As to when an order of attachment issued by a justice of the peace may be levied upon real property, and for proceedings to sell such property when so levied upon, see SECS. 4125-4126.

(j) See Harrison v. Trader, 29-85; Field, Brown et al. v. Dortch, 34-399; note (q) post.

SEC. 327. The sheriff may deliver any attached property to the person in whose possession it was found, upon the execution, in the presence of the sheriff, of a bond to the plaintiff, by such person, with one or more sufficient sureties, to the effect that the obligors are bound, in double the value of the property, that the defendant shall perform the judgment of the court in the action, or that the property, or its value, shall be forthcoming and subject to the orders of court for the satisfaction of such judgment (l).

SEC. 328. For the purpose of taking this bond, the sheriff shall cause the property to be appraised by three disinterested householders, to be selected and sworn by him to make fair appraisalment on the order of attachment.

SEC. 329. In any proceeding on this bond, it shall not be a defense that the property was not subject to the attachment.

SEC. 330. The sheriff shall return, upon every order of attachment, what he has done under it. The return must show the property attached, the time it was attached, and the disposition made of it (m). Where garnishees are summoned, their names, and the time each was summoned, must be stated. And where real property is attached, the sheriff shall describe it with sufficient certainty to identify it, and, where he can do so, a reference to the deed or title under which the defendant holds it. He shall return with the order all bonds taken under it. Civil Code, secs. 233-237.

DISPOSITION OF ATTACHED PROPERTY.

SEC. 331. The court shall make proper orders for the preservation and use of the property during the pending of the action, and for paying into court or securing the debts and funds attached. It may direct a sale of the property where, by reason of its perishable nature or of the cost of keeping it, a sale would be for the benefit of the parties (n).

SEC. 332. Such sale may be ordered by the judge of the court in vacation, but no such sale shall be made in vacation without reasonable notice in writing to the opposite party or his attorney, if either of them reside in the county in which the cause is pending, of the time and place of the application therefor.

SEC. 333. The sale shall be public, after advertisement, and made in such manner and upon such terms of credit with security as the court or judge, having regard to the probable duration of the action, may direct.

SEC. 334. The proceeds, if collected by the sheriff, together with all the money received by him from garnishees, shall be held and paid over by him under the same requirement and responsibilities of himself and his sureties as

(l) The obligors in a bond executed under this section have a right to retain the property until the court orders a sale of it to satisfy the judgment against the defendant. When such order is made, they may pay off the judgment, or ~~must~~ deliver the property, or its value, to the sheriff. Adams v. Jacoway, 34-542.

By executing the bond provided for in this section, the sureties become parties to the suit and subject to summary judgment in the action, without service of notice or process upon them. Fletcher v. Meukow, 37-206. See SEC. 355 and note (w) thereto.

(m) It is the duty of an officer who seizes property under attachment to retain control of it, so he may return it if required. Foyis v. State, 33-70.

(n) Attached property is within the control of the court; the plaintiff has no right to it as property, and to remove and sell it, with or without the consent of the attaching officer, is a contempt of court which a party commits at his peril. Atkins v. Scope, 38-528.

The court has the inherent power to compel the plaintiff to account for attached property converted by him before giving judgment for him or allowing execution; or, if judgment be against him, may compel him to refund. Id are provided in respect to money deposited in lieu of bail. Civil Code, sec. 238, as amended 1871.

SEC. 335. A judge of the court in which the action is brought or any circuit judge shall have power to appoint a receiver to take charge of, collect and account for all choses in action attached in any action, and said receiver shall have full power to collect the same.

He shall give bond, and in all respects be subject to the same responsibilities as if appointed by the court in term time. And the defendant or any claimant of any attached property may be required by the court or by such receiver to give information on oath respecting such property. Ib., sec. 239 and sec. 791, as amended 1873.

SEC. 336. When it appears by the affidavit of the plaintiff, or by the return of an officer to an order of attachment, that no property is known to the plaintiff or the officer on which the order of attachment can be executed, or not enough to satisfy the plaintiff's claim, the defendant may be required by the court to attend before it and give information on oath respecting his property; and where it also appears, by the affidavit of the plaintiff, that some person other than the defendant has in his possession property of the defendant or evidences of debt, such person may also be required by the court to attend before it and give information on oath respecting the same.

PROCEEDINGS UPON ATTACHMENT.

SEC. 337. If the defendant, at any time before judgment, causes a bond to be executed to the plaintiff by one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the court, to the effect that defendant shall perform the judgment of the court, the attachment shall be discharged and restitution made of any property taken under it, or the proceeds thereof (o). Civil Code, secs. 241 and 242.

SEC. 338. The execution by or for the defendant of such bond shall be an appearance of such defendant in the action (p). Civil Code, sec. 793.

SEC. 339. The bond mentioned in the last two sections may, in vacation, be executed in the presence of the sheriff having the order of attachment in his hands, or, after the return of the order, before the clerk, with the same effect upon the attachment as if executed in court, the sureties, in either case, to be approved by the officer.

SEC. 340. The garnishee may pay the money owing to the defendant by him to the sheriff having in his hands the order of attachment, or into the court. He shall be discharged from liability to the defendant for any money so paid not exceeding the plaintiff's claim. He shall not be subjected to costs beyond those caused by his resistance of the claim against him; and if he discloses the property of the defendant in his hands, or the true amount owing by him, and delivers or pays the same according to the order of the court, he shall be allowed his costs.

SEC. 341. Each garnishee summoned shall appear. The appearance may be in person or by affidavit of the garnishee filed in court, disclosing truly the amount owing by him to the defendant, whether due or not, and the property of the defendant in the possession or under the control of the garnishee; and, in the case of a corporation, any shares of stocks therein held by or for the benefit of the defendant, at or after the service of the order of attachment (q).

(o) In a suit in which no affidavit or bond for attachment was filed nor order of attachment issued, the bond of a surety under this section is unauthorized, answers no purpose, and gives the court, as to him, no jurisdiction. Williams v. Skipwith, 34—830.

(p) See note (l) ante and SEC. 354.

SEC. 342. Where a garnishee, or officer of a corporation summoned as a garnishee, appears in person, he may be examined on oath; and if it is discovered on such examination that, at or after the service of the order of attachment upon him, he or the corporation was possessed of any property of the defendant, or was indebted to him, the court may order the delivery of such property, and the payment or security for the payment of the amount owing by the garnishee into the court, or to such person as it may direct, who shall give bond, with security for the same; or, the court may permit the garnishee to retain the property or the amount owing, upon the execution of a bond, with one or more sufficient sureties, to the effect that the amount shall be paid or the property shall be forthcoming, as the court may direct. Performance of these bonds may be summarily enforced by orders and proceedings as in cases of contempt.

SEC. 343. The court may, on the motion of the plaintiff, compel the appearance in person and examination of any garnishee or officer of a corporation summoned as a garnishee by process as in cases of contempt; or, where a garnishee makes a default by not appearing, it may hear proof of any debt or property owing or held by him to or for the defendant, and make such order in relation thereto as if what is so proved had appeared on the examination of the garnishee.

SEC. 344. Upon the service of a summons upon any garnishee, or after his failure to make a disclosure satisfactory to the plaintiff, the latter may proceed in an action against him by filing a complaint, verified as in other cases, and causing a summons to be issued upon it; and thereupon such proceeding may be had as in other actions, and judgment be rendered in favor of the plaintiff to subject the property of the defendant in the hands of the garnishee, or for what shall appear to be owing to the defendant by the garnishee. The judgment may be enforced by execution or other proper means.

SEC. 345. If judgment is rendered in the action for the defendant, the attachment shall be discharged and the property attached, or its proceeds shall be returned to him (r). Civil Code, secs. 243-249.

SEC. 346. In all actions of attachment in which the defendant shall recover judgment for the discharge of the attachment, the court or jury trying said attachment shall assess the damages sustained by the defendant by reason of such attachment, and the court shall render judgment against the plaintiff and his sureties in the attachment bond for the amount of such damages and cost of the attachment (s). Act Nov. 10, 1875.

(q) The lien of an attachment binds the defendant's property in the county, subject to execution, from the time the writ is delivered to the officer, and a purchase of his property after that time is subject to the lien; but the lien of a garnishment dates from the time the garnishment writ is served upon the garnishee, and a sale and transfer by the defendant of choses in action, not subject to execution, before such service will be good. Bergman v. Sells & Co., 39-97.

The burden of proof that a purchase of debts made on the same day of the service of a garnishment was before the service is upon the purchaser. Ib.

(r) See note (n) ante. Jackman v. Anderson, 33-414.

(s) As to when judgment discharging an attachment is conclusive evidence that it was wrongfully issued, see Boatright v. Stewart, 37-614.

SEC. 347. If judgment is rendered for the plaintiff, the court shall apply in satisfaction thereof—

First. The moneys arising from the sales of perishable property.

Second. The proceeds of the debts and funds attached in the hands of the garnishees. If these are not sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim, the court shall order a sale, by the sheriff, of any other attached property which may be under its control, in the following order:

1. Personal property.

2. Real property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the plaintiff's claim (t).

SEC. 348. No order for the sale of real property so attached shall be made in any action in which the defendant has not appeared or been actually summoned, until there has been filed an affidavit of the plaintiff, or of his agent or attorney, to the effect that the defendant has no personal property, or not enough to satisfy the claim of the plaintiff, in this state, known to the affiant.

SEC. 349. Any surplus of the attached property, or its proceeds, shall be returned to the defendant.

SEC. 350. The sales shall be public, upon such notice and at such time and place as the court may direct. When credits are given, bonds, with security, shall be required; and the credit shall not be longer than three months for personal property, and not less than three or more than twelve months for real property, or on installments equivalent to not more than twelve months' credit on the whole; and upon real property a lien shall be retained. The sales shall be subject to the confirmation of the court.

SEC. 351. The court may compel the delivery to the sheriff, for sale, of any of the attached property for which a bond may have been given, and may proceed summarily on such bond to enforce the delivery of the property or the payment of such sums as may be due upon the bond, by rules and attachments as in cases of contempt.

SEC. 352. The court may, from time to time, make and enforce proper orders respecting the property, sales and the confirmation thereof, and the application and payment of the moneys collected.

SEC. 353. It may order the sheriff to repossess himself, for the purpose of selling it, of any of the attached property which may have passed out of his hands, without having been sold or converted into money; and the sheriff

There should be no assessment of damages upon the discharge of an attachment before the trial or final disposition of the case. Kurtz v. Dunn, 36—648; Holiday v. Cohen, 34—707. As to assessment of damages on attachment bonds in cases where there is no final trial, see the case last cited.

In proceedings under this section and under sections 354, 355, no service of notice or process on the sureties is necessary. Fletcher v. Menken, 37—206.

Upon the discharge of an attachment, only such damages can be recovered by the defendant as are actual, and the natural and direct, consequences of the attachment, and these do not include attorney's fees. Patton v. Garrett, 37—605. Nor damages for injury to credit and loss of prospective profits in business. Holiday v. Cohen, 34—707.

The plaintiff and his sureties are liable for any waste occurring to the attached property in the hands of the officer levying the attachment. Boatright v. Stewart, 37—614. See the same case for additional ruling as to measure of damages caused by wrongful attachment.

shall, under such order, have the same power to take the property as upon an order of attachment (u). Civil Code, secs. 250-256.

SEC. 354. If the plaintiff shall recover against the defendant, and the attachment shall have been discharged upon the execution of a bond, as provided by section three hundred and thirty-seven, then the court shall render judgment against the defendant and his sureties in said bond for the amount recovered and the cost of the suit (v).

SEC. 355. If the defendant shall have given bond for the retention of the property attached, as provided by section three hundred and twenty-seven, and the attachment shall be sustained, the court or jury, in addition to finding the amount of debt or damages due to the plaintiff, shall, upon demand of the plaintiff, also assess the value of the property attached, and the court shall, in addition to judgment against the defendant for the amount found due to the plaintiff and costs, render further judgment, that in case said property shall not be delivered up to the proper officer to be sold, and said officer shall not be able to make said judgment out of the property of said defendant, execution shall then issue against the property of said sureties for so much of said judgment as shall not exceed the value of said property, which execution shall be enforced as in other cases (w). Act Nov. 10, 1875.

SEC. 356. Any person may, before the sale of any attached property, or before the payment to the plaintiff of the proceeds thereof, or of any attached debt, present his complaint, verified by oath, to the court disputing the validity of the attachment, or stating a claim to the property (*), or an interest in or lien on it under any other attachment or otherwise, and setting forth the facts upon which such claim is founded, and his claim shall be investigated.

SEC. 357. A non-resident claimant shall, in such cases, give security for costs.

SEC. 358. The court may hear the proof, or may order a reference to a commissioner, or may impanel a jury to inquire into the facts. If it is found that the claimant has a title to, a lien on or any interest in such property, the court shall make such order as may be necessary to protect his rights. The costs of this proceeding shall be paid by either party at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 359. Where several attachments are executed on the same property the court, on the motion of any one of the attaching plaintiffs, may order a reference to a commissioner to ascertain and report the amounts and priorities of the several attachments.

SEC. 360. The defendant may, at any time before judgment, after reasonable notice to the plaintiff, move the court for additional security on the part of the plaintiff, and if, on such motion, the court is satisfied that the surety in the plaintiff's bond has removed from this state, or is not sufficient for the amount thereof, it may vacate the order of attachment and direct restitution of any property taken under it, unless in a reasonable time, to be fixed by the court, sufficient security is given by the plaintiff (x).

ATTACHMENTS, BEFORE DEBT DUE.

SEC. 361. In an action brought by a creditor against his debtor, the plaintiff may, before his claim is due, have an attachment against the property of the debtor, where—

First. He has sold, conveyed or otherwise disposed of his property, or suffered or permitted it to be sold, with the fraudulent intent to cheat or defraud his creditors, or to hinder or delay them in the collection of their debts; or,

Second. Is about to make such fraudulent sale, conveyance or disposition of his property with such intent; or,

Third. Is about to remove his property, or a material part thereof, out of this state, with the intent or to the effect of cheating or defrauding his creditors, or of hindering or delaying them in the collection of their debts (*). Civil Code, secs. 257-259.

SEC. 362. The attachment authorized by the last section may be granted by the court in which the action is brought, or the clerk or judge thereof, or any circuit judge, in vacation, where the complaint, verified by oath of the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, shows any of the grounds for attachment enumerated in that section, and the nature and amount of the plaintiff's claim, and when the same will become due. Civil Code, secs. 260, 791, as amended 1871, 1873, and by act March 18, 1881.

SEC. 363. The order of the court, or the clerk or judge, granting the attachment, shall specify the amount for which it is allowed, not exceeding a sum sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim and the probable cost of the action (†).

SEC. 364. The order of attachment, as granted by the court, or the clerk or judge, shall not be issued by the clerk until there has been executed in his office such bond on the part of the plaintiff as is directed in cases of attachment, and the provisions of this chapter, so far as they are applicable, shall apply to attachments for debts not due. Civil Code, secs. 261 and 262, and act March 18, 1881.

(x) When objections to an attachment bond are sustained by the court, the filing of an amended bond, under the leave and approval of the court, will cure the defects of the original bond and support the attachment and lien. Bergman v. Sells & Co., 39—97.

(*) Shipping cotton by a debtor of this state to a creditor in another state in payment of a debt, in good faith and without fraudulent intent, will not authorize an attachment even if the debtor be in failing circumstances. Rice, Stiz & Co. v. Pertuis, 40—157.

about to be sold, concealed or removed from the state, or where the plaintiff states, on oath, that he has reasonable cause to believe, and does believe, that, unless prevented by the court, the property will be sold, concealed or removed from the state, an attachment may be granted against the property (y).

SEC. 366. In an action by a vendor of property fraudulently purchased, to vacate the contract and have a restoration of the property, or compensation therefor, where the complaint shows such fraudulent purchase of property and the amount of the plaintiff's claim, and is verified by his oath, an attachment against the property may be granted (z). Civil Code, secs. 264-265.

SEC. 367. The attachments in the cases mentioned in the last two sections may be granted by the court in which the action is brought, or by the judge or clerk thereof, or any judge of the circuit court, upon such terms and conditions as to security on the part of the plaintiff for the damages which may be occasioned by them, and with such direction as to the disposition to be made of the attached property, as may be just and proper under the circumstances of each case. Civil Code, secs. 266, 791, as amended 1871, 1873, and by act March 9, 1877.

SEC. 368. In every case the plaintiff shall be required to give security for the damage to the defendant in an adequate sum to be specified in the order granting the attachment; and, when it may be proper, the court or judge or clerk thereof may direct that the defendant or person in possession of the attached property shall be permitted to retain it upon giving bond, with security, and for such sum as the court or judge or clerk thereof may prescribe.

SEC. 369. No order of attachment shall be issued by the clerk until the bond on the part of the plaintiff, required by the order of the court or judge or clerk thereof, is executed and filed in his office by one or more sufficient securities of the plaintiff.

SEC. 370. The order of attachment shall describe the specific property against which it is issued, and shall have indorsed upon it the direction of the court or judge or clerk thereof as to the disposition to be made of the attached property. It shall be directed, executed and returned as other orders of attachment.

SEC. 371. The sheriff shall make such disposition of the attached property as may be directed by the court, judge or clerk thereof, and when there is no direction upon the subject, he shall safely keep the property, subject to the order of the court. Civil Code, secs. 267-270, as amended by act March 9, 1877.

SEC. 372. The court may, in any of the cases mentioned in sections 365 and 366, direct the terms and conditions of the bond to be executed by the defendant, with security, in order to obtain a discharge of the attachment.

SEC. 373. Where, after an order of attachment against specific property has been placed in the hands of the sheriff, such property is removed from the county, the sheriff may pursue and attach it in another county within twenty-four hours after such removal.

SEC. 374. Where it appears by return of the sheriff, or by the affidavit of the plaintiff, that any specific property against which an order of attachment is issued has been concealed or removed by the defendant, the court may require him to attend and be examined on oath respecting such matter, and may enforce its orders in this respect as in cases of contempt.

SEC. 375. Performance of bonds to obtain discharge of specific attachments, or for the forthcoming of property specifically attached, may in all cases be summarily enforced by rules and proceedings as in cases of contempt.

SEC. 376. The provisions of this chapter may be applied, so far as shall be proper, to regulate the proceedings in cases of attachments against specific property.

DISCHARGE AND REINSTATEMENT OF ATTACHMENT.

SEC. 377. An attachment obtained at the commencement of an action shall be sustained or discharged at the time that judgment is rendered in the action, unless for sufficient cause the court extends the time of deciding upon it. An attachment obtained after the commencement of an action shall not be sustained until the defendant has had the time for controverting it provided in this chapter.

SEC. 378. If judgment is rendered in favor of the defendant, the attachment shall be discharged.

SEC. 379. If judgment is rendered in favor of the plaintiff, and no affidavit or answer, verified by oath, by the defendant filed, denying the statements of the affidavit upon which the attachment was issued, or motion made to discharge it, the court shall sustain the attachment.

SEC. 380. Upon an attachment being sustained, the property attached, or its proceeds, or the securities taken upon the attachment shall, by appropriate orders, be applied in satisfaction of the judgment.

SEC. 381. The defendant may file his affidavit denying all or any of the material statements of the affidavit upon which the attachment is issued, and thereupon the attachment shall be considered as controverted, and the affidavits of the plaintiff and defendant shall be regarded as the pleadings in the attachment, and have no other effect. Where the attachment was obtained at the commencement of an action, the defendant may file his affidavit at such time after the levy of the attachment as is given by law for filing his defense, after the service of the summons, which period may be extended by the court for sufficient cause (aa).

SEC. 382. Either party may take proof by deposition, to be read on the trial of the attachment, or, by permission of the court, the witnesses may be orally examined in court.

SEC. 383. At any time before the attachment is sustained the defendant, upon reasonable notice to the plaintiff, or his attorney, may move the court to discharge the attachment, the hearing of which may be postponed by the court, upon sufficient cause, from time to time; and, upon the hearing, if the court is of opinion that the attachment was obtained without sufficient cause, or that the grounds of attachment, being controverted, are not sustained, the attachment shall be discharged.

SEC. 384. The order for the discharge of an attachment, made at or after the rendition of judgment in the action, shall be final, but shall be subject to appeal. The order sustaining the attachment shall also, in like manner, on the rendition of judgment in the action, be subject to appeal (bb). Civil Code, secs. 271-283.

SEC. 385. The defendant, on reasonable notice to the plaintiff, may, at any time before the term next after the levy of the attachment, move the judge of the court in vacation to discharge the attachment, on the grounds of its having been issued contrary to the provisions of this chapter; and the judge, on an inspection of the papers in the action, or of the authenticated copies of them, shall have the same power of discharging the attachment by his written order, filed by the clerk, as he would have in court, and shall have like power to permit amendments by the plaintiff.

SEC. 386. In all actions in which attachments may be pending in the circuit court, held in any county, and in the inferior courts of said county, and which have been levied upon the same property, in whole or in part, it shall be the duty of the judge of said circuit court, or of said inferior court, upon the motion of either party in said action or actions, to make an order for the removal of the actions pending in the said inferior court to said circuit court, where they shall be tried as if originally brought in said circuit court.

SEC. 387. In all actions which may be brought in the circuit court, and in which attachments may be pending, and which may be levied upon the same property, in whole or in part, the judge of said court where said actions are pending shall have power to make an order for the removal of said actions, or some of them, by change of venue, so as to have them all upon the same docket and under the control of the same court. Such order of removal shall only be made upon petition filed, and in such cases as the judge shall be satisfied that such removal is necessary for the proper distribution of the attached property and the adjustment of the rights of the parties to said actions; and in making said order of removal due regard shall be had to the convenience of the parties.

SEC. 388. Said order of removal may be made in open court, or by the judge of said court in vacation; but in either case notice of the application shall be given to the opposite party, and affidavit may be read for and against such application.

SEC. 389. Where said order of removal is made, it shall be the duty of the clerk of said circuit court, and of the judges of said inferior courts, immediately to remove the papers in said action as directed by said order, and to file an authentic copy of the orders which have been made in said case or cases. If the order of removal is to another county, the clerk shall have the same fees now allowed for like services in other cases of change of venue, to be paid in advance by the applicant for the removal, and to be taxed as costs, and finally paid out of the attached funds, or by such of the parties as the court shall order. Civil Code, secs. 285 and 288-291.

INTERPLEADER.

SEC. 390. When a sheriff shall levy a writ of attachment upon property claimed by a person not a party to the writ, such person may make oath to the property, and the same shall be delivered to him upon his giving bond in favor of the plaintiff, with security, to be approved by the sheriff, in a sum double the value of the property attached, which value shall be ascertained by the oaths of two citizens of the county where the writ is levied, to be chosen by the sheriff (cc).

SEC. 391. Such bond shall be conditioned that the said claimant will interplead at the term of the court to which said writ shall be returnable; that he will prosecute such interpleader to judgment without delay, and if, on the trial of such interpleader, the said property shall be found to be the property of the defendant in such writ, and the plaintiff shall recover judgment against said defendant, the property shall be delivered to said sheriff or his successor in office whenever demanded by such sheriff, after execution upon such judgment comes to his hand to be levied thereon. In case the property so levied upon shall not be delivered as aforesaid, said bond shall have the force and effect of a judgment for the amount of the appraised value of such property and the costs of the interplea, if such appraised value be less than the amount of the judgment rendered in the original case, and, if more, for the amount of said judgment and costs, on which judgment execution against all the obligors may issue.

SEC. 392. Such bond shall be returned by the sheriff with the writ.

SEC. 393. If any person to whom such property is so returned shall neglect or refuse to deliver the same to the sheriff, in accordance with the condition of the bond, it shall be the duty of such sheriff forthwith to return the writ of feri facias issued upon the original judgment in said cause, setting forth the fact that the condition of the bond has been broken (dd).

SEC. 394. On the return of such writ of feri facias, showing the forfeiture of said bond, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court to which said writ is returned to issue an execution in favor of the plaintiff against all the obligors for the amount which may be due on such forfeited bond. Act Jan. 19, 1861.

(cc) See SEC. 356. State, use, Hecht v. Spikes, 33—801.

An interpleader may present his claim to the attached property as an independent proceeding without reference to any controversy between other parties, and the determination of it does not affect the right of property as between him and the defendant in the attachment or other person. Bloom v. McGehee, 38—329.

(dd) For form of judgment entry, etc., on trial of interplea under this act, see Adams et al. v. Hobbs, 27—1.

The appraisement of attached property, when claimed by a third person, as provided for in section 390, is the foundation to the statutory proceedings against the obligors on the interpleader's bond; and, if no such appraisement be made and shown by the officer's return, the statutory judgment on the bond does not accrue. Nor does it accrue then, until the officer shows by his return on the feri facias issued against the defendant in the original action the failure of the obligors to deliver the property according to the conditions of the bond. Turner v. Collier & Davis, 37—323.

ATTACHMENTS OF BOATS, VESSELS, ETC. (ff).

SECTION

395. Boats and vessels, for what contracts liable.
 396. Liable for torts.
 397. Sued by name, attached.
 398. What debts against, have preference.
 399. Attachment, how obtained.
 400. Owners by name, or boat, proceeded against.

SECTION

401. Form of attachment bond.
 402. Declaration or statement of plaintiff, what to state.
 403. Proceedings same as in other cases of.
 404. Who may sue.
 405. Counter bond, effect of.

SECTION 395. All boats and vessels, of all descriptions, built, repaired, equipped or running upon any of the navigable waters of this state, shall be liable for contracts of every kind made by the owners, masters or supercargoes of such boats or vessels, for or on account of such boats or vessels.

SEC. 396. When such boats or vessels shall commit any tort whatever, such boats or vessels shall be liable for the same.

SEC. 397. For all contracts and torts mentioned in this act, such boats or vessels may be sued by name or description, and attached, in the manner now prescribed by law. Act Dec. 7, 1860, secs. 1-3.

SEC. 398. Debts due from the owners or proprietors of the said boats or vessels, for the wages of mariners, boatmen and others employed in the service of said boats or vessels, shall have preference over all other debts and claims and be first paid.

SEC. 399. Any person having a demand, contracted as above mentioned, against any such boat or vessel, upon affidavit being made and filed with the clerk of the circuit court, or any justice of the peace, setting forth the nature and the amount of such demand (gg), and giving bond as in other cases of attachment, may have an attachment, to be issued by the clerk of the circuit court, or by any justice of the peace having jurisdiction of the amount claimed, in any county in the state in which such boat or vessel may be found.

SEC. 400. The plaintiff may make his election either to proceed against the owner or owners by their proper names, or by the name and style of their partnership, if known, or against such boat or vessel by her name or description only, which writ shall authorize and direct the seizure and detention of such boat or vessel, her engine, machinery, sails, rigging, tackle, apparel and furniture, by the sheriff or constable.

SEC. 401. In all cases where such proceedings are instituted against such boat or vessel by her name or description only, the bond to be given by the plaintiff shall be made payable to the "State of Arkansas," for the use and benefit of the owners of such boat or vessel, who may institute a suit thereon, if damages be occasioned by the issuing of such attachment wrongfully, and have recovery thereon, in the same manner as if said bond had been given to such person in his proper name, or in the name and style of the partnership.

(ff) It is settled by the judgment of the supreme court of the United States, that state statutes authorizing proceedings in rem against boats, on causes of action which fall within the admiralty jurisdiction of the district courts of the United States, are in conflict with article III, section 2, of the constitution of the United States, and the act of congress passed in pursuance thereof, and void. See art. III, sec. 2, Const. United States, and note (ff) thereto, and Rose's Digest, p. 75, note.

(gg) For the attachment of boats in the state courts the same affidavit is required as in attachment of other property. Thompson v. Robinson, 34—44.

SEC. 402. Upon the return of such attachment the plaintiff shall file a written declaration or statement against such boat or vessel, by her name or description, or against the owner, as the case may be, briefly reciting the nature of the demand, whether for work and labor done, or materials, firewood or supplies of provisions furnished, and whether at the request of the owner, master, supercargo or consignee of such boat or vessel, and that such demand remains unpaid, annexing to such declaration or statement a bill of the particulars constituting such demand, in separate and distinct items.

SEC. 403. Such attachment shall proceed in like manner, in all other respects, and the like judgment and execution shall be had, as in other cases of attachment.

SEC. 404. All engineers, pilots, mariners, boatmen and others employed in any capacity in or about such boat or vessel, who may be entitled to arrearages of wages in consequence of such services, may proceed to collect such wages under the provisions of this act, and shall be entitled to all the benefits thereof.

SEC. 405. If the owner, master, supercargo or consignee of any such boat or vessel seized by attachment shall, at any time before judgment, give bond to the plaintiff, with security, to be approved of by the clerk of the circuit court, or by the judge in term time or justice of the peace, as the case may be, in double the amount of the demand sued for, conditioned to pay and satisfy such judgment as the court or justice may render against such boat or vessel, or against such owner, as the case may be, together with cost of suit, then such boat or vessel shall forthwith be discharged from such attachment, seizure and detention, but shall, nevertheless, be liable to be taken and sold on any execution to be issued on any such judgment, or upon the judgment that may be rendered at any time on the bond required to be given by the defendant party. Rev. Stat., chap. 14.

HOW ADMITTED TO PRACTICE.

SECTION 406. Every male citizen of the age of twenty-one years, of good moral character, and who possesses the requisite qualifications of learning and ability, may, upon application, and in the manner hereinafter provided, be admitted to practice as an attorney and counselor at law in the courts of this state.

SEC. 407. No judge of the supreme, circuit or other court shall have power to license any applicant to practice law, but such power shall be exercised only by the courts of the state, by proper orders, duly recorded.

SEC. 408. Every such applicant shall be examined in open court; shall, before his admission, produce to the court by sworn petition satisfactory proof of the foregoing qualifications, and shall take an oath to support the constitution of the United States and of this state, and faithfully to discharge the duties of the office upon which he is about to enter. Civil Code, sec. 760, as amended 1873.

SEC. 409. It shall be the duty of the clerk of each court of record to keep a register, in which he shall register and enroll every attorney or counselor at law licensed to practice in the court of which he is clerk.

SEC. 410. Every person who shall attempt to practice law in any court of record without being licensed, sworn and registered, as required in this act, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and shall be punished as in other cases of contempt (a).

SEC. 411. No clerk of any court of record, or sheriff, while he continues to act as such, shall, under any pretense whatever, act as an attorney at law in the court of which he is clerk, or in the county in which he is sheriff.

SEC. 412. If any suit in any court of record shall be dismissed on account of the negligence of any attorney, or for his non-attendance at the court, without having a just and reasonable excuse for such absence, it shall be at the costs of the attorney, and such attorney shall be liable for all damages his client may have sustained by such dismissal, or by any other neglect of his duty (b).

SEC. 413. If any attorney, receiving money for his client, shall refuse or fail to pay the same over on demand, such attorney may be proceeded

(a) Every attorney regularly licensed and duly admitted to practice in the courts of this state possesses a general license to appear in those courts for any suitors who may retain him; but his license is not of itself an authority to appear for any particular person until he is in fact employed by or retained for him. Cartwell v. Menifee, 2—356. This employment may be proved by circumstances as well as by warrant of attorney. Tally v. Reynolds, 1—99. As a general rule, the mere appearance of an attorney for a party is deemed sufficient for the opposite party and for the court, who will look no further, and will proceed as if he had sufficient authority, and leave any party who may be injured to his action unless there appear to be fraud or collusion in the case; but a party may before judgment, upon a sufficient showing, to be judged of by the court, require the attorney representing his adversary to show his authority. To this purpose he must show to the court by affidavit facts sufficient to raise a reasonable presumption that the attorney is acting without authority. The simple allegation that a party is informed and believes that the attorney has no authority, without stating the facts upon which it is founded, is not sufficient to call for this authority. Same cases. Ordinarily an attorney is authorized to collect a judgment recovered for his client, and to execute in the name of his client a proper acquittance therefor. His authority continues until the judgment is collected, unless he is sooner discharged. Conway Co. v. L. R. & F. S. Railway Co., 39—50; see Saltski v. Boyd, 32—74. As to the lien which an attorney has for his fees upon a judgment recovered for his client, see SECS. 3935—3939; Sexton v. Pike, 13—193; Walker v. Scott & Mason, Id., 644.

(b) An attorney is not liable in the discharge of his official duty for claims put into his hands to collect as such attorney, unless it be shown that he has been guilty of culpable negligence in the prosecution of his suit, and thereby the plaintiff has lost his debt. Palmer & Southmayd v. Ashley & Ringo, 3—75; Cummins v. McClain, 2—402; Sevier v. Holiday, Id., 512.

against in a summary way, on motion before the circuit court, either in the county in which he may reside or in the county in which he received the money, and the court shall render judgment against him for the amount of money received by such attorney for the use of his client, with costs, and he shall be further dealt with as the court may deem just under the provisions of this act (c).

MAY BE SUSPENDED FROM PRACTICE, HOW.

SEC. 414. Any attorney who shall be guilty of any felony or infamous crime, or improperly retaining his client's money, or of any malpractice, deceit or misdemeanor in his professional capacity, or shall be an habitual drunkard, or shall be guilty of any ungentlemanly conduct in the practice of his profession, may be removed or suspended from practice upon charges exhibited against him, and proceedings thereon had as hereinafter provided (d).

SEC. 415. The charges shall be exhibited in the county in which the offense shall have been committed, or in which the accused may reside.

SEC. 416. The court in which such charges may be exhibited shall fix a time for the hearing thereof, allowing a reasonable time to notify the accused.

SEC. 417. The clerk of the court in which such charges may be exhibited shall issue a citation, notifying the accused to appear at the time and place fixed for the hearing and answer the charges exhibited against him, to which a copy of the charges shall be attached; and such citation may be served in any county in this state.

SEC. 418. The citation shall be served in the same manner as a summons in suits at law, and the service shall be at least ten days before the return day thereof.

SEC. 419. If the accused shall fail to appear, according to the command of the citation, his appearance may be compelled by attachment, or the court may proceed ex parte.

SEC. 420. If the charges allege a conviction for an indictable offense, the court shall, on the production of the record of conviction, remove the person so convicted or suspend him from practice for a limited time, according to the nature of the offense, without further trial.

SEC. 421. Upon charges other than as in the preceding section, the court shall have power only to suspend the accused from practice until the facts shall be ascertained in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

SEC. 422. If the charges be for an indictable offense, and no indictment be found, or, being found, shall not be prosecuted to trial within six months, the suspension shall be discontinued, unless the delay be produced by the absence

(c) An attorney can not be held liable for money collected by him as such, unless a demand be made upon him, and he refuses to pay it over or remit it according to instructions of his client. His liability depends upon the principle of agency, and he holds money, when collected, as bailee. See cases cited at note (b); also Taylor v. Spears, 6—361. But it is the duty of an attorney who has collected money as such to give notice of the fact to his client within a reasonable time, and if he fails to do so he may be sued without previous demand. Jett v. Hempstead, 25—462. If the client has notice, he must make demand in a reasonable time. Whitehead v. Wells, 29—99. See note (e) to SEC. 4478.

For notice and method of proceeding under this section, see SECS. 3957—3962.

(d) The circuit court has the inherent power to disbar an attorney who makes a personal attack upon the judge for his action as such; but the attorney is entitled to notice and an opportunity to be heard in defense, the usual practice being to make charges in writing against the attorney and issue a rule upon him to show cause why he should not be disbarred. Beene v. State, 22—149. See note (e) post.

or the procurement of the accused, in which case the suspension may continue until the final decision.

SEC. 423. The record of conviction or acquittal of any indictable offense shall in all cases be conclusive evidence of the facts, and the court shall proceed thereon accordingly.

SEC. 424. When the matter charged is not indictable, the trial of the facts alleged shall be had in the court in which the charges are pending, which trial shall be by jury, or, if the accused fails to appear, or, appearing, does not require a jury, by the court.

SEC. 425. In all cases of conviction the court shall pronounce judgment of removal or suspension, according to the facts found.

SEC. 426. All charges exhibited under this act shall be verified by affidavit, and shall be prosecuted by the prosecuting attorney of the circuit in which the charges are pending.

SEC. 427. In all cases of a trial of charges, the accused may except to any decision of the court, and may prosecute an appeal to the supreme court, or writ of error, in all respects as in actions at law (e).

SEC. 428. Every judgment of removal or suspension made in pursuance of this act shall operate, while it continues in force, as a removal or suspension from practice in all the courts of this state.

SEC. 429. In all cases of conviction for felony, or other infamous crime, of any attorney at law in any other state or territory of the United States, such conviction, on the production of a copy of the record thereof, shall have the same effect as if such attorney had been convicted in this state.

SEC. 430. In all cases of conviction of any of the crimes specified in the preceding section, if the attorney shall have been licensed in this state, after such conviction his license shall be revoked in the same manner as if the conviction had been had after the granting of such license. Rev. Stat., chap. 15, secs. 6-28.

- 442. Clerk to charge collector, and certify.
- 443. Clerk to indorse certificate of approval on bond, when.
- 444. Bond of auctioneer, how sued on; duty of collectors as to auctioneers.

SECTION 431. No person shall exercise the trade or business of a public auctioneer, by selling any goods or other property subject to duty under this law, without a license (a), to be issued according to law.

(e) A writ of error will lie to the judgment of the circuit court striking an attorney from the roll. Beene v. State, 22—149.

(a) For amount of license and how issued, see SECS. 5596 and 5795-5798. See Henry v. State, 26—523; Straub & Lohman v. Gordon, 27—625. Cities and incorporated towns may also tax auctioneers. See SEC. 759.

SEC. 432. Every person who shall exercise the trade or business of an auctioneer without a license shall forfeit, for every sale, five hundred dollars, together with the amount of duty payable by law on the property sold (b).

SEC. 433. The penalty prescribed in the last preceding section shall be recovered by action, founded on this statute, one-half to the person prosecuting for the same and the other half for the use of the school fund.

SEC. 434. Before any license shall be granted, the applicant shall give bond to the state, in any sum not less than one nor more than three thousand dollars, with one or more sufficient securities, the amount of the bond and the sufficiency of the security to be determined by the collector, with condition that he will, at each term of the county court of the county for which he is auctioneer, while he shall continue the business of auctioneer, render to the county court of his county a true and particular account, in writing, of the aggregate amount in money of all property, subject to duty by this law, sold by him at auction or at private sale, at his auction rooms—that is to say, from the date of the bond until the term of the county court next thereafter, and from thenceforth from term to term of said court, so long as he shall continue to exercise the business of an auctioneer, and shall also pay all such sums of money as shall be due to the county upon such sales to the collector of the proper county, and such bond shall be filed in the office of the county clerk.

SEC. 435. There shall be levied and paid upon all sales of property at auction, except as hereinafter excepted, a tax or duty to the county at the following rates, in proportion to the prices for which the same may be sold:

First. On all sales of personal property, one and a half per centum.

Second. On all sales of real estate, or leasehold interest in land, one-half of one per centum.

SEC. 436. In all cases where the auctioneer, or owner of any property sold, or any person employed by either of them, shall become the purchaser, such sales shall be subject to the same duties as if any other person had become the purchaser.

SEC. 437. All sales at auction of any part or parcel of any merchandise, or other property, with a design to ascertain and fix a price for the whole or any part thereof, without exposing the whole or such other part to public sale, shall be deemed a sale at auction of the whole or such part of the property the price of which was designed to be fixed by such public sale of the part, and duties shall be paid thereon accordingly.

SEC. 438. Sales of property at auction shall be free of duty in the following cases:

First. When directed by any statute of the United States.

Second. In execution of any order, judgment or decree of any court or justice of the peace of this state or court of the United States.

Third. In cases of bankruptcy or insolvency, pursuant to any law of this state or the United States.

Fourth. In consequence of any general assignment of property and effects by any debtor for the benefit of his creditors.

Fifth. Property of deceased persons sold by authority of executors or administrators.

(b) He is also liable to criminal prosecution and punishment. SEC. 1784.

Sixth. Boats, vessels, rafts, lumber and other property wrecked, stranded or found adrift on any of the waters of or adjoining this state.

Seventh. Live stock, agricultural productions, farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture sold at the residence of the owner.

Eighth. Land or leasehold interest therein sold on the premises.

SEC. 439. The auctioneer shall pay over to the collectors of the proper county all the duties imposed by this act, and for that purpose may retain the amount thereof out of the proceeds of the property sold.

SEC. 440. Auctioneers shall render their accounts in accordance with the condition of their bonds to the county court, and shall make oath before such court, to the best of their knowledge and belief, to the truth of such account rendered; in default of which such accounts shall not be deemed truly rendered according to the condition of the bond.

SEC. 441. Upon such account being rendered, the county court shall ascertain the amount of the duties to be paid by the auctioneer, and give him a certificate thereof; and the auctioneer shall pay the same to the collector within twenty days thereafter, and upon producing to the clerk the receipt of the collector for the amount a quietus shall be given therefor.

SEC. 442. The clerk of the county shall charge the collector with the amount received, and certify the same to the county treasurer without delay, and the treasurer shall charge the collector accordingly.

SEC. 443. When it shall appear to the satisfaction of the clerk of the county court that any auctioneer has fulfilled the condition of his bond and the requisitions of this act, he shall indorse a certificate thereof upon the bond, which shall be prima facie evidence of the performance of the condition down to that time.

SEC. 444. When any auctioneer shall fail to fulfill the condition of his bond or the requisitions of this act, the clerk shall cause him to be prosecuted on his bond; and, if judgment shall be rendered against him, his license shall thereby be vacated, and he shall be incapable of receiving a new license unless by the express order of the county court. It shall be the duty of the collectors in the several counties to collect the duties imposed by this act, and to prosecute for all fines and forfeitures which may be incurred under it. Rev. Stat., chap. 17.

CHAPTER XIII.

 458. Fees of county judge and other officers.

SECTION 445. The county court shall have exclusive original jurisdiction in all cases and matters relating to bastardy (*). Act Nov. 29, 1875, sec. 1.

SEC. 446. On complaint made to the county court by any woman resident of the county, who shall have been delivered of a bastard child, or who may be pregnant with a child which if born alive may be a bastard, charging on oath any person with being the father of such child, the judge of such court may order the clerk to issue a warrant, or may issue such warrant himself, in the name of the state against the accused person, to the sheriff, coroner or any constable of the county, commanding him forthwith to arrest and bring the accused person before the court to answer such charge, and if complaint in form as aforesaid be made before the judge in vacation of the court he shall issue his warrant against the accused, directed as aforesaid, commanding the officer to have the person accused before the judge at any time that may be fixed by the judge in said warrant for the trial; provided, that no such accused person shall be forced into trial until after the expiration of twenty-four hours after his arrest; and the judge or clerk issuing such warrant shall indorse on such warrant the amount of bail to be taken and approved by the officer executing said warrant, conditioned that the defendant will make his personal appearance at the time set for trial and answer such charge, and not depart without leave, and on the giving of such bond the accused shall be discharged (a). Ib., sec. 2, as amended by Act March 17, 1879.

SEC. 447. The affidavit, warrant and all papers in the case shall be returned to and filed in the office of the county clerk, on or before the first day of the next term. Ib., sec. 3.

SEC. 448. If the child is not born when the accused appears before the court or judge, the case shall be continued until the child is born, and then the case shall be proceeded with, and the defendant shall remain bound on his bail bond.

(a) See Jackson v. State, 29—62.

SEC. 449. When the case is ready for trial, if the accused denies being the father of such child, the court or judge shall hear the evidence and decide the case as other issues at law, but, if a jury is demanded by the accused, the court shall order a jury to be summoned, who shall be elected, empanelled and sworn to try the issue joined and a true verdict render according to evidence, as in other cases at law.

SEC. 450. If it is found by the court or the verdict of a jury that the accused is the father of the child, the court shall render judgment against him for the lying-in expenses in favor of the mother, or person who incurred the same, if required or claimed, for a sum not less than five dollars nor more than fifteen dollars; and if the same shall not be paid upon the rendition of such judgment, together with all costs which may be adjudged against him in said case, then the court shall have the power to commit the accused person to jail until the same shall be paid, with all costs; and, if claimed by the mother, the court or judge shall give judgment for a monthly sum of not less than one dollar nor more than three dollars per month, for every month from the birth of the child until it shall attain the age of seven years, and shall further order that the father enter into bond to the State of Arkansas in the penal sum of three hundred dollars, with good and sufficient security, conditioned to be void if such person or his executors or administrators shall indemnify each county in this state from all costs and expenses for the maintenance or otherwise of such child while under the age of seven years, and for the payment of the monthly dues that may be adjudged as aforesaid, which bond shall be approved by the judge and an entry made on the record of its conditions and the securities thereon.

SEC. 451. If such person shall refuse or neglect to enter into bond with security as above provided, the county judge shall commit him to the jail of the county, there to remain until he shall comply with such order or until he shall be otherwise discharged according to law. Ib., secs. 4 and 5, as amended by Act March 17, 1879.

SEC. 452. The judgment may be revived against the executor or administrator of the person against whom the same was rendered.

SEC. 453. An appeal will lie from a judgment of the county court to the circuit court in all cases of bastardy, as in cases of appeal from judgments of justices of the peace to circuit courts; but no appeal shall be granted until affidavit and appeal bond is filed (*). When the appeal is granted, the clerk of the county court shall make, certify and transmit a certified copy of all the papers, judgment and orders of the county court to the circuit clerk, who shall give receipt for such transcript, and also enter the same on the docket of the circuit court.

SEC. 454. The attorney prosecuting for the circuit shall conduct the suit on behalf of the state on all appeals to the circuit court in cases of bastardy.

SEC. 455. The circuit court shall hear the case de novo, and make such orders and render such judgment on appeal as the law and evidence require.

SEC. 456. The mother shall be a competent witness in all cases of bastardy, unless she be legally incompetent in any case (b); and if she be dead at the BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

SECTION 459. No person within this state shall be charged as an acceptor of any bill of exchange, unless his acceptance shall be in writing.

SEC. 460. If such acceptance be written on a paper other than the bill, it shall not bind the acceptor, except in favor of a person to whom such acceptance shall have been shown, and who, on the faith thereof, shall have received the bill for a valuable consideration.

SEC. 461. An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill before it is drawn shall be deemed an actual acceptance in favor of every person who, in faith thereof, shall have received the bill for a valuable consideration.

SEC. 462. Every holder of a bill, on presenting the same for acceptance, may require the acceptance to be written on the bill; and a refusal to comply with such request shall be deemed a refusal to accept, and the bill may be protested for non-acceptance.

SEC. 463. Nothing in the preceding sections shall be so construed as to impair the right of any person to whom a promise to accept a bill may have been made, and who, on the faith of such promise, shall have drawn or negotiated the bill, to recover damages of the party making such promise on his refusal to accept such bill.

SEC. 464. Every person upon whom a bill of exchange is drawn, and to whom the same may be delivered for acceptance, who shall destroy such bill, or refuse within twenty-four hours after such delivery, or within such time as the holder may allow, to return the bill, accepted or non-accepted, to the holder, shall be deemed to have accepted the same. Rev. Stat., chap. 20, secs. 1-6.

SEC. 465. In all cases where bills of exchange, drafts or promissory notes shall become due and payable on Sunday, Christmas, or on the fourth day of July, the same shall be payable on the day next preceding such Sunday, Christmas and fourth day of July, and, in case of non-payment, may be noted and protested on the next preceding day: Provided, That it shall not be necessary for the holder or holders of such bills of exchange, drafts or promissory notes to give notice of the dishonor thereof until the next day after such Sunday, Christmas or fourth day of July, and every such notice so given shall be valid and effectual to all intents and purposes. Act Dec. 16, 1838.

SEC. 466. Every bill of exchange, expressed to be for value received, drawn or negotiated within this state, payable after date to order or bearer, which shall be duly presented for acceptance or payment, and protested for non-acceptance or non-payment, shall be subject to damages in the following cases (a):

First. If the bill shall have been drawn on any person at any place within this state, at the rate of two per centum on the principal sum specified in the bill.

Second. If the bill shall have been drawn on any person, and payable in any of the States of Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, or any point on the Ohio River, at the rate of four per centum on the principal sum in such bill specified.

Third. If the bill shall have been drawn on any person, and payable at any place within the limits of the United States not hereinbefore expressed, at the rate of five per centum on the principal sum specified in the bill.

Fourth. If the bill shall have been drawn on any person, and payable at any port or place beyond the limits of the United States, at the rate of ten per centum on the sum specified in the bill.

SEC. 467. If any bill of exchange, expressed to be for value received, and made payable to order or bearer, shall be drawn on any person at any place within this state, and accepted and protested for non-payment, there shall be allowed and paid to the holder, by the acceptor, damages in the following cases:

First. If the bill be drawn by any person, at any place within this state, at the rate of two per centum on the principal sum therein specified.

(a) See Craig v. Price, 23—633.

Second. If the bill be drawn by any person at any place without this state, but within the limits of the United States, at the rate of six per centum on the sum therein specified.

Third. If the bill be drawn by any person at any place without the limits of the United States, at the rate of ten per centum on the sum therein specified.

SEC. 468. In addition to the damages allowed in the two preceding sections to the holder of any bill of exchange protested for non-payment or non-acceptance, he shall be entitled to costs of protest and interest at the rate of ten per centum per annum on the amount specified in the bill, from the date of the protest until the amount of such bill shall be paid.

SEC. 469. The holder of any bill of exchange protested for non-acceptance or non-payment, when such protest shall have been properly made before any duly qualified notary public, shall have his action at law against the drawer, indorser and acceptor, or either of them, for the recovery of the amount of such bill so protested, together with all the damages, interest and costs that may have accrued thereon according to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 470. The damages allowed by this act shall be recovered only by the holder of the bill, who shall have purchased or acquired some interest in the same for a valuable consideration.

SEC. 471. The term "bill of exchange," as used in this act, shall be so construed as to include all drafts or orders drawn by one person on another for the payment of a sum of money specified therein (b).

SEC. 472. The remedy on bills of exchange, foreign and inland, and on promissory notes shall be governed by the rules of the law merchant as to days of grace, protest and notice (c). Rev. Stat., chap. 20.

PROMISSORY NOTES, ETC.

SEC. 473. All bonds, bills, notes, agreements and contracts, in writing, for the payment of money or property, or for both money and property, shall be assignable (d). Rev. Stat., chap. 11, sec. 1.

SEC. 474. The lien or equity held or possessed by the vendor of real estate, when the same is expressed upon or appears from the face of the deed or conveyance, shall inure to the benefit of the assignee of the note or obligation

(b) An order was in the following form: "Please pay to — the sum of $550, and the same will be credited on your joint note to me." Held that this was a bill of exchange payable on demand, and that it was the duty of the payee to present it in due time, and, if dishonored, to give due notice to the drawer. Adams v. Boyd, 33—33. See also Minehart v. Handlin, 37—276.

(c) The certificate of a notary is evidence of presentment, and also of notice of non-payment to indorser, when he gives such notice and certifies to that fact. SECS. 2831, 2832.

When the parties to a bill of exchange reside at different places, notice of its dishonor should be deposited in the post-office in time to go by the mail of the day after the dishonor, if the mail is not closed before early and convenient business hours of that day, in which case it must be sent by the next mail thereafter; or it may be sent by messenger or given personally, but must reach the party at furthest on the same day it would have reached him in due course of mail. Minehart v. Handlin, 37—276.

When the drawer of a bill of exchange promises to furnish the accommodation acceptor the means to meet the paper at maturity, and fails to do so, he is not entitled to notice of non-payment. Harrison v. Trader, 29—85.

The indorser of a paid bill or note is liable on his indorsement without notice or demand. Airy v. Nelson & Hanks, 39—43.

given for the purchase money of such real estate, and may be enforced by such assignee (e). Civil Code, sec. 28, as amended April 24, 1873.

SEC. 475. Nothing contained in this act shall change the nature of the defense, or prevent the allowance of discounts or off-sets, either in law or equity, that any defendant may have against the original assignor previous to the assignment, or against the plaintiff or assignee after the assignment (f). Rev. Stat., chap. 11, sec. 3.

SEC. 476. Nothing in the preceding section shall apply to a bill of exchange or negotiable promissory note transferred in good faith and for value before maturity; but such instruments shall be governed in all respects by the rules of the law merchant concerning commercial and negotiable paper (g). Act April 10, 1869, and Civil Code, sec. 26, as amended April 24, 1873.

SEC. 477. The assignee of any instrument in writing made assignable by law, on bringing suit thereon, shall not be required to prove said assignment, unless the defendant shall annex to his answer an affidavit denying such assignment, and alleging that he verily believes that one or more of the assignments on such instrument was forged.

SEC. 478. It shall not be necessary for any assignee to set forth the consideration of any of the assignments on any such assigned paper.

SEC. 479. All assignments of any instrument of writing shall bear date of the true day upon which such assignment was made (h).

SEC. 480. All blank assignments shall be taken to have been made on such day as shall be most to the advantage of the defendant (i).

SEC. 481. No assignor shall be able to release any part of the consideration of the instrument by him assigned after the assignment thereof.

SEC. 482. All indorsers or assignors of any instrument in writing assignable by law, for the payment of money alone, on receiving due notice of the non-payment or protest of any such indorsed or assigned instrument in writing, shall be equally liable with the original maker, obligor or payee of such instrument, and may be sued for the same at the same time with the maker, obligee or payee thereof, or may be sued separately (j).

SEC. 483. The plaintiff in such several actions shall collect only the amount of his demand, with interest due thereon, and the costs on only one of such actions. Rev. Stat., chap. 11, secs. 5-10.

(e) See Campbell v. Rankin, 28—407; Richardson & May v. Hamlett, 33—237; Stephens v. Anthony, 37—571; Tatierferro v. Barnett, Id., 511.

(f) See Tatum v. Kelley, 25—209; Ruddell v. Landers, Id., 238; Sayre v. Thompson, 28—336.

(g) See Sayre v. Thompson, 28—338. A promissory note was executed on Sunday, but bore date the following day, and was indorsed before maturity, for value; held that the indorsee was not affected by the original invalidity of the instrument. Triebler v. Commercial Bank of St. Louis, 31—128; Cleudenuin v. Southerland, Id., 20; Nisbett v. Brown & Norton, 30—590; Overton v. Mathevs, 35—146.

The assignee of a note after maturity takes it subject to the same defenses which the maker has against the assignor. Sorrells v. McHenry, 38—127; Williamson v. Doby, 36—692.

(h) See Ruddell v. Landers, 25—238.

(i) This only applies in the absence of evidence as to the date of the assignment. Triebler v. Commercial Bank of St. Louis, 31—128.

(j) See SECS. 4943, 4944, 3900, 5165-5167. A written promise to pay county scrip is not a promissory note, but a special agreement to deliver property, and the assignor of such instrument is not liable as an indorser of a note for the payment of money, but only after the maker has been prosecuted to insolvency, or is shown to be so notoriously insolvent as to render a suit against him useless. Jones v. State, 40—344.

CHAPTER XV.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

SECTION

484. Governor to appoint six health commissioners; qualifications.
485. Official oath; certificates of appointment; term of office; vacancies.
486. Board of health, when to meet; election of president and secretary; powers of secretary.
487. By-laws of board; committees.
488. Record of proceedings.
489. Duty and powers of board; reports and publications.

SECTION

490. Registration of births, marriages and deaths; registration of vital statistics, etc.
491. Governor may require board to examine into questions affecting security of life; report of examination, and power of governor.
492. Representatives of local boards.
493. Appointments to do sanitary service; inspections.
494. Annual reports to governor, on vital statistics.
495. Secretary's salary.

SECTION 484. Within thirty days after the passage of this act the governor shall appoint six state commissioners of health, a majority of whom shall be graduates of legally constituted medical colleges, and of not less than seven years' practice of their profession in the State of Arkansas. The acceptance of an appointment on the state board shall not, in any way, invalidate or affect the official position of any person in his local board, and shall not be construed to vacate his office in such local board.

SEC. 485. The said commissioners, so appointed, shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution for state officers, and receive from the secretary of state certificates of their appointments. They shall hold their office for two years, unless discharged for good cause. When a vacancy occurs the governor shall fill such vacancy as soon as the fact comes to his knowledge.

SEC. 486. The state board of health shall meet at least once in every three months, and as much oftener as they shall deem necessary. No member of the board, except the secretary, shall receive any pay, but the actual traveling expenses of the members and officers of said board while engaged in their duties shall be allowed and paid out of the appropriation made for its support. They shall elect annually one member of the board to be president. They shall also elect, from their number or otherwise, a person of skill and experience in public health duties and sanitary science, to be the secretary and executive officer of said board, who shall have all the powers and privileges of a member of the board, except in regard to voting upon matters relating to his own office and duties as secretary, and he shall hold said office for two years. But he may be removed for cause, after a full hearing by the board, a majority of members voting therefor.

SEC. 487. The state board of health may adopt by-laws regulating the transaction of its business, and provide therein for the appointment of committees, to whom it shall delegate authority and power for the work committed to them, and it may also adopt and use an official seal. Four members may constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

SEC. 488. The secretary shall keep a record of the acts and proceedings of the board, perform and superintend the work prescribed in this act and such other duties as the board may order.

SEC. 489. Said board shall take cognizance of the interests of health and life among the people of the state. They shall make inquiries in respect to the causes of disease, and especially epidemics, and investigate the sources of mortality, and the effects of localities, employments and other conditions upon the public health. It shall be the duty of said board to obtain, collect and preserve such information relating to deaths, diseases and health as may be useful in the discharge of its duties and contribute to the promotion of health or the security of life in the state. And it shall be the duty of all health officers and boards of health in the state to communicate to said state board of health copies of all their reports and publications; also such sanitary information as may be useful.

SEC. 490. It shall be the duty of the state board of health to have the general supervision of the state system of registration of births, marriages and deaths, and also the registration of prevalent diseases. Said board shall prepare the necessary methods and forms for obtaining and preserving such records, and to insure the faithful registration of the same in the several counties. The said board of health shall recommend such forms and amendments of law as shall be deemed necessary for the thorough organization and efficiency of the registration of vital statistics throughout the state. The secretary of said state board of health shall be the superintendent of registration of vital statistics of the state, as supervised by the said board. The clerical duties and safe-keeping of the bureau of vital statistics thus created shall be provided for by the secretary of state, who shall also provide and furnish such apartment and stationery as said board shall require in the discharge of its duties. And the state board of health shall also prepare the necessary methods and forms and prescribe the rules regulating the issue and use of transfer permits, with the proper coupons attached thereto, to be issued by local organized boards of health, for the transportation of the dead bodies of persons which are to be carried for burial beyond the limits of the counties where the death occurred, and in all cases the said state board of health shall require the coupons to be attached to such permits, to be detached and preserved by every common carrier, or the person in charge of any vessel, railroad train or vehicle to whom such dead bodies shall be delivered for transportation. Any violation of such rules and regulations shall be a misdemeanor.

SEC. 491. At any time the governor may require the state board of health to examine into nuisances or questions affecting the security of life and health in any locality, and in such case the said board shall have all necessary powers to make such examinations, and it shall report the results thereof to the governor within the limits of time which he shall prescribe for such examination and report. The report of such examination, when approved by the governor, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and the governor may, in relation to the matters or things found and certified by the state board of health to be a nuisance, declare them to be public nuisances, and order them to be changed as he shall direct, or abated and removed. Any violation of such an order shall be held and punished as a misdemeanor, and thereafter the governor may, by his order in writing, certified under his official seal, directed to the officers of the county in which the said nuisance shall be situated, require the district attorney, the sheriff and the other officers of every such county to take all necessary measures to execute and to have obeyed the order of the governor.

SEC. 492. At any time, at the request of the state board of health, or whenever the governor shall, as hereinbefore provided, have directed an examination and report to be made by the state board of health into any alleged nuisance, any board of health of any city of the state may appoint and select any one of its officers as its representative during such examination of any nuisance, and such representative officer shall have a seat at and be entitled to take part in all the deliberations of the state board of health during such investigation, but without the right to vote.

SEC. 493. Said board may from time to time engage suitable persons to render sanitary service, and to make or supervise practical and scientific investigations and examinations requiring expert skill, and to prepare plans, and report relative thereto. And it is hereby made the duty of all officers and agents having the control, charge or custody of any public structure, work, ground or erection, or of any plan, description, outlines, drawings or charts thereof or relating thereto, made, kept or controlled under any public authority, to permit and facilitate the examination and inspection; and the making of copies of the same by any officer or person by said board authorized, and the members of said board and such other officers or persons as may at any time be by said board authorized may, without fee or hindrance, enter, examine and survey all grounds, erections, vehicles, structures, apartments, buildings and plans whereby the public health may be promoted or in anywise preserved.

SEC. 494. It shall be the duty of said board, on or before the first of December in each year, to make a report in writing to the governor upon the vital statistics and the sanitary condition and prospects of the state; and such report shall set forth the action of said board and of its officers and agents and the names thereof for the past year, and may contain other useful information, and shall suggest any further or additional legislation, action or precautions deemed proper for the public health, or for the better protection of life and health. And the annual report of said board shall also contain a detailed statement of all money paid out by or on account of said board, and a detailed statement of the manner of its expenditure during the year last past.

SEC. 495. The salary of the secretary of the board of health shall be one thousand dollars per annum. Act March 23, 1881.

COUNTY BRIDGES (*).

SECTION 496. When a bridge is necessary over any stream, the county court is authorized and empowered to contract for the building and keeping the same in repair; and, when it shall be necessary over any stream which divides one county from another, the county court of each county shall join in the agreement for building and keeping the same in repair, and the cost thereof shall be defrayed by both counties, in proportion to the assessed value of real and personal property in each (a). Act April 3, 1873, sec. 16.

BRIDGES ON PUBLIC ROADS.

SEC. 497. The bridges on the public roads of this state shall be divided into three classes, to wit: Bridges over sixty feet in length, exclusive of abutments, shall be bridges of the first class; bridges of not less than thirty nor more than sixty feet in length, exclusive of abutments, shall comprise the second class; and all bridges less than thirty feet in length shall comprise the third class.

SEC. 498. Bridges of the first, second and third classes shall be built in the manner hereinafter provided, and it shall be left to the discretion of the county court to determine when bridges of the length of sixty feet and under shall be built at the cost of the county.

SEC. 499. Bridges of the first class shall be built at the expense of the county in which they are situated, and it shall be the duty of the county court, when it has been determined to build any bridge of the first class, to appoint a commission of three competent persons, who shall be property-holders of the county, whose duty it shall be to make a personal examination of the place where the bridge is needed, and report to the court, with the plans and specifications best adapted to the ground where the bridge is to be erected. Then, if it is determined by the court to build the bridge, and the plans and specifications have been adopted, it shall be the duty of the court to give notice by posting three notices at the court-house and one at each precinct in the county, setting forth the plans and specifications of the bridge, with the place where it is to be built and the time when it is to be completed. The contract for the same shall be let at public outcry at the court-house door to the lowest and best bidder.

(*) All contracts for erecting or repairing public bridges in any county, or for materials therefor, shall be given to the lowest responsible bidder under such regulations as may be provided by law. Art. XIX, sec. 16, Const.

(a) But see SECS. 497-502.

SEC. 500. The person obtaining the contract shall proceed at once to give bond in the amount of his bid, with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the court, which bond shall set forth the time in which the bridge shall be completed. When the bridge has been finished, or the time in which it was to be completed has expired, the court shall instruct the commissioners who reported the plans of the bridge to make personal examination and report, and if it shall appear that the bridge has been built in accordance with the plans and in the time agreed upon, the court shall proceed to make an appropriation to pay for the same; but if it shall appear that the bridge has not been built according to the plans and in the time specified, the bond of the contractor shall be declared forfeited, and the court shall proceed to collect the same: Provided, That if it shall appear that the contractor has been delayed in the performance of his contract by providential hindrances, the court may allow him a reasonable length of time in which to complete the same.

SEC. 501. It shall be the duty of the overseer of roads to cause to be built all bridges of the second class in the following manner, to wit: When it becomes necessary to build a bridge of the second class in any road district, the overseer of such district shall warn the hands in a manner provided by law for warning road hands, with the necessary tools, and shall proceed to build the bridge on such plans as he deems best adapted to the place, and the county court shall appropriate money sufficient to pay for the lumber to floor and banister the same: Provided, That when any bridge of the second class is ordered built at the expense of the county, the work shall be done and the same erected in all respects as is provided for in section 499.

SEC. 502. All bridges of the third class shall be built under the direction of the overseer of the roads on such plan as he may deem best adapted to the place where needed, without expense to the county, except that the county shall furnish plank for all bridges over ten feet in length.

SEC. 503. All male inhabitants of this state, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, shall be subject to be warned to work on the bridges of the second and third class, and on refusal shall be subject to all the fines attached to the general road law. Act March 6, 1875.

TOLL-BRIDGES AND TURNPIKES (*).

SEC. 504. The several county courts, through whose counties runs any water course, lake, bay or swamp which may be too burthensome to bridge and keep in repair by the inhabitants thereof, are hereby fully and exclusively empowered to grant privileges to persons to build toll-bridges over, or turnpikes or causeways along the same, or through any overflowed or wet land, whenever the interest of the county or of the traveling public shall, in their discretion, demand such improvements.

SEC. 505. The county courts shall have a general superintending control over such bridges and turnpikes, and they are hereby required to fix the rate of toll for crossing any bridge, causeway or turnpike which may be built under the provisions of this act, and to compel the same to be kept in good repair at all times.

SEC. 506. All privileges granted by the county courts by virtue of this act to any person shall inure, not only to the benefit of such person to whom the same shall have been granted, but also to his heirs, assigns, and to the same extent and for the full length of time as may originally have been granted in the first instance.

SEC. 507. No county court, after conferring the privileges of this act upon any person, shall again have power to confer the same, or like privileges, upon any other person to the injury of him upon whom such privileges were first conferred.

SEC. 508. Every keeper of any toll-bridge, causeway or turnpike in this state shall keep constantly posted up in some conspicuous place at such bridge, causeway or turnpike the rates, in large and plain letters and figures, which shall have been allowed by the county court.

SEC. 509. Any person who shall be convicted of asking or demanding more of any person or persons for crossing such toll-bridge, causeway or turnpike than has been allowed him by the county court shall be fined in any sum not more than fifty dollars for each separate offense. Act March 6, 1875.

SEC. 551. He shall, upon the return of every summons served, enter upon the docket the name of the defendant or defendants summoned, and the day of the service upon each one. The entry shall be evidence of the service of the summons in case of the loss thereof.

SEC. 552. He may administer any oath or take any affidavit required or permitted in the progress of an action.

SEC. 553. He shall prepare, in a proper manner, every bond to be taken by or given before him or his court.

SEC. 554. He shall refuse any surety offered in a bond to be taken by him who is, in his opinion, insufficient (f). Civil Code, secs. 770-774.

SEC. 555. He shall, within twenty days before the commencement of each term of the court, put up in some convenient place in his office a list of causes to be tried at such term, distinguishing therein the day on which each cause is to be tried, and shall keep such list so affixed, until the end of such term, for the inspection of the parties litigant and their attorneys.

SEC. 556. He shall, upon demand and the payment of the legal fee therefor, issue subpoenas for witnesses to appear and testify on the day for which the cause is set in which the subpoenas are demanded; and every clerk who shall neglect or refuse to make out the dockets required by law, or to set and keep up such lists of causes, or to issue subpoenas as by law required, shall, on motion, be fined by the court in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 116.

SEC. 557. If any clerk of the circuit court resign, be removed from office or die, he or his executors or administrators shall deliver all records, papers, books, files, seals and other things belonging to his office to his successor, as soon as he is qualified, who shall take charge of and receipt for the same.

SEC. 558. Any clerk who shall resign or be removed from office, or the executor or administrator of any clerk who may die, shall render to the proper court, at the next term after such death, resignation or removal, a perfect account, on oath, of all arrearages of moneys received by him by virtue of his office, not before accounted for, and shall settle with said court as if said clerk was still in office; and for that purpose free access may be had to said office and the records, books, papers and files therein; and the court may compel such settlement and enforce the payment of any balance by attachment.

SEC. 559. Every clerk of the circuit court shall reside in the county for which he is clerk. Rev. Stat., chap. 25, secs. 19-21.

MISBEHAVIOR IN OFFICE.

SEC. 560. If any clerk shall knowingly and willfully do any act contrary to the duties of his office, or shall knowingly and willfully fail to perform any act or duty required of him by law, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be removed from office.

SEC. 561. When the circuit court shall be satisfied, from its own knowledge, or from the information of others on oath, that the clerk of such court has been guilty of any misdemeanor in office, or shall be incapable of discharging the duties of his office according to law, or shall be a drunkard, such court shall give notice thereof to the prosecuting attorney, stating the charges against such clerk, and requiring him to prosecute the same; and such clerk may be suspended from office until a trial can be had, in which case the court shall appoint a temporary clerk, who shall possess the same qualifications, take oath and give bond, as required of clerks, possess the same powers, perform the same duties and receive the same fees, and continue in office until the clerk resume his office or a successor shall be qualified (*).

SEC. 562. When any prosecuting attorney shall be required to prosecute charges against any clerk, if the offense is indictable, he shall submit the same to the grand jury, in order that an indictment may be found; and, if the charges be for an offense not indictable, he shall make the same out and file them in the court, and cause a copy thereof to be served on such clerk, together with a notice requiring him to appear before the circuit court of the county in which such clerk may reside, on some specified day in the term, and answer the same.

SEC. 563. Such notice and copy of the charges shall be delivered to such clerk at least fifteen days before the day appointed for the answering thereof.

SEC. 564. The prosecuting attorney shall cause witnesses to be summoned to support such charges, or any indictment that may have been found against such clerk, and shall prosecute the same with speed; and such clerk shall appear and plead at the next term of the court, unless further time be given for that purpose.

SEC. 565. If such clerk shall plead "not guilty" to such charges or indictment, the court shall require a jury to be summoned to try the issue joined; and, if the jury find such clerk guilty, or if he shall plead guilty to the charges or indictment, it shall be the duty of the court to enter up an order removing such clerk from office (g), and from that time he shall cease to be clerk of such court, and the vacancy shall be filled according to law (h). Ib., secs. 13-18.

COMMON AND STATUTE LAW OF ENGLAND.

SECTION

566. Up to the fourth year of James I, in force in this state.

SECTION

567. Crimes and misdemeanors punished under the common and statute law of England, when, how.

SECTION 566. The common law of England, so far as the same is applicable and of a general nature, and all statutes of the British parliament in aid of or to supply the defect of the common law made prior to the fourth year of James the First (a) (that are applicable to our own form of government), of a general nature and not local to that kingdom, and not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the United States or the constitution and laws of this state, shall be the rule of decision in this state unless altered or repealed by the general assembly of this state.

SEC. 567. In cases of crimes and misdemeanors committed in this state, the punishment of which has not been provided for by statute (b), the court having the jurisdiction thereof shall proceed to punish the offender under the provisions of the common or statute law of England put in force in this state by this act; but the punishment in such cases shall only be fine and imprisonment, and in such cases the fine shall not exceed one hundred dollars and the imprisonment shall not exceed three months. Rev. Stat., chap. 28.

CHAPTER XXI.

COMMISSIONERS IN OTHER STATES.

SECTION

568. Governor to appoint commissioners in other states to take depositions, affidavits and proofs, etc., of deeds.

SECTION

569. Acts to be effectual, etc.
570. Oath of office.

SECTION 568. The governor of this state may nominate, appoint and commission, under the great seal of this state, in any other state or territory of the United States, one or more commissioners, as he may think proper, to continue in office during the pleasure of the governor for the time being, who shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations, and to take depositions (c), affidavits and the proof and acknowledgment of deeds or other instruments of writing, to be used or recorded in this state (d).

SEC. 569. All oaths administered by the said commissioners, all affidavits and depositions taken by them, and all acknowledgments, etc., aforesaid, certified by them, shall be as effectual in law, to all intents and purposes, as if done and certified by any justice of the peace or other authorized officer within this state.

SEC. 570. Before any such commissioner shall proceed to discharge any of the duties of his said appointment, he shall take and subscribe an oath before some justice of the peace or other officer authorized to administer oaths in the CHAPTER XXII.

COMMISSIONS (*).

SECTION

571. How to be issued, sealed, signed and attested.

572. What officers shall be commissioned.

573. Fee for commission, how paid.

SECTION

574. In what time fee for commission and duplicate oath to be forwarded.

575. Penalty for neglect to comply with preceding section.

SECTION 571. All commissions shall be issued in the name and by the authority of the State of Arkansas, sealed with the great seal of the state, signed by the governor and attested by the secretary of state. Art VI, sec. 10, Const.

SEC. 572. The commissioner of state lands, the judge and clerk of the Pulaski chancery court (a), and each judge of the supreme and circuit court, judge of the county and probate court, prosecuting attorney, clerk of the circuit court, county clerk, county treasurer, sheriff, coroner, surveyor, assessor, justice of the peace (b), notary public and militia officer elected or appointed in this state shall be commissioned by the governor. Rev. Stat., chap. 27; act Jan. 23, 1875, sec. 61; art. VII, sec. 48, Const.

SEC. 573. Any officer entitled to a commission may send the fee therefor direct to the state treasurer, who shall at once execute duplicate receipts for such fee, which receipts he shall present to the auditor, who shall countersign the same and charge the amount therein specified to the treasurer, as provided in sections 3210, 3211, whereupon the treasurer shall file one of said receipts with the auditor and the other with the secretary of state, who shall immediately forward such commission to the officer applying therefor. Act March 2, 1883, sec. 3.

SEC. 574. All state and county officers, both civil and military, who are required by law to be commissioned by the governor of this state, are required to forward the legal fee for their commissions to the treasurer of state within sixty days after their election, and they shall, after said commissions have been received, forward within fifteen days their duplicate oath to the secretary of state, to be by him recorded and filed in his office.

SEC. 575. In case any such officer, elected or appointed and commissioned by the governor, shall fail or neglect so to apply for or procure his said commission within the time above specified, or shall, after said commission shall have been obtained, fail or neglect to forward to the office of secretary of state his duplicate oath, for record in said office, within the time above specified, then the office to which such person was commissioned shall be deemed vacant, and the governor, on being satisfied from the official records of the office of secretary of state of the existence of such vacancy, by reason of any of the causes above enumerated, shall proceed to fill the same in the manner now provided by law. Act Nov. 26, 1875.

CHAPTER XXIII.

CONFIRMATION OF TITLES.

SECTION

576. Who may have title to lands confirmed.

577. Publication of notice to claimants.

578. What shall be evidence of such publication.

579. In what case the court shall confirm or annul title.

SECTION

580. Effect of sheriff's or auditor's deed as evidence.

581. Effect of confirmation.

582. Costs thereof, how paid.

583. Effect of such sales when not confirmed.

SECTION 576. The purchasers, or the heirs and legal representatives of purchasers, of lands at sheriff's sales, those made by the county clerks or by the state land commissioner of this state, in pursuance of any of the laws thereof, or those made by the order, decree or authority of any court of record, may protect themselves from eviction of the lands so purchased, or from any responsibility as possessors of the same, by pursuing the rules hereinafter prescribed. Rev. Stat., chap. 149, sec. 1, as amended by act March 21, 1881.

SEC. 577. The purchasers, or the heirs and legal representatives of purchasers, at all sales which have been, or may hereafter be, made may, when such lands are not made redeemable by any of the laws of this state applicable to such sales, or, if redeemable, may, at any time after the expiration of the time allowed for such redemption, publish six weeks in succession, in some newspaper published in this state, a notice calling on all persons who can set up any right to the lands so purchased, in consequence of any informality or any irregularity or illegality connected with such sale, to show cause, at the first circuit court which may be held for the county in which such lands are situated six months after the publication of said notice, why the sale so made should not be confirmed, which notice shall state the authority under which the sale took place, and also contain the same description of the lands purchased as that given in the conveyance to the buyer, and shall further declare the price at which the land was bought and the nature of the title by which it is held (a).

(a) See Payne v. Danley, 18—441; Bonnell v. Roane, 20—114; Scott v. Pleasants, 21—369; Wallace v. Brown, 22—118; Scott v. Watkins, 22—556.

SEC. 578. The affidavit of one or more of the publishers or proprietors of said newspaper, setting forth a copy of such notice, with the date of the first publication thereof and number of insertions, sworn to and subscribed before some justice of the peace of the county or city in which said newspaper is published, with a certificate of magistracy from the clerk of the court of said county, under the seal of his office, on being produced to said court, shall be taken and considered as sufficient evidence of the fact of publication, the date and number of insertions and form of such notice.

SEC. 579. On producing the proof of said notice, as required in the preceding section, the party publishing the same may apply to the judge of the court aforesaid to confirm said sale; and it shall be the duty of the judge, in case no cause is shown against the prayer of said purchaser, to confirm the sale in question: Provided, always, That before he does so confirm it he shall be fully satisfied that said notice is in due form, that it has been regularly published, that the land has been correctly described and the price at which it was purchased truly stated, in conformity to the provisions of this act; but in case opposition be made, and it shall appear that the sale has been made contrary to law, it shall be the duty of the judge to annul it.

SEC. 580. A sheriff's or auditor's deed, given in the usual form, without witnesses, shall be taken and considered by said court as sufficient evidence of the authority under which said sale was made, the description of the land, and the price at which it was purchased.

SEC. 581. The judgment or decree of the court confirming said sale shall operate as a complete bar against any and all persons who may hereafter claim said land in consequence of informality or illegality in the proceedings; and the title to said land shall be considered as confirmed and complete in the purchaser thereof, his heirs and assigns forever; saving, however, to infants, persons of unsound mind, imprisoned beyond seas, or out of the jurisdiction of the United States, the right to appear and contest the title to said land within one year after their disabilities may be removed (b).

SEC. 582. When no opposition is made to the confirmation of such sale, the costs attending the proceedings shall be paid by the party praying such confirmation; and where opposition is made, the costs shall be borne by the party against whom judgment is rendered.

SEC. 583. In case any such purchaser shall not deem it necessary to use the remedy conferred by this act to confirm the title thereto, then the said sale shall have the effect given to it by law. Rev. Stat., chap. 149.

(b) A decree under this section confirming a tax title can have no effect to preclude a party in possession of the land from the benefit arising from lapse of time prior to the rendition of the decree—the proceeding for confirmation being in nowise a possessory proceeding. Buckingham v. Hallett, 24—519.

CHAPTER XXIV.

CONSTABLES.

SECTION

584. When elected; term of office; how commissioned.
 585. Judges of election to determine tie vote.
 586. Bond.
 587. Approval of.
 588. Failing to give bond, office deemed vacant.
 589. Bond to be filed and recorded.
 590, 591, 592. Duty of, as conservator of the peace.
 593. Penalty for neglect of duty.
 594. May appoint deputies.
 595. to the approval of county court.
 596. Constables responsible for acts of deputies.
 597. Board of supervisors may remove, on charges.
 598. Copy of charges to be served.
 599. Sureties responsible for failure to pay, etc.

SECTION

600. Not responsible where suit brought.
 601. Township divided, who constable.
 602. May execute civil process throughout county.
 603. Where vacancy exists, who to serve.
 604. Vacancy; how filled.
 605. Special election; how held, etc.
 606. Sheriff and coroner both vacant, constable may serve process.
 607. No coroner in county, and sheriff disqualified, constable may serve process.
 608. Fees for.
 609. Constable may execute process anywhere in county.

SECTION 584. The qualified electors of each township shall elect a constable for the term of two years, who shall be furnished by the presiding judge of the county court with a certificate of election, on which his official oath shall be indorsed. Art. VII, sec. 47, Const.

SEC. 585. In case of a tie in the election of any constable, it shall be determined by the judges of said election (*).

SEC. 586. Every constable shall, within ten days after his election or appointment, enter into bond to the State of Arkansas, with good and sufficient securities, in any sum not less than five hundred nor more than five thousand dollars, conditioned that he will execute all process to him directed and delivered, and pay over all moneys received by him by virtue of his office, and in every respect discharge all the duties of constable according to law.

SEC. 587. Such bond shall be approved by the circuit court in the manner provided by law (†).

SEC. 588. If any constable shall fail to enter into such bond within the time prescribed the office shall be deemed vacant.

SEC. 589. The bond of each constable shall be filed and recorded in the office of the recorder of the county, and may be sued on at the instance of any person injured by its breach.

SEC. 590. Each constable shall be a conservator of the peace throughout his county, and it shall be his duty to suppress all riots, routs, affrays, fighting and unlawful assemblies, and he shall keep the peace, and shall cause all offenders to be arrested and taken before some justice of the peace, to be dealt with according to law, and shall well and truly present to the proper officer all affrays and other offenses against the laws of the state which shall come within his knowledge (a). Rev. Stat., chap. 29, secs. 2, 10-13 and 15.

(*) See SEC. 2711.

(†) See SECS. 4771-4775, to which this section is conformed.

(a) A constable is a peace officer, and as such has authority to arrest offenders against the law; but he is not authorized to execute a warrant of arrest or other process directed to the sheriff unless deputized in the manner provided by law. Winkler v. State, 32-539.

SEC. 591. If any offense cognizable before a justice of the peace shall be committed in the presence of a constable, it shall be his duty to arrest the offender and take him before a justice of the peace.

SEC. 592. If it shall come to the knowledge of any constable that any such offense has been committed in his township, it shall be the duty of such constable to present the offender to a justice of the peace of the township, in order that he may be arrested and brought to trial as prescribed by law.

SEC. 593. If any such constable shall fail, refuse or neglect to perform the duties imposed upon him by sections 590, 591 and 592, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars. Act Dec. 26, 1848, secs. 2-4.

SEC. 594. Each constable may appoint one or more deputies.

SEC. 595. The appointment of such deputies shall be made to the approval of the county court.

SEC. 596. The constable shall be responsible for the acts of his deputies.

SEC. 597. If any constable shall fail to pay over any money collected by him, after demand being made, or shall fail to return any execution or other process within the time specified in such process, or shall fail or neglect to perform any other duty required by law, he shall be removed from office by the county court, on motion, on charges exhibited against him (b).

SEC. 598. A copy of such charges, together with notice of the time of hearing the same, shall be served on said constable at least five days before the term of the court at which such motion shall be made, which may be served in the same manner as a summons.

SEC. 599. If any constable shall receive from any person any bonds, bills, notes or accounts for collection, and shall give his receipt therefor in his official capacity, and shall fail to pay to such person, on demand, the amount he may have collected, and return such bonds, bills, notes or accounts, if the same have not been collected, such constable and his securities shall be responsible on his official bond for the amount of such bonds, bills, notes or accounts not paid over or returned.

SEC. 600. No constable shall be responsible for any bond, bill or note for which he may have given his receipts, and on which suit may have been brought.

SEC. 601. If any township be divided, the constable in office at the time of the division shall continue in office, and be constable of the township in which he resides.

SEC. 602. Each constable may execute civil process throughout the county, but in no case shall he be allowed mileage for the service of any process he may serve out of his township, other than from the residence of the defendant in such process to the nearest justice of the peace in the township in which such defendant resides. Rev. Stat., chap. 29, secs. 16, 19-23 and 26.

SEC. 603. When the office of constable, in any township, shall become vacant, any constable of any adjoining township, during such vacancy, shall execute and return all process directed to him, against any person in such township where the vacancy may exist, issued by any justice of the peace in said township where such office is vacant, and, in addition to the fees now allowed by law, shall receive for the service of each and every summons or subpœna, or other process, except executions, so directed to him, two and one-half cents per mile, going and returning from his own residence to that of the person named in such process residing farthest from him. Act Jan. 3, 1845.

(b) For summary judgment against constable for failing to return or pay over money on execution, see SECS. 4128-4133.

For like judgment against constable and his sureties, see SECS. 3957-3965.

SEC. 604. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of constable from any cause, or in case of a failure to elect, or if the person elected to such office shall fail to qualify in the manner and time required by law, the county court of the county in which such vacancy shall occur shall order a special election in the township in which the vacancy exists to fill such vacancy, specifying in such order the time of holding such election. The sheriff shall give ten days' notice of such election by posting four notices in the most public places in the township: Provided, In case of vacancy occurring within six months of a general election, the county court shall fill such vacancy by appointment (c).

SEC. 605. Such election shall be held and the returns made in the same manner provided by law for holding general elections. Act Dec. 19, 1874.

SEC. 606. In all cases where the offices of both sheriff and coroner shall be vacant, or they shall be defendants in any suit, any constable of the county shall execute and return all process to him directed, in the same manner that sheriffs and coroners are now required by law to execute and return process.

SEC. 607. In all cases where there is no coroner in any county, and the sheriff thereof shall be interested in any suit or suits, any constable of the county where such vacancy may exist shall execute and return all process to him directed (d).

SEC. 608. For all services performed by any constable under the two preceding sections, he shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed the sheriff for similar services.

SEC. 609. Any constable to whom any process may be directed shall have power to execute such process anywhere within his county. Act Dec. 21, 1846.

(c) See SEC. 2716 and art. VII, sec. 50, Const. As to election or appointment of constables for new townships, etc., see SECS. 6445, 6446.

(d) Where the office of sheriff and coroner are both vacant, or where there is no coroner, and the sheriff is interested in the suit, and process is directed to the constable, under this section, the fact of such vacancy or disqualification ought to be suggested and recited in the writ, but the omission of such recital does not make the writ void, and it may be supplied by amendment. Judgment reversed for refusing to permit such amendment. Thompson v. Bremage, 14—59.

CHAPTER XXV.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

SECTION

- 610. How proposed, submission, separate vote, etc.
- 611. Resolution proposing, how voted on, etc.
- 612. How enrolled and signed.
- 613. Proceedings in case of disapproval.
- 614. Effect of withholding five days, etc.
- 615. Amendment, when and how to be numbered; where filed.
- 616. Entry on journals; publication, how made.
- 617. Ballots of electors, notice as to, etc.
- 618. Secretary of state to contract for publishing in weekly papers.
- 619. Rates of publishing.

SECTION

- 620. No payment to be made for publishing in daily papers.
- 621. Ballots, what to contain.
- 622. Duties of election officers.
- 623. Duties of county clerks; comparing returns, etc., general election law to govern.
- 624. Abstracts of election, how sent to secretary of state.
- 625. Returns, how to be kept by secretary of state; how laid before general assembly.
- 626. Adoption of amendment, when to be declared; proclamation of governor, etc.

SECTION 610. Either branch of the general assembly, at a regular session thereof, may propose amendments to this constitution; and if the same be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals with the yeas and nays, and published in at least one newspaper in each county where a newspaper is published, for six months immediately preceding the next general election for senators and representatives, at which time the same shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for approval or rejection; and if a majority of the electors voting at such election adopt such amendments, the same shall become a part of this constitution. But no more than three amendments shall be proposed or submitted at the same time. They shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment separately. Art. XIX, sec. 22, Const.

SEC. 611. Amendments to the constitution shall be proposed in either branch of the general assembly in the form of a joint resolution, which shall be read in full on three several days in each house, unless the rules be suspended by two-thirds of the house, when the same may be read a second or third time on the same day, and on the final passage of such proposed amendment through each house the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the same be entered on the journal; and no amendment shall be proposed unless the same be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house.

SEC. 612. When any joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution shall have passed each house as prescribed in the preceding section, it shall be enrolled and signed by the president of the senate and speaker of the house, and shall be signed by the governor.

SEC. 613. In case the governor shall disapprove such proposed amendment, he shall return the same to the house in which it originated, with his objections thereon, which house shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider the proposed amendment. If on such reconsideration a majority of the whole number elected to that house shall agree to the proposed amendment, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by a majority of the whole number elected to that house, it shall be proposed as an amendment to the constitution, but in such case the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for or against the resolution shall be entered on the journal.

SEC. 614. If any such joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution shall not be returned by the governor within five days, Sunday excepted, after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall have like effect as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly, by its adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall be treated as a proposed amendment to the constitution, and be published and voted upon as such, unless the governor shall file the same, with his objections, in the office of the secretary of state, and give notice within twenty days after such adjournment (*).

SEC. 615. Whenever any such joint resolution shall be approved by the governor and signed by him, he shall number the amendment in the order of its approval, and shall file the same in the office of the secretary of state.

SEC. 616. Such proposed amendment shall be entered on the journals of each house, with the yeas and nays, and it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to publish said proposed amendment in at least one newspaper (†) in each county where a newspaper is published, for six months immediately preceding the next general election for senators and representatives, at which time the same shall be submitted to the electors of the state for approval or rejection.

SEC. 617. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state, in connection with a copy of the proposed amendment, to give notice in the same newspapers that each elector on depositing his ballot at such election shall vote for or against said amendment. Act April 2, 1879, secs. 1-6.

SEC. 618. Hereafter when an amendment to the constitution of this state is submitted to the people for their ratification at any election, in the manner heretofore provided by law, it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to contract with one weekly paper in each county where such weekly is published to publish said amendment for six months preceding said election.

SEC. 619. The secretary of state shall contract for publishing such amendment to the constitution at rates no greater than those now allowed by law for legal advertisements in such papers: Provided, That each paper so contracted with shall be allowed the same price for said publication.

SEC. 620. The auditor of state shall not be authorized to issue warrants in payment for publishing a constitutional amendment in any daily paper, or in more than one weekly in the same county. Act Feb. 19, 1883.

SEC. 621. At the next general election after said amendment shall be proposed each elector shall have written or printed on his ballot: For the amendment, —; or, Against — amendment; the above blanks to be filled in letters or figures with the number of the proposed amendment, and if there be more than one amendment proposed at the same election, the electors shall vote for or against each amendment separately by number.

SEC. 622. It shall be the duty of the judges and other officers of election to count and return to the proper clerk the votes cast for and against each amendment separately, and be governed in all respects in reference to the vote on such amendment or amendments, and the return of the same, by the laws regulating elections for senators and representatives at such general election.

SEC. 623. The clerk of the county court shall open and compare the election returns upon said amendment at the same time and in the same manner as required by election laws in case of senators and representatives, and shall make in like manner abstracts of the votes given for or against each amendment, if more than one, on separate sheets of paper, and the abstracts of the vote made out by such clerk on any amendment shall be separate from the abstracts of the vote for any office; and the clerk of the county court, in counting and comparing and abstracting the returns of such vote, shall be governed by the general election laws regulating his duties. Act April 2, 1879, secs. 7-9.

SEC. 624. Each clerk of the county court, at the same time and in the same manner that he is required to send the abstracts of election of senators and representatives in the general assembly, shall send to the secretary of state copies of the abstracts filed in his office of the returns of the vote on said amendment, plainly marked on the envelope thereof the words: "Returns of vote on amendment No. ——. From the county of ———." And in case of a failure to receive any returns of such vote at the seat of government for ten mails after the same is due, the secretary of state shall dispatch a messenger to the county from which returns have not been received, with directions to bring up such returns or copies thereof.

SEC. 625. When all the returns have been received by the secretary of state said secretary shall keep such returns in the original envelopes with the seals unbroken until the general assembly shall convene, when he shall send such returns to the speaker of the house of representatives at the same time and in the same manner as is now provided by law for sending in the election returns for governor and other state officers, and said returns shall be opened and counted in the presence of the general assembly in joint convention assembled.

SEC. 626. If it shall appear that a majority of the electors voting at such election adopt such amendment, then the speaker shall declare such proposed amendment duly adopted by the people of Arkansas. And when so declared adopted, the speaker of the house of representatives shall cause a true copy of such amendment to the constitution of the State of Arkansas, signed by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives, and attested by the secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives, to be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and the same shall be and remain a record of said office. The governor shall, thereupon, publish his proclamation in some newspaper of general circulation, announcing the ratification and adoption of said proposed amendment, and it shall have all the force and effect of any other part of the present constitution, and shall be recognized by the legislative, executive and judicial departments of the State of Arkansas, from the filing of such certified copy in the office of the secretary of state as a part of the organic law of the state. Ib., secs. 10, 11, as amended by act March 1, 1883.

627. Punishment of, what contempts may be regulated by law.
 628. Definition of.
 629. Punishment of.
 630. Proceedings upon contempts.
 631. Cause of committal to be set forth in order.
 632. To what cases provisions of this act do not extend.

SECTION

633. Punishment for, no bar to indictment.
 634. Power of justices of the peace to punish.
 635. Nature and extent of punishment.
 636. Accused to be heard.
 637. Record of conviction to be made.
 638. Warrant of commitment.

SECTION 627. The general assembly shall have power to regulate, by law, the punishment of contempts; not committed in the presence or hearing of the courts, or in disobedience to process. Art. VII, sec. 26, Const.

SEC. 628. Every court of record shall have power to punish, as for criminal contempt, persons guilty of the following acts (a):

First. Disorderly, contemptuous or insolent behavior committed during its sitting, in its immediate view and presence, and directly tending to interrupt its proceedings or to impair the respect due to its authority.

Second. Any breach of the peace, noise or disturbance directly tending to interrupt its proceedings.

Third. Willful disobedience of any process or order lawfully issued or made by it.

Fourth. Resistance willfully offered by any person to the lawful order or process of the court.

Fifth. The contumacious and unlawful refusal of any person to be sworn as a witness, and, when so sworn, the like refusal to answer any legal and proper interrogatory (b).

SEC. 629. Punishments for contempt may be by fine or imprisonment in the jail of the county where the court may be sitting, or both, in the discretion of the court; but the fines shall in no case exceed the sum of fifty dollars, nor the imprisonment ten days (c). Courts shall always have power to imprison until their adjournment, and when any person shall be committed to prison for the non-payment of any such fine, he shall be discharged at the expiration of thirty days.

SEC. 630. Contempts committed in the immediate view and presence of the court may be punished summarily; in other cases the party charged shall be notified of the accusation, and have a reasonable time to make his defense.

SEC. 631. Whenever any person shall be committed for a contempt under the provisions of this act, the substance of his offense shall be set forth in the order or warrant of commitment.

SEC. 632. Nothing in the preceding sections shall be construed to extend any proceedings against parties or officers, as for contempt, for the purpose of enforcing any civil right or remedy.

SEC. 633. Persons punished for contempt under the preceding provisions shall, notwithstanding, be liable to an indictment for such contempt if the same be an indictable offense; but the court before which a conviction may be had on such indictment shall, in forming its sentence, take into consideration the punishment before inflicted. Rev. Stat., chap. 43, secs. 37-42.

SEC. 634. In the following cases, and no other, a justice of the peace may punish, as for contempts, persons guilty of the following acts:

First. Disorderly, contemptuous and insolent behavior toward such justice of the peace while engaged in the trial of a cause, or in rendering a judgment, or in any judicial proceeding, which shall tend to interrupt such proceedings or impair the respect due to his authority.

Second. Any breach of the peace, noise or other disturbance tending to interrupt the official proceeding of such justice.

Third. Resistance unlawfully offered in the presence of the justice to the execution of any lawful order or process issued by him.

Fourth. For the disobedience of any process issued by him requiring the attendance of a witness. Rev. Stat., chap. 86, sec. 16.

SEC. 635. Punishments for contempts in the foregoing cases may be by fine not exceeding thirty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding five days (d), at the discretion of the justice; but no person shall remain in prison for the non-payment of a fine. Ib., sec. 17.

SEC. 636. No person shall be punished for a contempt before a justice of the peace until an opportunity has been given him to be heard in his defense, and for that purpose the justice may issue a warrant to bring the offender before him. Ib., sec. 18.

SEC. 637. Upon the conviction of any person for a contempt, the justice shall make up a record of the proceedings on such conviction, stating therein the particular circumstances of the offense and the judgment rendered thereon. Ib., sec. 19.

SEC. 638. The warrant of commitment for any contempt shall set forth the particular circumstances of the offense, or it shall be void. Ib., sec. 20.

(d) But as to witnesses, see SECS. 2885-2888.

CHAPTER XXVII.

680. Acknowledgments before clerks of courts of record declared valid.
681. Acknowledgments before notaries out of this state declared valid.
682. Acknowledgments before county and probate judges in this state declared valid.
683. Defective acknowledgments of deeds recorded prior to January 1, 1883, declared valid; exceptions.
684. Acknowledgments defectively certified or otherwise informal declared valid.

SECTION 639. All lands, tenements and hereditaments may be aliened and possession thereof transferred by deed without livery of seizin, and the words "grant, bargain and sell" shall be an express covenant to the grantee, his heirs and assigns, that the grantor is seized of an indefeasible estate in fee simple, free from incumbrance done or suffered from the grantor, except rents or services that may be expressly reserved by such deed, as also for the quiet enjoyment thereof against the grantor, his heirs and assigns, and from the claim or demand of all other persons whatsoever, unless limited by express words in such deed (a).

SEC. 640. The grantee, his heirs or assigns, may in any action assign breaches as if such covenants were expressly inserted.

(a) See Brodie & King v. Watkins and wife, 31—319.

A grantor of real estate is not responsible on the statutory covenant implied by the use of the words "grant, bargain and sell," for incumbrances other than those done or suffered by himself. Winston v. Vaughan, 22—72.

A deed delivered passes the title as between the parties, although it is neither acknowledged nor recorded, and is good without date, as it takes effect from delivery. Floyd v. Ricks, 14—286. Any right, interest or title that will descend may be alienated by deed. Cloy v. Beebe, Id., 489.

SEC. 641. The term or word "heirs," or other words of inheritance, shall not be necessary to create or convey an estate in fee simple; but all deeds shall be construed to convey a complete estate of inheritance in fee simple, unless expressly limited by appropriate words in such deed.

SEC. 642. If any person shall convey any real estate by deed, purporting to convey the same in fee simple absolute, or any less estate, and shall not at the time of such conveyance have the legal estate in such lands, but shall afterward acquire the same, the legal or equitable estate afterward acquired shall immediately pass to the grantee, and such conveyance shall be as valid as if such legal or equitable estate had been in the grantor at the time of the conveyance (b).

SEC. 643. In cases when by common law any person may hereafter become seized in fee tail of any lands or tenements, by virtue of any devise, gift, grant or other conveyance, such person, instead of being or becoming seized thereof in fee tail, shall be adjudged to be and become seized thereof for his natural life only, and the remainder shall pass in fee simple absolute to the person to whom the estate tail would first pass according to the course of the common law by virtue of such devise, gift, grant or conveyance.

SEC. 644. Any person claiming title to any real estate may, notwithstanding there may be an adverse possession thereof, sell and convey his interest in the same manner and with like effect as if he was in the actual possession thereof.

SEC. 645. The term "real estate," as used in this act, shall be construed as co-extensive in meaning with "lands, tenements and hereditaments," and as embracing all chattels real.

SEC. 646. This act shall not be construed so as to embrace last wills and testaments.

SEC. 647. Every interest in real estate, granted or devised to two or more persons, other than executors and trustees as such, shall be in tenancy in common, unless expressly declared in such grant or devise to be a joint tenancy (c).

SEC. 648. A married woman may convey her real estate or any part thereof by deed of conveyance, executed by herself and her husband, and acknowledged and certified in the manner hereinafter prescribed (d).

(b) If one convey real estate by deed purporting to convey fee simple or less estate, and shall not at the time have the legal estate therein, but shall afterward acquire the legal title, the same vests in the grantee as effectually as though originally conveyed. Cocke v. Brogan & Thorn, 5—693; Holland v. Rogers, 33—251.

If one sells and conveys real estate to which he has no title, or an imperfect title, at the time of the sale, and subsequently acquires a perfect title, it inures to the benefit of the grantee; and if, between the date of the conveyance and the acquisition of the perfect title, a judgment is rendered against the grantor, the title of the grantee is prior to the lien of the judgment. Watkins & Trapnall v. Wassell, 15—73.

Sec. 642 applies to conveyances made by corporations as well as individuals. Jones v. Green, 41—363.

(c) See Cockrill v. Armstrong, 31—580.

(d) See note (ww) to sec. 7, art. IX, of the Constitution. The section referred to is as follows: "The real and personal property of any femme covert in this state, acquired either before or after marriage, whether by gift, grant, inheritance, devise or otherwise, shall, so long as she may choose, be and remain her separate estate and property, and may be devised, bequeathed or conveyed by her the same as if she were a femme sole; and the same shall not be subject to the debts of her husband."

Under this provision a married woman may convey estates acquired since its adoption without her husband joining in the conveyance and without private examination and acknowledgment of the deed. Roberts v. Wilcoxon, 36—355; Ward v. Ward, Ib., 586; Chrisman v. Parlee, 38—31; Felkner v. Tighe, 39—357; Donahue v. Mills, 41—421. But the constitution did not and could not divest the vested marital rights of the

SEC. 649. A married woman may relinquish her dower in any of the real estate of her husband by joining with him in a deed of conveyance thereof, and acknowledging the same in the manner hereinafter prescribed (e).

SEC. 650. Deeds and instruments of writing for the conveyance of real estate shall be executed in the presence of two disinterested witnesses, or, in default thereof, shall be acknowledged by the grantor in the presence of two such witnesses, who shall then subscribe such deed or instrument in writing for the conveyance of such real estate; and when the witnesses do not subscribe the deed or instrument of writing aforesaid at the time of the execution thereof, the date of their subscribing the same shall be stated with their signatures (f). Rev. Stat., chap. 31, secs. 1-12.

SEC. 651. The proof or acknowledgment of every deed or instrument of writing for the conveyance of any real estate, shall be taken by some one of the following courts or officers:

First. When acknowledged or proven within this state before the supreme court, the circuit court, or either of the judges thereof, or the clerk of any court of record, or before any justice of the peace (g), or notary public.

Second. When acknowledged or proven without this state and within the United States or their territories, before any court of the United States or of any state or territory, having a seal, or the clerk of any such court, or before any notary public, or before the mayor of any city or town, or the chief officer of any city or town having a seal, or before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state (h).

husband acquired in lands of the wife before its adoption. Tiller v. McCoy, 38—91; Shryock v. Cannon, 39—434. Marriage does not give a female infant a capacity to convey real estate. Harrod v. Meyers, 21—592; Watson v. Billings, 38—278. But "females of the age of eighteen years shall be considered of full age for all purposes." SEC. 3464. A married woman can not make an executory contract to convey land which will bind her or her heirs. Felkner v. Tighe, 39—357. See Rockafellow v. Oliver, 41—169.

(e) The relinquishment of dower by a married woman while under lawful age is voidable. Watson v. Billings, 38—278. See note (d) ante.

A married woman may relinquish her dower by joining her husband in the deed and acknowledging the same in proper form; without joining in the deed the acknowledgment is not sufficient. Witter v. Biscoe et al., trustees, etc., 13—422. A married woman residing in Louisiana can convey land in Arkansas only in the manner prescribed by statute. McDaniel v. Grace et al., 15—465.

When a husband's deed is followed by a paragraph relinquishing dower, and then follow the signatures of both husband and wife, this is such joining in the deed as is required for the relinquishment of dower. Meyer v. Gossett, 38—377.

A married woman can not release dower in favor of her husband; she can only release it by joining with the husband in a deed to a third person. Pillow v. Wade and wife, 31—678; Countz v. Markling, 30—17.

A wife may relinquish her dower by joining in her husband's deed and acknowledging the relinquishment of dower in the form prescribed in section 659, without any clause of relinquishment in the deed. Dutton v. Stuart 41—101.

(f) A deed for lands executed not in the presence of witnesses, but acknowledged as required by law, is sufficient; no subscribing witnesses are necessary where the execution is duly acknowledged. This is one method; another is by the testimony of one of the subscribing witnesses, when the deed must be executed in the presence of two witnesses or acknowledged by the grantor in their presence when executed before. Either method is effectual. Coker v. Brogan & Thorne, 5—693.

It is a general principle of the common law that the laws of the place where real property is situate exclusively govern, in respect to the rights of the parties, the modes of transfer, and the solemnities which should accompany them. McDaniel v. Grace et al., 15—475.

A deed without attesting witnesses or acknowledgment is good and will pass the legal title as between the grantor and grantee; and if acknowledged and recorded after recovery of judgment against the grantor, but prior to a sale under execution is good as against the purchaser at judicial sale. Jackson v. Allen, 30—110, and cases there cited.

(g) See Briscoe v. Byrd, 15—655.

(h) A justice of the peace or chairman of a county court of another state can not take acknowledgments of mortgages of lands in Arkansas. Worsham v. Freeman, 34—55.

Third. When acknowledged or proven without the United States, before any court of any state, kingdom or empire having a seal, or any mayor or chief officer of any city or town having an official seal, or before any officer of any foreign country who, by the laws of such country, is authorized to take probate of the conveyance of real estate of his own country, if such officer has, by law, an official seal. Ib., sec. 13, act April 7, 1873, sec. 1, and act Dec. 19, 1846, sec. 1, as amended by act Dec. 14, 1874.

SEC. 652. In cases of acknowledgment or proof of deeds or conveyances of real estate, taken within the United States or territories thereof, when taken before any court or officer having a seal of office, such deed or conveyance shall be attested under such seal of office; and if such officer have no seal of office, then under the official signature of such officer (i).

SEC. 653. In all cases of deeds and conveyances proven or acknowledged without the United States or their territories, such acknowledgment or proof must be attested under the official seal of the court or officer before whom such probate is had.

SEC. 654. Every court or officer that shall take the proof (j) or acknowledgment of any deed or conveyance of real estate, or the relinquishment of dower of any married woman in any conveyance of the real estate of her husband, shall grant a certificate thereof and cause such certificate to be indorsed on said deed, instrument, conveyance or relinquishment of dower, which certificate shall be signed by the clerk of the court where probate is taken in court, or by the officer before whom the same is taken and sealed, if he have a seal of office (k).

SEC. 655. When any grantor in any deed or instrument that conveys real estate, or whereby any real estate may be affected in law or equity, or any witness to any like instrument, shall present himself before any court or other officer for the purpose of acknowledging or proving the execution of any such deed or instrument as aforesaid, if such grantor or witness shall be personally unknown to such court or officer, his identity and his being the person he purports to be on the face of such instrument of writing, shall be proven to such court or officer, which proof may be made by witnesses known to the court or officer, or the affidavit of such grantor or witness, if such court or officer shall be satisfied therewith; which proof or affidavit shall also be indorsed on such deed or instrument of writing.

(i) Acknowledgments before a county court of another state must be authenticated by the seal of the court. Worsham v. Freeman, 34—55.

(j) It is not sufficient for the officer to certify in general terms that the deed was proved; it should appear from the certificate that the witness was sworn, and that he stated that the party whose name appears to the deed, signed it, or executed it, or acknowledged that he had done so, or some such language amounting to proof of the execution of the deed. And it must appear that such proof was made by one of the attesting witnesses; unless it is made to appear that the subscribing witnesses are dead or can not be had. Trammell v. Thurnmond, 17—203.

(k) The certificate of the clerk of a court of record of another state, to the acknowledgment of the execution of a deed, is admissible as evidence without attestation of his official character by the judge of the court. Ferguson v. Peden, 33—150.

When an acknowledgment is taken before an officer having an official seal it should be authenticated by such seal. Little v. Dodge, 32—453.

The absence from a notary's seal of the emblems and devices required by the statute does not invalidate his certificate of the acknowledgment of a deed. Sonfield v. Thompson, 42—46.

Where there is in fact an appearance and acknowledgment of a deed in some manner, then the official certificate of acknowledgment is conclusive of every fact appearing on its face, and evidence of what passed at the time of the acknowledgment is inadmissible to impeach the certificate, except in case of fraud or imposition in obtaining the acknowledgment, and where knowledge or notice of the fraud or imposition is brought home to the grantee. Meyer v. Gossett, 38—377; Holt v. Moore, 37—148.

SEC. 656. The acknowledgment of deeds and instruments of writing for the conveyance of real estate, or whereby such real estate is to be affected in law or equity, shall be by the grantor appearing in person before such court or officer having the authority by law to take such acknowledgment, and stating that he had executed the same for the consideration and purposes therein mentioned and set forth (1).

SEC. 657. When any such deed or instrument is to be proven, it shall be done by one or more of the subscribing witnesses personally appearing before the proper court or officer, and stating on oath that he or they saw the grantor subscribe such deed or instrument of writing, or that the grantor acknowledged in his or their presence that he had subscribed and executed such deed or instrument for the purposes and consideration therein mentioned, and that he or they had subscribed the same as witnesses at the request of the grantor.

SEC. 658. If any grantor has not acknowledged the execution of any such deed or instrument, and the subscribing witnesses be dead or can not be had, it may be proved by the evidence of the handwriting of the grantor, and of at least one of the subscribing witnesses, which evidence shall consist of the deposition of two or more disinterested persons swearing to each signature.

SEC. 659. The conveyance of any real estate by any married woman, or the relinquishment of dower in any of her husband's real estate, shall be authenticated and the title passed, by such married woman voluntarily appearing before the proper court or officer, and in the absence of her husband declaring that she had of her own free will executed the deed or instrument in question, or that she had signed the relinquishment of dower for the purposes therein contained, and set forth without compulsion or undue influence of her husband (m).

SEC. 660. All deeds and other instruments in writing for the conveyance of any real estate, or by which any real estate may be affected in law or equity, shall be proven or duly acknowledged in conformity with the provisions of this act before they or any of them shall be admitted to record.

SEC. 661. Every letter of attorney containing a power to convey any real estate as agent or attorney for the owner thereof, or execute as agent or attorney

(1) The acknowledgment must show that the deed was executed "for the consideration and purposes" therein expressed. The words "consideration" and "purposes" are both material, and if either is omitted, and no word of similar import is used, the acknowledgment is insufficient. See Johnson v. Godden, 33—600; Martin v. O'Bannon, 35—62; Ford v. Burks, 37—91; Connor v. Abbott, 35—365.

(m) The certificate of acknowledgment of a conveyance executed by husband and wife must state that the husband acknowledged that he had executed the deed for the consideration and purposes therein mentioned and set forth, and that the wife acknowledged that she had executed it for the purposes therein contained and set forth. Little, trustee, v. Dodge, guardian, etc., 32—453.

Any substantial deviation from the form prescribed by the statute for the conveyance of real estate by married women will render the deed invalid. A substantial compliance with the statute must affirmatively appear from the certificate of acknowledgment. Ib. As to when the certificate of acknowledgment will be conclusive, see Meyer v. Gossett, 33—377; Donahue v. Mills, 41—421; note (k) ante. See also the following cases: Wentworth v. Clark, 33—432; Shryock v. Cannon, 39—434; Chaffe v. Oliver, Ib., 531; Stidham v. Mathews, 29—650; Beavers v. Baucum, 33—722; Stillwell v. Adams, 29—346; Magness v. Arnold, 31—103; Scott v. Ward, 35—480; Tubbs v. Gatewood, 26—128.

To relinquish the wife's dower the conveyance must be of her own free will; she must understand the nature and effect of the deed, and in the absence of her husband declare to an officer authorized to take the acknowledgment, that the conveyance is without undue influence and for the purposes specified. Russell v. Umphlet, 27—339.

The certificate of acknowledgment must show that she executed the deed "without compulsion or undue influence of her husband." Chaffe v. Oliver, 39—531.

for another any deed or instrument in writing that shall convey any real estate, or whereby any real estate shall be affected in law or equity, shall be acknowledged or proven and certified and recorded with any deed that such agent or attorney shall make in virtue of such letter of attorney (*).

SEC. 662. Letters of attorney shall be proven or acknowledged before the same courts or officers that are authorized by this act to take probate of deeds conveying real estate.

SEC. 663. No letter of attorney, duly acknowledged or proved, and certified as prescribed by this act, shall be revoked but by the maker of such letter of attorney or his legal representatives, which revocation shall be in writing, acknowledged or proved before the proper court or officer, and filed for record in the county or counties where such letter of attorney was intended to operate—all such letters of attorney shall be revoked and deemed void from the time of filing such revocations for record.

SEC. 664. Every deed or instrument in writing conveying or affecting real estate which shall be acknowledged or proved and certified, as prescribed by this act, may, together with the certificate of acknowledgment, proof, or relinquishment of dower, be recorded by the recorder of the county where such land to be conveyed or affected thereby shall be situate, and when so recorded may be read in evidence without further proof of execution (n).

SEC. 665. If it shall appear at any time that any deed or instrument, duly acknowledged or proved and recorded as prescribed by this act, is lost or not within the power and control of the party wishing to use the same, the record thereof, or a transcript of such record certified by the recorder, may be read in evidence without further proof of execution.

SEC. 666. Neither the certificate of acknowledgment nor probate of any such deed or instrument, nor the record or transcript thereof, shall be conclusive, but may be rebutted. Rev. Stat., chap. 31.

SEC. 667. Where, by law, the commissioner of state lands is required to execute any deed of conveyance or patent for any lands sold or granted by the state, such deed of conveyance or patent, when executed by such commissioner under his official seal, shall convey all the right and title of the state in and to said lands to the purchaser, and may be recorded in the office of the recorder of the proper county, and the original, or a duly certified copy of the same, taken from the record thereof, shall have the same effect as evidence as if such deed or patent had been acknowledged and recorded under the existing laws of this state. Act Dec. 31, 1850.

SEC. 668. All deeds of conveyance made by administrators, executors, guardians and commissioners in chancery, and deeds made and executed by sheriffs (o) of real estate sold under executions, duly made and executed, acknowledged and recorded, as required by law, and purporting to convey real estate, shall vest in the grantee, his heirs and assigns, a good and valid title, both in law and in equity, and shall be evidence of the facts therein recited, (*) Powers by which deeds are made must be recorded, or the record of the deed will not be notice to a subsequent purchaser from the party executing the power. Jones v. Green, 41—363.

(n) See Simpson v. Montgomery, 25—365.

The acknowledgment of the execution of a deed of conveyance, as required by the statute, does not alone authorize its introduction as evidence. It must also be filed and recorded or its execution proven at the trial. Wilson and wife v. Spring, 38—181; Watson v. Billings, Id., 278; Dorr v. School District No. 26, etc., 40—237.

(o) See Hughes v. Watt, 26—228.

and of the legality and regularity of the sale of the lands so conveyed until the contrary be made to appear.

SEC. 669. Every deed so made, executed, acknowledged and recorded, or a certified copy thereof, under the seal of the recorder of the proper county, shall be received in evidence without further proof of its execution. Act Jan. 12, 1853.

SEC. 670. Every deed, bond, or instrument of writing, affecting the title in law or equity to any property, real or personal, within this state, which is or may be required by law to be acknowledged, or proved and recorded, shall be constructive notice to all persons from the time the same is filed for record in the office of the recorder of the proper county; and it shall be the duty of such recorder to indorse, on every such deed, bond, or instrument, the precise time when the same is filed for record in his office.

SEC. 671. No deed, bond, or instrument of writing, for the conveyance of any real estate, or by which the title thereto may be affected in law or equity, hereafter made or executed, shall be good or valid against a subsequent purchaser of such real estate for a valuable consideration, without actual notice thereof; or against any creditor of the person executing such deed, bond, or instrument, obtaining a judgment or decree, which by law may be a lien upon such real estate, unless such deed, bond, or instrument, duly executed and acknowledged, or approved, as is or may be required by law, shall be filed for record in the office of the clerk and ex officio recorder of the county where such real estate may be situated (p).

SEC. 672. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to change, or in any manner affect, sections 4742, 4743 and 4744. Act Dec. 19, 1846.

DEFECTIVE RECORDING AND ACKNOWLEDGMENTS CURED.

SEC. 673. All deeds, bonds, mortgages or other conveyances of real estate, heretofore recorded, whether duly recorded or not, under the provisions of the law in force at the time of recording, shall not, after the passage of this act, be impeached for not being duly recorded, but shall have the same legal force and effect as if duly recorded in the first instance; saving, however, to all persons any lien or right, in law or equity, that such person may have prior to the passage of this act. Act Jan. 5, 1843.

SEC. 674. All conveyances or other instruments heretofore executed out of this state, under and by virtue of the "Chapters of the Digest," shall be held valid and binding as though the said "Chapters of the Digest" were in full force and effect at the time.

SEC. 675. The record of all such instruments shall be as valid as if the same had been acknowledged or executed according to law. Act Feb. 25, 1873, secs. 5 and 6.

SEC. 676. All conveyances heretofore made and executed in accordance with the so-called "Chapters of the Digest," shall be equally valid and binding as if made and executed according to the laws actually in force at the time of making and executing the same; and no such conveyance or other instrument heretofore executed out of this state, shall be held to be invalid because the same was acknowledged before the judge of any court or a notary public.

(p) A deed for the conveyance of real estate, duly executed, etc., is good and valid against a creditor of the person executing such deed, obtaining a judgment, which, by law, is a lien on real estate, and also against a purchaser of such real estate at a judicial sale under the judgment; if actual notice of the deed be given to the purchaser and to the creditor, or his attorney of record, or if such deed be filed for record at any time before the sale, though not until after the judgment is rendered and execution levied upon the land. Such notice may be given at any time before or at the time of the sale under execution, and will be sufficient, though the deed be not produced. Byers v. Engles, 16—543. See same case as to what possession would be sufficient to put the purchaser upon inquiry. See note (f) ante.

SEC. 677. The record of all such instruments shall be as valid as if the same had been acknowledged or executed according to law. Act March 7, 1873, secs. 1 and 2.

SEC. 678. All acknowledgments of relinquishments of dower heretofore taken, in accordance with the "Chapters of the Digest," shall be as valid and binding as though the said "Chapters of the Digest" were in full force and effect at the time that the same were taken.

SEC. 679. The record of all instruments acknowledged as aforesaid shall be as valid as if the same had been acknowledged according to law. Act April 10, 1873, secs. 1 and 2.

SEC. 680. All acknowledgments of deeds and other instruments of writing, taken before the clerk of any court of record within this state, from the tenth day of July, 1868, to the date of the passage of this act, are hereby legalized and declared valid to all intents and purposes. Act April 7, 1873, sec. 2.

SEC. 681. All conveyances or other instruments of writing affecting real estate, heretofore acknowledged or proven before a notary public out of this state, but within the United States, shall be held to be as valid and binding as if acknowledged or proven in pursuance of law. Act Dec. 14, 1874.

SEC. 682. All acknowledgments of deeds, mortgages and other instruments of writing, heretofore taken by judges of the county and probate courts in this state, are hereby declared to be as legal and binding as though such acknowledgments had been taken by an officer duly authorized by law to take the same. Act March 6, 1877.

SEC. 683. All deeds and other conveyances recorded prior to the first day of January, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, purporting to have been acknowledged before any officer, and which have not heretofore been invalidated by any judicial proceeding, shall be held valid to pass the estate which such conveyance purports to transfer, although such acknowledgment may have been on any account defective (excepting only cases where such conveyances shall have been executed by minors or insane persons). Provided, that the record of all such instruments shall be as valid as if they had been acknowledged and recorded according to law. Act March 8, 1883, sec. 6.

SEC. 684. All conveyances and other instruments of writing authorized by law to be recorded, or which have heretofore been recorded in any county in this state, the proof of execution whereof is insufficient because the officer certifying such execution omitted any words in his certificate, or because such officer failed or omitted to attach his seal of office to such certificate, or attached to any certificate any seal not bearing the words or devices required by law, or otherwise informal, shall be as valid and binding as though the certificate of acknowledgment or proof of execution was in due form and bore proper seal. Act March 14, 1883.

SECTION 685. Every coroner shall within twenty days after he receives his commission enter into bond to the State of Arkansas in a sum not less than five thousand dollars, with good and sufficient security, to be approved as provided in section 4771, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties, which bond shall be filed and recorded in the recorder's office ().

SEC. 686. If he shall fail to give such bond within the time prescribed in the preceding section, the office shall be deemed vacant, and the county clerk shall immediately notify the governor thereof.

SEC. 687. He shall be a conservator of the peace, and shall cause all offenders against the law, in his view, to enter into recognizance with security to keep the peace, and to appear at the next term of the circuit court of the county.

SEC. 688. He shall quell and suppress all riots, affrays and assaults and batteries, and he shall apprehend and commit to jail all felons and traitors.

SEC. 689. Every recognizance taken by a coroner shall be returned to the clerk of the circuit court of his county on or before the first day of the next term after taking the same.

SEC. 690. The coroner shall execute and return all process of whatever nature the same may be, where the sheriff is a party, and in all cases where just exceptions can be taken to the sheriff or his deputy, or where there is no sheriff (a).

(*) For election and term of office of coroner, see sec. 46, art. VII, Const.

(a) See SECS. 4975, 5314.

SEC. 691. In all cases, upon affidavit filed with the clerk of the circuit court, or any other court of record, of the partiality, prejudice or consanguinity of the sheriff or deputy sheriff of any county where suit is brought or to be brought, or shall have been commenced, the clerk shall issue and direct the original or other process in the suit to the coroner, who shall execute the same, and attend to the suit throughout in the same manner as the sheriff should do in like cases.

SEC. 692. If any person die in prison, or if any person be slain, or die an unnatural death, except by the sentence of the law, or if the dead body of any person be found, and the circumstances of the death be unknown, information shall be immediately given to the coroner of the county.

SEC. 693. The coroner, on the receipt of any such information, shall summon, without delay, not less than twelve nor more than twenty-three persons of his county, qualified to serve as jurors, to appear at the place where the body lies, and if twelve do not appear, he shall summon others, until that number do appear.

SEC. 694. When the requisite number of jurors appear, the coroner shall administer the following oath: "You do solemnly swear that you will diligently inquire into the time, cause, manner and circumstances of the death of the person whose body lies before you, and that you will thereupon make presentment of the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, that shall come to your knowledge; so help you, God."

SEC. 695. After the coroner and jurors shall have viewed the body, they shall proceed to inquire into the cause, manner and circumstances of the death.

SEC. 696. The coroner shall cause to come before the jurors all suspected persons who can be taken, and all proper witnesses, and all proper means shall be used to ascertain the truth.

SEC. 697. All suspected persons may be examined, and their voluntary declarations taken, without threats or promises, and reduced to writing, and read to the respective persons examined, and be signed by them, if willing.

SEC. 698. The testimony of each witness, if material, shall be reduced to writing, and read to and signed by the witness.

SEC. 699. Such examinations and testimony shall be certified and signed by the coroner, and in case of the death of a witness, his deposition shall be evidence on the trial of any person present at his examination (b).

SEC. 700. At least twelve of the jurors shall agree to the inquisition.

SEC. 701. Such inquisition may be according to the following form:

STATE OF ARKANSAS, }
County of ———. }

An inquisition, taken the — day of —, 18—, at —, in said county of —, before —, coroner of said county, upon the view of the dead body of (here insert the name of the deceased, if known, or, if unknown, a description of the person, by his apparent age, size, clothes, etc., etc.), by the oaths of (here insert the jurors' names), good and lawful jurors of said county,

(b) When the deposition, subscribed and certified as the statute requires, is in existence and attainable, oral evidence of its contents can not be admitted. Dunn v. State, 2—229.

Oral evidence is admissible to prove what a witness testified at a coroner's inquest, if his testimony was not reduced to writing. Nelson v. State, 32—192. But the minutes kept by a coroner of an inquest held by him are not competent evidence. The facts contained in them should be proved by the testimony of the coroner. Bass v. State, 29—142.

who, being in due form sworn, say that the said —— came to his death (here insert the time, cause, manner and circumstances of the death as found).

In testimony whereof, as well the said coroner as the said jurors, have hereunto set their hands, the day and year first aforesaid.

SEC. 702. The coroner shall have power to summon witnesses, and, in case of their neglect to appear pursuant to the summons, to arrest them and compel their attendance. He may also issue subpoenas for, and attachments for contempt against, witnesses, directed to the constable of any township in the county.

SEC. 703. It shall be the duty of the coroner, on probable cause, supported by oath, that a person has committed murder or manslaughter, to arrest such person and safely keep him for examination.

SEC. 704. If it be found by any inquisition that the death of the deceased was caused by the act, abetment, procurement or command, or counsel of any person, such person shall not be bailable by the coroner, unless it appear by the inquisition that it was a case of excusable homicide, or of manslaughter (c).

SEC. 705. It shall be the duty of the coroner to apprehend every such person, if not under arrest, unless it appears by the inquisition to be a case of excusable homicide, and, if necessary, he shall issue his warrant under his hand, directed to any constable of the county, grounded on such inquisition, for the apprehension of any person accused therein.

SEC. 706. Such warrant may be in the following form :

STATE OF ARKANSAS, }
County of ——.

The State of Arkansas to the constable of any township in said county of —— :

It having been found by an inquisition taken the —— day of ——, 18—, before ——, coroner of the county aforesaid, upon view of the body of ——, that the said —— came to his death (here set forth the time, cause, manner and circumstances, as in the inquisition): You are therefore commanded to take the before-named ——, wheresoever he may be found, and bring —— before the said coroner, to be dealt with according to law.

Witness the hand of said coroner, the —— day of ——, 18—.

_____, Coroner.

SEC. 707. A person arrested under such warrant desiring to give bail shall, upon his request, be taken before some person authorized to take bail, in the county in which he was arrested, to be bailed if the case be bailable (d).

SEC. 708. The coroner shall have power to commit any person for trial who may have been arrested by him, or who may be brought before him by virtue of any warrant issued by him.

SEC. 709. Such commitment shall be by warrant, under his hand, and may be according to the following form :

STATE OF ARKANSAS, }
County of ——.

The State of Arkansas to the sheriff of said county :

It having been found by (proceed as in the foregoing warrant to the words, "You are therefore commanded," and then proceed), we herewith send to you

(c) A justice of the peace has no power to admit to bail, in capital offenses, murder or manslaughter. SEC. 2035.

(d) See Bass v. State, 29—142.

the before-named ———, and command you to receive him and safely keep him for trial or until he shall be discharged according to law.

Witness the hand of the said coroner, the — day of ———, 18—.

SEC. 710. The coroner shall have authority to take recognizance of bail, and he shall admit to bail any person who may be brought before him, or who may be in his custody, who is charged with a bailable offense, and offers sufficient bail; and recognizance of bail may be taken in the following form:

Be it known, that, on the ———, one thousand eight hundred and ———, before ———, coroner of the county aforesaid, came ———, of ———, in their proper persons, and acknowledged themselves to be jointly and severally bound to the State of Arkansas in the sum of — dollars, to be paid to the state; and agreed that the said sum be levied of their goods and chattels, lands and tenements, respectively, for the use of the state, upon condition that if the said ——— shall appear before the next circuit court, which shall be held in and for the county of ———, in the state aforesaid, to answer to all things that shall be objected against him, and shall not depart the said court without leave, then the above recognizance shall be void.

SEC. 711. Such recognizance shall be signed by the recognizers and be attested by the coroner.

SEC. 712. The coroner shall require each witness who may have been examined before any inquest, whose testimony he may deem material, to enter into recognizance to the state to appear at the proper court and give evidence.

SEC. 713. An entry in the following form shall be a sufficient recognizance: "I am bound in recognizance to the State of Arkansas in the sum of ——— dollars, to appear at the next term of the circuit court in and for the county of ———, to give evidence on behalf of the state against ———. Dated the ——— day of ———;" which shall be signed by the witness and attested by the coroner.

SEC. 714. Such recognizance shall be conclusive evidence to support an action, and any number of witnesses may sign the same; and it shall be conclusive evidence against each as a separate recognizance.

SEC. 715. The coroner may require a witness to find security in his recognizance, and on his failure may commit him.

SEC. 716. The coroner shall deliver every inquisition, with all the examinations, depositions and recognizances concerning the case to the clerk of the circuit court of his county on or before the first day of the term of the court, after taking the same, who shall immediately lay the same before the prosecuting attorney.

SEC. 717. If any person summoned by any coroner to appear for the purpose of being impaneled in any inquest as aforesaid shall fail to appear, or refuse to serve, such coroner shall have power to issue an attachment for contempt against him, directed to any constable of the county, and the coroner may order such person to pay the costs of the attachment and a fine not exceeding ten dollars, and may enforce obedience to such order by imprisonment.

SEC. 718. If a body on which an inquisition ought to have been held be interred without an inquisition, the coroner may cause the body to be disinterred, to hold an inquisition thereon.

SEC. 719. If any person shall cause a body, on which an inquisition ought to be held, to be buried without an inquisition, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 720. In case of the absence of the coroner, or if he reside more than twenty miles from the place where any person may be found dead, as described in this act, the inquisition may be taken by the nearest justice of the peace, who shall have full power and authority to do and perform all things required of a coroner. Rev. Stat., chap. 31.

SEC. 721. Whenever an inquest, as required by law, is held on the body of any convict in the penitentiary, the coroner or officer holding such inquest shall present an itemized bill of the fees and costs of the inquisition to the auditor, and if said bill be found just, the auditor shall draw his warrant on the treasurer for the amount in favor of the coroner; and it shall be the duty of the coroner to pay over to the jurors, and other parties, the fees and costs belonging to them. Provided, no inquest shall be held on the body of any convict, unless it be recommended by the physician of the penitentiary. Act March 9, 1877.

CLASSIFICATION.

SECTION 722. In respect to the exercise of certain corporate powers, and to the number, character, powers and duties of certain officers, municipal corporations are divided into the classes following: Cities of the first, and cities of the second class, and incorporated towns.

SEC. 723. All cities which, at the last federal census, had, or now have, a population exceeding five thousand inhabitants, shall be deemed cities of the first class.

SEC. 724. All cities which, at any future federal census, or at any census which may be taken in pursuance of the laws of this state, shall be found to have a population of five thousand inhabitants, shall thereafter be deemed cities of the first class.

SEC. 725. Any incorporated town which, at any future federal census, or at any census taken under the authority of the state, as aforesaid, shall be found to have a population exceeding twenty-five hundred and less than five thousand inhabitants, shall hereafter be deemed a city of the second class.

SEC. 726. It shall be the duty of the governor, auditor and secretary of state, or any two of them, to ascertain from the federal census, and census provided for by law of this state, as aforesaid, what cities of the second class are entitled to become cities of the first class, and what incorporated towns are entitled to become cities and their proper class; and the governor shall cause a statement thereof to be prepared and transmitted to the mayor of such city or town, stating the grade to which the same has been advanced.

SEC. 727. The governor, auditor and secretary of state may declare incorporated towns cities of the second class, and cities of the second class cities of the first class, between the periods herein fixed, upon application from any incorporated town or city of the second class, accompanied by a resolution adopted by such town or city council, asking to be so declared a city of the first or second class, as the case may be; which said application shall be accompanied with satisfactory evidence showing the population of such town or city to be large enough to entitle them to such advancement.

SEC. 728. So soon as such statement shall have been received by the mayor, as provided in the preceding section, showing that any city or town will be entitled at the next regular annual period for the election of municipal officers, to be organized into a city of the first or second class, as the case may be, it shall and may be lawful for the proper corporate authority of such city or incorporated town to make and publish such by-laws or ordinances as shall be necessary to perfect such organization in respect to the election, duties and compensation of such officers, or otherwise.

SEC. 729. All corporations which existed when the present constitution took effect for the purpose of municipal government, and described or denominated in any law then in force, are hereby organized into cities of the first and second class, as the case may be, and incorporated towns, with the territorial limits to them respectively prescribed or belonging (b).

SEC. 730. All municipal corporations having over five thousand inhabitants shall be deemed cities of the first class. All cities having twenty-five hundred inhabitants, and less than five thousand inhabitants, shall be deemed cities of the second class; all others shall be incorporated towns, and shall be governed respectively by the provisions of this act. All acts now in force for the organization or government of any such municipal government or corporation shall be, and they are hereby, repealed. Provided, that such repeal shall not destroy or bar any right or property, action or prosecution, which may be vested or exists at the time this act takes effect (c).

SEC. 731. The corporate authority of cities organized, or to be organized, shall be vested in one principal officer, to be styled the mayor, one board of aldermen, to be styled the city council, together with such other officers as are mentioned in this act, or may be created under its authority.

(b) See City of Little Rock v. Parish, 36—166; State v. Leatherman, 38—87.

(c) See Babcock v. City of Helena, 34—499.

POWERS BELONGING TO CITIES OF THE FIRST AND SECOND CLASS.

SEC. 732. The city council shall have power to establish a board of health, with jurisdiction for one mile beyond the city limits; and for quarantine purposes, in case of epidemic, five miles; to invest it with such powers and impose upon it such duties as shall be necessary to secure the city and the inhabitants thereof from the evils of contagious and malignant and infectious diseases; to provide for its proper organization and the election or appointment of the necessary officers, and to make such by-laws, rules and regulations for its government and support as shall be required for enforcing the prompt and efficient performance of its duties and the lawful exercise of its powers.

SEC. 733. They shall have power to establish a city watch or police; to organize the same under the general superintendence of the mayor; prescribe its duties and define its powers in such manner as will most effectually preserve the peace of the city, secure the citizens thereof from personal violence, and their property from fire and unlawful depredations.

SEC. 734. They shall establish or organize fire companies and provide them with proper engines and such other instruments as shall be necessary to extinguish fire and preserve the property of the city and of the inhabitants from conflagration, and shall provide such by-laws and regulations for the government of the same as they shall deem expedient; and each and every person who shall belong to any such fire company, shall, in time of peace, be exempt from the performance of military, road, street and jury duty under the laws of this state.

SEC. 735. They shall erect, establish and regulate the markets and market places for the sale of vegetables and other articles necessary for the sustenance, convenience and comfort of the city and the inhabitants thereof. They shall have power to prescribe the times of opening and closing the same, the kind and description of articles that may be sold therein, and the stands or places to be occupied by the venders.

SEC. 736. They may have full power to prevent forestalling, to prohibit or regulate huckstering in the markets, and to adopt such rules and regulations as are necessary to prevent fraud, and to preserve order in the market. They may authorize the immediate seizure, arrest and removal from any market of any person or persons violating its regulations, as established by ordinance, together with any article in their possession, and the immediate seizure and destruction of tainted or unsound meat or other provisions. But no charge or assessment of any kind shall be made or levied in any manner against any farmer or producer of vegetables or provisions in bringing the same to any market in any city, for standing in or occupying a place, with or without horses and wagon used in bringing such produce to the market, in any of the market spaces of such city, or in the streets contiguous thereto, on market days and evenings previous thereto. Provided, however, that nothing contained in this section shall be so construed as to authorize the city council of any city to pass an ordinance for the purpose of assessing or imposing any fine or punishment whatever upon any farmer or producer for selling at any time, within the city, any article of provision or vegetables, to any person or persons, in any street or streets, or market spaces, during market hours.

SEC. 737. The city council shall have the care, supervision and control of all the public highways, bridges, streets, alleys, public squares and commons within the city; and shall cause the same to be kept open and in repair, and free from nuisance.

SEC. 738. No street or alley, which shall hereafter be dedicated to public use by the proprietor of ground in any city, shall be deemed a public street or alley, or to be under the care or control of the city council, unless the dedication shall be accepted and confirmed by an ordinance specially passed for that purpose.

SEC. 739. They shall have the power, in cities of the first class, to prescribe by ordinance the width of the tire of all wagons, carts, drays and other vehicles used in transportation of persons, or articles from one part of the city to another, or in the transportation of coal, wood, stone, lumber or iron into the city; to establish stands for hackney-coaches, cabs and omnibuses, and enforce the observance and use thereof, and to fix the rates and prices for the transportation of persons and property in such coaches, cabs and omnibuses from one part of the city to another.

SEC. 740. The city council shall have power to establish and construct, and to regulate landing places, levees, wharves, docks, piers and basins, and to fix the rates of landing, wharfage and dockage, and to use, for the purposes aforesaid, any public landing or any property belonging to or under the control of the city.

SEC. 741. The city council shall have the use and control, for the above purpose, of the shore or bank of any lake or river, not the property of individuals, to the extent and in the manner that the state can grant such use or control.

SEC. 742. The city council shall have the power to appoint, or to provide that the qualified voters shall elect harbor-masters, wharf-masters, port-wardens and other officers usual or proper for the regulation of the navigation, trade, or commerce of such city; to define their duties and powers, and to fix their fees and compensation.

SEC. 743. Copies of the examination and surveys, and of the proceedings of any port-warden in the usual discharge of the duties of such office, certified under his hand, shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

SEC. 744. The city council shall have power to provide that, when a fine shall be imposed for the violation of any of the ordinances of the city and the same is not paid, the party convicted shall, by order of the mayor or other proper authority, or on process issued for the purpose, be committed until such fine and costs of prosecution shall be paid, or the party discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 745. They shall also have power to provide that any person convicted of a repeated and willful violation of any ordinance, who shall refuse or neglect to pay the fine imposed and the cost of prosecution, by like order or process, shall be imprisoned and kept in confinement for any term not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 746. They shall have power to provide that all vagrants, common street beggars, common prostitutes, and persons disturbing the peace of the city, shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by fine or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 747. Any city shall be allowed, for the purpose of imprisonment authorized under this act, the use of the county jail of the proper county, and all persons so imprisoned shall be under the charge of the sheriff of the county, who shall receive and discharge such persons in such manner as shall be prescribed by the ordinances of the city, or otherwise, by due course of law.

SEC. 748. The city council may, at its discretion, by ordinance, provide that fines imposed for violation of ordinances may be discharged by the offender working out the same upon the streets or alleys of the towns, at the rate of one dollar per day, and may adopt all necessary regulations for the safe-keeping, management and control of offenders while working out such fines.

GENERAL POWERS OF CITIES AND TOWNS.

SEC. 749. Cities or incorporated towns, organized or to be organized under the provisions of this act, shall be, and are hereby declared to be bodies politic and corporate, under the name and style of "the city of ———," or "the incorporated town of ———," as the case may be; capable to sue and be sued, to contract and be contracted with, to acquire, hold and possess property, real and personal; to have a common seal, and to change and alter the same at pleasure, and to exercise such other powers and to have such other privileges as are incident to other corporations of like character or degree, not inconsistent with the provisions of this act or the general laws of the state.

SEC. 750. All municipal corporations organized or to be organized under the provisions of this act, shall have general powers and privileges, and be subject to the rules and restrictions of this act prescribed. Act March 9, 1875, secs. 1-11.

SEC. 751. They shall have power to prevent injury or annoyance within the limits of the corporation from anything dangerous, offensive or unhealthy, and to cause any nuisance to be abated within the jurisdiction given to the board of health in section 732; to regulate the transportation and keeping of gunpowder, dynamite and other combustibles, and to provide or license magazines for the same; to prevent and punish fast or immoderate riding of horses, or the driving or propelling of vehicles through the streets; to establish and regulate markets; to provide for the measuring or weighing of hay, wood, or any other article for sale (d); to regulate the transportation of articles throughout the streets, and to prevent injury to the streets from overloaded vehicles; to prevent cruelty to animals; to prevent any riots, noise, disturbance or disorderly assemblages; to regulate drumming or soliciting persons who arrive on trains, or otherwise, for hotels, boarding houses, bath houses or doctors; to license such drummers, and to provide that each drummer shall wear a badge plainly exposed to view, showing for whom and for what he is drumming or soliciting patronage, and to punish by fine any violation of this provision; to license, regulate, tax or suppress ordinaries, hawkers, peddlers, brokers (e), pawnbrokers, money changers, intelligence offices, public masquerade balls, street exhibitions, sparring exhibitions, dance houses, fortune tellers, pistol galleries, corn doctors, lock, private and venereal hospitals, museums and menageries, equestrian performances, horoscopic views, lung testers, muscle developers, magnifying glasses, billiard tables or any other tables or instruments used for gaming (f), theatrical or other exhibitions, shows and amusements, tippling houses and dram shops (g); or any gift enterprises, and to suppress prize fighting, dog fights, chicken cock-fights, gaming or gambling houses, and to regulate or suppress bawdy or disorderly houses, houses of ill-fame or assignation (*). Provided, the city or town council shall not grant a license to any tippling house, dram shop or saloon, or permit such houses, shops or saloons to carry on such business in any ward of the city, or any incorporated town, when at the previous election a majority of the votes cast were against license in such ward of the city, or incorporated town (h), or where an order prohibiting the sale or giving away of any vinous, spirituous or intoxicating liquors of any kind, or alcohol, or any compound or preparation thereof commonly called tonics or bitters, has been made in accordance with the provisions of section 4524. Ib., sec 12, as amended by act March 8, 1883.

(d) A city has the power to pass and enforce by proper penalties an ordinance "to provide for the measuring or weighing of hay, wood or any other article for sale," within its limits; but if such ordinance be unreasonable or directed to the end of raising a revenue, chancery will declare it void. Taylor, Cleveland & Co. v. City of Pine Bluff, 34—603.

SEC. 752. They shall have power to regulate the building of houses; to make regulations for the purpose of guarding against accidents by fire, and to prohibit the erection of any building, or any addition to any building, more than ten feet high, unless the outer walls thereof be made of brick or mortar, or of iron, or stone and mortar; and to provide for the removal of any building or additions erected contrary to such prohibition (i).

SEC. 753. They shall have power to provide a supply of water by the construction and regulation of wells, pumps, cisterns, reservoirs or water-works; to prevent the unnecessary waste of water; to prevent the pollution of the water and injury to the water-works; and for the purpose of establishing or supplying water-works, any municipal corporation may go beyond its territorial limits; and its jurisdiction to prevent or punish any pollution or injury to the stream or source of water, or to the water-works, shall extend five miles beyond its corporate limits.

SEC. 754. They shall have power to provide for lighting the streets and alleys of the city by gas or otherwise, and to authorize the construction of gas-works and of street railroads.

SEC. 755. For the purpose of providing water, gas or street railroads, the mayor and council may contract with any person or company to construct and operate the same, and may grant to such person or company for the time which

(e) A dealer in real estate for others is a broker, and, under this section, may be required to pay a license for following the occupation within the limits of an incorporated city or town. City of Little Rock v. Barton, 33—436.

(f) A city ordinance licensing the exhibiting of a gaming table or gambling device is void. State v. Lindsey, 34—372.

(g) See Tuck v. Town of Waldron, 31—462; Siloam Springs v. Thompson, 41—456.

(*) As to power to condemn an act or thing as a nuisance, see Ward v. City of Little Rock, 41—526.

(h) See SECS. 4513—4515.

(i) Under this section a town council has power to prohibit the erection of wooden buildings in certain districts of the town as a precaution against fire; and if such building be erected in violation of an ordinance inhibiting it, the council may promptly remove it without any prosecution or judicial proceedings of any kind against the owner of the building. McKibben v. Fort Smith, 35—332.

may be agreed upon the exclusive privilege of using the streets and alleys of such city for such purpose or purposes.

SEC. 756. They shall have the power to regulate the burial of the dead; to provide without the corporate limits of the corporation places for the interment of the dead, and to prevent any such interment within any such limits, except in public burying grounds established before the adoption of this act. They may not only impose proper fines and penalties, but shall also have power to cause any body, interred contrary to such prohibition, to be taken up and buried without the limits of the corporation.

SEC. 757. They shall have the power to restrain and regulate the running at large of cattle, horses, swine, sheep and other animals within the limits of the corporation; to authorize the distraining, impounding and sale of the same, for any penalty imposed by any ordinance or regulation, and all costs of the proceeding; to prevent the running at large of dogs, and injuries and annoyances therefrom, and to authorize the destruction of the same, when at large, contrary to any prohibition to that effect.

SEC. 758. They shall have the power to license, regulate or prohibit all theatrical exhibitions and public shows, and all exhibitions of whatever name or nature. Provided, that lectures on science, historical or literary subjects shall not be included within the provisions of this section; to regulate or prohibit the sale of all horses, or other domestic animals at auction in the streets, alleys or highways; to regulate (*) all carts, wagons, drays, hackney coaches, omnibuses and ferries, and every description of carriages which may be kept for hire, and all livery stables; to regulate hotels and other houses for public entertainment, and to regulate or to prohibit ale and porter shops or houses, and public places of habitual resort for tippling and intemperance, and to declare what are such. Ib., secs. 13-17.

SEC. 759. They may levy and collect a tax of not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars per annum from each and every public auctioneer who may follow his occupation in said cities or incorporated towns. Act Dec. 14, 1875.

SEC. 760. They shall have power to lay off, open, widen, straighten and establish, to improve and keep in order and repair, and to light streets, alleys, public grounds, wharves, landing places and market places; to open and construct and keep in order and repair sewers and drains (j); to enter upon, or take, for such of the above purposes as may be required, land or material, and to assess and collect a charge on the owner or owners of any lot or land, or on lots or lands through or by which a street, alley or public highway shall pass, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of constructing, improving, repairing or lighting such street, alley or public highway, to be in proportion to the value of such lot or land as assessed for taxation under the general law of the state.

SEC. 761. Each municipal corporation may, either by general or special by-laws or ordinance, prescribe the mode in which the charge on the respective owners of lots or land, and on the lots or land, shall be assessed and determined

(*) The power to regulate drays, etc., includes the power to license as a means of regulation, and to require a fee as the cost of license. Such fee must be reasonable, and not imposed for the sole or main purpose of revenue. Fort Smith v. Ayers, Ms. Op., 1884; Russellville v. White, 41-485.

(j) See City of Little Rock v. Willis, 27-572; Simmons v. City of Camden, 26-276; Mayor, etc., of Helena v. Thompson, 29-569.

for the purpose authorized by the provisions of this act; such charge, when assessed, shall be payable by the owner or owners, at the time of the assessment, personally, and shall also be a lien on the respective lots or parcels of land in the possession of any owner, from the time of assessment.

SEC. 762. Municipal corporations shall have power to cause any lot or lots of land within their limits, on which, or part of which, water shall at any time become stagnant, to be raised up or drained, and to cause all putrid substance, whether animal or vegetable, to be removed from any lot or lots; and may, for such purpose, from time to time direct that such lot or lots be raised, filled up or drained, or that such putrid substance be removed from such lot or lots by the owner or owners thereof respectively, in such reasonable time and in such manner as may be directed by a resolution, by-law or ordinance of said city or town council; and, in case of failure or refusal to do so, it may be done at the expense of such municipal corporation, and the amount of money so expended shall be a debt due to said corporation, from the owner or owners of such lot or lots; and shall, from the time of the adoption of the resolution, by-law, or ordinance, be a lien on such lots.

SEC. 763. The amount of the lien provided for in the three preceding sections may be determined by action against the owner or owners of any lot or lots, and the amount thus ascertained, with cost of suit and five per centum penalty for collection, shall be by the mayor certified to the clerk of the county, and by him placed on the tax-book as delinquent taxes, and collected accordingly, and the amount, when so collected, shall be paid to the city by the county collector.

SEC. 764. Municipal corporations shall have power to make and publish, from time to time, by-laws or ordinances, not inconsistent with the laws of the state, for carrying into effect or discharging the powers or duties conferred by the provisions of this act (k), and it is hereby made the duty of the municipal corporation to publish such by-laws and ordinances as shall be necessary to secure such corporations and their inhabitants against injuries by fire, thieves, robbers, burglars and other persons violating the public peace; for the suppression of riots, and gambling, and indecent and disorderly conduct; for the punishment of all lewd and lascivious behavior in the streets and other public places; and they shall have power to make and publish such by-laws and ordinances, not inconsistent with the laws of this state (l), as to them shall seem necessary to provide for the safety, preserve the health, promote the prosperity and improve the morals, order, comfort and convenience of such corporations and the inhabitants thereof (m).

SEC. 765. By-laws and ordinances of municipal corporations may be enforced by the imposition of fines, forfeitures and penalties, on any person offending against or violating such by-laws or ordinances, or any of them; and the fine, penalty or forfeiture, may be prescribed in each particular by-law or ordinance, or by a general by-law or ordinance made for that purpose; and municipal corporations shall have power to provide in like manner for the prosecution, recovery and collection of such fines, penalties and forfeitures.

(k) The Constitution (sec. 28, art. VII), did not abrogate the jurisdiction of municipal courts to try and punish vagrancy. Brizzolari v. State, 37—364.

(m) The general powers conferred in this section do not enlarge the special powers conferred in Sec. 751. Tuck v. Town of Waldron, 31—462.

SEC. 766. Municipal corporations shall not have power to inflict any fine or penalty, by ordinance or otherwise, to a greater sum than twenty-five dollars for any one specified offense or violation of such by-law or ordinance, or double that sum for each repetition of such offense or violation.

SEC. 767. If a thing prohibited or rendered unlawful is, in its nature, continuous in respect to time, the fine or penalty for allowing the continuance thereof, in violation of the by-laws or ordinance, shall not exceed fifteen dollars for each day that the same may be unlawfully continued.

SEC. 768. If any by-law or ordinance provide for any greater fine, penalty or forfeiture than is herein provided, it shall and may be lawful, in any suit or prosecution for the recovery thereof, to reduce the same to such amount as shall be deemed reasonable and proper, and to permit a recovery or render a judgment for such amount as this act authorizes.

SEC. 769. Fines, penalties and forfeitures may in all cases, and in addition to any other mode provided, be recovered by suit or action before any court of competent jurisdiction, in the name of the proper municipal corporation and for its use; and, in such suit or action, where pleading is necessary, it shall be sufficient to declare generally for the amount claimed to be due, in respect to the by-law or ordinance, referring to its title and the date of its adoption or passage, and showing, as near as may be, the true time of the alleged violation.

SEC. 770. All suits or prosecutions for the recovery of any such fines, penalties or forfeitures, or for the commission of any offense made punishable by any by-law or ordinance of any municipal corporation, shall be commenced within one year after the violation of the by-law or ordinance, or commission of the offense, and not afterwards. Provided, that the offender has remained within the jurisdiction of such municipal corporation during the one year aforesaid, if not, then the limitation herein provided shall extend for the term of five years.

SEC. 771. The printed copies of the by-laws and ordinances of any municipal corporation, published under its authority, and transcripts of any by-law, ordinance or of any act or proceeding of any municipal corporation, recorded in any book or entered on any minutes or journal, kept under the direction of such municipal corporation, and certified by its clerk, shall be received in evidence for any purpose for which the original ordinances, books, minutes or journal, would be received with as much effect (n).

SEC. 772. It shall be the duty of the clerk or recorder to furnish such transcript to persons demanding the same, and he shall be entitled to charge therefor at the same rate that the clerk of the county and circuit court is entitled to charge for transcripts for such courts.

SEC. 773. All by-laws or ordinances shall, as soon as may be after their passage, be recorded in a book kept for that purpose, and be authenticated by the signature of the presiding officer of the council and the clerk; and all by-laws or ordinances of a general or permanent nature, and of those imposing any fine, penalty or forfeiture, shall be published in some newspaper of general circulation in the corporation. Provided, that in incorporated towns where no newspaper is published, written or printed notices posted up in five of the most public places in said corporation shall be deemed a sufficient publication of any law or ordinance for incorporated towns; and it shall be deemed a sufficient defense to any suit or prosecution for such fine, penalty or forfeiture, to show that no such publication was made.

SEC. 774. On the passage of every by-law or ordinance, resolution or order, to enter into a contract, by any council of any municipal corporation (o), the yeas and nays shall be called and recorded (p); and to pass any by-law or ordinance, resolution or order, a concurrence of a majority of a whole number of members elected to the council shall be required.

SEC. 775. All appointments of officers by any council shall be made viva voce, and the concurrence of a like majority shall be required; the names of those voting, and for whom they voted, on the votes resulting in the appointment, shall be recorded, and all such voting shall be public.

SEC. 776. No street or highway shall be opened, straightened or widened, nor shall any other improvement be made which will require proceedings to condemn private property, without the concurrence in the by-law, ordinance or resolution, directing the same, of two-thirds of the whole number of members elected to the council; and a concurrence of a like majority shall be required to direct any improvement or repair of a street or highway, the cost of which is to be assessed on the owners of the property, unless one-half of the owners to be charged shall petition in writing therefor.

SEC. 777. All rights and property of every kind and description, under its former organization, shall be deemed and held to be vested in the same municipal corporation under the organization prescribed by this act; and no rights or liabilities, either in favor of or against such corporation, existing at the time of the taking effect of this act, and no suit or prosecution of any kind, shall be in any manner affected by such change, but the same shall stand or progress as if no such change had been made. Provided, that where a different remedy is given in this act, which can properly and without manifest inconvenience to the party, plaintiff or defendant, be made applicable to any rights existing at the time of its passage, the same shall be deemed cumulative to the remedies before provided, and may be used accordingly.

SEC. 778. Any municipal corporation, in which, under its former organization, by any law or charter regulating any literary, charitable or benevolent institution, was vested any power of appointing officers of supervision or control, shall continue to hold and possess the like power and authority in every respect.

SEC. 779. All officers heretofore elected by the people or appointed by any municipal corporation now in office, and recognized by this act, shall remain and continue in their respective offices, and perform the several duties thereof, under the provisions of this act, until their successors shall be chosen, or appointed, and qualified in the manner provided for in this act.

SEC. 780. All laws, ordinances, resolutions, or orders, heretofore lawfully passed and adopted by the city or town council, not inconsistent with the constitution or laws of this state, shall be, remain and continue in force until altered or repealed by the city council.

SEC. 781. All special acts in relation to any municipal corporation, repealed by section 730, shall, notwithstanding, so far as the same affects the particular police regulations or local affairs of any municipal corporation, in matters not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be and remain in force as by-laws and ordinances of the particular corporation, until altered or repealed by the city or town council.

SEC. 782. If the owner or possessor of any lot or land in any city or incorporated town in this state shall dig, or cause to be dug, any cellar, pit, vault, or excavation, to a greater depth than twelve feet below the curb of the street on which said lot or land abuts, or, if there be no curb, below the surface of the adjoining lots, and shall, by such excavation, cause any damage to any wall, house or other building upon the lots adjoining thereto, the said owner or possessor shall be liable, in a civil action, to the party injured, to the full amount of the damage aforesaid. Provided, however, that such owner or possessor may dig, or cause to be dug, any such cellar, pit or excavation, to the full depth of any foundation walls of any building upon the adjoining lots, and to the full depth of twelve feet below the grade of the street whereon such lot abuts, established by the corporate authority, without incurring the liability prescribed by this section. Act March 9, 1875, secs. 18-34.

IMPROVEMENT OF STREETS, ALLEYS, ETC.

SEC. 783. In order to better provide for the improvement of the streets, alleys, sidewalks and public grounds of municipal corporations, the city council or board of aldermen of any such corporation shall have power, whenever in their opinion the interests of the corporation require it, by ordinance, to direct and require that any, or all, male persons between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, resident within the limits of such corporation, shall be liable and subject to street duty performable by work and labor in or upon the streets, alleys, sidewalks or public grounds inside the limits of such corporation, under the supervision and direction of such officer as the city council or board of aldermen may direct; and to prescribe the notice and the manner of service thereof by which the person or persons so liable shall be warned or summoned for the performance of such duty, and shall have full power to punish any failure, refusal or neglect to perform such duty on the part of any person so warned or summoned; and shall also have the power to provide in what manner and upon what terms exemption from such duty may be obtained. Provided, that no person shall be liable to more than ten days of such duty in one year, nor for a longer period than three days at any one time; and provided, that persons who live in such corporations shall not be liable to work on any public roads outside thereof.

SEC. 784. For the purpose of carrying into full effect and operation the power and authority in this act conferred, the city council or board of aldermen shall have full power to pass all such by-laws or ordinances as to them may seem just and proper, and to punish violations of the same. Act March 10, 1879.

INCORPORATION AND ORGANIZATION OF INCORPORATED TOWNS (q).

SEC. 785. When the inhabitants of a part of any county, not embraced within the limits of any city or incorporated town, shall desire to be organized into a city or town, they may apply by petition, in writing, signed by the inhabitants so applying, to be in number not less than twenty qualified voters, to the county court of the proper county, which petition shall describe the territory proposed to be embraced in such incorporated town, and have annexed thereto an accurate map or plat thereof; shall state the name proposed for such incorporated town, and shall also name the person or persons authorized to act in behalf of the petitioners in prosecuting said petition. When any such petition shall be presented to the court, they shall cause the same to be filed in the office of the county clerk, to be there kept, subject to the inspection of any person or persons interested, until the time appointed for the hearing thereof. The said court shall, at or before the time of such filing, fix and communicate to such petitioners or their agent, a time and place for the hearing of such petition, which time shall not be less than thirty days after the filing of such petition, and thereupon the petitioners or their agent shall cause a notice to be published in some newspaper of general circulation in the county, not less than three consecutive weeks; and, if there be no newspaper of general circulation in the county, a notice shall be posted at some public place within the limits of said proposed incorporated town for at least three weeks before the time of such hearing, which notice shall contain the substance of said petition, and state the time and place appointed for the hearing thereof.

SEC. 786. Every such hearing shall be public, and may be adjourned from time to time, and any person interested may appear and contest the granting the prayer of said petition; and affidavits in support of or against said petition, which may be prepared and submitted, shall be examined by said court, and they may, in their discretion, permit the agent or agents named in the original petition to amend or change the same, except no amendment shall be permitted, whereby territory not before embraced shall be added, or the character of the proposed incorporated town changed from special to general, or from general to special, without appointing another time for hearing, and requiring new notice to be given as above provided.

SEC. 787. If the county court shall be satisfied, after hearing such petition, that at least twenty qualified voters reside therein, or within the limits described by said petition, and that said petition has been signed by them; that said limits have been accurately described, and an accurate map or plat thereof made and filed (r); that the name proposed for the said town is proper and sufficient to distinguish it from others of like kind in the state, and it shall, moreover, be deemed right and proper, in the judgment and discretion of the court, that said petition shall be granted, then it shall make out and indorse on said petition an order, to the effect that the incorporated town as named and described in the petition may be organized, which order said court shall sign and deliver, together with the petition and the map or plat, to the recorder of the county, whose duty it shall be to record the same as soon as may be in the proper book of records, and to file and preserve in his office the original papers, having certified thereon that the same have been properly recorded; and it shall also be the duty of said recorder to make out and certify under his official seal two transcripts of said record, one of which he shall forward to the secretary of state, and the other he shall deliver to the agent or agents of said petitioners, with a certificate thereon that a similar transcript has been forwarded to the secretary of state as provided by this section.

SEC. 788. As soon as said record shall be made, and said transcript certified, forwarded and delivered, the inhabitants within the limits described in the petition, shall be deemed an incorporated town, to be organized and governed under the provisions of this act in like manner as if specially named therein, and so soon as said incorporated town shall be actually organized, by election of its officers as hereinafter provided, notice of its existence as such shall be taken in all judicial proceedings in the state.

SEC. 789. One month shall elapse from the time such transcripts are forwarded and delivered, before notice shall be given of an election of officers in such incorporated town, and any person interested may, at any time within the said one month, make complaint in writing, in the nature of an application for an injunction to the circuit court, or the judge thereof in vacation, having given at least five days' notice thereof, and furnished a copy of the complaint to the agent or agents of the petitioners, for the purpose of having the organization of such proposed incorporated town prevented.

SEC. 790. It shall be the duty of the court or judge to hear such complaint in a summary manner, receiving answers, affidavits and proofs, as may be deemed pertinent; and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court or judge that the proposed incorporated town does not contain the requisite number of inhabitants, or that a majority of them have not signed the original petition, or that the limits of said proposed incorporated town are unreasonably large or small, or are not properly and sufficiently described, then the said court or judge shall order the record of said incorporated town to be annulled; and it shall be the duty of the county recorder to indorse on the record the order so made, and to certify and transmit to the secretary of state a copy thereof, and thereupon the record shall be of no effect, but such proceeding shall in no manner bar a subsequent petition to the county court, on the same subject, by complying with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 791. Unless the agent or agents of the petitioners shall, within thirty days after a transcript shall be delivered as hereinbefore provided, be notified of a complaint having been made to the circuit court of the county, or a judge thereof, then at the end of said thirty days, and in case of any such complaint then at the end of thirty days after the dismissal of said complaint, the said agent or agents shall give public notice, by posting the same at three or more public places within the limits of said incorporated town, of the time and place of holding the first election for officers of said incorporated town, which election shall be conducted and the officers elected and qualified in the manner prescribed by law in like cases. Provided, that if said election shall be held at any other time than that prescribed by law for the regular election of such officers, the officers elected shall continue in office so long and in like manner as if they had been elected at the next preceding period of such regular election.

SEC. 792. The corporate authority of incorporated towns organized, or to be organized for general purposes, shall vest in one mayor, one recorder and five aldermen, who shall be qualified electors residing within the limits of the corporation, and shall hold their office for one year and until their successors are elected and qualified, and such mayor, recorder and aldermen shall constitute the council of the incorporated town, any five of whom shall be a quorum for the transaction of business.

SEC. 793. The mayor, or, in case of his absence, the recorder, shall preside at all meetings of the council. The recorder shall also be and act as clerk of the corporation, and shall attend all meetings of the council, and make a fair, accurate and correct record of all their proceedings, laws, rules and ordinances, made and passed by the council, and the same shall, at all times, be open for the inspection of the electors of the corporation. Act March 9, 1875, secs. 35-42.

SEC. 794. Whenever the mayor of an incorporated town or city of the second class is unable to perform the functions of his office, or is absent and can not be obtained, the recorder of said incorporated town or city of the second class shall be authorized and empowered to perform the functions of a magistrate during the disability or absence of said mayor, with all the power and jurisdiction of said mayor, to all intents and purposes whatever. Act March 30, 1883.

SEC. 795. The council shall have power to fill vacancies which may happen in their board from the qualified electors of the corporation, who shall hold their appointments until the next annual election and until their successors are elected and qualified; and, in the absence of the mayor and recorder from any meeting of the council, the council shall have power to appoint any two of their number to perform the duties of mayor and recorder for the time being.

SEC. 796. The council of any incorporated town shall have power to provide by law or ordinance for the election of a treasurer, marshal and such subordinate officers as they may think necessary for the good government of the corporation; to prescribe their duties and compensation, or the fees they shall be entitled to receive for their services; to require of them an oath of office, and bond with surety for the faithful discharge of their duty. The period for the election of any officer shall be fixed at the time of the regular annual election, and no appointment of any officer shall endure beyond the period of the term of office of the council making the appointment, and one week after the qualification of the members of the succeeding council.

SEC. 797. The mayor of the corporation shall be a conservator of the peace throughout its limits, and shall have within the same all the power and jurisdiction of a justice of the peace in all matters, civil or criminal, arising under the laws of the state, to all intents and purposes whatever; and, for crimes and offenses committed within the limits of the corporation, his jurisdiction shall be co-extensive with the county; he shall give bond and security in any amount to be determined and approved by the council; and the mayor shall perform all duties required of him by the laws and ordinances of the corporation, and appeals may be taken in the same manner as from decisions of justices of the peace; he shall keep a docket and shall charge and collect the same fees that justices of the peace are or may be allowed for similar services. Act March 9, 1875, secs. 43-45.

SEC. 798. The town marshal of incorporated towns shall be the principal ministerial officer of the corporation and shall have the same power that sheriffs have by law, and his jurisdiction shall be co-extensive with the county for offenses committed within the limits of the corporation. He shall execute the process of the mayor and collect the same fees for his services that sheriffs are allowed in similar cases, and it shall be the duty of the marshal of incorporated towns to suppress all riots and disturbances and breaches of the peace, to apprehend all disorderly persons in the town and to pursue and arrest any person fleeing from justice in any part of the state, apprehend any person in the act of committing any offense against the laws of the state or ordinances of the town and forthwith to bring such persons before the mayor, or other competent authority, for examination or trial. He shall have power to appoint one or more deputies, for whose official acts he shall be responsible, and all persons or parties arrested by any officer of the state for violation of any town ordinance shall be turned over to the town marshal and shall be by him taken before the proper authorities for investigation. Ib., sec. 46, as amended by act March 26, 1883.

SEC. 799. By the concurrent vote of five members of the council the mayor, recorder, or any other member of the council, or any officer of the corporation, may be removed from office, but no such removal shall be made without a charge in writing being made and an opportunity of hearing being given, unless the officer against whom the charge is made shall have removed out of the limits of the corporation; and when any officer shall cease to reside within the limits of the corporation, it shall be deemed a good ground for a removal from office. Ib., sec. 47.

CITIES OF THE SECOND CLASS.

SEC. 800. The qualified voters of the cities of the second class shall on the first Tuesday in April, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-five, and every year thereafter, elect one mayor and two aldermen from each ward as members of the city council. The mayor of cities of the second class shall have within the limits of the same all the jurisdiction and power of a justice of the peace in all matters, civil or criminal, arising under the laws of this state, to all intents and purposes whatever, and for crimes and offenses committed within the limits of the corporation his jurisdiction shall be co-extensive with the county; he shall give bond and security in any amount to be determined and approved by the city council; he shall have exclusive jurisdiction of all prosecutions for violation of any ordinance of the city; he may award and issue any process or writs that may be necessary to enforce the administration of justice throughout the city, and for the lawful exercise of his jurisdiction according to the usages and principles of law, and he shall, in the discharge of the duties of a justice of the peace, receive the same fees and compensation as may be allowed them by law. The city council of all cities of the second class now having one or more wards may divide such city into such number of wards as said council may determine, not exceeding five, before the time of the first election provided for by this act, and each of said wards shall at such first election be entitled to two aldermen. Ib., sec. 48, as amended by act March 8, 1883.

SEC. 801. The qualified voters of each city of the second class shall, at the same time, elect a city marshal, city recorder and treasurer. Each of said officers shall continue in office until his successor is elected and qualified, and shall have such powers and perform such duties as are prescribed in this act, or as may be prescribed by any ordinance of such city, not inconsistent with the provisions of this act. Ib., sec. 49, as amended by act Feb. 28, 1881.

SEC. 802. The marshal of cities of the second class shall execute and return all writs and process to him directed by the mayor, and, in criminal cases or cases of a violation of a city ordinance, he may serve the same in any part of the county; it shall be his duty to suppress all riots and disturbances and breaches of the peace, to apprehend all disorderly persons in the city, and to pursue and arrest any person fleeing from justice in any part of the state; to apprehend any person in the act of committing any offense against the laws of the state or ordinances of the city, and forthwith to bring such persons before the mayor, or other competent authority, for examination or trial; he shall have power to appoint one or more deputies, for whose official acts he shall be responsible; he shall, in the discharge of his proper duties, have like powers, be subject to like responsibilities, and shall receive the like fees as sheriffs and constables in similar cases. Ib., sec. 50.

CITIES OF THE FIRST CLASS.

SEC. 803. The qualified voters of cities of the first class shall, on the first Tuesday in April, in the year 1875, and every two years thereafter, elect one mayor and two aldermen from each ward, as members of the city council, one city treasurer and one police judge, all of whom, except the aldermen, shall hold their offices for the term of two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, and shall have such powers and perform such duties as are required by this act, or may be prescribed by any ordinance of the city not inconsistent with this act, and which may not be incompatible with the nature of their respective offices.

SEC. 804. All officers provided for in this act, and by ordinance of any city under this act, shall receive such salary as the council of any city may designate, and shall in no instance receive an additional compensation by way of fees, fines or perquisites, but all such fees, fines or perquisites shall be paid into the city treasury.

SEC. 805. The aldermen shall be residents of their respective wards, and when they shall have organized, as hereinafter provided, they shall proceed to determine by lot the time of service of each alderman so elected, so that one of the aldermen of each ward shall serve for the term of two years, and the other for one year; and at every succeeding general election to be held therein one alderman shall be elected by the qualified voters of said ward, who shall possess the qualifications hereinbefore required, and whose term of service shall be two years, so that the terms of two aldermen of each ward shall always expire on different years, and the persons thus chosen shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified.

SEC. 806. The aldermen elected for each city shall annually, on the next Monday after their election, assemble and organize the city council; a majority of the whole number of aldermen shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. They shall be judges of the election, returns and qualifications of their own members. They shall determine the rules of their proceedings and keep a journal thereof, which shall be open to the inspection and examination of any citizen, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as they shall think fit to prescribe.

SEC. 807. The mayor shall be ex officio president of the council, and shall preside at its meetings during the term for which he shall have been elected, and in case of a tie he shall have the casting vote. In the absence of the mayor the council shall elect a president pro tempore. They shall also appoint from the qualified voters of the city a city clerk, who shall have the custody of all the laws and ordinances of the city, and shall keep a regular and correct journal of the proceedings of the council, and shall be required to submit, quarterly, a full report and a detailed statement of the financial condition of said city or town, showing receipts, disbursements and balance on hand, together with all liabilities of said city or town; the report to be submitted to the city council in open session. Treasurers and collectors shall be required to make similar reports, and shall perform such other duties as may be required by the ordinances of the city. The clerk in office at the expiration of the term of service of any council shall continue in office until his successor shall be appointed and qualified.

SEC. 808. The chief of police shall execute all process to him directed by the mayor, and shall, by himself or some one of the police force, attend on the sitting of said court to execute its orders and preserve order therein. He shall have power to appoint one or more deputies from the police force, for whose official acts he shall be responsible, and by whom he may execute all process directed to him. He shall have power, by himself or deputy, to execute all such process in any part of the county in which said police court is situated. It shall be his duty to suppress all riots, disturbances and breaches of the peace, and to that end he may call upon the citizens to assist him to apprehend all persons in the act of committing any offense against the laws of the state or the ordinances of the city, and them forthwith to bring before the proper authority for examination or trial. He shall have power to pursue or arrest any person fleeing from justice in any part of the state, and to receive and execute any proper authority for arrest and detention of criminals fleeing or escaping from any other place or state. He shall have, in the discharge of his proper duties, like powers, be subject to like responsibilities as sheriffs and constables in similar cases, and shall be required by the city council to give a bond for the faithful performance of his duties, in such sum as said city council may require.

SEC. 809. The city council shall by general ordinance direct the number of subordinate officers of the police and watchmen to be appointed. The duty of the chief and other officers of the police and of the watchmen shall be under the direction of the mayor, and it shall be their duty to suppress all riots, disturbances and breaches of the peace; to pursue and arrest any person fleeing from justice in any part of this state; to apprehend any and all persons in the act of committing any offenses against the laws of the state or the ordinances of the city, and forthwith bring such person or persons before the proper authority for trial or examination, and at all times to diligently and faithfully enforce all such laws, ordinances and regulations for the preservation of good order and the public welfare as the city council may ordain, and for such purpose they shall have all the power of constables.

SEC. 810. The mayor, police or watchmen of the city may, upon view, arrest any person or persons who may be guilty of a breach of the ordinances of the city, or of any crime against the laws of the state, and may upon reasonable information, supported by affidavit, procure process for the arrest of any person or persons who may be charged with a breach of any ordinance of the city.

SEC. 811. The mayor shall have power to suspend any officers provided for in this section for neglect of duty, misconduct or other sufficient cause, and appoint other persons to fill their places during the pendency of the trial of the accused by the city council.

SEC. 812. The mayor shall hold his office during the term for which he shall have been elected, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. He shall keep an office at some convenient place in the city, to be provided by the city council, and shall keep the corporate seal of the city in his charge. In case of his death, disability, resignation, or other vacation of his office, the city council may, by a vote of a majority of all its members, appoint some other person to act until the expiration of said term or disability, if the unexpired term of his office is less than six months; otherwise, an election shall be ordered in accordance with the laws of the state. A removal from the city shall be deemed a vacation of his office. The mayor of the city shall be its chief executive officer and conservator of its peace, and it shall be his special duty to cause the ordinances and regulations of the city to be faithfully and constantly obeyed. He shall supervise the conduct of all the officers of the city, examine the grounds of all reasonable complaints made against them, and cause all their violations of duty or other neglect to be properly punished or reported to the proper tribunal for correction. He shall have and exercise the power conferred on sheriffs, within the city limits, to suppress disorder and to keep the peace. He shall perform such other duties compatible with the nature of his office as the council may from time to time require. He shall receive no salary.

SEC. 813. He shall at the second regular meeting of the city council in each year, and at such other times as he shall deem expedient, report to the city council the municipal affairs of the city, and recommend such measures to them as to him may seem advisable.

SEC. 814. The police judge shall preside over the police court, and perform the duties of judge thereof, and shall have jurisdiction over all cases of misdemeanor arising under this act, and all ordinances passed by the city council in pursuance thereof. In the case of the disability or unavoidable absence of the police judge, it shall be the duty of the council of cities of the first-class to secure some justice of the peace of the township in which said city is situated to act as police judge during such absence or disability, who shall have power to act as such judge during the time aforesaid, and shall receive such compensation for such services as may have been previously agreed on.

SEC. 815. The city council shall have power to erect, establish and maintain a city prison, which shall be in the keeping and under the control of the chief of police, under such rules and regulations as the city council may prescribe. The city council shall provide one or more watch-houses or stations and shall also provide suitable rooms for holding the police court. It shall be the duty of the keeper of the city prison, watch and station-houses to provide all persons confined therein for any offense with necessary food during their confinement, and the cost thereof, not exceeding thirty cents per day to each person, shall be taxed as costs in the case and paid to the keeper of the prison, watch or station-house out of the city treasury, on the certificate of the chief of the police and approval of the mayor, when audited by the city council.

SEC. 816. The police court shall always be open for the dispatch of business; but may adjourn from day to day, or from time to time, and the mode in which cases shall be brought before the court shall be fixed by ordinance of the city council, or a rule of the police court, not in conflict with the laws of this state; the jurors of said court shall have the qualifications of jurors in the circuit court, and shall be summoned and impaneled in accordance with an ordinance of the city or order of the court, not inconsistent with the laws of the state; and shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses, jurors and parties.

SEC. 817. The police judge shall adopt such rules of practice and procedure as will give parties a proper statement of any charge against them and opportunity of being heard, but shall, at the same time, dispatch the business with convenient speed, and all rules of the court shall be written or printed and posted in the room in which the police court holds its sittings; and whenever it shall become apparent to the judge of the police court that the party arrested and on trial before him is guilty of an offense against the state only, it shall be his duty to transfer the case, with all the papers, to some justice of the peace, and to order such party to be turned over to the custody of the sheriff or constable, to be dealt with according to law. Said police judge shall be clerk of his own court, and shall have the care and custody of all papers, books and records belonging to his court.

SEC. 818. The judge of the police court shall, on the first day of every month, or within three days thereafter, account under oath for all penalties, fines and forfeitures imposed by said court, in city cases, to the city council, and shall pay into the city treasury the amount thus received by him.

SEC. 819. Witnesses and jurors in the police court shall be allowed the same fees in cases arising from a violation of an ordinance as are allowed in similar cases before a justice of the peace, and which shall be paid in the same manner.

SEC. 820. Any final conviction or sentence of the police court may be examined into by the circuit court of the county in the manner provided by law regulating appeals from justices of the peace, and proceedings may be stayed on such terms as may be reasonable; such police judge shall thereupon return all matters of record or on file touching the proceedings, or a transcript thereof, and any facts which may have been noted by the judge, or certified in the nature of a bill of exceptions at the time of trial, which it shall be the duty of the judge, on request of the party, to do; and on such return the circuit court shall make such order as right and justice may require, and may either discharge the party, set aside the conviction or order a new trial; but no such conviction or sentence shall be set aside or disregarded for want of any technical averment that any matter or thing is within its jurisdiction.

SEC. 821. Every police court shall have a seal, and shall be deemed a court of record; said seal shall be provided by the city council, with the name of the state in the center and the words "Police Court" around the margin.

SEC. 822. Each city council shall cause to be provided for its clerk's office a seal, in the center of which shall be the name of the city and around the margin the words "City Clerk," which seal shall be affixed to all transcripts, orders or certificates which it may be necessary or proper to authenticate under the provisions of this act, or of any by-law or ordinance of the city. For all attested certificates and transcripts, other than those ordered by the council, the same fees shall be paid as are allowed county clerks for similar services.

SEC. 823. The city council shall possess all the legislative powers granted by this act, and other corporate powers of the city not herein prohibited, or by some ordinance of the city council made in pursuance of the provisions of this act and conferred on some officer of the city; they shall have the management and control of finances, and of all the property, real and personal, belonging to the corporation; they shall provide the times and places of holding their meetings, which shall at all times be open to the public; and the mayor, or any three aldermen, may call special meetings in such manner as may be provided by ordinance; they shall appoint or provide by ordinance that the qualified voters of the city, of the wards or districts, as the case may require, shall elect all such city officers as shall be necessary for the good government of the city and for the due exercise of its corporate powers, and which shall have been provided by ordinance, as to whose appointment or election provision is not herein made and not provided by any general law of the state in reference to cities of the first class. All city officers whose term of office is not prescribed, and whose powers and duties are not defined in this act, by-law or ordinance, shall perform such duties, exercise such powers and continue in office two years, unless sooner removed for cause; but all officers to be elected shall be elected at the regular annual election for municipal corporations.

SEC. 824. Any member of the city council may be expelled or removed from office by a concurrent vote of two-thirds of all the aldermen elected to the city council, but not a second time for the same cause. Any officer appointed by the city council may be removed from office by a concurrent vote of a majority of the whole number of aldermen elected to the city council. Any officer elected by a vote of the city, or any ward or district, may be removed from office by a concurrent vote of two-thirds of all the aldermen elected to the city council. Provision shall be made by ordinance as to the mode in which charges shall be preferred and a hearing shall be had. In all cases of vacancy in the city council, the same shall be filled by a special election; and in case any office of an elected officer, except alderman of the ward, shall become vacant before the expiration of the regular term, then the vacancy shall be filled by the city council until a successor is duly elected and qualified, and such successor shall be elected for the unexpired term at the first annual election that occurs after the vacancy shall have happened. Ib., secs. 51-63.

ASSESSING PROPERTY FOR LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS IN CITIES OF THE FIRST CLASS (*).

SEC. 825. The council of any city of the first class may assess all real property within such city, or within any district thereof, for the purpose of grading or otherwise improving streets and alleys, constructing sewers or making any local improvements of a public nature, in the manner hereinafter set forth (†).

SEC. 826. When any ten resident owners of real property in any such city, or of any portion thereof, shall petition the city council to take steps toward the making of any such local improvement, it shall be the duty of the council to at once lay off the whole city, if the whole of the desired improvement be general and local in its nature to said city, or the portion thereof mentioned in the petition, if it be limited to a part of said city only, into one or more improvement districts, designating the boundaries of such district so that it may be easily distinguished; and each district, if more than one, shall be designated by number and by the object of the proposed improvement.

SEC. 827. Within five days after the designation of such district or districts, the clerk of said city shall publish the order or ordinance of the council establishing the district, in some newspaper published in said city, for one insertion.

SEC. 828. If within three months after the publication of any such ordinance a majority in value of the owners of real property within such district adjoining the locality to be affected shall present to the council a petition praying that such improvement be made, which petition shall designate in precise terms the nature of the improvement to be undertaken, and that the cost thereof be assessed and charged upon the real property situated within such district or districts, the city council shall at once appoint three persons, residents of the district, and owners of real property therein, who shall compose a board of improvement for the district.

SEC. 829. Each member of the board shall, within ten days after his appointment, take the oath of office required by section twenty of article nineteen of the constitution of this state, and that he will not, either directly or indirectly, be interested in any contract made by the board; which oath shall be filed in the office of the city clerk.

SEC. 830. If any member of the board shall fail to take such oath, and to file the same in the office of the clerk of the city within the time allowed herein, he shall be taken to have declined the office, and the council shall at once appoint another person, having the like qualifications, in his place, who shall take and file his oath of office within ten days after his appointment.

SEC. 831. The board shall elect one of their number chairman. Vacancies that may occur after the board shall have been organized shall be filled by the remaining member or members; but if all the places on the board shall become vacant, or those appointed shall, after qualification, refuse or neglect to act, new members shall be appointed by the council, as in the first instance. The members of the board shall receive no compensation for their services.

SEC. 832. Where there is more than one district in the city for the same general purpose, the same member may be on two or more boards, or the boards of different districts may combine so as to form only one board for the whole territory to be thus improved, so as to make the whole improvement uniform; but no money raised by assessment in one district shall be expended in another district.

(*) See art. XIX, sec. 27, Const.

(†) This act is constitutional. City of Little Rock v. Board of Improvements, etc., 42—152.

SEC. 833. A majority of said board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and the performance of the duties enjoined by this act.

SEC. 834. Immediately after their qualification the board shall form plans for the improvement within their district as prayed in the petition, and shall procure estimates for the cost thereof; but all such improvements shall be made with reference to the grades of streets and alleys as fixed, or may be fixed, by the ordinances of said city. For this purpose said board may employ such engineers and other agents as may be needful, and may provide for their compensation, which, with all other necessary expenditures, shall be taken as a part of the cost of the improvement. If, for any cause, the improvement shall not be made, said cost shall be a charge on the real property in the district, and shall be raised and paid by assessment in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

SEC. 835. The words "real property," whenever used in this act, shall have the same meaning and signification as are attached to said words in the act providing for the collection of state, county and city revenue.

SEC. 836. As soon as said board shall have formed said plan and shall have ascertained the cost of the improvement, it shall report the same to the city council, which shall at once by ordinance assess said cost upon the real property in said city or district, as the case may be, assessing each parcel of real property according to its value as shown by the last county assessment on file in the office of the county clerk.

SEC. 837. If the estimated cost of the improvement shall exceed one per centum of the assessed value of the real property aforesaid, then it shall be provided by ordinance that the assessment shall be paid in successive annual installments, so that no assessment shall in any one year exceed one per centum of the assessed value of said real property for such particular improvement. The ordinance shall fix the day in each year when the assessment for the year shall be paid, and the day fixed for the payment of the first installment shall not be later than sixty days from the date of the ordinance making the assessment. Provided, that no single improvement shall be undertaken which alone will exceed in cost twenty per centum of the value of such real property in such district.

SEC. 838. Said ordinance may be in the following form:

"Whereas, the majority in value of the property holders owning property adjoining the locality to be affected and situated in district No. —, organized for the purpose of —, have petitioned the council of the city of — for the construction of such improvement, and that the cost thereof should be assessed upon the real property of such district, and, whereas, the estimated cost of said improvement is — dollars, amounting to — per centum of the assessed value of the said real property; therefore, it is now ordained by the said council that all the real property situated in said district be assessed at the rate of — per centum upon the dollar of the assessed valuation, as the same appears by the assessment made by the assessor of this county, now on file in the county clerk's office, which assessment shall be paid on or before the — day of — 18—."

And such assessment shall be a charge against and a lien on the lands named therein from the date of said ordinance.

SEC. 839. Within five days after the passage of the ordinance mentioned in the last section of this act the clerk shall publish a copy of it in some newspaper published in the city, one time; and any one who may feel aggrieved thereby may object to the assessment; and such person shall commence legal proceedings for the purpose of trying the validity of said assessment within twenty days after the date of said publication, or else he shall be forever barred in all courts of law or equity from questioning the validity of the assessment and the lien created thereby.

SEC. 840. Immediately after the passage of the ordinance the city clerk shall procure, at the expense of the district, a copy of so much of the last assessment of said city made by the county assessor as contains the description and valuation of the real property situated in the district, and shall extend against each parcel of real property thereon the assessment so made, and shall deliver it, with his warrant thereto attached, to the collector of the district within thirty days after the passage of the ordinance, which warrant may be in the following form:

"State of Arkansas to the collector of district No. —, for the purposes of —, in the city of —:

"You are hereby commanded to collect from the owners of property described in the annexed list the assessments thereon extended, and to pay them to the treasurer of the district within sixty days from this date.

"Witness my hand and official seal on this — day of —, 18—."

SEC. 841. The collector shall immediately upon the receipt of the said tax list cause to be published in some newspaper published in the city a notice, which may be in the following form:

"Special Assessment.

"The tax book for the collection of the special assessment upon the real property in district No. — for the purpose of — has been placed in my hands. All owners of real property lying in the district are required to pay their assessments to me within thirty days from this date. If such payment is not made, action will be commenced at the end of that time for the collection of said assessments and for legal penalties and costs.

"Given under my hand this — day of —, 18—.

"—, Collector."

SEC. 842. If in the construction of sidewalks or making other improvements any owner of taxable property in the district shall be found to have improved his own property in such manner that his improvement may be profitably made a part of the general improvement of the kind in the district, being also as good as that required by the system determined upon by said board, the board of improvement shall appraise the value of the improvement made by the owner, and shall allow its value as a set-off against the assessment against his property. And in case the owner who has made such improvements shall be found to have failed to come up to the required standard, the board may allow him the value of the materials thereof, so far as the same may be profitably used in perfecting the system aforesaid, as a set-off against the assessment against his property thus improved. In such cases the board shall issue to the owner a certificate showing the amount of the set-off allowed, which certificate shall be received by the collector in lieu of money for the amount named therein charged against said property.

SEC. 843. If any assessment, made under this act, shall not be paid within the time mentioned in the notice published by the collector, the collector shall add thereto a penalty of twenty per centum, and shall at once return a list of the property on which the assessments have not been paid to the board of improvement as delinquent; and the board shall straightway cause a complaint in equity to be filed in the court having jurisdiction of suits for the enforcement of liens upon real property, for the condemnation and sale of such delinquent property for the payment of said assessment, penalty and costs of suits; in which complaint it shall not be necessary to state more than the fact of the assessment and the non-payment thereof within the time required by law, without any further statement of any step required to be taken by the council, or the board, or any other officer whatever, concluding with a prayer that the delinquent property be charged with the amount of such assessment, penalty and costs of suit, and be condemned and sold for the payment thereof.

SEC. 844. It shall not be necessary to exhibit with the complaint any copy of any ordinance or other document or paper connected with the assessment and collection of the moneys assessed under this act.

SEC. 845. It shall be no objection to any suit brought for said purpose, that the lands of two or more owners are joined in the same proceeding, and such suits may be brought against one or more owners.

SEC. 846. The owner of the property assessed shall be made a defendant if known; if he is not known, that fact shall be stated in the complaint, and the suit shall proceed as a proceeding in rem against the property assessed.

SEC. 847. Summons shall be issued, and the defendant shall be required to appear and respond within five days after service; and upon default a decree shall be rendered against such property for the amount of such assessment, penalty and cost, and an attorney's fee.

SEC. 848. If the sheriff, or other officer, to whom the writ may be directed, shall return that the defendant is not to be found in his county, or if the owner is stated in the complaint to be unknown, service shall be made by affixing a copy of the summons to the property assessed, or to some part thereof, for fifteen days, and by publishing a copy of the summons in some daily or weekly paper, published in the city, for one insertion, and the cause shall be made ready for hearing within fifteen days after such publication, and a decree shall be rendered as in case of actual service.

SEC. 849. For the purpose of taking every step in such suits, as are referred to in section 843 from the beginning to the end thereof, the court shall be always open; and all cases brought under this act shall have precedence of all other cases pending in the court, and shall be decided within thirty days after service or publication.

SEC. 850. The publication shall be made by the officer having the writ for service, and shall be shown by his return.

SEC. 851. If the decree is in favor of the board, and for the condemnation of the land, it shall be for the penalty and costs of suit, as well as for the amount of the assessment.

SEC. 852. The suit shall be brought in the name of the board of improvement, and, in its decree of condemnation, the court shall direct that if the sum adjudged shall not be paid within ten days, the property shall be sold by a commissioner, appointed for that purpose, upon twenty days' notice. Provided, that only so much of the property shall be sold as will pay the assessment, costs and penalty, and no more.

SEC. 853. No allowance to the commissioner, for his services, shall exceed five dollars for each lot, block or part of a block of land sold, and certificate made by him.

SEC. 854. The commissioner shall execute to the purchaser a certificate of purchase, in which shall be stated the whole sum paid by the purchaser.

SEC. 855. The owner may redeem from the purchaser at any time within one year after the sale, by paying him the amount paid by him, with twenty per centum thereon; which redemption shall be noted upon the margin of the decree by the purchaser.

SEC. 856. If the purchaser can not be found, the owner may redeem by paying the amount to the clerk of the court wherein the decree is rendered, who shall then note the redemption, as aforesaid; and the clerk shall hold the redemption money subject to the order of the said purchaser, free of charge or commission, and pay over the same on demand; and if such redemption money be not called for within twenty days, the clerk shall advertise the receipt of the same by a notice, inserted one time, in some newspaper published in the city.

SEC. 857. If within the period allowed for redemption the purchaser pay any other assessment, or tax, lawfully levied upon the property, the owner, on making redemption, shall repay the same to the purchaser, with twenty per centum added thereto.

SEC. 858. If any appeal be taken from any such decree as is mentioned in sections 847, 851, 852, the supreme court shall advance the cause on its docket, and shall hear and decide the cause at as early a day as practicable. Said transcript shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court, within twenty days after the rendering of the decree appealed from.

SEC. 859. The supreme court shall either affirm or reverse the decree appealed from; or render such a decree as should have been rendered by the lower court, or shall remand the cause to the inferior court without delay.

SEC. 860. In taking such appeal the appellant shall only include in the transcript so much of the record as relates to his own lands.

SEC. 861. No appeal shall be prosecuted from any decree after the expiration of the twenty days herein granted for filing the transcript in the clerk's office of the supreme court.

SEC. 862. The board of improvement shall appoint the collector and treasurer of the district, who shall take the oath of office required by section 829, and shall execute bond to the chairman of the board, each in a sum at least equal to twice the amount of moneys which will probably come to their hands, with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the board, conditioned that they will faithfully discharge the duties of their office, and account for and pay over all moneys that may come to their hands, according to law; and the orders of the board of improvements for the district for which they are appointed.

SEC. 863. The same person may be treasurer or collector of one or more of the districts in the city, but the moneys of the different districts shall be kept separately.

SEC. 864. The collector shall pay over to the treasurer, on the first of each month, all moneys received by him, deducting therefrom three per centum for his services, and shall take duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he shall file with the board.

SEC. 865. The treasurer shall pay out no moneys save upon the order of the board, and upon a warrant signed by the chairman thereof. He shall be allowed a commission of one per centum on all sums by him lawfully paid out.

SEC. 866. Every warrant shall state upon its face to whom, the amount, and the purpose for which it is issued. All warrants shall be dated and shall be numbered consecutively in a record to be kept by the board of the number and amount of each; and no warrant shall be paid unless there is in the treasury funds enough to pay all outstanding warrants bearing a lower number. No warrant shall be increased by reason of any depreciation in the market value thereof, nor shall any contract or warrant be made payable or paid in anything but currency.

SEC. 867. Suit may be brought by and in the name of the board, upon any bond given to the board, but the sum recovered shall be for the use of the fund of the district for which such bond was given.

SEC. 868. If the assessment first levied shall prove insufficient to complete the improvement, the board shall report the amount of the deficiency to the council, and the council shall thereupon make another assessment on the property previously assessed, for a sum sufficient to complete the improvement, which shall be collected in the same manner as the first assessment. Provided, that when any work has been begun, under the provisions of this act, which shall not be completed and paid for out of the first or other assessment, it shall be the duty of the said council to make such assessment for its completion, from year to year, until twenty per centum on the value of the real property of such district shall be collected and consumed in such improvement, unless it be sooner completed; and the performance of such duty may be enforced by mandamus, at the instance of any person or board interested (*).

SEC. 869. In ascertaining whether the petition for improvement of any kind is signed by a majority of the owners in value of the real property in the district adjoining the property to be affected, the council shall take and be governed by the valuation placed upon the property as shown by the last county assessment on file in the county clerk's office. Women, married or single, may sign the petition; guardians may sign for their wards, and executors or administrators may sign for the estates represented by them.

SEC. 870. The boards of improvement herein mentioned shall have control of the construction of the improvements in their districts. They may advertise for proposals for doing any work by contract; and may accept or reject any proposals.

(*) See City of Little Rock v. Board of Improvements, etc., 42—152.

SEC. 871. All contractors shall be required to give bond for the faithful performance of such contracts as may be awarded them, with good and sufficient securities, in double the amount of the contract work, and the board shall not remit or excuse the penalty or forfeiture of said bond or the breaches thereof. They may appoint all necessary agents for carrying on the work, and may fix their pay. They may buy all necessary material and implements, and may sell any such materials or implements as may be on hand and which may not be necessary for the completion of the improvement under way, or which may have been completed; and may, in general, make all contracts in the prosecution of the work as may best subserve the public interest.

SEC. 872. In order to hasten the work the board may borrow money, not exceeding ninety per centum of the estimated cost of the work, at a rate of interest not exceeding ten per centum per annum, and may pledge all uncollected assessments for the repayment thereof.

SEC. 873. After the completion of any sewer, or branch sewer, authorized to be built under the provisions of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the board of health of any city to which this act is applicable, whenever, in their opinion, the public health will be promoted thereby, to order any one or more property owners near or adjacent to any sewer to construct upon their property sewers leading from some point or place on their premises to the sewer of the city, for the purpose of draining off surface or other water, and for the purpose of conducting any excrement that may be at or about such premises and filth of every nature, character and description into the sewers belonging to the city. In the order so issued to construct the sewers aforesaid, for the purpose aforesaid, the time within which the same is to be completed, the nature and character of the material to be used in the construction thereof and the place of tapping the sewers of the city shall be designated, as well as the manner of doing the same.

SEC. 874. If the owner of said property shall fail, neglect or refuse to make the sewer so ordered within the time in said order prescribed, unless further time be granted for the completion of the same, it shall be the duty of the board of health to cause such sewer to be constructed, by contract or otherwise, in as economic and substantial a manner as may be practicable; and for that purpose the board of health is hereby authorized to enter upon, by its agents, contractors and employes, any property on which they may order a sewer to be constructed, doing as little damage as possible; and when the same shall have been completed and the cost ascertained, the same shall become a charge and lien upon said property; and said board are hereby authorized and empowered to institute suit in any court having jurisdiction to enforce liens against real property in the manner hereinbefore designated for the commencement of suits by the board of improvement, for the purpose of making said property chargeable for the lien herein provided and the amount of the construction of said sewer, together with twenty per centum penalty for non-compliance with the order of said board; and when decree shall have been obtained, the property shall be ordered sold in the manner in this act heretofore provided for the sale of property.

SEC. 875. All appeals to the supreme court from decrees, rendered against property as aforesaid, shall be prosecuted within the time and under the restrictions and limitations in this act set forth, and no injunction shall be issued by any court restraining the building of any sewer ordered by the board of health. All notices and summons required by section 874 shall be served in the manner pointed out by this act, as well against resident as non-resident owners of property; and the court shall be open, as hereinbefore provided, and the same preference shall be given to suits commenced under said section, and the same summary mode of proceeding shall be adopted in pleading and in all matters relating to the enforcement of said lien as is provided for in suits brought under section 843.

SEC. 876. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to authorize the board of health to order or compel the building of a sewer by one property owner over the property of another, or for a greater distance from his property through or into any street or alley than three hundred feet, to a place where a connection can be made with a sewer.

SEC. 877. The city council shall regulate, by ordinance, the terms, time and manner, and the compensation which shall be paid by private parties not building sewers under the orders of the board of health, upon compliance with which said parties may tap the sewers of said city.

SEC. 878. The city council shall have power, by ordinance, to compel all sewers built by private parties or under the direction of the board of health to be kept clean and in repair, by fine and imprisonment of the party in possession as owner or lessee of the property where such sewer may be situate; but the fine shall not exceed fifty dollars for any one neglect, nor the imprisonment be more than ninety days.

SEC. 879. It is hereby declared a misdemeanor for any person to injure, damage or destroy any sewer, public or private, made under the provisions of this act, and any person so offending, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court, in any sum not more than five hundred dollars, and for a period not longer than six months, and shall also be liable for all such damage, which sum shall be found by the jury; and for the sum so found judgment shall be rendered in favor of the city, and execution shall issue thereon as on other judgments at law.

SEC. 880. No member of any board of improvement shall be liable for any damages sustained by any one in the prosecution of the work under his charge, unless it shall be made to appear that he has acted with a corrupt or malicious intent.

SEC. 881. No injunction shall issue to restrain the prosecution of any work contemplated by this act; but any person injured shall seek his relief by proceedings at law, within the time hereinbefore provided, or he shall be deemed to have waived the same, except that an injunction may issue where an illegal assessment shall be sought to be enforced under the color of this act.

SEC. 882. The board of improvement shall have power to enter upon any private property for the construction of any designed improvement, and any damages that may be sustained thereby shall be paid out of the improvement fund.

SEC. 883. If the person damaged and the board of improvement can not agree on the sum to be paid for such damages, the person aggrieved may file his petition in the circuit court of the county, setting forth his grievance, and asking compensation therefor, making the board a party defendant.

SEC. 884. The issues in such suit shall be made up as in other cases at law, and the cause shall be tried by a jury, unless dispensed with by the parties; and the case shall be advanced on the docket so as to have precedence of all other causes.

SEC. 885. The judge of the circuit court may hold a special term at any time for the trial of any such cause, giving ten days' notice to the parties of the time of holding such special term, which notice may be in writing, and shall be served on the parties as a writ of summons is directed to be served, unless such notice be waived by the parties, or one of them.

SEC. 886. The judge of said court may, in vacation, in case an agreement can not be arrived at between the board of improvement and the owner of such property in relation to the damages claimed, fix an amount to be deposited with some person to be designated by the court, before the entering upon and taking possession of the property to be used and taken as aforesaid; and upon the amount required being deposited and certificate thereof filed in said cause, the work may proceed.

SEC. 887. If any lands sold under this act shall not be redeemed within the time allowed herein, the court in which the suit is brought for the condemnation thereof shall direct a commissioner to execute to the purchaser or his assignee a deed, which may be in the following words:

"Know all men by these presents, That whereas, a decree was rendered in the ——— court, of ——— county, on the ——— day of ———, 18—, condemning to be sold for the non-payment of assessment for local improvement certain lots (or blocks, as the case may be), which are described as follows: ———, lying in the city of ———; and whereas, they were duly sold by a commissioner appointed by said court for that purpose in said cause, in which the board of improvement No. ———, for the purpose of ———, was plaintiff, and ——— was defendant, and were bought by ——— for the following sums respectively, which sums were by him duly paid; and whereas, the time allowed for the redemption of said lands has expired, and I, ———, as commissioner, appointed by said court in said cause, am directed by said court to execute a deed conveying said lands to him; therefore, in consideration of the premises, I, the said ———, do hereby grant and convey unto the said ——— the lands above described. Witness my hand this ——— day of ———, 18—."

Which deed shall be executed by the commissioner in the same manner as other deeds are required to be executed in cases of sale made under decrees of courts of chancery. Said deed shall be prima facie evidence that all things were done that were necessary to make good the said sale and conveyance, for the transfer of an estate in fee simple; and no irregularity not going to the true merits of the proceeding to condemn said lands and to sell and transfer them, or which could have been taken advantage of on appeal, shall suffice to impair the validity of any such deed.

SEC. 888. The deed mentioned in the foregoing section shall only be made on the filing of the certificate of purchase in the court, unless proof of the loss thereof shall be made to the satisfaction of the court.

SEC. 889. An amount bid at the sale of such lands equal to the assessment, penalty and costs shall be paid at the time of such sale, and the residue of the purchase money shall be paid into court, and within twenty days after the period of redemption shall have expired the court shall cause the assessment and penalty to be paid over to the board of improvement.

SEC. 890. If the owner of the property sold shall come into court at any time within the period allowed for redemption, and shall waive his right of redemption, the court shall order the purchaser to pay the amount that may be going to him within twenty days after service of a copy of the order made on him to that effect, and such payment shall be made into court for the benefit of such owner, and on failure of the purchaser to make such payment, the court shall make an order setting aside the sale and restoring the property to the owner free from all claims of the purchaser, upon payment into court for his use of the amount of the assessment, penalty and costs, and twenty per centum thereon, which money shall be paid over to said purchaser on his application.

SEC. 891. In case the certificate of purchase shall have been assigned, the notice provided for in the preceding section may be served on the assignee holding the same; and in case the owner of the certificate of purchase shall not be known, and that fact shall be made apparent to the court, the court shall cause publication to be made of a copy of said order in some newspaper published in the city for two insertions, the last insertion to be at least two weeks before the making of the order herein contemplated.

SEC. 892. In making such sales, if any bidder to whom any parcel of land shall be knocked off shall fail to pay his bid, as herein provided, the commissioner shall at once offer the same again, and the bid of such delinquent bidder shall not be cried again at such sale.

SEC. 893. All sales shall be for cash, and to the highest legal bidder. If the sales are not completed on the first day, the commissioner shall continue the same from day to day until completed. In other respects such sales shall be governed by the rules and laws regulating other sales of land made under decrees in chancery, and with like notice.

SEC. 894. Should any of the lands fail to be sold for any reason, the court may from time to time order the same to be offered again for sale.

SEC. 895. Any duty required to be performed by this act may at any time be enforced by mandamus at the suit of any person or board interested therein. Act March 22, 1881.

REVENUE AND DEBTS OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS (s).

SEC. 896. The council of any municipal corporation may, on or before the time fixed by law for levying county taxes, make out and certify to the county clerk the rate of taxation levied by said municipal corporation on the real and personal property within such city or town. The amount so certified shall be placed upon the tax book by the county clerk of the county and collected in the same manner that state and county taxes are collected. Act March 9, 1875, sec. 64, as amended by act March 26, 1883, sec. 1.

SEC. 897. The city or town council of any city or town, for the purpose of extending the time of payment of any indebtedness heretofore incurred, and which, from the limit of taxation, such city or town is unable to pay at its maturity, shall have power to issue the bonds of such city or town, funding said debt existing when the present constitution was adopted, or borrow money so as to change but not increase the indebtedness, in such amounts, not less than fifty dollars, and for such length of time, not less than ten nor more than twenty years, and at such rate of interest, not more than ten per cent. per annum, as such city or town council may deem proper; and when such bonds shall have been issued a tax shall be assessed and collected sufficient in amount to provide a sinking fund for their redemption, as provided in the next section, and to pay the interest on said bonds as it shall become due. Provided, that no bonds shall be issued under this section until after the first election provided for in section 803, but such funding, and the terms thereof, shall be in the discretion of the council.

SEC. 898. For the purpose of creating a sinking fund, for the gradual extinguishment of the bonds and funded debt of any municipal corporation, the council thereof shall annually levy and collect, in addition to the other taxes of said corporation, a tax upon said property returned and appraised as aforesaid, which shall be paid into said treasury, and be applied to the extinguishment of the bonds or funded debt, and to no other purpose whatever. When there shall have accumulated in said treasury a sufficient amount to redeem any one of the outstanding bonds for which said sinking fund was created, it shall be the duty of the council to apply the same to the purchase of any outstanding bonds at the lowest market price thereof.

SEC. 899. It shall be the duty of the county collector to pay over to the city treasurer of any municipal corporation all moneys received by him arising from taxes belonging to such municipal corporation, within five days after said collector shall have settled with the county clerk; and for delinquent taxes that such county collector may have received belonging to said corporation, he shall pay the same over within five days after he shall have received the same.

SEC. 900. All money heretofore collected by the county collector belonging to any municipal corporation, and now held by him, shall be by him paid into the city treasury within thirty days from and after the passage of this act.

SEC. 901. In any municipal corporation where the power exists to impose taxes on lots, when platted and recorded, the corporation shall also have power to impose taxes upon parcels of lands laid off into lots and sold and leased by metes and bounds, though the same shall not have been platted or recorded.

SEC. 902. The council of any municipal corporation shall have power whenever, in their opinion, the interests of the corporation require it, to levy and collect a tax on dogs and other domestic animals not included in the list of taxable property for state and county purposes.

SEC. 903. The council of any incorporated city or town may order the clerk, or other proper officer of the council, to certify, under his official seal, any delinquent tax which heretofore or which may hereafter be assessed by said city or town, for opening or grading, or otherwise improving any street or alley in said city or town, to the clerk of the proper county; which tax, so certified, said clerk is hereby required to place on the tax book of his county, in a separate column, and the same shall be collected in a like manner as state and county taxes. Ib., sec. 65-70.

ELECTION, APPOINTMENT AND QUALIFICATION OF OFFICERS.

SEC. 904. The annual election of cities of the first and second class and incorporated towns shall be held on the first Tuesday in April of each year; and all officers whose election is provided for by this act, or any ordinance, shall be elected on that day. Special elections of the members of the city council of all cities and incorporated towns shall be held at such time and place as the mayor by proclamation shall direct, so that at least ten days' notice thereof shall be given. Special elections herein authorized to be held shall be held at such time and place as the city council may direct. In all cities there shall be a place appointed in each ward for holding elections. Any person who, at the time of the election of municipal officers, is a qualified voter under the laws of the state for state or county officers, and has resided within the corporation for six months next preceding the election and thirty days in the ward where he offers to vote, shall be deemed a qualified elector. All elections shall be held and conducted in the manner prescribed by law for holding state and county elections, so far as the same may be applicable.

SEC. 905. The returns of all municipal corporations shall be made to the clerk of the county in which the corporation is situated, and shall be by him opened within three days after receiving the same, who shall count the vote as the same appears from the poll-books, make an abstract thereof, and forward the same to the mayor; he shall, in like manner and without delay, furnish to each candidate elected a certificate of election, or leave the same at his usual place of abode.

SEC. 906. All officers elected or appointed in any municipal corporation shall take the oath or affirmation prescribed by the constitution of this state for officers. The aldermen or council may require from such officers as they think proper a bond with good and sufficient security, with proper penalty, for the faithful discharge of their offices and duties; and shall have power to declare the office of any person elected vacant who shall fail to take the oath of office or give the bond herein required within ten days after he shall have been notified of his election or appointment, and proceed to appoint as in other cases of vacancy.

APPROPRIATION OF PRIVATE PROPERTY TO THE USE OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

SEC. 907. When it shall be deemed necessary by any municipal corporation to enter upon or take private property for the construction of wharves, levees, parks, squares, market places or other lawful purpose, an application in writing shall be made to the circuit court of the proper county or to the judge thereof in vacation, describing as correctly as may be the property to be taken, the object proposed, and the name or names of the owner or owners, and of each lot or parcels thereof known; notice of the time and place of such application shall be given, either personally in the ordinary manner of serving process or by publishing a copy of the application, with a statement of the time and place at which it is to be made, for three weeks next preceding the time of application, in some newspaper of general circulation in the county. If it shall appear to the court or judge that such notice has been served ten days before the time of application, or has been published as provided, and that such notice is reasonably specific and certain, then the court or judge may set a time for the inquiry into and assessment of compensation by a jury before said court or judge.

SEC. 908. A jury shall be summoned for the purpose of making such inquiry in the same manner that petit jurors are summoned in the circuit court for other purposes, which inquiry and assessment shall be made at the time appointed, unless for good cause continued to another day to be specified. If, at the time of such application, it appears that any of the owners of property sought to be condemned are infants or of unsound mind, a guardian ad litem shall be appointed. The municipal corporation may be required to file a more full and accurate description of the property to be taken and the object proposed, and maps, plats and surveys, if the court or judge deem the same necessary or proper. The assessment shall be made on each lot or parcel of land separately and distributed to the owner or owners of each tract according to their true interest and ownership, on the order of the court.

SEC. 909. In case of dispute as to interest, title or ownership, the money allowed therefor shall be held subject to the order of the court until the same is amicably settled between the disputants or determined by due course of law; the inquiry and assessment, in all other respects, shall be made by the jury under such rules and restrictions as shall be given by the court. The jury shall be sworn to make the whole inquiry and assessment, but may be allowed to return a verdict as to part and be discharged as to the rest, at the discretion of the court. In case the jury shall be discharged from rendering a judgment in whole or in part, another shall be impaneled at the earliest convenient time, who shall take the whole inquiry and assessment, or the part not made, as the case may be.

SEC. 910. So soon as the amount of compensation that may be due to the owners of the property taken, or to any of them, shall have been ascertained by the jury, the court shall make such order as to its payment or deposit as shall be deemed right and proper in respect to the time and place of payment and the proportion to which each owner is entitled, and may require adverse claimants of any part of the money or property to interplead, so as to fully settle and determine their rights and interests according to equity and justice. The court may direct the time and manner in which possession of the property condemned shall be taken or delivered, and may, if necessary, enforce any order giving possession. The costs occasioned by the assessment shall be paid by the corporation, and, as to the other costs which may arise, they shall be charged or taxed as the court may direct. No delay in making an assessment of compensation or in taking possession shall be occasioned by any doubt which may arise as to ownership of the property, or any part thereof, or as to the interests of the respective owners; but in such cases the court shall require a deposit of the money allowed as compensation for the whole property in dispute; and, in all cases, as soon as the corporation shall have paid the compensation assessed, or secured the payment by a deposit of money under the order of the court, possession of the property may be taken and the public work or improvement progress.

SEC. 911. Any party interested in such inquiry, who shall feel himself aggrieved by the finding of the jury or the order of the court, may have the part thereof whereof he complains reviewed, by filing a petition for that purpose in the circuit court, or with the judge thereof, in the proper county, during the term at which, or within three days from, the finding or decision complained of shall have been made. Upon the party complaining entering into bond for costs of suit, a review shall be granted; and the court may suspend the execution of any order that may have been made therein.

SEC. 912. In all cases where the municipal corporation shall pay or secure by a deposit of money the compensation assessed by the jury, and give such security as may be deemed adequate to pay any further compensation which may be adjudged on the review, the right to take and hold the property condemned shall not be affected by any such review. If, on the review, the complainant shall not be allowed a greater amount than first assessed, he shall pay all costs of such review. Ib., secs. 71-76.

DAMAGES AGAINST CITIES AND TOWNS BY REASON OF GRADING.

SEC. 913. In all cases where any municipal corporation shall be liable for the payment of damages to the owner or occupant of any lots or grounds, by reason of the grading of any streets or alleys, or public grounds, or part thereof, the said damages shall be ascertained and assessed by three disinterested reputable freeholders of said city, appointed, one by the city or town council, one by the owner of the property injured, and the persons thus appointed shall choose the third person.

SEC. 914. The assessors thus appointed, before entering on their duties, shall take an oath or affirmation, before some officer authorized to administer oaths, that they will well and truly, to the best of their knowledge and ability, appraise the damages which the claimant or claimants may or shall have suffered by reason of such grading, and for which the said city is liable, which oath shall be filed in the office of the city clerk, and said assessors shall, within thirty days after their appointment, make said assessment, and file the same in the city clerk's office, where it shall be subject to the inspection of all claimants for damages; and the damages by them assessed shall be by them paid out of the city treasury or tendered to the party in whose favor the said damages were assessed. If the claimant refuse to appoint, the council shall appoint all three of the assessors.

SEC. 915. If any person shall neglect or refuse to accept the amount so assessed, as herein provided, and shall prosecute the city, and if by suit for damages he or they shall not recover more than the amount allowed by the assessors, such party so prosecuting shall pay all costs of suit. No claimant for damages shall commence any suit for damages on account of such grading or improvement until he shall have filed a claim for greater damages with the city clerk at least thirty days before the commencement of the suit. Nor shall any suit be commenced until after the assessors shall have been appointed and made return of their assessment as herein provided, nor for thirty days thereafter. The city or town council shall, within three days after the claimant shall have notified them in writing that he has appointed his assessor, appoint one assessor on the part of the city, and they shall, within five days thereafter, select the third assessor, and qualify as hereinbefore provided.

ANNEXATION OF TERRITORY TO TOWNS AND CITIES.

SEC. 916. Whenever a majority of the real estate owners of any part of a county, contiguous and adjoining any city or incorporated town, shall desire to be annexed to such city or town, they may apply by petition in writing to the county court of the county in which said city or town is situated and they reside, and shall name the person or persons authorized to act on behalf of the petitioners.

SEC. 917. When such petition shall be presented to said court, they shall cause the same to be filed, and like proceedings shall be had for the hearing thereof as is prescribed in sections 786 and 787. After such hearing, if the court shall be satisfied that at least six qualified voters having a freehold interest in the territory proposed to be annexed actually reside within the limits prescribed in the petition, and that said petition has been signed by a majority of them; that the said limits have been accurately described, and an accurate map thereof made and filed, and that the prayer of the petition is right and proper, and that said petition should be granted, then it shall make and indorse on said petition an order to the effect that the territory described may be annexed to and become a part of the city or town named in said petition, which said order shall be recorded by the clerk of the county.

SEC. 918. No further action shall be taken for the space of thirty days, and within that time any person interested may institute a proceeding to have the annexation prevented in the circuit court; and if the court or judge hearing such proceeding shall be satisfied that a majority of the qualified voters, freeholders as aforesaid, have not signed the same, or that the territory proposed to be annexed is unreasonably large, or that said territory is not properly described, they shall make an order restraining any further action under the order of the county court and annulling the same, but such proceeding shall not bar any subsequent petition.

SEC. 919. When any complaint shall be made in accordance with the preceding section to prevent an annexation of territory, notice thereof shall be given to the city or town authorities and the agent or agents of the petitioners.

SEC. 920. If no such notice shall be given within thirty days from the making of the order of annexation by the county court, the proceeding before said court shall in all things be confirmed. Provided, the city or town council shall, by ordinance or resolution, accept said territory. If the council accept the same, two copies of the entire proceedings and plats shall be made out by the county clerk, and, by him duly certified, shall forward one to the city or town council, and the other to the secretary of state, who shall file and preserve the same.

SEC. 921. So soon as said resolution or ordinance declaring such annexation has been adopted or passed, the said territory shall be deemed and taken to be a part and parcel of the limits of such city or town, and the inhabitants residing therein shall have and enjoy all the rights and privileges of the inhabitants within the original limits of such city or town.

SEC. 922. When any municipal corporation shall desire to annex any contiguous territory thereto, lying in the same county, it shall be lawful for the council to submit the question to the qualified electors at least one month before the annual election. If a majority of the votes cast on that question shall be in favor of annexation, the said corporation shall present to the county court a petition praying for such annexation. The like proceeding shall be had on said petition as is prescribed in sections 785, 786 and 787, so far as the same may be applicable, and if, within thirty days after a transcript shall be delivered as provided, no notice of a complaint against such annexation shall be given at the end of said thirty days (and in case of any such complaint, then after the end of thirty days after the dismissal of said complaint), the territory shall, in law, be deemed and be taken to be included in and shall be a part of said corporation, and the inhabitants thereof shall in all respects be citizens thereafter of said municipal corporation (t), and the county clerk shall make out and certify to the city or town council and the secretary of state the transcripts provided for in the preceding section.

SEC. 923. The secretary of state shall receive and preserve in his office all papers transmitted to him in relation to the organization, incorporation or annexation of territory to cities and towns.

FURTHER GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 924. All by-laws, ordinances, resolutions or orders for the appropriation of money shall require for their passage or adoption the concurrence of a majority of the aldermen of any municipal corporation. All by-laws and ordinances of a general or permanent nature shall be fully and distinctly read on three different days, unless two-thirds of the members composing the council shall dispense with the rule. No by-law or ordinance shall contain more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title.

SEC. 925. No alderman or member of any council shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, or one year thereafter, be appointed to any municipal office which was created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during the time for which he shall have been elected. No such alderman or member shall be appointed to any municipal office, except in cases provided for in this act, during the time for which he may have been elected; nor shall any alderman or member be interested, directly or indirectly, in the profits of any contract or job, for work or services to be performed for the corporation.

SEC. 926. The emoluments of no officer whose election or appointment is required in this act shall be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed (u). Nor shall any change of compensation affect any officer whose office shall be created by authority of this act, during his existing term, unless the office be abolished. No person who shall have resigned or vacated any office shall be eligible to the same during the period of time for which he was elected or appointed to serve, where, during the same time, the emoluments have been increased.

SEC. 927. Prisoners confined in the county jail or city prison, by sentence of the mayor or police court, for a violation of a city or town by-law, or ordinance, or regulation, may, by ordinance, be required to work out the amount of all fines, penalties, forfeitures and costs, at the rate of one dollar per day, on the streets or other improvement under the control of the city council.

(t) By force of this statute the annexation for which it provides follows the vote of the town and the proper formal steps to be taken in the county court, unless there be a remonstrance filed and sustained. Dodson v. Mayor, Fort Smith, 33—508.

The vote of the town makes a prima facie case for annexation: the onus of showing sufficient cause against it is upon the remonstrants. Ib.

SEC. 928. For the purpose of holding the election provided for on the first Tuesday in April, 1875, it shall be, and it is hereby made, the duty of the governor of this state, upon the application in writing of fifty or more qualified electors of any city of the first class asking for the same, to appoint three resident citizens and tax-payers of such city as commissioners to lay off and divide such city into convenient wards, not exceeding eight, and providing suitable precincts for voting in such ward, which shall be done and notice thereof published by such commissioners in some newspaper published in said city at least ten days before such election. In all cities where such application is not made and commissioners appointed as aforesaid, the wards thereof shall, for the purpose of the election aforesaid, remain as now constituted. Provided, that after said election, such cities shall regulate the wards thereof as the council may direct; but no change shall be made in the boundaries of any ward within thirty days previous to any city election.

SEC. 929. Any person owning property and having taxes to pay in any city or town may, upon application to any judge or court having authority to grant injunctions, enjoin the collection of any tax levied in such city or town, without authority of law, and may also enjoin the issue or the payment by such city or town of any warrants, certificates or other form or evidence of indebtedness against such city or town issued or contracted without authority of law.

SEC. 930. Whenever any corporation shall desire to throw any portion of the territory lying within its corporate limits outside of such limits and remit it back to the county in which such corporation is situated, it shall be lawful for the council of such corporation to submit the question to the qualified electors of such corporation, at an election to be held for that purpose, after having given notice of such election four weeks by advertisement in one of the papers published in such corporation, or if there be no paper published in such corporation, by advertisement posted in two of the most public places in such corporation. If a majority of the votes cast on that question shall be in favor of throwing such territory outside of its corporate limits, the said corporation shall present to the county court a petition praying for such change in its territorial limits, and the like hearing shall be had on such petition as is prescribed in section 786.

SEC. 931. If the county court shall be satisfied, after hearing such petition, that a majority of the qualified electors of such corporation are in favor of the exclusion of said territory mentioned in said petition from within its limits, and that said territory to be excluded has been accurately described, and that it would be proper and right to grant such petition, it shall make an order excluding the territory in said petition mentioned from the limits of such corporation and remitting it back to the county; and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court to make out a certified copy of such order and to deliver it to the recorder of his county, whose duty it shall be to record such order in the proper book of records in his office, and it shall also be the duty of such recorder to make out and forward to the secretary of state a certified copy of said record.

SEC. 932. After said record shall have been filed and a copy thereof forwarded to the secretary of state, said territory shall cease to be a part of said corporation. Provided, that the limits of cities of the first and second class shall not be reduced to a less area than they were on the first day of January, A. D. 1872.

SEC. 933. At the July term of the county court, and during said term, any person who may think himself aggrieved by the assessment of his property may appeal to the same court and have the assessment corrected.

SEC. 934. Every appeal shall be in writing, and shall state specifically the ground of the appeal and the matter or thing complained of, and no other matter shall be considered by the court than that set forth in the written appeal.

SEC. 935. The county court shall hear and determine all appeals in a summary way upon evidence, and shall correct and adjust the assessment lists accordingly. Ib., secs. 77-93.

SURRENDER AND REPEAL OF CHARTERS.

SEC. 936. The charters and all the amendments thereto of all municipal corporations within this state designated as cities of the second class and incorporated towns may be surrendered, all offices held thereunto abolished and the territory and inhabitants thereof remanded to the government of this state in the manner hereinafter provided.

SEC. 937. Whenever one hundred qualified electors of any city of the second class, or twenty-five qualified electors of any incorporated town shall petition the city or town council thereof asking the surrender of the charter of said municipal corporation, it shall be the duty of said city or town council immediately to submit the question whether such surrender shall be made to the qualified electors of said municipal corporation at an election to be held for that purpose, after having given notice of such election four weeks by advertisement in one of the newspapers published in said corporation, or if there be no newspaper published therein, by advertisement posted in two or more public places in said corporation.

SEC. 938. Said election shall be held and conducted by, and the returns thereof shall be made to, said city or town council in such manner as by said city or town council may be directed.

SEC. 939. When said returns shall have been made as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of said city or town council to count the votes cast at said election, and if a majority of the votes so cast shall be in favor of the surrender of the charter of such municipal corporation, the said city or town council shall present to the county court of the county in which said corporation is situated a petition showing that an election has been held as aforesaid and the result thereof, and praying that the charter of said municipal corporation may be surrendered.

SEC. 940. If it shall appear to the satisfaction of said court that said election has been held as aforesaid, and that a majority of the votes cast at said election was in favor of the surrender of the charter of such municipal corporation, it shall be the duty of said county court to make and enter upon its record an order declaring the charter and all the amendments thereto of said municipal corporation to be surrendered under the provisions of this act, and shall order the clerk of said court to make out and certify under his official seal two transcripts of said order, one of which said clerk shall forward to the secretary of state, to be kept on file in his office, and the other he shall deliver to the recorder of said county, whose duty it shall be to record the same in his office.

SEC. 941. When the county court shall have made the order mentioned in the preceding section of this act, the charter and all amendments thereto of any such municipal corporation shall be deemed to be surrendered and repealed, and shall then cease to exist; and the population and territory thereof, theretofore governed under and by virtue of said charter and the amendments thereto, shall then be resolved back into the body of the state, and all offices theretofore held under, and by force of, said charter and the amendments thereof shall be hereby abolished, and all power of taxation, in any form whatever, theretofore vested in, or exercised by, the authorities of such municipal corporation, by virtue of its said charter and the amendments thereto, shall then be forever withdrawn and reserved to the legislature, and the public buildings, squares, promenades, wharves, streets, alleys, parks, fire engines, hose and carriages, horses and wagons, engine houses, engineer instruments and all other property, both real, personal or mixed, theretofore used or held by such municipal corporation, for municipal purposes, shall be hereby transferred to the custody and control of the state, to remain public property, as it has always been, for the uses to which said property has been applied, and the county court of the counties in which said extinct municipal corporations, respectively, were situated shall take immediate possession of and control the same until otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 942. No person holding office under and by virtue of the charter of such municipal corporation shall, from and after the surrender and repeal of said charter as herein provided, exercise, or attempt to exercise, any of the powers or functions of said office.

SEC. 943. As to all municipal corporations in this state whose charters may be surrendered and repealed under the provisions of this act, the governor of the state shall appoint an officer for such extinct corporations, respectively, to be known as a receiver and back-tax collector, who shall take the oath required of other collectors of the public revenue, and shall give bond, with good sureties, to be approved by the county court of the county in which the extinct corporation was situated, in such sum as the county court may prescribe.

SEC. 944. The receiver and back-tax collector shall, as soon as appointed and qualified, enter upon the duties of his office. It shall be his duty, and he is hereby empowered, to take possession of all books, papers and documents pertaining to the assessment and collection of taxes embraced by this act, and also possession of all the private property, if any, belonging to said extinct corporations, respectively.

SEC. 945. Such receiver and back-tax collector shall make to the circuit court in chancery, in the county in which the extinct corporation was situated, every six months, a full, clear and complete statement, showing all taxes collected and settled, and all in his hands that remain to be collected and settled.

SEC. 946. He shall at the end of each month pay into the treasury of the state the whole sum by him collected or received, less his compensation. He shall distinguish in making such payments the respective sources from which the moneys paid in are derived, showing what is collected from taxes for general purposes and what for special purposes, designating the particular or special purpose, so that the same may be kept separate in the state treasury, in order that the treasurer may pay the same according to the lien, priority or equity, if any which may be declared by any court touching any of said funds in favor of any creditor or class of creditors.

SEC. 947. For the purpose of collecting the revenue embraced in the provisions of this act the receiver and back-tax collector is empowered and authorized to file a general creditors' bill in the name of the state, in behalf of all creditors, against all the delinquent tax-payers who owed taxes to the extinct corporation at the time of the surrender or repeal of its charter, which bill shall be filed in the circuit court in chancery held in and for the county in which said extinct corporation was situated.

SEC. 948. All the said delinquents in any one county shall be embraced in one summons to answer, and for the issuance of the same the clerk shall receive a fee of five cents for each defendant named in the summons, except for the first, and for that the fee allowed by law in other cases. Provided, he shall not receive exceeding twenty dollars for such summons; and the sheriff, for serving the same, shall receive for each defendant ten cents, except the first, and for that the fee allowed for like services in other cases.

SEC. 949. Publication for non-residents shall embrace in the same publication, if practicable, all non-resident defendants, the object being to make one proceeding embrace the whole taxes of any one of such extinct corporations.

SEC. 950. All pending suits in favor of any of said extinct corporations are to be revived in the name of the state and consolidated with the general proceedings herein provided for, and when so consolidated to form part of said general proceeding.

SEC. 951. The court in which said proceeding may be instituted shall have power to settle and adjust all equities, priorities and liens, and to give all relief, both to the defendants and creditors, that might be given if there were as many separate suits as there are creditors and delinquent tax-payers.

SEC. 952. Such court shall have power to enforce all liens upon property for the payment of such taxes, and to order and make all sales of property necessary to the collection of such taxes. The taxes embraced by this act, and which it provides for, are all taxes imposed by said extinct municipal corporations up to the time of the surrender or repeal of their respective charters, and none other.

SEC. 953. Publication shall make all creditors parties, with the right to relief as fully as if specially named, and they may at any time file with the clerk of the court their claims, or attested copies, retaining the original, if they desire, subject to be produced, however, as the court may order, and placed in the custody of the clerk.

SEC. 954. The simple filing of said claims, respectively, attested by the affidavit of the owner, or his agent or attorney, shall be proof of such claim in common form, and, if not contested, entitles the same to payment pro rata; and for administering the oath in proving such claims, in common form, and filing the same, the clerk shall receive the sum of ten cents, to be paid at the time of making the oath and filing the claim. If any creditor or receiver, or back-tax collector, shall desire to contest the validity, in whole or in part, of any claim filed in common form, he may do so in a summary way in the progress of the cause.

SEC. 955. The opposing parties in such contests shall reduce the facts to writing that are necessary to its determination, and file the same, and, when filed, they shall become part of the record, and the court shall have power, upon motion, and in a summary way, to hear and determine all questions of priority of payment in the progress of the cause.

SEC. 956. When any party is dissatisfied with the decision of any litigated question, he may have such question reheard, upon appeal or writ of error in the supreme court, but so much of the record only as pertains to that particular litigation shall form the transcript and record for the appellate court, and the costs shall be paid by the parties to such appeal, as the appellate court may direct, unless the receiver and back-tax collector is a party to the litigation on behalf of creditors generally, and in that case the costs may, if the appellate court think proper, be charged to the whole, or some particular fund, as right and justice may require.

SEC. 957. Said receiver and back-tax collector shall make to said circuit court in chancery a full and complete statement of all the private property, if any, belonging to such extinct corporations, respectively, and all such property shall be considered by said court as a part of the subject matter of said creditor's bill, and said court shall make all such orders and decrees as may be deemed necessary and proper for the sale thereof, and shall decree the application of the proceeds of such sale to the payment of the debts of said extinct corporations, respectively.

SEC. 958. Funds collected under this act shall be paid out by the treasurer of the state, from time to time, to those entitled thereto, in such manner as said circuit court in chancery may adjudge and decree, on the warrant of said receiver and back-tax collector, countersigned by the judge of said court.

SEC. 959. The receiver and back-tax collector shall receive such compensation for his services as shall be fixed by the county court of the county in which the extinct corporation was situated. Act Feb. 19, 1883.

SECTION 960. Any number of persons, not less than three, who, by articles of agreement in writing, have associated, or shall associate, according to the provisions of this act, under any name assumed by them, for the purpose of engaging in or carrying on any kind of manufacturing, mechanical, mining or other lawful business, and who shall comply with all the provisions of this act, shall, with their successors and assigns, constitute a body politic and corporate, under the name assumed by them in their articles of association.

SEC. 961. The amount of capital stock in every joint-stock corporation shall be fixed and limited by the stockholders in their articles of association, and shall be divided into shares of twenty-five dollars each; but every such corporation may increase its capital stock, and the number and amount of shares therein, at any meeting of the stockholders specially warned for that purpose.

SEC. 962. The purpose for which every such corporation shall be established shall be distinctly and definitely specified by the stockholders in their articles of association, and it shall not be lawful for said corporation to direct its operations or appropriate its funds for any other purpose.

SEC. 963. When any number of persons shall have associated according to the provisions of this act, any two of them may call the first meeting of the corporation, at such time and place as they may appoint, by giving notice thereof in any one or more newspapers published in the county in which such corporation is to be established, or in any adjoining county, at least fifteen days before the time appointed for such meeting. But said notice may be waived by a writing, signed by all the subscribers to the capital stock of such company, specifying the time and place for said first meeting, which writing shall be entered at full length upon the records of the corporation; and the first meeting of such corporation, which has been held pursuant to such written waiver of notice, shall be valid.

SEC. 964. The stock, property, affairs and business of every such corporation shall be under the care of, and shall be managed by, not less than three directors, who shall be chosen annually by the stockholders, at such time and place as shall be provided by the by-laws of said corporation, and who shall be stockholders, and shall hold their offices for one year, and until others shall be chosen in their stead.

SEC. 965. If an election of directors in any such corporation shall not take place at the annual meeting thereof in any year, such corporation shall not thereby be dissolved, but an election may be had at any time within one year, to be fixed upon, and notice thereof to be given by the directors.

SEC. 966. The directors of every such corporation shall choose one of their number to be president, and shall also choose a secretary and treasurer, which two last mentioned officers shall reside and have their place of business and keep the books of said corporation within this state, and shall choose such other officers as the by-laws of the corporation shall prescribe; all of which said officers shall hold their offices until others shall be chosen in their stead.

SEC. 967. The directors of such corporation, for the time being, shall have power to fill any vacancy which may happen in their board by death, resignation or otherwise for the current year.

SEC. 968. Before any corporation, formed and established by virtue of the provisions of this act, shall commence business, the president and directors thereof shall file a true copy of their articles of association, at full length; and also a certificate setting forth the purpose for which such corporation is formed, the amount of its capital stock, the amount actually paid in, and the names of its stockholders, and the number of shares by each respectively owned, with the secretary of state, and a duplicate thereof with the clerk of the county in which such corporation is to transact business (v). Said articles of association and certificate shall be signed by the president and a majority of the directors; and said secretary and county clerk shall respectively record the same in books to be kept by them for that purpose, and, within thirty days after the payment of any installment called for by the directors of such corporation, a certificate thereof shall be made, signed, filed and recorded as aforesaid. A copy of the certificate first specified in this section, certified by the secretary of this state, under the seal thereof, shall be received in all courts as prima facie evidence of the due formation, existence and capacity of such corporation in any suit brought by or against the same.

SEC. 969. A majority of the directors of every such corporation, convened according to the by-laws, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and a majority of the stockholders present at any legal meeting shall be capable of transacting the business of that meeting; and at all meetings of such stockholders each share shall entitle the holder thereof to one vote.

SEC. 970. The directors may call in the subscription to the capital stock of such corporation by installments, in such proportion and at such times and places as they shall think proper, by giving such notice thereof as the by-laws shall prescribe; and in case any stockholder shall neglect or refuse payment of any such installment for the space of sixty days after the same shall have become due and payable, and after he shall have been notified thereof, said corporation may recover the amount of said installment from such negligent stockholder, in any proper action for that purpose, or may sell said stock at public auction, giving at least thirty days' notice of the time and place of sale by advertising in some newspaper published in the county where the business of such corporation is transacted, or in an adjoining county. And, in case of a sale, the proceeds thereof shall be first applied in payment of the installment called for, and the expenses of the sale and the residue shall be refunded to the owner thereof. In case the proceeds of such sale shall be insufficient to pay said installments, said corporation may recover the balance from such negligent stockholder. Such sale shall entitle the purchaser to all the rights of a stockholder to the extent of the shares so purchased.

SEC. 971. The president and secretary of every corporation organized under the provisions of this act shall annually make a certificate showing the condition of the affairs of such corporation, as nearly as the same can be ascertained, on the first day of January or of July next preceding the time of making such certificate, in the following particulars, viz.: The amount of capital actually paid in; the cash value of its real estate; the cash value of its personal estate; the cash value of its credits; the amount of its debts; the name and number of shares of each stockholder; which certificate shall be deposited on or before the fifteenth day of February or of August with the county clerk of the county in which said corporation transacts its business, who shall record the same at length in a book to be kept by him for that purpose; and whenever any stockholder shall transfer his stock in any such corporation, a certificate of such transfer shall forthwith be deposited with the county clerk as aforesaid, who shall note the time of said deposit and record it at full length in a book to be by him kept for that purpose; and no transfer of stock shall be valid as against any creditor of such stockholder until such certificate shall have been so deposited.

SEC. 972. All corporations organized and established under the provisions of this act shall be capable to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, appear and prosecute to final judgment in any court or elsewhere; to have a common seal and to alter the same at pleasure; to elect, in such manner as they shall determine, all necessary officers; to fix their compensations and define their duties; to ordain and establish by-laws for the government and regulation of their affairs, and to alter and repeal the same; and to employ all such agents, mechanics and other laborers as they shall think proper.

SEC. 973. Every such corporation shall, by its corporate name, have power to acquire and hold such lands, tenements and hereditaments and such property of every kind as shall be necessary for the purpose of said corporation; and such other lands, tenements and hereditaments as shall be taken in payment of or as security for debts due to such corporation, and to manage and dispose of the same at pleasure (w).

SEC. 974. The books of every such corporation containing their accounts shall be kept and shall at all reasonable times be open in the county where such corporation is located, or at the office of the treasurer within this state, for the inspection of any of the stockholders of said corporation; and said stockholders shall have access to the books and statements of said corporation; and shall have the right to examine the same in said county or at said office, and, as often as once in each year, a true statement of the accounts of said corporation shall be made and exhibited to the stockholders, by order of the directors.

(w) See Jones, McDowell & Co. v. Ark. Mec. and Ag'l Co., 38—17.

SEC. 975. The stock of every such corporation shall be deemed personal property, and be transferred only on the books of such corporation in such form as the directors shall prescribe; and such corporation shall at all times have a lien upon all the stock or property of its members invested therein for all debts due from them to such corporation.

SEC. 976. Every such corporation may amend its articles of association by the specification of any other lawful business in which the stockholders may desire to engage; but before it shall commence any business under its amended articles other than such as was distinctly and definitely specified in its original articles, the president and directors shall cause such of the amended articles as specify the purpose for which such corporation is formed, subscribed by all the stockholders, to be published in a newspaper printed in the county in which such corporation is located, or in an adjoining county; and shall also make a certificate of the purpose for which such corporation is formed, as changed by the amended articles, which certificate shall be signed, deposited and recorded in the same manner as the certificate required in section 968.

SEC. 977. When any such corporation shall increase its capital stock, as provided in section 961, the president and directors shall, within thirty days thereafter, make a certificate thereof, which shall be signed, deposited and recorded as provided in section 968.

SEC. 978. The county clerk, after recording the certificates specified in section 971, shall return the same, with his indorsement of record thereon, to said corporation on demand; and for recording the certificates required in this act he shall be entitled to receive at the rate of ten cents for each one hundred words.

SEC. 979. The certificates required by sections 968, 971, 976 and 977, except certificates of transfers of stock, shall be made under oath or affirmation by the person subscribing the same; and if any person shall knowingly swear or affirm falsely as to any material facts, he shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and be punished accordingly.

SEC. 980. If the president or secretary of any such corporation shall intentionally neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of section 971, and to perform the duty required of them respectively, the persons so neglecting or refusing shall jointly and severally be liable to an action, founded on this statute, for all debts of such corporation contracted during the period of any such neglect or refusal.

SEC. 981. If the capital stock of any such corporation shall be withdrawn and refunded to the stockholders before the payment of all the debts of the corporation for which such stock would have been liable, the stockholders of such corporation shall be liable to any creditor of such corporation, in an action founded on this statute, to the amount of the sum refunded to them respectively, as aforesaid; but if any stockholder shall be compelled, by any such action, to pay the debts of any creditor, or any part thereof, he shall have the right, by bill in equity, to call upon all the stockholders to whom any part of said stock has been refunded to contribute their proportional part of the sum paid by him as aforesaid.

SEC. 982. If the directors of any such corporation shall declare and pay a dividend when the corporation is insolvent, or any dividend the payment of which would render it insolvent, knowing such corporation to be insolvent, or that such dividend would render it so, the directors assenting thereunto shall be jointly and severally liable, in an action founded on this statute, for all debts due from such corporation at the time of such dividend.

SEC. 983. If the president, directors or secretary of any such corporation shall intentionally neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of this act, and to perform the duties therein required of them, respectively, such of them as so neglect or refuse shall be jointly and severally liable, in an action founded on this statute, for all the debts of such corporation contracted during the period of any such neglect or refusal.

SEC. 984. If any corporation, organized and established under the authority of this act, shall violate any of its provisions, and shall thereby become insolvent, the directors ordering or assenting to such violation shall be jointly and severally liable, in an action founded on this statute, for all debts contracted after such violation as aforesaid.

SEC. 985. Any corporation, organized under this act, which has a lien upon the stock of any stockholder therein, as provided by section 975, may give notice to such stockholder that, unless he shall pay his indebtedness to said corporation within three months from the time of giving such notice, then such corporation will proceed to sell and transfer the stock of such stockholder in said corporation; and, upon default of payment, said corporation may sell the stock of such indebted stockholder as hereinafter provided, and any such corporation may prescribe, by its by-laws, the manner of giving the notice required by this section.

SEC. 986. Such corporation may, at any time within six months after it shall have given the notice required by the preceding section to such indebted stockholder of its intention to sell such stock, and the three months' notice shall have expired, advertise in one or more newspapers published in the county where such corporation is located, and if there be no newspaper published in said county, then in a newspaper published in an adjoining county, giving at least three weeks' notice of the time and place of sale, and at the time and place shall state the amount due from such stockholder to such corporation; and may then proceed to sell, for cash, at public auction, to the highest bidder therefor, so much of the stock of such indebted stockholder as shall pay in full the indebtedness of such stockholder to such corporation, together with the necessary cost of sale; and if the sale of the entire stock of such indebted stockholder shall not be sufficient to pay in full the claim of said corporation on said stock, such corporation shall credit the amount received for such stock, less the costs of sale, to said indebted stockholder, and may proceed to collect the remainder of their debt by any proper action for that purpose.

SEC. 987. Whenever the purchasers of said stock shall have complied with the conditions of said sale, the corporation shall issue new certificates of stock to such purchasers, or to their order, and shall cancel upon the books of the corporation the certificates of such indebted stockholder, and the new certificates so issued shall entitle the holders thereof to all the privileges, rights and interests of a stockholder in such corporation.

SEC. 988. Whenever any stockholder in any such corporation shall have made a transfer or assignment of his stock, as security for his indebtedness, to a third party, and afterward shall become a debtor to such corporation, such corporation may sell the equity of redemption of such stock in the same manner as is provided for the sale of stock on which it has a lien, and shall credit the amount received from such sale to such indebted stockholder. Such corporation may require the party holding a transfer or assignment of such stock to give a statement to the treasurer of such corporation, under oath, of the amount for which said stock was pledged; and if said party shall not give such a statement at or before the time such sale is to take place, he shall forfeit all claim and lien on such stock, or any part thereof, and such corporation may sell the same as herein provided.

SEC. 989. Nothing contained in the four preceding sections shall affect any lien or right acquired by any other party by virtue of any attachment or levy of execution upon the stock of any stockholder in any such corporation.

SEC. 990. Any joint-stock corporation, organized under the provisions of this act, may remove its place of business from any county in this state where it is or may be located to any other county in this state. But the president and secretary of such corporation shall procure from the county clerk of the county from which it shall remove a certified copy of the records of its articles of association and all other records showing the state of its affairs, to which certified copy shall be attached the certificate of said president and secretary that such corporation has thus removed, which certified copy and certificate attached shall be left for record, immediately on such removal, in the office of the county clerk of the county to which such corporation shall remove, and shall be recorded by such clerk at full length in a book kept for that purpose. And the president and secretary of such corporation shall, immediately on such removal, cause a like certificate to be deposited with the secretary of state, which shall be recorded by him in a book kept for that purpose; and they shall cause a duplicate copy of such certificate to be published in a newspaper in the county in which such corporation shall be located, or in an adjoining county; and in case of removal from one county to another, said duplicate shall be published in two newspapers, one in the county from which, and the other in the county to which, such corporation shall remove.

SEC. 991. The general assembly may at any time, for just cause, rescind the powers of any joint-stock corporation created pursuant to the provisions of this act, and prescribe such mode as may be necessary or expedient for the settlement (x) of its affairs. Act April 12, 1869.

III.—NAVIGATION COMPANIES.

SECTION

992. How organized.

993. Copy of articles of association evidence, when.

994. To have seal; corporate powers.

SECTION

995. To have right of way in certain cases.

996, 997, 998, 999, 1000. Right of way, how obtained.

1001. May purchase right of way.

SECTION 992. Any number of persons, not less than five, being subscribers to the stock of any contemplated navigation company, may be formed into a corporation for the purpose of buying or building and owning one or more steamboats, barges and flatboats, to be used in transporting freight and passengers on any river, lake, bayou or other navigable stream within the limits of this state, by complying with the following requirements: When stock to the amount of at least one thousand dollars shall be in good faith subscribed, then the said subscribers may select directors for said company; thereupon said subscribers shall severally subscribe articles of association, in which shall be set forth the name of the corporation, the number of years the same is to continue, which shall not exceed ninety-nine years; the amount of capital stock of the company, which shall be estimated by three or more persons upon oath as sufficient to cover the actual cost of all necessary vessels, together with the cost of the right of way and wharfage privileges hereinafter provided for; the number of directors, and their names, to manage the concerns of the company, who shall hold their offices until others are elected, and the names of two or more commissioners to open books of subscription to the stock; each subscriber to such articles of association shall subscribe thereto his name and place of residence and the number of shares of stock taken by him in such company. The said articles of association shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and thereupon the persons who have subscribed to said articles of association, and all persons who shall from time to time become stockholders in such company, shall be a body corporate by the name specified in such articles. Provided, that said articles of association shall be null and void unless there is filed, within two years from the date of filing said articles, an affidavit of at least two of the directors named in said articles that the amount of stock required has been subscribed, and that five per cent. of the amount so subscribed has actually been paid the directors of the company within the said period of two years.

SEC. 993. A copy of any article of association filed in pursuance of this act, with a copy of the affidavit aforesaid indorsed thereon or annexed thereto, and certified to be a copy by the secretary of state or his deputy, shall, in all courts and places, be presumptive evidence of the incorporation of such company and of the facts therein stated.

SEC. 994. When the certificate shall have been filed as aforesaid, the persons who shall have signed and acknowledged the same, and their successors, shall be a body politic and corporate by the name stated in such certificate, and shall be capable of suing and being sued; and may have a common corporate seal, and may make and alter the same at pleasure; and be capable in law of purchasing, holding and conveying any real estate and personal property whatever necessary for operating and carrying on the business of such company successfully, and for the maintenance thereof, and for the erection of all necessary buildings, yards and appurtenances for the use of the same; also to receive, hold, enjoy and convey any lands or other property whatever legally acquired of other companies; and shall have and be entitled to all the benefits, rights, franchises, lands and tenements and property of every description belonging to said company or companies so acquired; and shall be liable to all the pains and penalties imposed by their respective charters.

SEC. 995. Any company formed under the provisions of this act shall have the right of way, not exceeding two hundred feet in width, over any strip of land connecting two navigable streams or lakes or bodies of water. Provided, the same is not more than five miles in width, for the purpose of erecting thereon dirt, plank or horse railroads, and such other improvements as may be necessary for the convenience and business of the company, and that no other company shall have right of way within a less distance than three miles of the way claimed by the company first availing themselves of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 996. Any company desiring to avail themselves of the benefits of the right of way in this act provided for shall petition the county court of the county in which any lands are situated, and over which a right of way is desired, to appoint a jury (y) of twelve men, qualified to serve on juries, whose duty it shall be to appraise and ascertain the value of any lands over which a right of way is desired by any company petitioning, as in this section provided for.

SEC. 997. When any company shall petition, according to the requirements of the last preceding section, the county court shall make an order appointing said jury forthwith; and in said order said jury shall be directed to ascertain and report to said court, within thirty days from the date of their appointment, the value of any lands which, under the provisions of this act, they may be directed to ascertain. Said jury, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, shall take an oath that they will, as nearly as may be, ascertain the number of acres of land by them to be appraised, and report the same to said court, together with the average value per acre of such land in cash.

SEC. 998. When any jury shall report, as provided in the last preceding section, it shall be the duty of said court to cause said company to be notified that such report has been made, and if said company shall, within fifteen days after receiving such notice, deposit with the county clerk the full amount of money at which any lands may have been appraised or valued by the jury appointed for that purpose, then and in that event said company shall be entitled to the use and possession of such lands so appraised and valued. Provided, That said court shall, before said company shall be entitled to the use or possession of any lands as in this section provided, make an order that the amount deposited with the clerk as aforesaid shall be paid to the owner or owners of such lands.

SEC. 999. When any lands shall have been so appraised and valued, and when a due report of such appraisement shall have been made, and when the amount of money shall have been deposited with the clerk and ordered to be paid as hereinbefore provided, it shall be the duty of said court to make an order upon the records that the lands so appraised shall vest in and belong to the company petitioning, as provided in section 996; said order shall contain a description of said lands, the amount at which they were valued by the appraisers, the fact that said amount was deposited with the clerk and ordered to be paid over to the original owner or owners, the date of said deposit and order, the names of the said original owner or owners, and the corporate name of the company.

SEC. 1000. Said order, when so made and certified by the said court, shall be recorded as other deeds of conveyance, and when so made, certified and recorded, it shall operate as, and have in law the effect of, a conveyance in fee simple from the original owner or owners to the company of the lands named and described in said order.

SEC. 1001. Nothing in this act shall prevent such company from making private contracts and purchases of lands from such owners as may be most agreeable to both parties. Act March 26, 1869.

IV.—INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING.

SECTION

1002. Corporation of institutions of learning, who may form.

1003. Articles of association to specify purpose of.

1004. First meeting of, how and by whom called.

1005. Trustees, who; officers elected by; failure to elect.

1006. Corporate powers; powers of officers.

1007. Gifts and grants not to be diverted.

SECTION

1008. Students not to be furnished, what; penalty; places of vice may be prohibited, how; penalty.

1009. Degrees, may confer.

1010. Charter, how and from whom obtained.

TRUSTEES MAY CHANGE NAME AND AMEND CHARTER.

1011. Trustees may change name and amend charter.

1012. Amended charter filed and recorded, where.

SECTION 1002. Any number of persons, the multiple of three, not less than nine nor more than twenty-four, who have associated, or shall associate, according to the provisions of this act, under any name assumed by them, for the purpose of founding institutions of learning, and who shall comply with all the provisions of this act, shall, with their successors, constitute a body corporate under the name assumed by them in their articles of association (*).

SEC. 1003. The purpose for which every such incorporation shall be established shall be distinctly specified in their articles of association, and it shall not be lawful for said corporation to divert or appropriate its funds for any other purpose.

SEC. 1004. When the requisite number of persons shall have associated, according to the provisions of this act, any three of them may call the first meeting of the corporation, by giving notice thereof to each member of the association, by written or printed circular at least ten days before the time of such meeting, when they shall elect the necessary officers, and a majority of such members shall constitute a quorum.

SEC. 1005. The persons thus associated shall be the trustees of the proposed institution, and shall elect annually their officers from their own number, and one-third of the whole number of said trustees shall annually be retired from office, said number to be determined by lot, and others, or the same persons, be elected to fill the vacancies. If an election of trustees shall not take place at the annual meeting, such corporation shall not thereby be dissolved, but an election may be held at any time within one year from date of the regular meeting; all such elections to be by the unretired trustees.

SEC. 1006. The corporation thus formed shall have perpetual succession, and be empowered to fill all vacancies occurring in the same by removal, death or expiration of term of office; and shall have power to sue and be sued, to contract and be contracted with, to make and use a common seal, and to alter the same at pleasure, to buy and sell, and to take and hold real and personal property, and to make such laws for its own government as may be deemed proper. Provided, that the same shall not conflict with the constitution and laws of the United States, or the constitution and laws of the State of Arkansas. The said corporation or board of trustees shall be charged with the government of the institution established by its agency, and the appointment of its professors and instructors, and the compensating of the same, and may delegate its power of government to the president and faculty of the institution established, or to an executive committee of not less than three of its own members.

SEC. 1007. No gift, grant or devise made to such institution for a particular purpose shall be applied to any other purpose.

SEC. 1008. To protect the youth assembled at such institution, while removed from the customary restraints of home and parental watch-care, it is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor to entice any student of such institution into the practice of gaming, or to furnish any student any device or instrument for gaming, or any intoxicating liquors of any kind whatever. And if said institution be located in a city or any incorporated town or village, then upon a majority of the legal voters embraced in the territory within three miles of said institution so deciding by petition to the county court, any billiard room or bowling alley, or race course, or any device or instrument for gaming, or any brothel or house of ill-fame, or theatrical or circus exhibition, within three miles of the site of said institution shall be prohibited by said court, and any person who shall violate such regulation established by said court shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten days nor longer than three months, or both.

SEC. 1009. All institutions incorporated as colleges or universities shall have power to confer the customary degrees and grant the usual diplomas conferred by such institutions.

SEC. 1010. To secure legal existence by act of incorporation, the persons desiring to become a corporate body as the trustees of a university or college shall prepare such charter for the proposed institution as may be by them desired, and shall present the same to the governor and secretary of state and superintendent of public instruction. If said charter be found to be in accordance with the provisions of this act, they shall issue to said board of trustees a certificate appended to a copy of the aforesaid charter, with the seal of the state attached, said certificate stating that the accompanying charter is granted to the said board of trustees, they having complied with the provisions of this act, and are thereby constituted a board of trustees of said institution, and invested with all the powers prescribed in its charter, it being understood that the course of study of such university or college shall always be equivalent to the customary collegiate course of such institutions. Provided, a majority of such board, composed of the governor, secretary of state and superintendent of public instruction, shall have authority to grant such charter. A copy of such charter and certificate shall also be filed with the secretary of state, and a record made of the filing of the same. Trustees of academies and seminaries may secure incorporation by filing their charters or articles of association with the secretary of state, as prescribed for business corporations. Act March 27, 1871.

TRUSTEES AUTHORIZED TO CHANGE NAME AND AMEND CHARTER.

SEC. 1011. Whenever the trustees of any private academy, college or institute of learning, incorporated according to law, are desirous of changing its name, or the provisions of its charter, they may meet in council, at their regular place of transacting business, and change its name, or the provisions of the charter thereof. Provided, that a majority of all the trustees thereof shall consent to such change of name, or of the provisions of such charter, and that this shall not be done without due notice of such meeting and the intention thereof be given to the respective trustees at least twenty days before the time of such meeting.

SEC. 1012. When such change of name or of the provisions of such charter is made, a duly certified copy of the same shall be made out by the secretary of such meeting, and filed in the recorder's office of the county wherein such incorporated academy, college or institute of learning is situated, and duly recorded therein, and the recorder shall transmit a duly certified copy thereof to the secretary of state, who shall file it in his office; and the expense of these proceedings shall be paid by the trustees of the college, academy or other institute of learning. Act July 23, 1868.

V.—BUREAUS OF IMMIGRATION.

SECTION

- 1013. Who may form, and powers.
- 1014. Certificate, by whom signed; where filed.
- 1015. Object of.
- 1016. By-laws.

SECTION

- 1017. Directors and officers, when chosen; term.
- 1018, 1019, 1020. Directors, powers and duties of.
- 1021. Duties of officers generally.
- 1022. Report, to whom and when made.

SECTION 1013. Any number of persons may associate and become incorporated for the purpose of aiding, to encourage, procure and protect immigration to and within the State of Arkansas, with power to make, hold and use a common seal; also to contract and be contracted with, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered in all courts of competent jurisdiction; and they shall have all other powers and privileges necessary to fulfill the objects of their incorporation.

SEC. 1014. Such persons forming an association under this act shall file in the office of the secretary of state, and also in the recorder's office of the county where such association may be formed, a certificate in writing, signed by the board of directors of such association, expressing their intention to create and form such bureau of immigration, which certificate shall also comprise a copy of the constitution and by-laws adopted by them.

SEC. 1015. The object of such institution shall be to provide for the encouragement of immigration to the State of Arkansas, and to aid and protect immigrants on their arrival in and passage through this state.

SEC. 1016. Such associations shall make by-laws in accordance with their objects. Provided, that such by-laws be not in contravention of the laws of this state or the laws and constitution of the United States.

SEC. 1017. At the annual meeting of such association there shall be chosen a board of directors and such number of officers as the by-laws may provide, which officers and directors shall hold their respective offices for one year and until the regular annual meetings of the association, when their successors shall be chosen. The association shall, at their first annual meeting, fix the time for holding their subsequent annual meetings.

SEC. 1018. It shall be the duty of the board of directors to present to the association, at every annual meeting, or at any time the by-laws of such institution may provide, a full report of their proceedings, and give a faithful exhibit of the state of the institution with regard to its financial and other interests.

SEC. 1019. The directors shall have power, and it shall be their duty, to receive funds and donations from whatever source. They shall also have power, and it shall be their duty, to fix the rates of subscriptions of members; to appoint and employ all officers and agents requisite to promote the object of such institution, and to remove any and all of them as the interests of such institution may require.

SEC. 1020. The directors shall be authorized to expend such amount of the funds under their control as they may deem expedient for the printing and distribution of pamphlets or other papers for the instruction of immigrants, and for the aid and assistance of immigrants, whenever they may deem proper.

SEC. 1021. The specific duties of the directors, officers and members of such associations, and the mode by which persons may become members of them, shall be prescribed by their by-laws.

SEC. 1022. It shall be the duty of each company organized under this act to report to the commissioner of immigration, as soon as it is formed, the names and number of the officers elected, and to forward therewith a copy of their by-laws. They shall also make a quarterly return to him of the exact standing and condition of their respective associations. Act July 18, 1868.

- 1034. May be incorporated under other laws.

SECTION 1023. Any lodge of Freemasons or Odd Fellows, divisions of Sons of Temperance or any grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, or any co-operative or other association organized for benevolent purposes or for the mutual benefit of its members or for the promotion of any other good and useful object, or any library company, school, college, medical, mechanical, agricultural or other association organized for the promotion of literature, education, science or art, or any association organized for the promotion of bodily or mental health, and all societies organized to promote either or all of the above named objects, and for all other similar purposes by whatever name they may be known, consisting of not less than three persons, and also any association of merchants and others in any incorporated city organized not for pecuniary profit, but as a board of trade or chamber of commerce, or of any special branch thereof in such city, consisting of not less than nine persons, may be constituted and declared a body politic and corporate, with all the privileges and powers and subject to all the liabilities contained in this act.

SEC. 1024. Any association of persons desirous of becoming incorporated, under the provisions of this act, shall file with the clerk of the circuit court and recorder for the proper county a copy of their constitution or articles of association and a list of all the members, together with a petition to said court for a certificate of incorporation under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 1025. Said clerk shall enter of record said constitution or articles of association and accompanying petition and list of names, and shall issue to said association, under the seal of said court, a certificate in the following form, to wit: "Whereas A, B, C, D, E, F, and others, have filed in the office of the clerk of the ——— court of ——— county their constitution or articles of association in compliance with the provisions of the law, with their petition for incorporation, under the name or style of ———, they are therefore hereby declared a body politic and corporate, by the name and style aforesaid, with all the powers, privileges and immunities granted in the law thereunto appertaining.

[SEAL.]

"Attest: ———, clerk of the circuit court of the said ——— county and ex officio recorder."

SEC. 1026. All associations incorporated under the provisions of this act shall file a copy of all amendments to their constitution or articles of association, certified as such, with the clerk of said court, within sixty days after their passage.

SEC. 1027. The first meeting of any such corporation shall be called, organized and held in the manner prescribed in the constitution or articles of association of said corporation.

SEC. 1028. Any such corporation shall have power to raise money in any manner agreed upon in its constitution or articles of association. The forms of government or management of such corporations shall also be such as are prescribed by their constitution or articles of association.

SEC. 1029. Such corporations shall have such powers of suing and being sued, buying, holding and selling property, real and personal, and of otherwise carrying out the purposes and objects of their organization as are possessed by other corporations and which may be necessary to their efficient management and the promotion of their purposes.

SEC. 1030. It shall be the duty of the clerk or secretary of any such corporation to keep a fair record of the proceedings of such corporation in a book provided for that purpose, and which shall be at all times open to the inspection of the members of such corporation.

SEC. 1031. The clerk of the circuit court shall receive for his services under the provisions of this act such fees as are allowed by law for similar services. Act Feb. 3, 1875.

SEC. 1032. Agricultural and mechanical fair associations, and other associations of a public nature and designed to promote the public good, may be constituted bodies politic and corporate in the manner now provided by law for "corporations for manufacturing and other lawful business," and the capital stock may be divided and held in shares of two dollars each.

SEC. 1033. No profits or dividends shall ever be declared or paid under this act; provided, dividends may be paid to the amount of money paid in by the stockholders on their respective shares.

SEC. 1034. This act shall not be construed to prohibit such associations from being chartered and incorporated with the powers and privileges and in the manner now provided by law. Act Dec. 14, 1875.

VII.—DISSOLUTION OF CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1035. If any corporation shall expire or cease to exist, either by its own limitation, judicial judgment of forfeiture of charter, or by legislative act, the common law in relation to corporations shall not be in force in relation thereto, but the goods and chattels, lands, tenements and hereditaments, and every right or profit issuing out of or appertaining thereto, moneys, credits and effects of such corporation, shall immediately vest in the state in trust for the uses and purposes by said charter contemplated; and each, every and all right, upon the expiration or dissolution of said corporation, shall be and is in abeyance until the action of the legislature shall be had thereon, unless provisions shall be made by law for the management of said corporation fund in contemplation of such dissolution (*). Act Jan. 11, 1843.

SECURITY FOR (*).

SECTION 1036. A plaintiff who is a non-resident of this state, or a corporation other than a bank created by the laws of this state, before commencing an action shall file in the clerk's office a bond, with sufficient surety, to be approved by the clerk, for the payment of all costs which may accrue in the action in the court in which it is brought, or in any other to which it may be carried, either to the defendant or to the officers of the courts (a).

SEC. 1037. An action in which a bond for costs is required by the last section, and has not been given, shall be dismissed on the motion of the defendant at any time before judgment, unless in a reasonable time to be allowed by the court after the motion is made therefor such bond is filed, securing all past and future costs; and the action shall not be dismissed or abated if a bond for costs is given in such time as the court may allow.

SEC. 1038. If the plaintiff in an action, after its institution, becomes a non-resident of this state, he shall give security for costs, in the manner and under the restrictions provided in the preceding sections of this chapter.

(*) As to security for costs in cases of contested election, see SECS. 2727-2729.

FORM OF BOND.

Pulaski Circuit Court.

John Smith
 against
 Richard Jones. } Bond for costs.

We undertake that the plaintiff, John Smith, shall pay to the defendant, Richard Jones, and to the officers of the court, all costs that may accrue to them in this action, either in the Pulaski Circuit Court or any other court to which it may be carried.

_____, Clerk.

SEC. 1039. A guardian or next friend suing for an infant or person of unsound mind, and every plaintiff suing as an assignee, except an indorsee of a bill of exchange or a promissory note negotiated before maturity, when insolvent, may be required to give security for costs; and on failure to do so in a reasonable time after it is directed by the court, upon the motion of the defendant, his action shall be dismissed (b).

SEC. 1040. In an action in which a bond for costs has been given, the defendant may, at any time before judgment, after reasonable notice to the plaintiff, move the court for additional security on the part of the plaintiff; and if, on such motion, the court is satisfied that the surety in the plaintiff's bond has removed from the state, or is not sufficient for the amount thereof, it may dismiss the action, unless, in a reasonable time, to be fixed by the court, sufficient security is given by the plaintiff.

SEC. 1041. Where process is issued in an action by the direction of an attorney for a plaintiff who is required, by section 1036, to give security for costs, but who has failed to do so, the attorney shall be liable as surety for the costs of the action until a bond is given; and his liability may be enforced by orders of court, and by proceedings as for contempt, if they are not obeyed. Civil Code, secs. 698-703.

COSTS, WHEN AND AGAINST WHOM ADJUDGED.

SEC. 1042. If the plaintiff recover judgment he shall have judgment for costs against the defendant (c).

SEC. 1043. If the plaintiff shall be nonsuited, or discontinue his action after the appearance of the defendant, or final judgment shall go against him, then the defendant shall have judgment for costs against the plaintiff (d).

SEC. 1044. When there are several causes of action in a complaint, and any of them shall be adjudged insufficient, or a verdict, on any issue joined thereon, shall be found for the defendant, costs shall be awarded at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 1045. In all actions of trespass, if, upon the trial of the issue, or inquiry of damages, any damages be found for the plaintiff, he shall recover his costs, and in all other actions which may be prosecuted in any court, the subject matter of which shall be cognizable before such court, but the damages recovered shall be below the jurisdiction of the court, the plaintiff shall recover his costs.

SEC. 1046. When several persons are made defendants to any action of trespass, assault and battery, false imprisonment, detinue, replevin, trover or ejectment, and one or more of them shall be acquitted, every person so acquitted shall recover his costs, in like manner as if such verdict of acquittal had been in favor of all the defendants, unless it shall be certified by the court that there was reasonable cause for making such person a defendant to such action.

SEC. 1047. If any person shall sue out a writ of error, or take an appeal to review the judgment of any circuit court, and the judgment of such court shall be affirmed, or the writ of error or appeal dismissed, discontinued or quashed, or the plaintiff in error, or appellant, be nonsuited, the defendant in error, or appellee, shall recover his costs; and if the judgment be reversed the plaintiff in error, or appellant, shall recover his costs (e).

SEC. 1048. When a suit shall be brought in the name of one person to the use of another, the person to whose use the action is brought shall be liable for the payment of all costs which the plaintiff may be adjudged to pay, and execution may be issued therefor.

SEC. 1049. In all cases where costs are given, the party to whom the same are adjudged may have execution therefor.

SEC. 1050. In all cases where either party shall be adjudged to pay costs, before final judgment, the party in whose favor such costs are adjudged may have execution therefor immediately, as upon final judgment.

SEC. 1051. In all cases where there is security for costs, or where the attorney is liable for costs, or where the action is brought to the use of another, in which the plaintiff shall be adjudged to pay the costs, judgment may be rendered against such security, attorney or person for whose use the action was brought on motion of the party entitled to such costs, notice of such motion having first been given to such security, attorney or other person. Rev. Stat., chap. 34.

SEC. 1052. In any civil suit prosecuted by the state for her own benefit, the clerks, sheriffs and other officers shall be entitled to the same fees as in other civil cases; and whenever the state shall become liable to pay any such costs, it shall be the duty of the auditor, upon presentation of the certificate of the attorney-general that such costs have accrued, and that the state is liable therefor, and the amount claimed is just, to draw his warrant on the treasurer for the amount so certified to be due, which shall be paid by the treasurer out of any fund appropriated for that purpose (f). Act Dec. 21, 1850.

POOR PERSONS MAY SUE WITHOUT PAYING OR SECURING COSTS.

SEC. 1053. Every poor person not being of ability to sue, who shall have a cause of action against another, may petition the court in which the action is pending, or in which it is intended to be brought, for leave to prosecute his suit as a poor person, and to have counsel assigned to conduct his suit.

SEC. 1054. Such petition shall state:

First. The nature of the suit brought, or intended to be brought.

Second. That the applicant is not worth ten dollars over and above his wearing apparel necessary for himself and his family, and excepting the subject-matter of the action when not in possession thereof.

(e) Where the circuit court had no jurisdiction of a cause, the supreme court on appeal can render no judgment for such costs as accrued in the court below; but it is proper to render judgment against the party bringing the suit for the costs made in the supreme court. Hightower v. Handlin & Venneys, 27—20.

(f) But the state pays no costs in actions for the recovery of moneys belonging to the school fund. SEC. 6133.

SEC. 1055. Such petition shall be verified by the applicant's own affidavit, and accompanied by the certificate of some attorney at law of the court that he has examined the case and is of opinion that such poor person has a good cause of action.

SEC. 1056. The court to which such petition shall be presented, if satisfied of the facts alleged, and that the applicant has a meritorious cause of action, may by rule admit him to prosecute his suit as a poor person, and may assign him counsel, who shall do his duty therein without taking any fee or reward therefor.

SEC. 1057. Every person so admitted may prosecute his suit without paying any fees to the officers of the court, and shall not be prevented from prosecuting the same by reason of his being liable for the costs of a former suit brought by him against the same defendant.

SEC. 1058. No person shall be permitted to prosecute any action of slander, libel or malicious prosecution as a poor person.

SEC. 1059. If the person so prosecuting as a poor person be guilty of any improper conduct in the prosecution of his suit, or of any willful or unnecessary delay, the court may, in its discretion, annul the order admitting him to prosecute as a poor person; and he shall thereafter be deprived of all the privileges conferred by such order.

COSTS IN CIRCUIT COURT ON APPEALS FROM JUSTICES (g).

SEC. 1060. When an appeal shall be taken from a judgment of a justice of the peace in favor of the appellee, costs shall be adjudged in the following cases:

First. If, on the trial de novo, the appellee shall recover as much or more than the amount of the judgment, or if judgment be affirmed, the appellant shall pay all the costs.

Second. If the judgment in the circuit court shall be in favor of the appellant, the appellee shall pay the costs of both courts.

Third. If the appellant shall, at any time before his appeal is perfected, tender and offer to pay to the appellee any portion of the judgment, which shall not be accepted in satisfaction, and the appellee shall not, in the appellate court, recover more than the amount so tendered and refused, he shall pay the costs of the appellate court.

Fourth. If no such tender shall have been made, and the appellee recover any sum in the appellate court, or if, after such tender and refusal, the appellee shall recover more than the amount tendered, the appellant shall pay the costs in both courts (h).

SEC. 1061. If such appeal shall be from a judgment in favor of the appellant, costs shall be adjudged, in the following cases, as follows:

First. If the judgment appealed from be affirmed, or, upon a trial de novo, the appellant shall not recover more than the judgment below, he shall pay the costs in the appellate court.

(g) Where a justice of the peace has no jurisdiction, none is conferred on the circuit court by appeal; and it is error in dismissing the case to render judgment against the appellant for costs. Gregory v. Williams, 24-177; Touhy & Green v. Rector, 26-315.

(h) See Latta v. Dodd, 23-59; Jones v. Spencer, 36-82.

Second. If, in the appeal, the appellant recover nothing, or the judgment be against him, or for a less sum than was recovered in the court below, he shall pay the costs in both courts.

Third. If the appellant recover more than the judgment below, he shall recover costs in both courts.

TAXATION OF COSTS—TENDER.

SEC. 1062. The clerk shall tax and subscribe all bills of costs arising in any cause or proceedings instituted or adjudged in the court of which he is clerk agreeably to the fees which shall, for the time being, be allowed by law; and shall, in no case, allow any item or charge unless the service for which it was made was actually performed in the cause.

SEC. 1063. In all actions where tender shall be made and full payment offered, by discount or otherwise, in such specie as the party, by contract or agreement, ought to take, and the party to whom such tender shall be made doth refuse the same, and afterward sue for the debt or goods so tendered, the plaintiff shall not recover costs in such suit; but the defendant shall recover costs in the same manner as if judgment had been rendered in his favor, on the merits of the case (i).

SEC. 1064. Any person aggrieved by the taxation of any bill of costs may, upon application, have the same retaxed by the court in which the action or proceeding was had; and in such retaxation all errors shall be corrected by the court; and if the party aggrieved shall have paid any unlawful charge by reason of the first taxation, the clerk shall forfeit all his fees, and shall also pay to the party aggrieved the whole amount which he may have paid by reason of allowing such unlawful charge (j). Rev. Stat., chap. 34.

(i) The effect of a tender is to save cost; but, in order to be availing, it must be followed up and the money brought into court. Hamlet v. Tullman and Graves, 30—505.

(j) It is within the power of the circuit court, in the exercise of a sound discretion, to disallow to the plaintiff any costs which he has caused unreasonably and unnecessarily to be accumulated; and the judgment of the court below, in the exercise of such discretion, should not be overruled by this court, except in cases of manifest error and abuse of power. Meadows v. Rogers, 17—361.

FORMATION OF NEW COUNTIES.

1071. By petition.

1072. Affidavit to accompany petition.

SECTION 1065. Hereafter all persons having demands against any county shall present the same, duly verified according to law, to the county court of such county for allowance or rejection (†). From the order of the court thereon appeals may be prosecuted as now provided by law.

SEC. 1066. If on any such appeal the judgment of the county court is reversed, the judgment of reversal shall be certified by the court rendering the same to the county court, and the county court shall thereupon enter the judgment of the superior court as its own.

SEC. 1067. When a county has any demand against any person or corporation suit thereon may be brought in the name of the state for the use of the county (a). In all such actions all costs and expenses not recovered from the defendant shall be paid by the county. Act Feb. 27, 1879, secs. 2, 3.

SEC. 1068. All deeds, grants and conveyances made and duly acknowledged and recorded, as other deeds of conveyance, to any county or to the commissioners of any county or any other person, by whatever form of conveyance, for the use and benefit of any county, shall be good and valid, to all intents and purposes, to vest in such county, in fee simple or otherwise, all such right, title, interest and estate as the grantor in any such deed or conveyance had at the time of the execution thereof in the lands conveyed and was intended thereby to be conveyed.

SEC. 1069. The county court may, by an order to be entered on the minutes of said court, appoint a commissioner to sell and dispose of any real estate of the county, and the deed of such commissioner, under his hand, for and on behalf of such county, duly acknowledged and recorded, shall be sufficient, to all intents and purposes, to convey to the purchasers all the right, title, interest and estate whatever which the county may then have in and to the premises to be conveyed.

SEC. 1070. All notes, bonds, bills, contracts, covenants, agreements or writings whereby any person is or shall be bound to any county, or the com-

Stat., chap. 35, secs. 4, 5, 6.*

FORMATION OF NEW COUNTIES (b).

SEC. 1071. No petition shall be finally acted on which prays for the creation of a new county, the change of a county line, or which may affect the rights and interest of any person, unless a copy of such petition be set up at the court-house door of the county or counties to be affected thereby, and also one copy in the most public place in each township in such county or counties, forty days before such petition shall be presented to the general assembly.

SEC. 1072. Every such petition shall be accompanied by the affidavit of some creditable person stating that the notice required in the preceding section was given in the manner prescribed. Rev. Stat., chap. 114.

(b) No county now established shall be reduced to an area of less than six hundred square miles nor to less than five thousand inhabitants; nor shall any new county be established with less than six hundred square miles and five thousand inhabitants. Provided, that this section shall not apply to the Counties of Lafayette, Pope and Johnson, nor be so construed as to prevent the general assembly from changing the line between the Counties of Pope and Johnson. Art. XIII, sec. 1; see secs. 2 and 4 of same article.

When a county is divided the old county will, without statutory provision, retain the property and remain liable for the debts of the county, and the severed part or new county will be released; but it is competent for the legislature to apportion the property and the burden between the old and the new counties as it may deem proper and compel taxation for that purpose. Eagle v. Beard, 33—497; Lee County v. State, 36—276; Pulaski County v. County Judge of Saline County, 37—339.

An act of the legislature reducing a county below six hundred square miles is unconstitutional. Bittle v. Stuart, 34—224.

 1087. Bonds received for sinking fund to be presented to county court; cancellation of, how made.
 1088. What laws not repealed.

PURCHASE OF BY TREASURER.

SECTION 1073. If at any time after the annual settlement of the treasurer of any county of this state it shall appear that there is a surplus of the fund collected for the payment of interest on the public debt, after the full payment of all the interest due upon the bonded indebtedness of said county, it shall be the duty of the county court immediately, if the court is in session, and if not in session, at the next regular term thereof, to order the county treasurer to invest such surplus fund in the bonds of the county as is hereinafter provided.

SEC. 1074. Upon the making of the order contemplated in the preceding section it shall be the duty of the county treasurer to give thirty days' notice by advertisement in some newspaper published in his county, and if there be no such newspaper then by handbills posted in at least five of the most public places of said county, of the time and place when and where public bids will be received for the sale of the bonds of said county.

SEC. 1075. Upon the day so fixed for the purchase of said bonds the treasurer shall attend at the court-house door of his county, and shall receive bids, and shall purchase the bonds offered at the lowest rate, and shall pay for and receive the same, at the same time taking a receipt from the seller of such bonds, setting out the amount of money received and for what amount of bonds sold.

SEC. 1076. At the next term of the county court after such purchase by the treasurer of any bonds of his county, it shall be the duty of the treasurer to make a report to the court showing the amount of bonds purchased and the amount of interest accrued at the time of such purchase, the price at which such purchase was made, exhibiting the receipts of the sellers of such bonds, and bringing the bonds purchased into court.

SEC. 1077. The county court shall write or stamp across the bonds, "Canceled," signing the same officially, defacing the coupons at the same time, and deliver the bonds and coupons to the sheriff, whose duty it shall be to burn the same in the presence of the county judge, county clerk and treasurer; and the treasurer shall be entitled to credit for the amount by him paid for the bonds and coupons purchased, together with one per cent. as commission for conducting such purchase. Act December 13, 1875.

MAY BE ISSUED FOR FUNDING PURPOSES.

SEC. 1078. The county courts of the several counties in this state are hereby empowered to issue bonds of their respective counties in lieu of any bonds heretofore issued under the provisions of any law of this state, and overdue coupons thereon, and any interest on such bonds due at the time the holder shall present the same for the purpose of funding the same, whether such interest be evidenced by coupons or not, and whether the bonds be due or not, at any rate of discount below the face value, or at face value thereof, with interest to date of funding included, as may be agreed upon by the holders of said bonds and said courts, for a period of not less than five nor more than twenty years, bearing interest from date until paid, at a rate of interest not exceeding that which they heretofore bore (a).

SEC. 1079. It shall be within the judgment and discretion of the county courts as to whether the bonds herein authorized shall be issued or not; but if the courts be of opinion it would be to the financial interest of their respective counties to fund as herein authorized, they shall make orders to the effect that for a period of twelve months, next after the making of such order, any one presenting to said courts, while in session, duly authorized and properly authenticated bonds of their counties, amounting to the sum of twenty-five dollars, principal and interest, shall be entitled to receive in lieu thereof the bond or bonds of said county as herein authorized. Provided, that it shall be and is hereby made the duty of the said courts to strictly examine every bond presented for funding, and satisfy themselves that the same has been legally issued before they shall be authorized to issue any bond under the provisions of this act; and should they detect any spurious or illegal bond, they shall not issue any bond therefor; but shall cause a list to be made of the numbers and amounts of such spurious or illegal bonds, and the same shall be filed with the clerks of said courts, which filing shall be deemed a sufficient notice to all of the illegality of such bonds, and from that date such illegal bonds shall not be received for any dues to the counties, but shall be deemed wholly null and void.

SEC. 1080. The bonds herein authorized shall be issued in denominations of not less than twenty-five dollars, and shall be made payable in not less than five nor more than twenty years from the date thereof; they shall bear interest at a rate not greater than that they bore before the funding as herein provided for, and shall be made payable at the treasury of the county issuing the same. The interest on said bonds shall be payable annually on the first day of July in each year, for which said bonds shall have coupons attached. Provided, That the first coupons shall be made payable on the first day of July of the next succeeding year after which they are issued. Provided, further, That should any bond issued under the provisions of this act become due and payable before the date fixed herein for the payment of interest, the court shall attach to such bond a coupon for the interest that will be due at the time of the payment of such bond, and said interest shall be paid at the same time said bonds shall be signed by the county judge and attested by the clerk of the county court, with the seal of his office thereto attached, and the interest coupons shall be signed by the clerk of the county court.

SEC. 1081. After the order shall have been made as provided for in section 1079, any person holding a duly issued bond of any of the counties in this state shall, upon the surrender of the same to the county court of the county issuing the same for cancellation, receive therefor the bond of such county upon such terms as may be agreed upon by the holder thereof and the court, to be issued as herein provided and subject to the restrictions herein expressed. Provided, The person presenting the same for cancellation shall present a bond or bonds of the value of twenty-five dollars or more. And provided, further, That said bond or bonds shall be presented for cancellation before the expiration of twelve months from the date of the order provided for in section 1079, unless the court shall make a supplemental order extending the time twelve months longer.

SEC. 1082. It shall be the duty of the county courts to duly cancel any bond that shall be presented to such court for cancellation under the provisions of this act, by writing across the face of such bond the word "Canceled" in red ink, with the date of such cancellation, which shall be signed by the county judge, and he shall cause the records of the county court to show what bonds were so surrendered, their amount, the date of their issue, to whom issued, and that the same were duly canceled. He shall also cause to be kept a record of the bonds issued under and by virtue of this act, showing to whom issued, their amounts and dates.

SEC. 1083. It shall be the duty of the county courts issuing bonds under the provisions of this act to levy a special tax of sufficient amount to pay the principal and interest of said bonds as they shall become due, not to exceed, together with all other taxes levied during that year, the limit of taxation prescribed in the constitution. Such tax shall be levied and collected in the lawful currency of the United States, and shall not be appropriated to any other purpose than that for which it was levied and collected.

SEC. 1084. Any county court issuing bonds under the provisions of this act, at any time before said bonds become due, may call in the same by paying the principal and interest thereon, due on the same, in lawful currency of the United States; and when the amount collected for the payment of the principal of the bonds issued, as herein provided, shall amount to the sum of five hundred dollars or more, such court may make an order to sell such sinking fund to the highest bidder, and take in payment therefor any bond issued under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 1085. It shall be the duty of the county court to give at least thirty days' notice of the time and place of selling such sinking fund, by posting written or printed advertisements in at least five of the most public places in the county, one of which shall be posted at the court-house door, and by inserting the same for five successive weeks in any newspaper published in the county, if one there be.

SEC. 1086. The county treasurer, or his duly appointed agent, shall conduct the sale of the county sinking fund as herein provided, and he shall receive in payment of any bid the bonds of his county, issued under and by virtue of this act, and at the rate specified in the bid of the holder of such bonds. The bonds so purchased shall be vouchers in his hands for the amount of sinking fund actually required to purchase the same at the rate bid by the holders thereof.

SEC. 1087. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, if the court be in session, if not then at the next term thereafter, to present the bonds received by him in payment for the sinking fund to the county court for cancellation; and it shall be the duty of the county court, if it be satisfied that the sale of the sinking fund has been honestly, fairly and legally conducted, to cancel said bonds, by writing across the face thereof in red ink the word "Canceled," together with the date of such cancellation; and each coupon remaining unpaid shall be canceled by a cross mark in red ink on the face thereof. Such cancellation shall be signed by the county judge, and when so canceled said bonds and coupons shall be burned by the court in the presence of the clerk and treasurer and such other persons as may be present. The clerk shall make an entry of the numbers and amounts of the bonds so burned, and to whom issued, and the rate at which they were bought in for the sinking fund, and the treasurer shall have credit for the amount actually paid out in the redemption of such bonds.

SEC. 1088. Nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal any law which authorizes the county courts to fund unliquidated and outstanding warrants and indebtedness existing prior to the 30th day of October, 1874. Act March 6, 1877.

COURT-HOUSE AND JAIL.

SECTION 1089. There shall be erected in each county, at the established seat of justice thereof, a good and sufficient court-house and jail.

SEC. 1090. As soon as the court-house and jail shall be erected, and the circumstances of the county will permit, there shall also be erected a fire-proof building, at some convenient place near the court-house, in which shall be kept the offices of the recorder and of the clerks of the several courts held in such county.

SEC. 1091. Whenever the county court shall think it expedient to erect any of the buildings aforesaid, the building of which shall not be otherwise provided for, and there shall be sufficient funds in the county treasury which may be appropriated to the erection of county buildings, or which are not otherwise appropriated, or if the circumstances of the county will permit such court to levy a tax for the erection of said buildings, such court may make an order for the building thereof, stating in such order the amount to be appropriated for that purpose.

(*) All contracts for erecting or repairing public buildings in any county, or for materials therefor, or for providing for the care and keeping of paupers where there are no almshouses, shall be given to the lowest responsible bidder, under such regulations as may be provided by law. Art. XIX, sec. 16, Const.

SEC. 1092. When such court shall have made an order for the erection of any public buildings, it shall appoint some suitable person as commissioner of public buildings, who shall superintend the erection of the same.

SEC. 1093. The court shall from time to time fill any vacancy that may happen in the office of such commissioner.

SEC. 1094. The court shall designate the place whereon to erect any county building on any land belonging to the county at the established seat of justice thereof.

SEC. 1095. If there be no suitable ground for that purpose belonging to the county, the commissioner of public buildings shall select a proper piece of ground at the seat of justice, and may purchase or receive by donation a lot or lots of ground for that purpose, and shall take a good and sufficient deed in fee simple for the same to the county, and shall make report of his proceedings to the court at its next term.

SEC. 1096. The court shall examine the proceedings of the commissioner, and if it finds the title of such property so purchased to be good, and otherwise approve his proceedings, it shall state the approval of the same on the record, and make an order accepting the same and directing the payment of the purchase money, if any, out of the county treasury.

SEC. 1097. When the ground for erecting any public building shall be designated as aforesaid, the commissioner shall prepare and submit to the county court a plan of the building to be erected, the dimensions thereof and the materials of which it is to be composed, with an estimate of the probable cost thereof.

SEC. 1098. When any plan shall be approved by said court, the commissioner shall advertise for receiving proposals for erecting such building, and shall contract with the person who will agree to do the work on the lowest and best terms, not exceeding the amount so appropriated by the said court.

SEC. 1099. The commissioner shall take from the contractor a bond to the county, with sufficient security, for the performance of the work, at such time and in such manner as shall be agreed on, according to the plan, a copy of which shall be annexed, under a penalty of at least double the amount to be given for erecting the building (a).

SEC. 1100. Such commissioner may let parts of the work to different persons.

SEC. 1101. It shall be the duty of the commissioner to superintend and direct the execution of the work, and to see that the materials employed are good and the work executed according to contract, and to make report of the progress and condition thereof from time to time to the county court.

SEC. 1102. When any installment shall become due to the contractor according to contract, such court shall make an order that the same be paid out of the county treasury.

SEC. 1103. No such order shall be made except on the certificate of the commissioner that a due proportion of the work has been completed and executed according to the contract.

SEC. 1104. The commissioner of public buildings for any county shall receive such compensation for his services as the county court shall deem reasonable, to be paid out of the county treasury as other county claims are paid.

SEC. 1105. Such court shall have power from time to time to alter, repair or rebuild any county building, and may cause other necessary buildings and fixtures to be erected, as circumstances may require and the funds of the county may admit. And it shall, moreover, take such measures as shall be necessary to preserve all buildings and property of the county from waste or damage. Rev. Stat., chap. 36, re-enacted and revived by act April 16, 1873.

POOR-HOUSE AND PAUPERS.

SEC. 1106. Each county court shall have power, whenever it may think it necessary and expedient, to establish a poor-house, and for that purpose to appoint three competent persons to act as commissioners, whose duty it shall be to select a proper site for the same, purchase such quantity of ground therefor as the court may direct, and after their selection shall have been approved by such court, and the ground conveyed to the county, they shall cause such buildings to be erected thereon and make the contract therefor in the manner that the court may direct (b).

SEC. 1107. The said commissioners, before entering on the discharge of their duties, shall take an oath for the faithful and honest discharge thereof.

SEC. 1108. Each county court deeming it expedient to establish a poor-house shall have power to appropriate a sufficient sum of money out of the county revenue to purchase the land and erect all necessary buildings, and may, if necessary, lay and cause to be collected a special tax therefor. Act Jan. 10, 1851.

SEC. 1109. After such poor-house is completed, the court shall let it out annually, at such time as it may deem most expedient, to such competent person as will take charge of the same, reside therein, feed, clothe and furnish the necessary medicine and medical attendance to all persons placed therein for the smallest sum; and such person shall be required to give bond and good security, to be approved by the county court, conditioned for a faithful compliance with his contract, which shall be made payable to the county in a penalty double the amount of the bid. Ib.

SEC. 1110. Every county in this state shall relieve, maintain and support its own poor, such as the lame, the blind, the sick and other persons who, from age and infirmity, are unable to support themselves, who have no sufficient estate of their own, and who have not removed from any other county for the purpose of imposing the charge of keeping them on any county other than the one in which they last lived.

SEC. 1111. It shall be the duty of every sheriff, coroner, constable and justice of the peace to give information to their respective county courts of any such poor, and such court, if satisfied that they come within the purview and meaning of this act, shall from time to time, and as often and for as long a time as it may be necessary, provide at the expense of the county for the support and maintenance of such poor persons, and order from time to time the defraying of such expenses by drawing orders on the treasury of the county. Rev. Stat., chap. 110.

SEC. 1112. When any non-resident, or any other person coming within the definition of a pauper, shall fall sick or die in any county, not having money or property to pay his board, nursing, medical aid or burial expenses, it shall be the duty of the court to make such allowance therefor as shall seem just. Act Dec. 21, 1846.

SEC. 1113. All paupers reported to the county court under the provisions of the three preceding sections shall, upon the court being satisfied that they are paupers, be by order of the court delivered over to the keeper of the poor-house by the sheriff of the county, and shall remain therein under the control of the keeper until discharged by order of the court (c). Act Jan. 10, 1851.

PAUPERS MAY BE EMPLOYED AT WORK FOR THE COUNTY.

SEC. 1114. The county court is hereby authorized, whenever it may deem it expedient or the public interests require it, to employ any or all county paupers at any work on behalf of the county. Provided, that each pauper may protest against being so employed, and when such protest is made the county court shall not employ the protesting pauper without first obtaining from a practicing physician in good standing as such a certificate stating that said pauper is amply able to do and perform the labor required to be done without danger to his or her health or life. Act Nov. 5, 1875.

HOUSE OF CORRECTION, COUNTY COURT MAY PROVIDE FOR BUILDING.

SEC. 1115. The county courts of the several counties shall purchase a farm or tract of land within the boundaries of the county, and provide for the erection on such farm or tract of land a house of correction. Provided, that such farm or tract of land shall not be purchased unless the tax-payers of each township in the county shall petition such court to provide for such purchase and a majority of all the tax-payers of the county sign said petition.

SEC. 1116. Such farm or tract of land may be either improved or unimproved land.

SEC. 1117. When said court shall determine to purchase said farm or tract of land, it shall contract for such land on the most favorable terms possible to the county.

SEC. 1118. Said court shall pay for said farm, and for the erection of said house of correction, in the same manner that other public county improvements are paid for.

(c) It is the duty of the county court to inquire into the condition of persons who are in needy and suffering circumstances, whether reported by officers or otherwise, and to determine whether or not they are paupers. Lee County v. Lackie, 30—764. In order to charge the county with the support and maintenance of destitute persons, they must first be adjudged paupers by the county court. Ib.

The county judge has no authority to adjudge an indigent person a pauper, or to contract for his support or medical treatment, except in term time or while he is holding a county court. Prewett v. Mississippi County, 38—213.

See SECS. 3901, 3811, 3815, 3816.

SEC. 1119. It may appoint three discreet persons as commissioners, who shall be tax-payers and qualified voters of this state, to select and agree for the purchase of such farm or tract of land.

SEC. 1120. When said commissioners shall have made such selection and agreement, they shall report their doings to the county court; and if the court shall approve said selection and the stipulations of said commissioners concerning the payment for said land, then said court shall provide for the purchase of the same, and take from the vendor of such land a good and sufficient deed of conveyance for the use of the county.

Building of House, How Contracted For.

SEC. 1121. After such purchase the county court shall cause to be let out to the lowest bidder the contract for building and erecting on said tract of land a house of correction.

SEC. 1122. Said house of correction shall be so constructed as to secure, as nearly as may be, all persons sentenced to confinement therein, and shall be composed of such material and of such form and dimensions as the county court shall direct.

SEC. 1123. All contracts, appropriations and disbursements of money concerning the purchase of such land or farm, and the erection of said house of correction, shall be made according to and be governed by the laws which are now or may hereafter be in force concerning public county contracts, appropriations and disbursements.

SEC. 1124. Such farm or tract of land shall consist of such number of acres as the court may in its discretion determine.

SEC. 1125. The house of correction shall possess such means of ventilation and other sanitary arrangements as will promote the health of the prisoners therein.

SEC. 1126. All persons who shall be convicted of petit larceny, or any other crime cognizable before justices of the peace, and sentenced to imprisonment, shall, after the building of such house of correction, be sentenced to confinement therein instead of the county jail (†); and all persons then confined in the county jail for the crime of petit larceny, or for any other crime cognizable before justices of the peace, shall be transferred by order of the county court to said house of correction.

SEC. 1127. All persons so sentenced shall be compelled to labor on the farm or lands on which said house of correction shall be situated, in such manner as is hereinafter provided and for the term of their imprisonment.

Superintendent.

SEC. 1128. The county court shall appoint a discreet person, who shall be a qualified elector of this state, and who shall be known as superintendent of the house of correction. The court shall fix the compensation of the superintendent.

SEC. 1129. Said superintendent shall have charge of the farm or lands attached thereto, and shall direct the labor of all persons sentenced to confinement therein.

(†) See chap. 39.

SEC. 1130. For neglect of duty, or other improper management of said house of correction, the county court may remove said superintendent.

Discipline.

SEC. 1131. The county court shall from time to time, with the advice of said superintendent, prescribe such rules for the government and discipline of prisoners in said house of correction, and for the discipline and control of the labor of said prisoners, as it shall deem most expedient and wholesome.

SEC. 1132. The superintendent shall be responsible to the court for the correct treatment of all prisoners in said house of correction, and for the faithful enforcement of the rules and discipline governing the same.

SEC. 1133. Prisoners in said house of correction shall labor for such number of hours each day as the court may determine, and said prisoners shall be compelled to perform any and all such labors as pertain to the clearing, improvement and cultivation of the farm or garden, or to mechanical pursuits.

General Management of, etc.

SEC. 1134. The county court shall have a general supervising control over said farm and house of correction, and shall take means to correct any mismanagement of the same.

SEC. 1135. The product of all labor of the prisoners therein shall be applied, under the direction of the court, to the payment of the expenses of the persons so confined and such other expenses as may be necessarily incurred in improving and keeping said house and farm in repair.

SEC. 1136. If the product of the labor of persons so confined shall not be sufficient to defray the expenses indicated in the preceding section, then such deficit shall be supplied out of the county treasury, in such manner as prisoners in the county jail are now supplied.

SEC. 1137. If the product of the labor of such persons shall be more than sufficient to defray such expenses, then the surplus of such product shall be disposed of under the direction of the county court, and the proceeds thereof shall be paid into the county treasury.

SEC. 1138. If any person qualified for superintendent shall propose to the county court in writing to take charge of said house of correction and the farm and land thereto attached, and shall be the lowest bidder for such superintendency and the farm and land thereto attached, and shall agree to pay all expenses of clothing, food and medical aid necessary for the prisoners, and to keep said house and farm in repair, and shall enter into such further agreement and bonds as the county court shall require, then, and in that event, the said court may let out said farm and house of correction to such person for a term not exceeding two years at any one time, and said person so agreeing shall be entitled to receive to his own use and benefit all products of the labor of any and all prisoners therein.

SEC. 1139. Any person agreeing as provided in the preceding section shall be known as the superintendent of the house of correction. Act July 16, 1868.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

COUNTY LINES (*).

SECTION

1140. County court empowered to direct surveyor to ascertain county lines.

1141. Copy of such order to be presented to county court of adjoining county.

1142. Surveyors to run lines.

SECTION

1143. Maps or plats of such line to be returned.

1144. One surveyor authorized to run such line if the other fails to attend.

1145. Compensation of surveyors.

SECTION 1140. Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of any county court that the boundaries of the county are not sufficiently special and well ascertained, such court shall issue an order to the county surveyor requiring him, on a day and at a place to be therein specified, to proceed* and ascertain, survey and mark such part of such line as may be designated.

SEC. 1141. It shall be the duty of the county court making such order to cause a copy thereof to be presented to the county court of the adjoining county at least ten days before the time appointed for the running and marking of such line, whereupon such court, on receiving the copy of such order, shall issue an order to the county surveyor of such county requiring him to proceed at the time and place appointed and assist in running and marking such line.

SEC. 1142. Such surveyors shall proceed at the time and place appointed to ascertain, survey and mark the line designated in such order, and make return thereof to their respective county courts, which, if approved by such courts, shall be recorded as evidence of the line run.

SEC. 1143. Each surveyor shall return to the county court of his county a map or plat of the line so run and marked.

SEC. 1144. If either of such surveyors shall fail to attend at the time and place appointed, the one in attendance shall proceed alone to survey and mark such line and make his report to the county court, which, being approved by such court, shall be recorded as evidence of the line in controversy, and the line so surveyed and marked shall thereafter be regarded as the true line of the county.

SEC. 1145. The accounts of such surveyors shall be paid by their respective counties, and each surveyor shall be allowed the sum of four dollars for each mile surveyed and marked and five cents per mile for traveling from his place of residence to such line and back. Rev. Stat., chap. 37.

(*) In the formation of new counties no line thereof shall run within ten miles of the county seat of the county proposed to be divided, except the county seat of Lafayette County. Art. XIII, sec. 4, Const.

The power to change county lines is inherent in the legislature, subject to express constitutional restrictions and the essential requisites of the state which are implied in our frame of government. The consent of a majority of the voters in the part taken off is only required in the case of new counties to be formed out of portions of old ones. Reynolds v. Holland, 35—56; Pulaski County v. County Judge of Saline County, 37—339.

CHAPTER XXXV.

COUNTY AND CITY WARRANTS.

SECTION

1146. For what taxes and debts receivable.
 1147. County court may call in warrants; order in such case.
 1148. Clerk to furnish order to sheriff; notice to be published, how.
 1149. Warrants not presented barred.

SECTION

1150. County and municipal authorities may call in warrants annually.
 1151. Proceedings on call by cities and towns.
 1152. Duty of court or council on presentation of scrip; appeal.
 1153. What law to govern calls by counties, cities or towns.

FOR WHAT TAXES RECEIVABLE.

SECTION 1146. All county warrants and county scrip shall be receivable for any taxes for county purposes, except for interest on the public debt and for sinking fund, and for all debts due the county by whose authority the same were issued (a); and all city warrants, scrip, acceptances or money shall be receivable for any taxes for city purposes, except for interest tax, and for all debts due the municipal corporation by whom the same were issued, without regard to the time or date of issuance of such warrant, scrip, acceptance or money, or the purpose for which they were issued (b); and it is hereby made the duty of, and authority is hereby conferred upon, the county court of the respective counties, or the judge thereof in vacation, to make all needful orders compelling collectors, both county and municipal, to comply with the provisions and intent of this act. Provided, that nothing in this act shall authorize the collector to receive scrip issued since the adoption of the constitution in payment of the tax levied to pay the indebtedness existing before the adoption of the constitution (c). Act Dec. 14, 1875.

CALLING IN WARRANTS FOR REISSUE.

SEC. 1147. Whenever the county court of any county may deem it expedient to call in the outstanding warrants of said county, in order to redeem, cancel, reissue or classify the same, or for any lawful purpose whatever, it shall be the duty of said court to make an order for that purpose, fixing the time for

(a) Under the act requiring fines, penalties and forfeitures to be paid into the county treasury, such fines, etc., are to be treated as debts accruing to the county, and are payable in county warrants. McKibben v. State, 31—46. See SEC. 5860.

(b) See Lindsey v. Rottaken, 32—619. Where an obligation to a city or town expresses that it is to be paid in United States currency, and it is manifest that it was the intention of the parties that money and not scrip should be paid, a tender in scrip is not good. This section does not forbid corporations from contracting specially for payment in money. City of Helena v. Turner, 36—577. See SEC. 5733.

(c) See Loflin v. Watson, 32—414. Where county warrants tendered in payment of taxes levied to pay county indebtedness existing at the adoption of the constitution of 1874 afford no evidence that the allowance upon which they were issued was for county indebtedness prior to the adoption of that constitution, and are subsequent thereto, and are drawn upon the fund appropriated for county expenditures, the collector should refuse them. Hughes v. Ross, 38—275.

The bar of the statute of limitations can not be pleaded to a petition for mandamus to compel a county collector to take county scrip for taxes. Whitthorne v. Jett, 39—139.

the presentation of said warrants, which shall be at least three months from the date of such order (d). Act Jan. 6, 1857, as modified by act Feb. 27, 1875.

SEC. 1148. It shall be the duty of the clerk to furnish the sheriff with a true copy of said order within ten days after the adjournment of said court, whereupon it shall be the duty of the sheriff to notify the holders of said county warrants to present the same to said court, at the time and place fixed as aforesaid, for redemption, cancellation, reissuance or classification of the same, or for any other purpose whatever specified in the order of said court, by putting up at the court-house door and at the election precincts in each township of said county, at least thirty days before the time appointed by the order of said court for the presentation of said warrants, a true copy of the order of said court in the premises, and by publishing the same in newspapers printed and published in the State of Arkansas for two weeks in succession, the last insertion to be at least thirty days before the time fixed by said court for the presentation of said warrants (e).

SEC. 1149. All persons who shall hold any warrant of said county, and neglect or refuse to present the same as required by the order of the court and the notice aforesaid, shall thereafter be forever debarred from deriving any benefits from their claims. Act Jan. 6, 1857 (f).

SEC. 1150. The county court of any county, or the municipal authorities of any city or town, may annually call in the outstanding scrip or warrants of said county, or the floating evidences of indebtedness of said city or incorporated town, for the purpose of canceling and reissuing the same.

SEC. 1151. The law governing such proceedings in a county shall apply with equal force to cities and incorporated towns. The council, recorder and marshal shall perform the duties laid down for the county court, the clerk and sheriff respectively.

SEC. 1152. When the scrip or warrants so called in shall be presented to the court or council, it shall be the duty of said court or council thoroughly to examine the same, and to reject all such evidences of indebtedness as in their judgment their county, city or incorporated town is not justly and legally bound to pay, subject to appeal to the circuit court.

SEC. 1153. The law now in force governing in cases where counties are authorized to call in their floating indebtedness shall apply and govern in proceedings had by counties, cities or incorporated towns under the provisions of this act (g). Act Feb. 27, 1875.

(d) An order under this section which gives less than three months from its date to the time appointed for presenting the warrants is invalid, and a scrip holder is not obliged to appeal from it or quash it by certiorari, but may compel the collector by mandamus to receive his scrip for county taxes. Fry v. Reynolds, 33—450; Howell v. Hoggins, 37—110.

(e) When the order is published in only one newspaper, the scrip will not be barred by the failure of the holder to present it within the time required by the order, though he have actual notice of it. The notice must be given as required by the statute; but presentation of the scrip is a waiver of the insufficiency of the notice. Allen v. Bankston, 33—740.

(f) This act is constitutional, and warrants not presented as required by an order of the county court, made in pursuance of the act, are forever barred. Parsel v. Barnes & Bro., 25—261. The statute is the law of the contracts as to warrants issued after the passage of the act. Allen v. Bankston, 33—740; Cope v. Collins, 37—649; Desha County v. Newman, 33—788.

(g) So much of this act as extends the provisions of the act of January 6, 1857, found in this chapter, to proceedings by cities and towns appears to be in conflict with art. V, sec. 23, of the constitution.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

COUNTY SEATS (*).

SECTION

1154. Consent of voters necessary to establish or change; place of proposed location, how designated.
1155. Of new counties, temporary location, how made.
1156. Petition for change; order for election.
1157. Notice of election, etc., how given.
1158. Poll-books, how returned and compared.
1159. Ballots, how written or printed.

SECTION

1160. Orders of county court when vote is in favor of change; new election, when to be held.
1161. Deed to county; to be made before orders locating, etc.
1162. Commissioners, when appointed and duties of.
1163. Courts, when to be held at new county seat, etc.
1164. No second change of county seat under ten years.
1165. Number of qualified voters in county, how ascertained.

SECTION 1154. Unless for the purpose of the temporary location of county seats in the formation of new counties, it shall be unlawful to establish or change any county seat in this state without the consent of a majority of the qualified voters of the county to be affected by such change, nor until the place or places at which it is proposed to establish or change any county seat shall be fully designated, such designation embracing a complete and intelligible description of the proposed locations, together with an abstract of the title thereto and the terms and conditions upon which the same can be purchased or donated by or to the county. Provided, the county court shall not order the election hereinafter provided for, unless it shall be satisfied that a good and valid title can and will be made to the proposed new locations or one of them.

SEC. 1155. The temporary location for the county seat of any new county shall be fixed by the act of the general assembly authorizing the formation and organization of such new county, and such temporary location for the purposes of this act shall be considered the permanent and established location unless changed or removed as herein provided for the change or removal of other county seats.

SEC. 1156. Whenever the qualified voters of any county in this state to the number of one-third thereof shall join in the petition to the county court of such county for the change or removal of the county seat, embodying in the petition the designation and abstract of title and the terms and conditions of the sale or donation, as provided for and required by section 1154, the county court shall order an election to be held at the several voting places in the county, directing that the proposition of the petitioners for the change or removal shall be submitted to the qualified voters.

SEC. 1157. The county court shall also order and require that public notice shall be given of such proposed change or removal, by publication thereof in some newspaper printed in the county, if any there be, and by directing and requiring the sheriff to post up, in hand-bill form, printed copies of such order, in not less than three of the most public places in each township of the county, not less than thirty days before the election at which the proposition for the change or removal is to be voted upon. All of which notices shall be published and continued up until the day of election, and any person defacing, tearing or destroying any of them shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished as is now provided by law for defacing, tearing down or destroying public notices or advertisements. Provided, that nothing in this act shall be so construed as to amend the act passed by the general assembly in relation to the location of the county site of Izard County.

SEC. 1158. The election provided for in this act shall be understood in the same manner as general elections are required by law to be understood, and the poll-books thereof shall be returned by one of the election officers, to be designated by the judges of election, under seal, to the clerk of the county court within five days thereafter, who shall take to his assistance two justices of the peace of the county, and shall open and compare the polls of such election, and declare the result, and make return thereof to the county court, if it then be in session; if not, to the next term thereof.

SEC. 1159. The ballots of the voters shall have written or printed upon them the words "For Change," or "Against Change," meaning for or against change from the existing location, and the words "For ——" (one of the localities allowed by the act to be voted for, naming and describing the place, to which the change or removal is proposed).

SEC. 1160. If a majority of the qualified voters of the county shall vote in favor of the change from the existing location, and also if a majority of the qualified voters of the county shall vote for one of the places to which it is proposed to change or remove (if more than one be submitted), the county court shall make all necessary orders, providing necessary means, appointing commissioners, etc., to carry into effect the will of such majorities so expressed, without unreasonable delay, according to existing laws not hereby repealed, and the provisions of this act. Provided, however, that if such majority of the qualified votes, although given in favor of a change or removal from the existing location, be not given for the place (or one of the places, if more than one place be submitted), to which the change or removal is proposed to be made, the proposition shall be considered as rejected, and it shall be the duty of the county court, at its next regular meeting, to order a new election, to be governed in all respects like the first, except at the second election only the two places having the highest and greatest number of votes at the first election shall be put in nomination and voted for, and all votes cast for other than the two places above designated shall be void, and the place receiving the highest and greatest number of votes shall be and become the county seat (a).

SEC. 1161. Before any of the orders of the county court contemplated by section 1160 shall be made, or if made, before they shall be executed, the vendor or donor of the new location shall make or cause to be made and deliver to the county judge a good and sufficient deed, conveying to the county the land or location so sold or donated in fee simple, without reservation or condition, and also an abstract of the title, papers, deeds and conveyances,

(a) The removal of a county seat is a matter of local concern over which the county court has exclusive original jurisdiction; the circuit court has no authority to determine the result of an election for removal in the first instance, and before the county court has acted in the premises, and where it assumes to do so, a writ of prohibition will lie from the supreme court. Russell v. Jacoway, Judge, etc., 33—191.

and assurances by or through which the title thereof is derived, who shall file the same for record in the recorder's office of such county, to be recorded as other title deeds and papers. Then the place so deeded shall be the permanent county seat, and the title shall be vested in the county.

SEC. 1162. When the deed to the new location shall have been executed, and the title vested in the county, as provided in the preceding section, for the purposes and intention of this act, the county court is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint three discreet citizens of the county commissioners, who shall take an oath to faithfully demean themselves as such, and who, under the orders and directions of the county court in pursuance of the provisions of this act, shall superintend and contract for, in the name and behalf of the county, the clearing, grubbing and laying off such new location into suitable and convenient town lots, and the erection or purchase of all needful buildings on such new location, preparatory to the actual removal and change of the county seat.

SEC. 1163. As soon as such buildings shall have been made ready for the several courts holden at the county seat, the respective officers thereof and the archives thereof, the commissioners shall report the same to the county court at the next term; then in that case the next and every succeeding term thereof shall be held at the new county seat, and the circuit court and all other courts for said county of superior or general jurisdiction shall be held at the new county seat, and all processes issuing therefrom shall be made returnable thereto.

SEC. 1164. Whenever an election has been held in pursuance of this act, and the county seat changed in compliance therewith, it shall not be lawful to change the county seat again under ten years (b).

SEC. 1165. To ascertain the number of qualified voters of any county for the purposes of this act, and the lawful majority necessary to authorize the change or removal of any county seat as herein provided for, the county court shall be governed by the number of persons liable to pay a poll-tax as returned upon the assessor's books. Act March 2, 1875.

(b) Where an act providing for the removal of county seats is repealed, a provision of the act that there shall not be a second removal for ten years becomes inoperative. Varner v. Simmons, 33—212.

A provision of such act that whenever an election has been held "in pursuance of this act," and the county seat changed in compliance therewith, it shall not be lawful to change the same again under ten years, does not apply to a removal had under a prior act. Ib.

When at an election for the removal of a county seat the proposed removal is defeated, the time within which another petition for removal may be filed is not limited. Cochran v. Edwards, 38—136.

SEC. 1174. He shall furnish himself with a compass of approved construction, having a nonious division; also, a two-pole chain of fifty links, and a well-bound book, in which he shall carefully and legibly record and note down every survey made by him, giving the name of the person the survey of whose lands is recorded, and describing, as near as practicable, the metes and bounds of the tract, and noting the date on which the survey was made.

SEC. 1175. Such record shall be subject to the inspection of every person who may deem himself interested therein.

SEC. 1176. It shall be the duty of the county surveyor, or other person having the official record of such surveyor in his possession, to deliver up such record to his successor whenever he may be applied to for that purpose.

SEC. 1177. If such surveyor, or the person having the possession of such record, shall refuse to deliver the same to such successor when demanded, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of one dollar per day for every day he may retain the same after demanded, to be recovered by action in the name of any person who may sue for the same, one-half to the use of the person suing and the other half to the use of the county.

SEC. 1178. A certified copy of the record of any county surveyor, under the hand of the surveyor, shall be admitted as prima facie evidence in any court of record.

SEC. 1179. No act or record by any surveyor, or his deputy, shall be conclusive, but may be reviewed by any competent tribunal in any case where the correctness thereof may be disputed.

SEC. 1180. Each county surveyor may appoint one or more deputies to assist in the performance of the duties of his office, and each deputy shall be sworn to perform the duties of his office according to the best of his skill and judgment, without favor or affection.

SEC. 1181. The necessary chainmen shall be employed by the person wanting surveying done, but they shall be good and disinterested persons, to be approved by the surveyor, and shall be sworn by the surveyor to measure justly and exactly, according to the best of their abilities.

SEC. 1182. No survey made by any person except the county surveyor or his deputy shall be considered as legal evidence in any court of law or equity, unless such surveys are made under authority of the United States, or by the mutual consent of the parties.

SEC. 1183. In all cases where the county surveyor may be interested in any survey which is required to be made by any court, such court shall direct such survey to be made by some competent person, and the person so appointed shall have power to administer the necessary oaths to the chainmen, and shall return such survey, under oath, and shall be entitled to the same fees for his services as the county surveyor would be entitled to receive for similar services.

SEC. 1184. All calculations to ascertain the contents of any tract of land by any county surveyor, or other person, shall be made by differences of latitude and departure.

SEC. 1185. The record book, required by this act to be kept by each county surveyor, shall be furnished at the expense of the county. Rev. Stat., chap. 40.

SEC. 1186. Each county surveyor shall have the liberty of copying any field notes and maps, for his own use, without paying for the same. Act Jan. 7, 1857.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

COUNTY TREASURER (*).

SECTION

- 1188. Where filed and recorded.
- 1189. Refusal to enter into, works vacancy.
- 1190. Office, where to be kept.
- 1191. May appoint deputy.
- 1192. Appointment, how made and approved.
- 1193. Appointment and approval, where filed.
- 1194. Powers of deputy.
- 1195, 1196, 1197, 1198, 1199. Duties of treasurer.
- 1200. In case of vacancy, settlement to be made, etc.
- 1201. Forfeiture in certain event.

SECTION

- 1202. How recovered.
- 1203. To keep register of warrants paid.
- 1204. To file copy of on annual settlement.
- 1205. Warrants redeemed, presented at annual settlement; how and by whom canceled.
- 1206. Funds of county in state treasury; order of county court to draw.
- 1207. Warrant of auditor for funds, how obtained.
- 1208. Warrant to be paid by state treasurer.
- 1209. Duplicate receipt for such funds; county treasurer to charge himself with same.

SECTION 1187. Each county treasurer before he enters upon the discharge of the duties of his office shall enter into bond, with good and sufficient security, to the State of Arkansas in double the amount of all the county revenue that may come into his hands for any one year by virtue of his office, conditioned for the true and faithful performance of his duties as county treasurer, and that he will truly account for and pay over all money that may come into his hands as treasurer (†). Act Feb. 21, 1877, sec. 1.

SEC. 1188. Such bond shall be filed and recorded in the recorder's office of the county.

SEC. 1189. If he shall neglect or refuse to enter into bond within twenty days after the receipt of his commission (a), the office shall be considered vacant, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court forthwith to inform the governor of such vacancy. Rev. Stat., chap. 41, secs. 3, 4.

SEC. 1190. The county treasurer shall keep his office at the county seat. Act Feb. 21, 1877, sec. 3.

SEC. 1191. He may appoint one deputy, for whose official conduct he shall be responsible.

SEC. 1192. Such appointment shall be in writing, signed by the treasurer and approved by the county court, or judge thereof in vacation.

(*) For election and term of office of the county treasurer, see art. VII, sec. 46, of the Constitution. By that section it is provided that he shall be ex officio treasurer of the common school fund of the county.

(†) As to approval of bond, see SEC. 4771.

(a) See Talbot, ex parte, 32—426.

SEC. 1193. Such approval shall be indorsed on said appointment and recorded in the recorder's office.

SEC. 1194. The deputy shall possess all the powers of his principal. Act Feb. 28, 1883.

SEC. 1195. The treasurer shall receive and receipt for all moneys payable into the county treasury, and pay and disburse the same on warrants drawn by order of the county court.

SEC. 1196. He shall keep a true and just account of all moneys received and disbursed, and a regular abstract of all warrants paid by him.

SEC. 1197. He shall make duplicate receipts in favor of the proper person for all moneys paid into the treasury, and keep the books, papers and money pertaining to his office at all times ready for the inspection of the county court.

SEC. 1198. He shall at each term of the county court, if required, furnish such court with an account of the receipts and expenditures of the county not before accounted for. Rev. Stat., chap. 41, secs. 5-8.

SEC. 1199. He shall annually on the first Monday of July, and oftener if so required, make a full and complete settlement with the county court of all funds and moneys that have come into his hands as such treasurer, and at such settlement it shall be the duty of the county court to make actual count of the money and other funds appearing by such settlement to be in his hands (b). Act April 28, 1873, sec. 189.

SEC. 1200. If he resign, be removed from office, or die, he or his executor or administrator shall immediately make such settlement and deliver to his successor in office all things pertaining thereto, together with all the moneys belonging to the county (*).

SEC. 1201. If he shall neglect or refuse to pay any warrant drawn on him by order of the county court of his county, having in his hands money applicable thereto, he shall forfeit and pay to the holder of such warrant fourfold the amount thereof ().

SEC. 1202. Such forfeiture may be recovered by action in the name of the party aggrieved against such treasurer and his securities, and he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and on conviction thereof shall be removed from office. Rev. Stat., chap. 41, secs. 9-11.

SEC. 1203. He shall keep a register of warrants similar to the one required to be kept by the clerk (c), to which the time when paid shall be added in a separate column. Ib., sec. 31.

SEC. 1204. He shall, when he makes his annual settlement with the county court, file a copy of his register of warrants paid. Ib., sec. 32.

SEC. 1205. He shall, at his annual settlement with the county court, produce all the warrants redeemed by him during the preceding year, and the presiding judge shall write the word "Redeemed" across the face of each warrant,

(b) For penalty for violation of this section, see SECS. 1747, 1785. It is only at a settlement that the treasurer may be required to produce the money which it is found should be in his hands for counting. Vance & Wallace v. State, use, etc., 35—176. He or his administrator can pay over the county funds in his hands only to his successor in office. Ib.

(*) See the case cited in preceding note.

() See Howell v. Hoggins, 37—114.

(c) For register of clerk, see SEC. 1417.

and sign his name thereto, and cause all warrants thus redeemed to be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court (d). Ib., sec. 34.

SEC. 1206. Whenever there is any money or funds of any kind, from whatever source derived, in the treasury of the state belonging to any county, the county court of such county shall make an order authorizing and directing the county treasurer to draw the same.

SEC. 1207. Upon the county treasurer presenting to the auditor of state a copy of said order, duly certified to by the clerk of the county court, under his official seal, the auditor shall draw his warrant upon the treasurer of state for whatever money or funds there may at the time be in the state treasury belonging to such county, and the county treasurer shall execute to the auditor a receipt for such warrant.

SEC. 1208. On the presentation of such warrant of the auditor, the state treasurer shall pay the same. Act Feb. 22, 1883, sec. 1, as amended by act March 26, 1883.

SEC. 1209. Upon the receipt of any such funds or money by the county treasurer of any such county, he shall receipt therefor in duplicate, one of which shall be retained by the state treasurer and the other shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such county, and such county treasurer shall thereupon charge himself with the funds or money so received. Act Feb. 22, 1883, sec. 2.

(d) It is also his duty, within ten days after each general election, to certify to the clerk of the circuit court a list of all persons indebted to the county. SEC. 2514.

Those sections of chap. 37, Gantt's Digest, which obviously relate exclusively to the redemption of interest-bearing scrip, are omitted as repugnant to or rendered obsolete by sec. 1, art. XVI, of the constitution. See Worthen v. Roots, 34—363-4; Jacks & Co. v. Turner, 36—89.

HIRING OUT PRISONERS, ETC. (a).

SECTION 1210. Any person who may be convicted of any misdemeanor or petty offense in any of the courts of this state, and who shall be committed to jail in default of the payment of the fines and costs adjudged against him, shall be required to discharge such fines and costs by manual labor in any manual labor work-house, or any farm attached thereto, or any road, bridge or other public work in the county where the conviction and committal were had.

SEC. 1211. If any person so convicted be an artisan or mechanic and be put to labor in any manual labor work-house, or on any bridge or other public improvement, he shall be allowed a reasonable compensation for such labor; but such compensation shall not be paid to said artisan or mechanic.

(a) See Cheany v. State, 36—74.

SEC. 1212. Sections 1210 and 1211 shall not be so construed as to prohibit the employment of said county convicts on other than public works, but it shall be lawful to hire out such persons to any individual, company or corporation.

SEC. 1213. When any person shall be convicted of any misdemeanor under the laws of this state by any court of competent jurisdiction, the court shall render judgment against the person so convicted, which judgment shall direct that the person convicted be put to labor in any manual labor work-house, or on any bridge or other public improvement, or that the person be hired out to some person as hereinafter provided, until the fine and costs are paid, which shall not exceed one day for each seventy-five cents of the fine and costs (b).

SEC. 1214. It shall be the duty of the sheriff or constable, immediately after the conviction of any person of any misdemeanor, to proceed at once to hire said person out to some person, company or corporation, and to take from the person, company or corporation so hiring and contracting for such services a bond, payable to the State of Arkansas, for the use of the county, with sufficient sureties or surety, to be approved by the court rendering judgment, for the prompt and faithful payment of the money that shall become due and payable for the services rendered or labor done by such convict; and that he or they will treat such convict humanely while in his or their employment. Provided, that if any convict hired out under the provisions of this act shall escape from his employer, without any fault of such employer, before such convict shall discharge by his labor the fine and costs, the party hiring such convict shall not be liable on his bond for an amount greater than the time worked by such convict before his escape.

SEC. 1215. If any convict shall escape from such employer he shall be deemed guilty of an offense, and, if recaptured, he shall, upon conviction by any court of competent jurisdiction, be fined in any sum not less than double the amount of the fine assessed against him in the first case, together with all costs of search and recapture, and compelled to discharge the same by his labor, as provided for in the provisions of this act, and should any such convict, after a second conviction, comply faithfully with the terms of the contract, he shall be entitled to a deduction of twenty-five per cent. upon his labor on the second fine so imposed.

SEC. 1216. The bond taken and approved by the court shall be filed with the county clerk, and, upon a breach of said bond, it shall be the duty of the county judge to cause said bond to be sued upon, in any court having competent jurisdiction, and upon the recovery of a judgment against the principal and surety or sureties on said bond, and the collection of the amount of said judgment, the same shall be paid into the county treasury.

SEC. 1217. All moneys arising from hiring out or employing county convicts shall be paid over to the collector, and by him paid into the county treasury for county purposes. But, in every instance, the county convict shall receive full credit for the amount of his labor, to be entered and counted in discharge of the fine and costs adjudged against him, and whenever his earnings shall be sufficient to pay in full the fine and costs adjudged against him he shall be discharged.

(b) When judgment is rendered under this section, it is the duty of the sheriff, if the defendant is present at the trial, to retain him in custody, and, if the fine and costs be not immediately paid, to hire him out as directed by the judgment, and if he voluntarily permit him to go at large, he is guilty of a misdemeanor. Griffin v. State, 37—437. See SEC. 1226.

The convict may be hired for as much as can be got for him—not less than seventy-five cents a day; but the court can not require a greater hire per day than the minimum fixed by the statute, nor direct that the hiring be for a less number of days than one for every seventy-five cents of the fine and costs. State v. Barnes, 37—448.

SEC. 1218. All fines collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the county treasury, and all costs so collected shall be paid to the respective officers to whom they may be due.

SEC. 1219. When convicts, employed on public works or improvements or in public work-houses, shall have paid the full amount of their fines and costs by their labor, then the county court shall issue a warrant in favor of each officer to whom costs may be due for the amount of his costs on the county treasurer, and the same shall be paid if there are sufficient funds in the treasury.

SEC. 1220. No county convict shall be allowed to work on any public work or improvement whatever where there may be danger of his escape, nor shall he be compelled to labor at any kind of business or in any avocation that would tend to impair his health or strength.

SEC. 1221. All persons hiring convicts under the provisions of this act shall, in addition to the bond required in section 1214, obligate themselves to furnish said convicts so hired with good and wholesome food, with comfortable clothing and medicine when sick, and not to require them to work at unreasonable hours, or for a longer time during any one day than other laborers, doing the same kind of labor, are accustomed to do.

SEC. 1222. Unless the convicts are immediately hired out, the management and control of said county convicts shall be confined to county courts, either in term time or in vacation by the judge, and the court or judge shall always have the right to require the aid of the sheriff and constables of their respective counties, and all lawful orders or process necessary to be issued and executed shall be executed by the said sheriff or constable.

SEC. 1223. The county court shall cause a record of all their proceedings under this law to be recorded in a well-bound book to be provided for that purpose. Said record shall contain:

First. A descriptive list of all persons known as "county convicts."

Second. How such convict has been or is employed.

Third. The name of the party or parties hiring such convict.

Fourth. The time when and the price at which such convict has been employed.

Fifth. The amount paid or allowed for such employed or hired convict.

Sixth. The amount due by such convict as fine and costs.

Seventh. Such other information as may be necessary and required under the rules adopted by said court.

SEC. 1224. The words "county convicts," as used in this act, shall be understood to mean persons convicted of misdemeanors or petty offenses, and committed to jail in default of the payment of the fine and costs adjudged against them. The use of the "plural" shall include also the "singular," and "vice versa," and the use of the "masculine" shall include also the "feminine," and "vice versa."

FEES OF COUNTY JUDGE AND OTHERS.

SEC. 1225. Until otherwise provided by law county judges shall receive as compensation for their services the following fees, to wit: For any contract of hire the sum of one dollar when made by the judge. For every bond required by this act, when prepared by the county judge, the sum of one dollar. For the examination and approval of each bond the sum of fifty cents. The sheriff or constable shall be allowed the same fees for any contract of hire as the judge, and the justice of the peace shall receive the same fees as the judge for the examination and approval of bonds. Said fees to be paid in every instance in advance by the party or parties hiring such convict, to be repaid to the contractor or employer when demanded out of the wages of such convict. Act March 10, 1877.

CONTRACT FOR KEEPING PRISONERS.

SEC. 1226. The county court is hereby authorized and empowered to make a contract with some responsible person or persons for the maintenance, safe keeping and working of persons committed to the county jail, and for the purpose of making such contract and for carrying out the provisions of this act said county court shall have full and plenary powers (c.) Act March 22, 1881, sec. 1.

SEC. 1227. Whenever, in the judgment of the county court, it shall be deemed advisable to enter into such contract, the county judge shall give notice by advertisement in some newspaper published in the county, and if no such paper is published in the county, then by posting written or printed notices at ten public places in the county, for thirty days, for proposals for such contract, and shall, on the day appointed, close the contract with the person who shall undertake the duties required by this act on the terms most advantageous to the county, and the contractor shall immediately enter into a good and sufficient bond to the satisfaction of the county judge and in such sum as the judge shall deem sufficient, payable to the State of Arkansas, for the use of such county, and conditioned that such contractor shall faithfully comply with the terms of said contract. Provided, however, that the county judge may reject any and all bids.

SEC. 1228. All persons convicted and committed to the county jail, as well as all persons committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of felony, excepting for capital offenses, and those persons committed to jail for contempt of court, and also except all those sentenced to imprisonment in the state penitentiary, shall be delivered to said contractor to be by him kept and worked under said contract and under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 1229. The said contractor shall at the time of delivery to him of any prisoner under this act pay to the officer in charge of such prisoner all the costs due to the officers of the court in the prosecution of such convict.

SEC. 1230. Before the delivery to the contractor of any prisoner charged with a felony the officer in charge of such prisoner shall submit to the county judge all the papers by authority of which he holds such prisoner, and obtain from such judge an order in writing to deliver such prisoner to the contractor, and the county judge may, for any cause that shall to him seem proper, decline and refuse to permit such prisoner to be delivered to the contractor, but the judge shall reduce his reasons to writing and file the same with the papers in the action pending against such prisoner.

(c) See Griffin v. State, 37—441.

SEC. 1231. Whenever any such prisoner charged with a felony shall be delivered to such contractor, and such prisoner shall on his final trial be convicted either of a felony or a misdemeanor, such prisoner shall be allowed credit on the judgment or sentence against him, at the rate provided for in section 1235, for all the time that such prisoner has been in the custody of the contractor. Provided, that should such prisoner be finally acquitted, he shall receive from the county all money, scrip or other revenue that the county may have received from the contractor on his account.

SEC. 1232. No person before conviction shall be forced to go to the contractor against his consent, Ib., secs. 2 and 3, as amended by act March 13, 1883.

SEC. 1233. It shall be the duty of said contractor to safely keep said prisoners, and he shall provide them with sufficient wholesome food, and clothing, and medicine, and medical attention, and may work the said prisoners on a farm, or at any other lawful labor, under the same rules and regulations as convicts are worked by the lessees of the state penitentiary; and he shall be liable, in case of escape, as said lessees are, and he may adopt such safeguards to prevent escapes as said lessees are permitted to adopt (†), and such other means as he may deem best for that purpose.

SEC. 1234. He shall have those prisoners committed for trial present before the proper court, at the term of said court when they are required for trial; and the sheriff shall secure them and confine them in jail at such term so long as their presence may be required; and when no longer required, if not discharged by the court, they shall be redelivered to said contractor; and the sheriff, while having them in custody in attendance upon any court, shall receive from the county treasury the jail fees allowed by law on the allowance of his account, as now provided by law. Ib., sec. 4.

SEC. 1235. Whenever any prisoner shall be convicted of a misdemeanor by any court or justice of the peace, if the fine and costs are not immediately paid or secured to be paid within thirty days to the satisfaction of the constable, sheriff or other officer, in case of conviction before the circuit court, said convict shall be committed to the county jail and by the jailer delivered to the contractor at such place as the contractor may designate, who shall keep and work such prisoners for the time he shall have been adjudged to be imprisoned, and for such further time as will discharge all fines and costs for which he may be committed, at the rate of fifty cents per day.

SEC. 1236. Said contractor shall not be released or excused from paying for the time of any convict unless such convict shall die without having labored, or unless such convict shall be or become from continued ill health unable to work. In such case, the county judge may order such convict to be discharged without payment of fine or costs.

SEC. 1237. Whenever any convict shall be sentenced to jail as a part of his punishment, he shall first work with the contractor to pay his fine and costs, and shall then commence to serve out his term by labor under the contractor as provided in section 1235. Ib., sec. 5, as amended by act March 13, 1883.

(†) See chap. 118.

SEC. 1238. It shall be the duty of the sheriff to examine into the condition of said prisoners in custody of said contractor and see that they are treated with humanity, and furnished with sufficient clothing and sufficient sound, wholesome food and medical attention, and if he shall believe said contractor is in default in this respect he shall file written charges and specifications in the county clerk's office, and summons shall issue out of said clerk's office warning said contractor to appear at the next term of the county court, to be held not less than twenty days after the service of the summons, and show cause why said contract should not be canceled.

SEC. 1239. Upon service of such notice the county court shall proceed to investigate such charges, and may render a judgment canceling said contract, requiring said prisoners to be returned to the sheriff, or make such other order securing proper treatment in the future as the court may see proper.

SEC. 1240. Such contractor may appeal from said judgment as other cases are appealed from the county court.

SEC. 1241. In case of a cancellation of such contract, for any cause, the court may proceed to make another contract as provided in section 1226.

SEC. 1242. The county judge may, upon his own knowledge, or upon the information of others, cause summons to be issued and the like proceedings had thereon as provided in sections 1238 and 1239.

SEC. 1243. Said contractor may at any time deliver back to the sheriff one or more of said prisoners for safe keeping in the county jail, but in such case the contractor shall be responsible on his bond for the jail fees while the prisoners are in jail. Provided, his said right to deliver to the sheriff shall not exempt him from liabilities for the costs in cases of prisoners so delivered; nor shall the term of the imprisonment of such prisoner be lengthened by such delivery to the sheriff.

SEC. 1244. If the sureties on the bond of said contractor shall at any time be insufficient, he shall be required to furnish new security in the same manner as is now provided by law in case of county officers, and if he fails to furnish new and approved security when required, his contract shall be rescinded.

SEC. 1245. In case the county court is unable to make a contract with any person in the county as provided in section 1226, the court may contract for the work of its prisoners with the contractor of any other county according to the provisions of this act; and if the county court be unable to make any satisfactory contract with the contractor of any other county, then it shall be lawful for the county court to order and compel such prisoners to be worked on the public roads, bridges, levees or any other public improvements of the county, or to perform any other lawful labor for the benefit of the county, under such rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this act as the county court may prescribe.

SEC. 1246. In case the county court shall order the said prisoners to be worked on roads, bridges, levees or other county improvements as provided in the preceding section, it shall be the duty of the court to appoint some suitable person as superintendent, to take charge of, manage and control the labor of said prisoners, who shall, for the purpose of working them, be authorized to employ such guards or adopt such means to prevent escapes as may be necessary, and he shall have all the power of punishing, for refusal to work, herein given to contractors; and upon the order of the county judge the sheriff shall deliver to said superintendent all such prisoners in his custody, and receive them back from him whenever he shall return them to the jail.

SEC. 1247. Said superintendent, with the permission of the county court or judge thereof, may temporarily contract in writing with any person or corporation for the labor of said prisoners, and all moneys received therefor shall be paid directly into the county treasury, and shall constitute a separate fund for the purpose of paying the expenses incident to the working of said prisoners, including the purchase of necessary working utensils. All such contracts, so made by said superintendent, shall be filed with the clerk of the county court.

SEC. 1248. Said superintendent shall take an oath to faithfully discharge his duties and receive such compensation for his services as the court may fix; and he may be at any time removed by the county court or judge, and another appointed by the judge in vacation, subject to approval at the next term of the court.

SEC. 1249. During the time the said prisoners shall be in charge of said superintendent, for working, the sheriff shall furnish them food the same as other prisoners confined in jail, for which he shall receive the regular fees.

SEC. 1250. If any prisoner shall escape from the contractor or superintendent, said contractor or superintendent shall have the right to arrest such prisoners, in person or through any sheriff or constable, anywhere in the state, and such prisoner, when arrested, shall be delivered to the contractor or sheriff of the county, and shall be compelled to work out all costs incurred in making his arrest, in the manner provided in this act. Ib., secs. 8-14.

SEC. 1251. It shall be the duty of the justice of the peace or the clerk of the court rendering a judgment or sentence of conviction in misdemeanor cases when the defendant is committed to the county jail to file a copy of the judgment or sentence in the office of the clerk of the county court, together with a full itemized statement of the fine and costs adjudged, as well as a concise statement of the time such convict may be held to labor in discharge of the same. And the clerk of the county court shall register the same in a book to be by him kept for that purpose.

SEC. 1252. It shall be the duty of the contractor or superintendent to keep a record, in which shall be stated the name of the prisoner, his height, color, age, complexion, color of eyes and hair, time of commitment and the punishment adjudged by the court or justice, as well as the number of days such convict may be held to labor and a record of the days worked by such prisoner. And in no event shall a prisoner be charged for days lost on account of weather or by the fault of the contractor.

SEC. 1253. The contractor shall file in the office of the county clerk, on the first day of each month, a full statement of the time of each prisoner, charging him with the number of days requisite to discharge the judgment against him on the day of delivery of the prisoner to him, together with all lost time, as is hereinbefore permitted, and crediting such prisoner with all the days he has been held in custody from the date of his delivery to the contractor to the first day of each month.

SEC. 1254. If the contractor shall fail, neglect or refuse to file in said clerk's office his report, as in the preceding section required, on or before the tenth day of any month, then, in that event, it shall be taken and considered that each and every one of the convicts in custody of the contractor has lost no time up to the tenth day of such month, and the clerk shall so credit each convict upon the book herein required to be by him kept, which said book shall be by him kept so as to show the time of each prisoner on the 10th day of each month, and said book shall be taken as evidence of that fact.

SEC. 1255. All said reports, books and papers in relation to said convicts shall be, by the clerk, presented to the county court, at each of its regular sessions, for its inspection and such action as the court may deem proper. Ib., sec. 15, as amended by act March 13, 1883.

SEC. 1256. The provisions of this act shall apply to all prisoners now held by contractors from the date of its passage, but shall not relate back. Act March 13, 1883, sec. 5.

TERMS OF, QUORUM, ETC.

SECTION 1257. The supreme court of the state shall be held on the fourth Mondays of May and November in each year. Act May 23, 1874.

SEC. 1258. The supreme court shall be composed of three judges, one of whom shall be styled chief justice, and elected as such; any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of two judges shall, in every case, be necessary to a decision (a). Art. VII, sec. 2, Const.

SEC. 1259. If a quorum of said court be not present at the time and place fixed by law for holding said court, it shall stand adjourned until the first Monday next following, and if a quorum be not present on said day, said court shall stand adjourned by operation of law, from day to day, until a quorum shall appear, and then proceed to business, and so continue in session until all business ready for trial shall be adjudicated.

SEC. 1260. When a quorum has met, and the chief justice is absent, the senior judge shall act as presiding judge during the absence of the chief justice. Act Dec. 5, 1868, secs. 3, 4.

SEC. 1261. No judge of the supreme court who is interested in any suit, or related to either party within the fourth degree of consanguinity or affinity, or shall have been of counsel, or have presided in any inferior court, in any suit or action, shall sit on the determination thereof. Rev. Stat., chap. 43, sec. 23, and art. VII, sec. 20, Const.

SEC. 1262. Such court shall have power to direct the form of writs and process, not being contrary to or inconsistent with the constitution and laws of this state, and may, by general rules, provide what causes shall have a preference on the docket. Ib., sec. 2, and Civil Code, sec. 17, as amended 1871.

(a) When the population of the state shall amount to one million, the general assembly may, if deemed necessary, increase the number of judges of the supreme court to five; and, on such increase, a majority of judges shall be necessary to make a quorum or a decision. Art. VII, sec. 3, Const.

JURISDICTION.

SEC. 1263. The supreme court, except in cases otherwise provided by the constitution, shall have appellate jurisdiction only; which shall be co-extensive with the state, under such restrictions as may from time to time be prescribed by law (b). It shall have a general superintending control over all inferior courts of law and equity; and, in aid of its appellate and supervisory jurisdiction, it shall have power to issue writs of error, and supersedeas, certiorari, habeas corpus, prohibition, mandamus, and quo warranto, and other remedial writs; and to hear and determine the same (c). Its judges shall be conservators of the peace throughout the state, and shall severally have power to issue any of the aforesaid writs.

SEC. 1264. In the exercise of original jurisdiction, the supreme court shall have power to issue writs of quo warranto to the circuit judges and chancellors, when created, and to officers of political corporations when the question involved is the legal existence of such corporations (d). Art. VII, secs. 4 and 5, Const.

SEC. 1265. The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction over the final orders, judgments and determinations of all inferior courts of the state, in the following cases and no other (e):

First. In a judgment in an action commenced in the inferior courts, and, upon the appeal from such judgment, to review any intermediate order involving the merits and necessarily affecting the judgment (f).

Second. In an order affecting a substantial right made in such action, when such order in effect determines the action and prevents a judgment from which an appeal might be taken, or discontinues the action; and when such order

(b) See note (ff) to sec. 4, art. VII, Const.

(c) See note (gg) to sec. 4, art. VII, Const. Barter v. Brooks, 29—173; Payne v. McCabe, 37—318; Harbour, ex parte, 39—126; Batesville & Brankley Railroad Co., ex parte, Ib., pp. 87—88.

(d) See State v. Leatherman, 38—81; Payne v. McCabe, 37—321.

(e) It is only from a final judgment or decree that an appeal can be taken to the supreme court. Hanger & Co. v. Krating, admr., 26—51; Foley v. Whitaker, Ib., 95; Citizens' Bank, etc., v. Walker, Ib., 468; Ward v. Carlton, Ib., 662; Lee v. Black, 27—336; Horner, admr., v. State, Ib., 113; Benton County v. Rutherford, 30—665; Miller v. O'Bryan, 36—200. An appeal will lie from an order allowing alimony, attorney's fees and costs, pendente lite. Hecht v. Hecht, 28—92; Casteel v. Casteel, 38—477.

(f) On a trial in the circuit court by a jury or the court, a motion for a new trial to correct the errors growing out of the evidence or instructions is essential before an appeal or writ of error can be entertained by the supreme court. Where the errors do not grow out of the evidence or instructions, but are apparent upon the face of the record, there is no necessity for such motion, but the appeal will not then lie if the error is one that can be corrected in the court below, until a motion for that purpose has been made and overruled in that court. Serk v. Mahar, 26—536; Mills v. Jones & Reed, 27—506; Lambert v. Killian & Prewett, Ib., 549; Union County v. Smith, 34—684; Merriweather v. Erwin, 27—37; Hanf v. Ford, 37—544; Badgett v. Jordan, 32—151.

An appeal in chancery brings up every paper properly filed in the cause. They all under our present system become parts of the record. Casteel v. Casteel, 38—477.

The supreme court will review a chancery cause brought into it by appeal, whether the court below had jurisdiction or not. Bailey v. Gibson, 29—472.

In equity cases the supreme court will inquire into the correctness of the chancellor's finding of the facts. Miller v. Gibbons, 34—212.

As to practice in the supreme court see also the following cases: Pike v. Douglass, 28—59; Reynolds v. McCallum, Ib., 453; Hamlett v. Tallman, 30—505; Worthington v. Debardekin, 33—651; Mock v. Pleasants, 34—63; Washington v. Love, Ib., 93; Johnson v. Terry, 35—220; Wycough v. Ford, Ib., 500; St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co. v. Vincent, 36—451; Leggett v. Grinnett, Ib., 496; Fry v. Chicot Co., 37—117; L. R. & F. S. R'y Co. v. Perry, Ib., 164; Pierce v. Edington, 38—150; St. Louis, I. M. & S. R'y Co. v. Murphy, Ib., 456; Clark v. Hare, 39—258; Neal v. Pervey, Ib., 337; Watts v. Cohn, 40—114; Carroll v. Bowler, Ib., 168; Perry v. Cunningham, Ib., 185; Berman v. Wolf, Ib., 251; L. R. & Ft. S. R'y v. Miles, Ib., 298.

grants or refuses a new trial, or when such order strikes out an answer, or any part of an answer, or any pleading in an action; but no appeal to the supreme court from an order granting a new trial (g), in a case made or bill of exceptions, shall be effectual for any purpose, unless the notice of appeal contains an assent on the part of the appellant that, if the order be affirmed, judgment absolute shall be rendered against the appellant.

Third. In a final order affecting a substantial right made in a special proceeding, or upon a summary application in an action after judgment, and upon such appeal to review any intermediate order involving the merits and necessarily affecting the order appealed from. Civil Code, sec. 15, as amended 1871.

Fourth. Whenever the decision of any motion involves the constitutionality of any law of this state, or where the decision of any such motion has been or shall be placed, in the opinion of the judge making such decision, upon the unconstitutionality of such law, then an appeal shall lie, and may be made from such decision, or from the order entered upon such decision. Civil Code, sec. 15, as amended 1871.

APPEALS AND WRITS OF ERROR—HOW GRANTED (h).

SEC. 1266. The mode of bringing the judgment or final order of an inferior court to the supreme court for a reversal or modification shall be by appeal or writ of error.

SEC. 1267. The appeal shall be granted as a matter of right, either by the court rendering the judgment or order, on motion made during the term at which it is rendered, or by the clerk of the supreme court in term time or in vacation on application of either party (i).

SEC. 1268. Writs of error shall issue as of course in all cases out of the supreme court, in vacation as well as in term time (j). Civil Code, sec. 859; Rev. Stat., chap. 117, sec. 1.

SEC. 1269. The party taking the appeal or writ of error shall be called the appellant, and the adverse party the appellee.

SEC. 1270. Unless the appeal is granted by the inferior court, or the appellee enters his appearance in the supreme court, he shall be summoned actually or constructively, as provided by law for the service of a summons, to appear and answer the appeal or writ of error.

SEC. 1271. It shall be the duty of the appellant to file in the clerk's office of the supreme court, within ninety days after the appeal or writ of error is

(g) See SEC. 1315.

(h) For jurisdiction and practice on appeals in criminal cases, in felonies, see SECS. 2440-2460; in misdemeanors, SECS. 2461-2471.

(i) To give the supreme court jurisdiction on appeal, the record should disclose the fact either that a motion was made for an appeal during the term at which the judgment or final order was rendered or that a formal application was made to the clerk of the supreme court in term time or vacation for an appeal and the granting of the same by him. Sykes v. Lafferty, 26—414.

The control of the circuit court over its decree ends with the term at which it is rendered, and is not carried over to the next term by the continuance of a motion for rehearing; and an appeal at the next term upon overruling the motion is too late. Joyner v. Hall, 36—513.

It is in civil suits only, including suits at law, in chancery and penal actions, that the clerk of the supreme court is authorized to grant appeals. Du Val v. Hot Springs, 34—560.

(j) The legislature can not abolish the writ of error. Chapter 134 of Gould's Digest is not superseded by the Code, and so much of it as has not been repealed is still in force. The clerk of the supreme court is still authorized to issue writs of error in vacation as well as term time. Harrison v. Tradee, 27—59.

granted, an authenticated copy of the record, otherwise his appeal or writ of error shall be dismissed; but the supreme court may for cause shown extend the time for filing such copy.

SEC. 1272. The appellee may file an authenticated copy of the record in the clerk's office of the supreme court with the same effect as if filed by the appellant.

SEC. 1273. Where either party conceives that the copy of the record is imperfect, the clerk of the supreme court shall, on his application, issue a certiorari, commanding the clerk of the inferior court to transmit to the supreme court a true copy of the omitted or imperfect part of the record, which part shall in general terms be described in the writ.

SEC. 1274. Where a view of an original paper in the action may be important to a correct decision of the appeal or writ of error, the court may have the same brought up by a subpoena duces tecum, directed to the clerk of the inferior court.

SEC. 1275. The appellant may be required to give security for costs under the same circumstances that plaintiffs in civil action may be so required.

SEC. 1276. An appeal or writ of error shall not be granted, except within three years next after the rendition of the judgment or order (k), unless the party applying therefor was an infant, married woman, or of unsound mind, at the time of its rendition, in which cases an appeal or writ of error may be granted to such parties, or their legal representatives, within one year after the removal of their disabilities, or death, whichever may first happen.

SEC. 1277. The tax on the appeal or writ of error shall be two dollars and fifty cents, one dollar of which shall go to the clerk, and one dollar and fifty cents for the support of the supreme court library. Civil Code, secs. 860-868.

SEC. 1278. Appeals and writs of error may be brought by the prosecuting attorneys for the state, in the name and on behalf of the state, in like manner as by individuals, except when it may be otherwise provided by law (l).

HOW BROUGHT AND REVIVED IN THE CASE OF THE DEATH, ETC., OF ONE OR MORE OF THE PARTIES, OR REFUSAL TO JOIN THEREIN.

SEC. 1279. If a judgment shall be rendered against several persons, and one of them die, a writ of error or appeal may be brought thereon by the survivors.

SEC. 1280. If there be several persons against whom any judgment may have been rendered, and who are entitled to bring a writ of error or appeal thereon, living at the time of bringing the same, they shall all join therein, except where it may be otherwise provided by law; and if any are omitted the appeal shall be dismissed, on motion of the appellee, upon due proof of the facts, unless one or more of such persons be allowed by the court to proceed.

SEC. 1281. To the allegation that there are other persons living who ought to join in such writ of error or appeal, if it be established or admitted, the party prosecuting such writ of error or appeal may answer, by due proof on affidavit, that any of such persons not joined are incapable of consenting to join therein by reason of insanity or imbecility of mind, or that their consent could not be had by reason of their absence from this state; and if the court shall be satisfied of the truth of such answer, such party shall be allowed to prosecute the same without joining such persons in the same manner as if they were joined.

(k) See Joyner v. Hall, 36—513.

SEC. 1282. To such allegation the appellant may also answer, by due proof on affidavit, that application has been made to the persons not named in the appeal to join therein and that they refused, and in such case the court shall stay further proceedings on the motion to dismiss the same until an order shall have been duly served on the person so refusing, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 1283. The court shall thereupon cause an order to be entered on its record, directing the person so refusing to join to appear in such court within such time as shall be prescribed therein, and join in such writ of error or appeal and the proceedings thereon, or to be forever precluded from bringing another writ of error or appeal on the same judgment.

SEC. 1284. A copy of such order shall be served on the parties named therein, at least ten days previous to the time of appearance therein specified, in like manner as an original summons.

SEC. 1285. Upon the application of any person named in such order, he may be permitted to join in such appeal or writ of error and the proceedings thereon, upon the payment of the costs of the proceedings to bring him into court, including the motion to dismiss the appeal if it shall appear that he refused to join therein and without just cause; and the proceedings shall be amended by inserting the name of such person.

SEC. 1286. If any person named in such order do not appear by the time therein specified and join in such appeal or writ of error, on due proof of the service of such order, the default of such person shall be entered, and he shall thereby be forever precluded from bringing any appeal or writ of error on the same judgment, and the cause shall proceed in the same manner as if such person had been named in such appeal and the proceedings thereon.

SEC. 1287. When the name of any person out of this state, or incapable of giving consent to the bringing of an appeal or writ of error, shall be omitted in any such appeal, and the cause shall proceed without such name, the rights of such person shall not be impaired by the judgment thereon, but he may bring his appeal or writ of error in the same manner separately as if no such former appeal had been brought.

SEC. 1288. Any person who ought to join in any appeal or writ of error may be permitted to do so on his application, on such terms as the court shall impose, and the proceedings shall be amended by inserting his name, and the cause shall be proceeded in as in other cases. Rev. Stat., chap. 117, secs. 4-14.

SEC. 1289. If all the appellants die after the appeal taken or writ of error brought, and before judgment rendered thereon, the executor or administrator of the last surviving appellant, or the heirs or devisees of the appellant, in cases where they would be entitled to bring writs of error or prosecute an appeal, may be substituted for such appellant, and the cause shall proceed at their suit (m).

(m) If either party die after the cause is submitted and before final judgment, the judgment may be rendered in the names of the original parties, as of a day previous to such death; or if the death of either party be suggested and proven, a nunc pro tunc order may be made, to extend back to a day after submission and before such death. Pool v. Loomis, 5-110; Trapnall v. Burton, 24-371.

SEC. 1290. If all the appellees, or sole appellee, die after an appeal is entered or writ of error brought, and before judgment thereon, the executors or administrators of such appellees may be compelled to become parties and join therein in like manner as in an original suit.

SEC. 1291. If a female appellant marry after appeal taken or writ of error brought, her husband may be joined with her on his application, and his name shall be entered on the proceedings.

SEC. 1292. If a female appellee marry after the appeal taken or writ brought, and before judgment, her husband may be made a co-defendant on his application, or on the application of the adverse party. Rev. Stat., chap. 117, secs. 29-32.

SUPERSEDEAS.

SEC. 1293. The supersedeas is a written order, signed by the clerk, commanding the appellee and all others to stay proceedings on the judgment or order.

SEC. 1294. An appeal or writ of error shall not stay proceedings on the judgment or order, unless a supersedeas is issued (n).

SEC. 1295. A supersedeas shall not be issued until the appellant shall cause to be executed, before the clerk of the court which rendered the judgment or order, or the clerk of the supreme court, by one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by such clerk, a bond to the effect that the appellant shall pay to the appellee all costs and damages that shall be adjudged against the appellant on the appeal; also, that he will satisfy and perform the judgment or order appealed from, in case it should be affirmed, and any judgment or order which the supreme court may render, or order to be rendered by the inferior court, not exceeding in amount or value the original judgment or order, and all rents or damages to property during the pendency of the appeal, of which the appellee is kept out of possession by reason of the appeal. Provided, that in all cases where supersedeas is obtained by or on behalf of a personal representative of a deceased person, upon any judgment against such decedent's estate, or against such representative in his fiduciary capacity, to be a charge upon or collected from such estate, the supersedeas bond shall only be to the effect that such personal representative shall not commit or suffer any waste or devastavit of such estate during the delay occasioned by the supersedeas.

SEC. 1296. Where the appeal is granted by the court rendering the judgment or order, and the bond is executed within thirty days thereafter, before the clerk of such court, the supersedeas shall be issued by such clerk; in all other cases it shall be issued by the clerk of the supreme court.

SEC. 1297. A supersedeas shall not be issued by the clerk of the supreme court until an authenticated copy of the record, with a certified copy of the supersedeas bond, if it was executed before the clerk of the inferior court, shall be filed in his office.

SEC. 1298. If the appellee believes the supersedeas bond to be defective, or the sureties to be insufficient, he may move the supreme court, if in session, or, on reasonable notice to the appellant, may move a judge of said court, in (n) See SEC. 6394.

Where an appeal has been granted, with supersedeas, a writ of error will not lie until the appeal has been dismissed. Rice v. Reed, 29—320. The first appeal must be docketed in the supreme court and dismissed before a second appeal or writ of error can be taken. Kinner & Butler v. Dodds, 35—29. See Turner v. Tapscott, 29—318.

vacation, to discharge the supersedeas; and if the court or judge shall consider the sureties insufficient, or the bond substantially defective, in securing the rights of the appellee, the court or judge shall issue an order discharging the supersedeas, unless a good bond, with sufficient sureties, be forthwith executed. The order, if made by a judge, shall be in writing, and signed by him, upon the filing of which, or of a certified copy of the order when made in court, in the clerk's office of the inferior court, executions and other proceedings for enforcing the judgment or order may be immediately taken as if no supersedeas had been issued. But another supersedeas may be issued by the clerk of the supreme court upon the execution of a new and lawful bond, with sufficient sureties, as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 1299. The supersedeas may be issued to stay proceedings on a part of a judgment or order, in which case the bond shall be varied so as to secure the party superseded.

TRIAL AND DECISION—PRACTICE.

SEC. 1300. Appeals and writs of error shall stand for trial when the copy of the record was filed in the clerk's office of the court twenty days before the commencement of the term; and where a summons is required, the appellee summoned twenty days before the day on which the appeal is set for trial on the docket, or the appearance entered before the day of trial (o).

SEC. 1301. The clerk shall arrange the appeals upon the docket, setting a proper number for each day of the term, and, in arranging them, may have due regard to the convenience of litigants, in placing together the appeals from the several judicial circuits.

SEC. 1302. The appellee, at any time before trial, by an entry upon the records of the supreme court, may pray and obtain a cross-appeal against the appellant, or any co-appellee, in whose favor any question is decided prejudicial to such party (p).

SEC. 1303. No written assignment of error shall be necessary, but the judgment may be reversed or modified for any error appearing in the record to the prejudice of appellant or cross-appellant.

SEC. 1304. Where the appeal or writ of error was improperly granted, or the appellant's right of further prosecuting the same has ceased, the appellee, in lieu of pleading, may move the court to dismiss the appeal or writ of error, the grounds of which motion shall be stated in writing, signed by the appellee or his counsel, and, if not appearing on the face of the record, or by a writing purporting to have been signed by the appellant and filed, shall be verified by affidavit. The motion shall not be heard or determined before the day on which the appeal or writ of error is set for trial on the docket, unless the appellant consents thereto.

SEC. 1305. The appellee may, by answer filed and verified by himself, or agent or attorney, plead any fact or facts which renders the granting of the appeal or writ of error improper, or destroys the appellant's right of further prosecuting the same; to which answer the appellant shall file a reply, likewise verified by affidavit of himself, agent or attorney, and the questions of law or fact thereon shall be determined by the court.

(o) See Pierce v. Lyman, 28—550.

(p) See Joyner v. Hall, 36—517.

SEC. 1306. Where an appeal or a writ of error, with a supersedeas, has been taken for delay merely, the appellee may at any time move the court to affirm the judgment or order as a delay case; before making which motion, he or his counsel shall indorse on the record in substance that he has carefully examined the record, and believes the appeal or writ of error is prosecuted for delay merely; whereupon the court shall examine the record, and if they find no error in the proceedings, and believe the appeal or writ of error was prosecuted for delay merely, they shall affirm the judgment or order. The appellee may, in open court, confess error at any time, whereupon the case shall be reversed and remanded to the court from which the appeal or writ of error was taken.

SEC. 1307. The supreme court may make rules for the convenient dispatch of business, the preservation of order, the argument of cases or motions, the manner and time of presenting motions or petitions for rehearing, the time of issuing its mandates and decisions and mode of enforcing its mandates and orders, and may change the same. Provided, that no mandate shall issue or decision become final until after fifteen juridical days from the time the decision was rendered, not including the days of recess, unless the court in delay cases, and in cases involving no difficult question of law or fact, otherwise direct. If the court shall take a recess, or adjourn, or the term shall expire within fifteen days after a decision is rendered, and a petition for a rehearing is filed in such case during said term, or shall, within fifteen days after said court has taken such recess, or adjourned, or the term expired, be presented to one of the judges of said court, and by him ordered to be filed by his written indorsement thereon, and is accordingly filed within said time, all proceedings upon the decision and mandate therein shall be suspended until the tenth day of the next succeeding term of said court, by which time said petition shall be acted upon unless the court shall otherwise order. Provided, that the court may, in term time, or a judge thereof in vacation, enlarge the time for filing petitions for rehearing, and order that all proceedings upon the decision be stayed during such time.

SEC. 1308. Upon the affirmance of a judgment, order or decree of a court for the payment of money or delivery of personal property, the appellee may file in the clerk's office of such court a copy of the mandate of affirmance, upon which the clerk shall indorse the time of its being filed, and thereupon such writs of execution may be issued on the judgment, order or decree as could be issued after the mandate had been entered in the court.

SEC. 1309. The supreme court shall have power to enforce its mandates upon inferior courts and officers by fine and imprisonment, which imprisonment may be continued until they are obeyed.

SEC. 1310. A judgment or final order shall not be reversed for an error which can be corrected on motion in the inferior courts until such motion has been made there and overruled (q).

(q) Misjoinder of parties plaintiff can not be taken advantage of in the supreme court unless the objection was raised in the court below. Long v. De Bevois, 31—480.

Where excessive damages are assessed a motion to set aside should be made before appealing. Johnson v. Barbour, 28—188. So, also, where the form of the verdict or judgment is objectionable. Ib. But see Hanf v. Ford, 37—550.

When the defendant is actually served with process, and the writ or return is defective, he should appear and move to quash, or if judgment is taken by default, move to set it aside before appealing. C. & F. Railroad Co. v. Trout, 32—17. But this rule does not apply when the defendant has not been served with notice. Ib.; Barnett v. State, 35—501, and cases cited in opinion. See, also, Nathan v. Sloan, 34—524, and Hanf v. Ford, 37—549.

SEC. 1311. Upon the affirmance of a judgment, order or decree for the payment of money, the collection of which, in whole or in part, has been superseded, as provided in this chapter, ten per centum damages on the amount superseded shall be awarded against the appellant. Civil Code, secs. 869-887.

SEC. 1312. Upon the affirmance of any judgment, order or decree by the supreme court, which has been wholly or in part superseded, judgment shall be rendered and entered up against the securities on the supersedeas bond, and the court shall award execution thereon (r).

SEC. 1313. The supreme court may reverse, affirm or modify the judgment or order appealed from, in whole or in part, and as to any or all of the parties (s).

SEC. 1314. Upon the determination of any appeal or writ of error the supreme court may award execution to carry the same into effect, or may remand the record, with the decision of such court thereon, to the circuit court in which the cause originated, and order such decision to be carried into effect. Civil Code, sec. 16, as amended 1871.

SEC. 1315. Upon every appeal from an order granting a new trial on a case made or exceptions taken, if the supreme court shall determine that no error was committed in granting the new trial, they shall render judgment absolute upon the right of the appellant (t); and after the proceedings are remitted to the court from which the appeal was taken, an assessment of damages or other proceedings to render judgment effectual, may be then and there had in cases where such subsequent proceedings are requisite. Civil Code, sec. 15, as amended 1871.

SEC. 1316. When the facts in a special verdict are insufficiently found, the supreme court may remand the cause and order another trial to ascertain the facts. Rev. Stat., chap. 117, sec. 37.

SEC. 1317. If any judgment of the circuit court shall be reversed by the supreme court on writ of error or appeal, and such judgment may have been carried into effect before the reversal thereof, such defendant may recover from the plaintiff in such judgment the full amount paid thereon, including costs. Ib., sec. 35.

SEC. 1318. Every opinion of the supreme court shall be reduced to writing and be entered at full length on the record, and be filed among the papers in the cause to which it relates. The provisions of this section shall apply as well to motions that will dispose of a cause as to final decisions.

SEC. 1319. It shall always appear in the opinion of the court which of the judges delivered the same and who concurred or dissented. Rev. Stat., chap. 127, secs. 3, 4.

SEC. 1320. When any judge of the supreme court shall dissent from the opinion of the court in any case, such judge shall reduce his reasons for so dissenting to writing, and the same shall be recorded with the opinion of the court. Rev. Stat., chap. 117, sec. 44.

(r) The sureties in a supersedeas bond become, in legal effect, parties to the suit, and agree, in case of affirmance, that judgment may be rendered against them by the supreme court for costs and damages and the amount of the judgment below, and a judgment so rendered is not void for want of jurisdiction. White v. Prigmore, 29-208.

Upon the affirmance of a decree for money the decree goes against the sureties in the appeal bond as of course, and they are not entitled to notice before decree against them. Rogers v. Brooks, 31-194.

(s) See Trieber v. Slover, 30-732; Brown v. State, 34-232.

(t) See second subdivision of SEC. 1265.

SEC. 1321. It shall be the duty of the supreme court to adjudicate and decide all the points presented in error that legitimately arise in the case, notwithstanding that some one or more points less than the whole may be sufficient to determine the cause. Act Dec. 21, 1846.

SEC. 1322. The counsel who shall make briefs under the rules and regulations of the supreme court shall, after the statement of the cause, briefly state the points and the authorities relied on, and shall cause the same to be filed with the opinion of the court, and such brief shall form a part of the record in the cause. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 1323. The foregoing provisions shall extend to all appeals from decrees and decisions in chancery cases in all respects the same as from judgments and decisions in suits at law. Civil Code, sec. 16, as amended 1871.

II.—CLERK OF SUPREME COURT (*).

SECTION

1324. Bond of.

1325. Shall preserve seal and property, provide books, etc.

1326. Duty of.

1327. Shall issue process.

SECTION

1328. May appoint deputy.

1329. Responsible for conduct of.

1330. What papers to transmit to reporter.

1331. Penalty for failure.

SECTION 1324. The clerk of the supreme court shall, before he enters on the duties of his office, enter into bond to the state, in any sum not less than three thousand dollars, with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the court in term time, or by either of the judges thereof in vacation, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his office, and seasonably to record the judgments, decrees, orders and proceedings of such court, and do and perform all other things that may be required of him by law, and that he, his executors or administrators, will deliver to his successor, safe and undefaced, all books, papers, records, seals and furniture belonging to his office, which bond shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

SEC. 1325. Such clerk shall preserve the seal and other property belonging to his office, and shall provide suitable books, stationery, furniture, and such other things as, in the opinion of the court, may be necessary for his office.

SEC. 1326. It shall be the duty of such clerk, with as little delay as possible, to record the judgments, decrees, rules, orders and proceedings of the court, together with the opinion of the court, and to make a complete alphabetical index to all his books of record.

SEC. 1327. He shall issue and attest all process, and affix the seal of his court thereto.

SEC. 1328. He may appoint one or more deputies, to be approved by the court; and every deputy so appointed may, in the name of his principal, do and perform all the duties required of his principal.

SEC. 1329. The principal shall be responsible for the conduct of his deputy. Rev. Stat., chap. 26.

(*) The supreme court shall appoint its clerk and reporter, who shall hold their offices for six years, subject to removal for good cause. Art. VII, sec. 7, Const.

SEC. 1330. He shall make out and transmit to the reporter a true copy of the points and citation by counsel filed in each cause decided, giving the names of the counsel signing the briefs, distinguishing the same from the opinion of the court, together with a true copy of the opinion of the court in the cause, and a copy of the opinion of the judge dissenting from the opinion of the court.

SEC. 1331. If he shall fail to make out, certify and transmit copies of all decisions made by the court at each term thereof, within the time prescribed by law, he shall be fined by the court in any sum not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 127, secs. 5, 6 (u).

III.—REPORTER OF SUPREME COURT (†).

- 1332. Office of, where to be kept.
- 1333. He shall not practice law.
- 1334. He shall prepare statement of facts for reports.
- 1335. Copy of decisions, when to be delivered to; printing reports; contract for, etc.
- 1336. Reporter to superintend printing and binding.
- 1337. Contractor to deliver to secretary of state.

SECTION

- 1338. Auditor's warrant in favor of contractor, when to be drawn; out of what moneys paid.
- 1339. What opinions reporter may omit.
- 1340. He shall prefix to decisions notes of points decided.
- 1341. Reports, how to be printed.
- 1342. Reporter to make index, prefix title page, etc.
- 1343. Duty of printer.

SECTION 1332. The reporter of the supreme court shall keep his office at the rooms of the supreme court.

SEC. 1333. He shall not engage in the practice of the law, but devote his time to the duties of his office.

SEC. 1334. He shall prepare a statement of the facts in the causes, after the opinions are delivered, and shall print the same with the report of the causes decided by the court. Act March 5, 1881, secs. 1 and 3.

SEC. 1335. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the supreme court to furnish the reporter with a copy of all the decisions of the court, within thirty days after the expiration of the time allowed for filing motions for reconsideration, and it shall be the duty of the reporter to prepare the syllabus without delay, and as soon as he shall have been furnished with a sufficient number of cases to make a volume of six hundred pages, he shall at once notify the board of public contracts, and it shall be the duty of said board to let the contract for the printing and binding of the same in the manner now required by law for the letting of other contracts of a similar nature.

SEC. 1336. It shall be the duty of the reporter to superintend the printing and binding of said reports, and when he is satisfied that the same has been properly done, he shall deliver to the printer or binder, as the case may be, a certificate to that effect.

SEC. 1337. It shall be the duty of the contractor, as soon as said report shall have been printed and bound, to deliver the same to the secretary of state, whose duty it shall be to deliver to said contractor a receipt showing the number of volumes, in good condition, so delivered to him.

(u) See SEC. 1335.

(†) See note (*) on preceding page.

SEC. 1338. Upon the presentation of the certificate of the reporter, the receipt of the secretary of state, and the bill for printing and binding the same, approved by a majority of the board of public contracts, to the auditor of state, it shall be the auditor's duty to draw a warrant on the state treasurer in favor of said contractor for the sum mentioned in said approved bill or account, and upon the presentation of said warrant to the state treasurer it shall be his duty to pay the same out of any moneys in the state treasury appropriated for that purpose.

SEC. 1339. If the reporter shall consider that any opinion furnished him by the clerk is not of sufficient importance to justify the expense of publishing, he may submit the same to the chief justice of the supreme court, and, with his concurrence, may omit to publish such opinion. Act March 20, 1883.

SEC. 1340. The reporter shall prefix to each decision notes containing the points decided therein. Rev. Stat., chap. 127, sec. 7, and act Jan. 14, 1857.

SEC. 1341. The reports shall be printed on continuous paging until there shall be sufficient matter to form a volume of six hundred pages.

SEC. 1342. The reporter shall make out and have published with each volume a complete index thereto, and he shall cause to be prefixed a title page, together with an alphabetical list of all the cases reported therein. Rev. Stat., chap. 127, secs. 9, 10.

SEC. 1343. The printer shall furnish one good proof-reader, and two or three proof-sheets, if desired by the reporter.

- 1353. Not to be removed from library or consultation room.

SECTION 1344. The upper room of the north part of the east wing of the state-house is set apart for a library and consultation room for the judges of the supreme court, and the lower story as a court room for the supreme court. Act Jan. 9, 1851, sec. 1.

SEC. 1345. The clerk of the supreme court, for the time being, shall be the librarian, whose compensation shall be such as said court shall from time to time prescribe, payable out of any money in his hands for the use of the library, and whose duty it shall be to take charge of and keep all books placed in his custody, and to take charge of and expend, under the direction of the supreme court, all moneys appropriated or collected for the increase of said library and paying the expenses thereof. Ib.

SEC. 1346. He shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give bond to the state, with security to be approved by said supreme court, for the faithful discharge of his duties as librarian, in the penalty of five thousand dollars, which bond shall be filed with the secretary of state. Ib.

SEC. 1347. Reports of the decisions of the courts of other states and of the United States, deposited in the office of the secretary of state, shall be transferred to and constitute a part of the supreme court library. Act Jan. 11, 1853, sec. 3.

SEC. 1348. Whenever there shall be two or more copies of any statute of the United States, or of any state, in the state library, the secretary of state shall, upon demand, deliver one copy thereof to the clerk of the supreme court, to be deposited in the supreme court library.

SEC. 1349. The librarian shall have authority to accept any donation of books, money or property to increase said library, and he shall be responsible on his bond for the faithful disposition of any such donation.

SEC. 1350. Every person who shall be enrolled as an attorney in said supreme court shall pay a tax of ten dollars to the use of said library fund (v).

SEC. 1351. Every attorney, before he shall be permitted to have access to or the use of said library, shall pay annually to the said clerk the sum of ten dollars to the use of said library fund.

SEC. 1352. All books obtained and placed in said library shall be the absolute property of the state, subject to the control and management of said supreme court, except the reports of the supreme court of this state directed to be placed therein, which may be exchanged by said library for the reports of the other states of the Union, or of the United States courts, or other law books, under the direction of the supreme court, reserving for the use of said supreme court three copies of such reports.

SEC. 1353. It shall not be lawful for the judges of the supreme court, or any other person, to remove from said library and consultation room any of the books to be deposited therein, except for use in the supreme court room. Act Jan. 9, 1851.

(v) For tax on appeals and writs of error for same purpose, see SEC. 1277.

JURISDICTION—ORIGINAL (b).

SEC. 1356. The circuit court shall have jurisdiction in all civil and criminal cases, the exclusive jurisdiction of which may not be vested in some other court provided for by the constitution. Art. VII, sec. 11, Const. (c).

SEC. 1357. Circuit courts shall have original jurisdiction of all actions and proceedings for the enforcement of civil rights, or redress of civil wrongs, except when exclusive jurisdiction is given to other courts; and where such actions and proceedings are not expressly provided for by statute, the same may be had and conducted by the circuit courts and judges, in accordance with the course, rules and jurisdiction of the common law (d). Civil Code, sec. 18, as amended 1873.

SEC. 1358. They shall have exclusive original jurisdiction in each county in which they may be held, except in the County of Pulaski, as courts of equity, in all cases when adequate relief can not be had by the ordinary course of proceedings at law (e). Act April 6, 1869, sec. 4.

SEC. 1359. They shall have power, upon the application of any person within their respective jurisdictions, upon good reasons shown, to alter or change the name of such person.

SEC. 1360. When application is made to the courts under the preceding section it shall be by petition, in writing, embodying the reasons for such application; which petition, when allowed, shall, by order of the court, be spread upon the record, together with the decree of the court.

SEC. 1361. Any person whose name may be so changed by judgment or decree of any of said courts shall afterward be known and designated, sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, by the name thus conferred. Act April 8, 1869, secs. 8-10.

SEC. 1362. They shall have power to authorize any person who is a resident of the county, and under twenty-one years of age, to transact business in general, and any particular business specified in like manner, and with the same effect as if such act or thing was done by a person above that age; and every act done by a person so authorized shall have the same force and effect in law and equity as if done by a person of full age. Letters testamentary, of administration or guardianship may be granted to any such person, if otherwise entitled, by law, to have or hold such fiduciary trust, with like effect as if granted to a person over twenty-one years of age. Act Feb. 18, 1869.

JURISDICTION—APPELLATE (f) AND SUPERVISORY.

SEC. 1363. The circuit courts shall exercise a superintending control (*) and appellate jurisdiction over county, probate, court of common pleas and corporation courts and justices of the peace; and shall have power to issue, hear and determine all the necessary writs to carry into effect their general and

(b) See note (11) to sec. 11, art. VII, Const.

(c) See secs. 15 and 40, art. VII, Const.

(d) For original jurisdiction in criminal cases, see SEC. 1366.

(e) See art. VII, secs. 15 and 44, Const.

(f) For appellate jurisdiction in criminal cases, see SEC. 2432.

(*) See note (jj) to sec. 14, art. VII, Const.

specific powers, any of which writs may be issued upon order of the judge of the appropriate court in vacation. Art. VII, sec. 14, Const.

SEC. 1364. They shall have appellate jurisdiction of the judgments and final orders of probate and county courts, and of the judgments and final orders of justices of the peace, in all civil actions. Civil Code, sec. 19, as amended 1873.

SEC. 1365. The appellate jurisdiction of the circuit court shall extend to errors of fact as well as errors of law in the orders and judgments.

SEC. 1366. Whenever the clerk of the county and probate court shall deliver to the clerk of the circuit court any original papers he shall take a receipt therefor, and file the same in place of such papers. Civil Code, secs. 20, 22.

SEC. 1367. In all cases of trials de novo, or of appeals, from inferior courts, the circuit courts shall have or retain jurisdiction of the subject matter for final judgment, in the same manner and to the same extent as though original jurisdiction had been conferred on said circuit courts by law (g), notwithstanding the amount in controversy may be less or greater than that found in the court below. Act April 6, 1869, sec. 5.

SEC. 1368. They shall have power to issue writs of certiorari to any officer or board of officers, or any inferior tribunal of their respective counties, to correct any erroneous or void proceeding, and to hear and determine the same. Application for such writ may be made to the court, or the judge thereof in vacation, on reasonable notice; and a temporary restraining order may be granted thereupon, on bond and good security being given in a sum double the amount in controversy, conditioned that the applicant will perform the judgment of the court (h). Civil Code, sec. 18, as amended 1873.

SEC. 1369. Affidavits may be read on such applications, and evidence dehors the record may be introduced by either party on the hearing. The record of any such inferior judicial tribunal shall be conclusive as far as the same may extend, but the acts of any executive officer or board of such shall only be prima facie evidence of their regularity and legality. The court shall have power in such cases to enforce its judgments by mandamus, prohibition, and other appropriate writs. Ib.

SEC. 1370. They shall have superintending control over the judgments, final orders and proceedings of county courts and county boards, or officers.

SEC. 1371. They shall have supervision and control over all local, county and municipal boards or officers in their actions or proceedings in the taxing or assessing, seizing or sale of property (i).

(g) See Phillips County v. Lee County, 34—240; Dodson v. Mayor, etc., Fl. Smith, 33—508; Grider v. Apperson, 38—388; Crow v. Reed, 38—482.

(h) This section does not enlarge the writ of certiorari into an appeal or writ of error for the correction of mere errors in judicial proceedings. The practice is still to affirm or quash the judgment on the trial of the certiorari. St. L., I. M. & S. Ry Co. v. Barnes, 35—95.

The writ of certiorari can not be used by the circuit courts for the correction of errors of inferior courts as upon appeal; but where the inferior judgment shows upon its face that the court had no jurisdiction of the subject matter, or the person of the defendant, it may be quashed upon certiorari. Baskins v. Wylde, 39—347; Haynes v. Semmes, Ib., 399; Street v. Stuart, 38—159; State, use, etc., v. Hinkle, 37—532.

On certiorari the record is conclusive as far as it extends. Countz v. Markling, 30—17. The writ of certiorari should not be issued in any case where there is or has been a right of appeal, unless the opportunity for appealing has been lost without fault of the petitioner. Payne v. McCabe, 37—318. See also Vance v. Gaylor, 25—82; Wyatt & Hensley v. Burr, Ib., 476; Smith v. Parker, Ib., 518; Vance v. Little Rock, 30—435; Burk v. Coolidge, 35—180; Rose's Digest, 136.

(i) See Floyd v. Gilbreath, 27—675.

SEC. 1372. The circuit courts and judges thereof shall have power to issue all proper writs, orders or process in the cases mentioned in the two preceding sections; and said circuit courts and the judges thereof shall have power to issue all writs, orders and process which may be necessary in the exercise of their jurisdiction, according to the principles and usages of law (j). Civil Code, sec. 19, as amended 1873.

LENGTH OF TERM—EXCHANGE OF CIRCUITS—PAYMENT OF EXPENSES—RULES (k).

SEC. 1373. Every circuit court shall continue in session, at each and every term thereof, until the business therein pending is disposed of, or until it becomes necessary for the judge thereof to adjourn the same in order to reach the court next to be holden in his circuit. Act April 6, 1869, sec. 1.

SEC. 1374. The judges of the circuit courts may, by agreement, temporarily exchange circuits or hold courts for each other for such length of time as may seem practicable and to the best interest of their respective circuits and courts. Such agreement shall be signed by the judges so agreeing, and entered on the record of the court or courts so to be held (l). Act March 21, 1881.

SEC. 1375. The judges exchanging as aforesaid shall have the same powers and authority, while holding court for each other, as the judge for the circuit in which such term or terms shall be held. Civil Code, sec. 758, as amended 1871.

SEC. 1376. Circuit judges shall have power to order the payment of all costs or expenses incident or necessary to a speedy and efficient administration of justice in their respective courts, and to enforce such payment; and they shall have full power to enforce the prompt payment of such expenses from any county in their respective circuits (m). Civil Code, sec. 759, as amended 1871.

SEC. 1377. Circuit courts shall have power to make and establish all proper rules which may be necessary for the dispatch of business. Civil Code, sec. 18, as amended 1873.

SEC. 1378. They shall have power to adopt such rules as may be found necessary for the conduct and determination of business in chancery, in conformity to the rules and practice governing such courts. Act April 16, 1873.

ELECTION OF SPECIAL JUDGE.

SEC. 1379. The election of special judges in all cases provided for in section twenty-one, article seven, of the constitution, shall be held by the clerk, and at such election the regular practicing attorneys in attendance on the court may vote, and the person receiving the largest number of votes shall preside as provided in said section (n). The proceeding shall be entered at large upon the record. Civil Code, sec. 761, art. VII, sec. 21, Const.

(j) See SEC. 1468.

(k) For further provisions prescribing the rights, powers and duties of circuit courts and their officers, see chap. 44.

(m) See SECS. 1410, 1431. Under section 1410 any expense of a court exceeding the appropriation required by section 1431 must be presented to the county court, and, if it acts upon the claim and refuses to allow it, an appeal to the circuit will lie as in other cases. Circuit courts have no original jurisdiction to audit claims against the county and direct their payment out of the county treasury; and see SEC. 1488.

(n) See art. VII, sec. 21, Const., and note (kk) there'o.

PULASKI CIRCUIT COURT.

SEC. 1380. When an action commenced in the Pulaski Circuit Court by proceedings at law is changed into equitable proceedings, the court shall order it to be transferred to the Pulaski Chancery Court; whereupon the papers in the action, with a copy of the orders in the case, shall be delivered by the clerk to the clerk of the chancery court, who shall place the case upon the docket of that court, and the action shall proceed as if originally brought therein.

SEC. 1381. Where any issue arising in an action is to be tried in equity, without a change of the whole action into equity, the trial of such issue shall be by the Pulaski Circuit Court; and where all of the issues were such as heretofore were cognizable in chancery, and the defendant elects to have them all tried in equity, the court shall order the action to be transferred to the Pulaski Chancery Court, whereupon the same proceedings shall be had as are directed in the last section. Civil Code, secs. 799, 800.

JUDGE OF PROBATE COURT.

SEC. 1383. The judge of the county court shall be the judge of the court of probate (†). Art. VII, sec. 34, Const.

JURISDICTION.

SEC. 1384. The court of probate shall have original jurisdiction in the following cases (a):

First. In all matters relating to the probate of last wills and testaments, the estate of deceased persons, executors, administrators, guardians and persons of unsound mind and their estates.

Second. In the settlement and allowance of accounts of executors, administrators and guardians.

Third. To hear and determine all controversies respecting last wills and testaments, the rights of executorship, administration or guardianship.

Fourth. To issue process and cause to come before such court all persons whom they may deem it necessary to examine, whether parties or witnesses, or who as executors, administrators, or guardians, or otherwise, shall be interested or in anywise accountable for any lands, tenements, goods, chattels, moneys or effects belonging to any minor, orphan, or person of unsound mind, or to the estate of any deceased person. Act Jan. 7, 1875.

(†) See chap. 43, note (a).

(a) See art. VII, sec. 34, Const., note (pp); Jones v. Graham, 36—383.

APPEALS.

SEC. 1385. Appeals may be taken from judgments and orders of the probate court to the circuit court, under such regulations and restrictions as may be prescribed by law. Art. VII, sec. 35, Const.

SEC. 1386. Appeals may be taken to the circuit court from all final orders and judgments of the probate court at any time within twelve months after the rendition thereof by the party aggrieved filing an affidavit and prayer for appeal with the clerk of the probate court, and upon the filing of such affidavit, the court shall order an appeal at the term at which such judgment or order shall be rendered, or at any term held within twelve months thereafter. The party aggrieved, his agent or attorney, shall swear in said affidavit that the appeal is taken because he verily believes that he is aggrieved, and is not taken for the purpose of vexation or delay.

SEC. 1387. Administrators, executors and guardians shall not be required to give bond, but all orders against them as such shall be superseded by the appeal. In all other cases where the appellant desires a supersedeas, he shall give bond in a sufficient sum, to be settled by the court, conditioned that he shall pay all the costs of the appeal and such damage as may be adjudged against him in the appeal, and will perform the judgment of the circuit court, or abide and perform the judgment of the probate court, if the same is affirmed or the appeal is dismissed, and judgment may be rendered on said bond in the circuit court.

SEC. 1388. Upon filing of the bond as required in the preceding section, the judgment shall be superseded. Provided, that an appeal may be taken without supersedeas.

SEC. 1389. On all appeals to the circuit court from all said orders and judgments of the probate court, the clerk of said court shall transmit all of the original papers and a transcript of the record entries in the cause or matter to the clerk of the circuit court, whereupon the circuit court shall proceed to try the cause de novo (b).

SEC. 1390. All appeals allowed ten days before the first day of the term of the circuit court next after the appeal allowed, shall be determined at such term unless continued for cause.

SEC. 1391. If the appeal be not allowed at the same term at which the judgment is rendered, the appellant shall serve the appellee at least ten days before the first day of the term at which the cause is to be determined with a notice in writing, notifying him of the fact that an appeal has been taken from the judgment therein specified. The notice may be served in the same manner as an original summons, and when the appellee does not reside in the county and has no agent in the suit therein, the service may be by leaving a copy of such notice with the clerk.

(b) The statement in an appeal transcript that an affidavit was filed will not be countervailed by the fact that such affidavit was not filed with the other papers in the case in the circuit court. Grider v. Apperson, 38—398.

Upon appeal from the probate court the circuit court tries the case de novo, and makes such orders as the probate court should have made. Ib.

Upon the trial of exceptions to a guardian's annual account, the circuit court can only settle the balance, and then remand the cause to the probate court for further proceedings, on the basis of the balance so ascertained. Crow, guardian, etc., v. Reed, 38—482.

SEC. 1392. If the appellant fail to give notice of the appeal in a cause where such notice is required, the cause may, on the application of the appellee, be continued as a matter of course until the succeeding term, but no appeal shall be dismissed for want of such notice, and if the cause be continued no further notice shall be required.

SEC. 1393. Nothing in the preceding section shall be so construed as to prevent the appellee from going into a trial of such an appeal without notice. Act March 24, 1875.

REGULAR TERMS OF—WHEN HELD.

SECTION 1394. The regular terms of the county courts in the several counties in this state, except in the Counties of Desha, Franklin and Pope, shall commence on the first Monday in January, April, July and October of each year, and shall continue as long as the business shall require.

SEC. 1395. The county court of Sebastian County shall be held at Greenwood on the first Monday in January, April, July and October, and at Fort Smith on the second Monday in January, April, July and October in each year. Acts Feb. 5, 1875; Feb. 20, 1883; March 8, 1883, and April 3, 1883.

SEC. 1396. The county court of Desha County shall be held on the fourth Monday of July, October, January and April. Act March 30, 1883.

SEC. 1397. The county court of Franklin County shall be held on the third Monday in January, April, July and October. Act Feb. 5, 1875.

SEC. 1398. The county court of Pope County shall be held on the fourth Monday in March and the first Monday in January, July and October. Act March 5, 1881.

SEC. 1399. Whenever it shall happen that the time for holding the county court and circuit court in any county shall be on the same day, the county judge shall not commence his court until two weeks thereafter.

SEC. 1400. All process of whatever description shall be returnable and have day and trial in the same manner as if said county court had been held at the regular time prescribed by law. Act Feb. 5, 1875.

SPECIAL TERMS.

SEC. 1401. The county judge of any county may hold a special term of the county court when the public good of the county demands the same.

SEC. 1402. Before any special term of a county court shall be held, the county judge shall give a notice ten days before the same is held, by posting up ten written or printed notices in ten of the most public places in the county, including one on the door of the clerk's office of the county. Act March 12, 1879.

SESSIONS—HOW HELD.

SEC. 1403. Every regular or special term of the county court shall be held with open doors, and between the hours of nine o'clock A. M. and six o'clock P. M. Act April 3, 1873.

DUTY OF SHERIFF.

SEC. 1404. It shall be the duty of the sheriff to attend each regular or special term of the county court for his county, either in person or by deputy, and to execute all orders and precepts made by said court. Ib.

CLERK.

SEC. 1405. The clerk of the circuit court shall be ex officio clerk of the county court (*). He shall attend each regular or special term of said court, either in person or by deputy, and keep and preserve in his office a complete and correct record of its proceedings. Art. VII, sec. 19, Const., and act April 3, 1873, sec. 5.

SEAL.

SEC. 1406. Each county court may procure a seal, to be styled the seal of ——— County. Act April 3, 1873, sec. 10.

JURISDICTION AND POWERS.

SEC. 1407. The county court of each county shall have the following powers and jurisdiction: Exclusive original jurisdiction in all matters relating to county taxes, in all matters relating to roads, the appointment of viewers, receivers and overseers of roads; to order the erection of bridges, and directing the repairing of the same; to superintend all ferries, paupers, bastardy cases, vagrants and the apprenticeship of minors; to fix the places of holding elections; to designate apportioning justices; to audit, settle and direct the payment of all demands against the county; to have the control and management of all the property, real and personal, for the use of the county; to have full power and authority to purchase or receive by donation any property, real or personal, for the use of the county, and to cause to be erected all buildings and all repairs necessary for the use of the county; to sell and cause to be conveyed any real estate or personal property belonging to the county, and appropriate the proceeds of such sale for the use of the county; to disburse money for county purposes, and in all other cases that may be necessary to the internal improvement and local concerns of the respective counties (b). Act Feb. 5, 1875.

SEC. 1408. The county court, for an interruption of its proceedings, or any contempt offered it while in session, shall have power to impose a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, and to imprison the offender for each offense not exceeding twenty-four hours.

(*) But counties having a population exceeding fifteen thousand inhabitants, as shown by the last federal census, may elect a county clerk. See art. VII, sec. 19, Const.

(b) This embraces substantially the language of sec. 28, art. VII, of the Constitution, which defines the jurisdiction of the county courts. See note (nn) to that section. The county court must be held by one judge, except in cases otherwise provided in the constitution. Art. VII, sec. 28. See sec. 30, same article and note.

The county court is a superior court of record in the sense that in subject matters within its jurisdiction its action will, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, be presumed to be upon facts sufficient to justify it. Pierce v. Edington, 38—150.

SEC. 1409. The judge of the county court shall have power, in vacation, to approve any bond requiring the approval of the court by law, which bond, so approved by the judge, shall be submitted to the court at its next regular term for approval or rejection, and, if rejected, a new bond and surety shall be given. Act April 3, 1873, secs. 22, 29.

ALLOWANCES, HOW MADE (*)—WARRANTS, REGISTER THEREOF, ETC.

SEC. 1410. No moneys derived from a tax levied by the county court shall be paid out of the county treasury except on an order duly made by said court while in session, and entered upon the record of its proceedings. Act April 3, 1873, sec. 11.

SEC. 1411. It shall be unlawful for any county court in this state to allow any greater sum for any account, claim, demand or fee bill against the county than the amount actually due, estimating a dollar in county warrants as at par with a dollar in lawful money of the United States, dollar for dollar, according to the legal or ordinary and customary compensation for services rendered, materials furnished, salaries or fees of officers, when the same are paid in said lawful money; nor shall any county court direct the issue of any warrants, nor if directed in violation of this act, shall any clerk issue any such warrant upon such accounts, claims, demands or fee bills, for more than the actual amount so allowed, a dollar in lawful money of the United States and no more (c). Ib., as amended by act Dec. 7, 1875.

SEC. 1412. Before any account, claim, demand or fee bill shall be allowed by any county court, said court shall require the person or persons, or their legal representatives, claiming the same to be due to attach to said account, claim, demand or fee bill an affidavit that the same is just and correct, and that no part thereof has been previously paid; that the services charged for or materials furnished, as the case may be, were actually rendered or furnished, and the charge made therefor does not exceed the amount allowed by law or customary charges for similar services or materials, when estimated and paid in lawful money of the United States, and that such account, claim, demand or fee bill is not enlarged, enhanced, or otherwise made greater, in consequence of or by reason of any estimated (supposed or real) depreciation in the value of county warrants; which allowed claim, demand or fee bill, together with the affidavit thereto, shall be filed with the county clerk and kept in his office for the term of ten years, and the same shall be subject to the inspection of any member of the grand jury of the county at each term of the grand jury, or by the prosecuting attorney of the circuit court. Provided, that the affidavit herein provided for shall not be required to any juror or witness certificates, or any claim which is a matter of record, for claims in the circuit court, when the same shall be duly certified down to the county court by the clerk of the circuit court. Ib., sec. 12, as amended by act Dec. 7, 1875, and act March 21, 1881.

SEC. 1413. In all cases the county court shall require an itemized account of any claim presented to them for allowance, sworn to as required by the preceding section, and may in all cases require satisfactory evidence, in addition thereto, of the correctness of the account, and may examine the parties and witnesses on oath touching the same, and shall have power to compel the production of all books, accounts, papers or documents which may be necessary in the investigation of any matter coming properly before them and within their jurisdiction. Act April 28, 1873, and Rev. Stat., chap. 41, sec. 35.

(*) See SEC. 1454.

(c) See Goyne v. Ashley County, 31—552; Union County v. Smith, 34—684.

SEC. 1414. The county court is hereby prohibited from auditing and allowing to any officer any fee or allowance not specifically allowed such officer by law, and in no case shall constructive fees be allowed to or paid officers by any county of this state. Act April 28, 1873.

SEC. 1415. Whenever any allowance shall be made by the county court and an order therefor entered upon the records, the clerk shall, when requested by the person in whose favor such allowance has been made, issue a warrant for the amount of such allowance (d), which warrant shall be in the following form:

"No. ———.

"Treasurer of the County of ———:

"Pay to ———, or bearer, ——— dollars out of any money in the treasury appropriated for county expenditures (or express the particular fund out of which the warrant is to be paid).

"Given at———, this ——— day of ———, 18——.

"A. B., Clerk.

"§ ———."

Ib., sec. 13, and Rev. Stat., chap. 41, sec. 28.

SEC. 1416. Such warrants shall be signed by the clerk of the county court, and shall be numbered progressively throughout the year, commencing on the first day of January in each year. Rev. Stat., chap. 41, sec. 29.

SEC. 1417. Each clerk shall keep a register of all warrants issued, in which he shall set forth the numbers, date, name of the person in whose favor drawn, on what account, and the amount thereof, which register may be in the following form:

NO.	DATE.	IN WHOSE FAVOR DRAWN.	ON WHAT ACCOUNT.	AMOUNT.
				Dollars.	Cents.

Ib., sec. 30.

SEC. 1418. No person shall be allowed to receive from the clerk any warrant on the treasurer of the county until such person has, by himself, his agent or attorney, receipted for the same to the clerk, which receipt shall be by the clerk preserved and laid before the county court, at its next meeting, for its inspection. Act April 28, 1873.

(d) Warrants issued by the clerk without an order of the county court directing their issue are void and can not be made the foundation of a claim against the county. Parsel v. Barnes, 25—261.

An order of allowance by the county court may be reviewed or opened:

First. By appeal to the circuit court.

Second. By certiorari, where it appears upon the face of the record that the claim allowed was not, by law, a charge against the county, and the court had no authority or discretion to allow it upon any evidence that could be advanced.

Third. The county court is authorized to call in its warrants for review, etc., and can then reject any warrants founded upon claims illegally or fraudulently allowed.

Fourth. In chancery for fraud, accident or mistake. State, use, etc., v. Hinkle, 37—532.

But such order is in the nature of a judgment, and can not be impeached, collaterally, by proof that the debt had been paid before the order was made. Cope, County Judge, v. Collins, 37—649.

The allowance or rejection of a claim by the county court is in the nature of a judgment, and after the lapse of the term the court loses all control over it, and the same matter can not be litigated again between the same parties, except upon review in a higher court. Lincoln County v. Simmons, 39—485, and cases cited.

SEC. 1419. When any person shall produce proof, to the satisfaction of the county court, that he has lost any county warrant owned by him, and that the same has not been paid over on settlement with the county treasury, it shall be the duty of said court to order another warrant to be issued to the owner in lieu of the one lost (*). Act Oct. 20, 1836.

SEC. 1420. All warrants drawn on the treasury shall be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, or out of the particular fund expressed therein, and shall be received, irrespective of their number and date, in payment of all taxes and debts accruing to the county (e). Rev. Stat., chap. 41, sec. 33; act Dec. 17, 1846, sec. 2.

SEC. 1421. If, upon adjudication of any warrant by the county court, it shall be found to have been fraudulently and wrongfully issued, without due authority from said court, the court shall indorse such fact thereon, and cause it to be deposited, without renewal, in the office of the clerk of said court. Any clerk who shall fraudulently or wrongfully, without authority of law, issue any such warrant, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for not less than one year, and not more than three years. Act Dec. 17, 1846, sec. 4, as amended by act Feb. 9, 1875.

SEC. 1422. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to enter in a book, to be provided by him for that purpose, the amount, number and date of all redeemed warrants or other evidences of indebtedness that may have been canceled, so as to show at all times the full amount of the indebtedness of the county. Act Jan. 6, 1853.

SEC. 1423. The county court may examine all the old warrants that have been on file since the same were redeemed and deposited with the clerk for the space of more than five years, and, if found to have been redeemed and deposited for more than five years, may cause said warrants to be burned, if the same be properly recorded as redeemed. Act Feb. 5, 1859.

CLERK OF COUNTY COURT, DUTIES OF.

SEC. 1424. The clerk of the county court shall keep a regular account between the treasurer and the county, charging him with all the moneys paid into the treasury, and crediting him with the amount he may have disbursed, between the period of his respective settlements with the court.

SEC. 1425. He shall keep just accounts between the county and all persons, bodies corporate or politic, chargeable with moneys payable into the county treasury.

SEC. 1426. He shall file and preserve in his office all documents, vouchers and other papers pertaining to the settlement of any account to which the county shall be a party, copies whereof, certified under the hand and seal of such clerk, shall be admitted in evidence.

SEC. 1427. He shall issue warrants on the treasury for all moneys ordered (*) See Craig v. Chicot County, 40—233.

(e) This section is not in contravention of the provision of the constitution of the United States declaring that "no state shall make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts." It is a standing guaranty that the county will receive her warrants in payment of all taxes and debts due her. State v. Rives, 12—721, overruling Gaines v. Rives, 8—220.

to be paid by the court and keep a register thereof, as required by law, and present the same to the court at every regular term.

SEC. 1428. He shall balance and exhibit the accounts kept by him as often as required by the court, and keep his books and papers at all times ready for the inspection of the court. Rev. Stat., chap. 41, sec. 15.

SEC. 1429. He shall, on the first day of the term of the county court to be holden next after the annual settlement of the treasurer, make out a statement, in tabular form, stating therein the total amount of county revenue received into the treasury of such county from all sources, and also the several amounts paid out, to whom paid, and on what account; and such tabular statement shall be put up in some conspicuous place in the clerk's office of said county, so that the same may be examined and open to the inspection of any and all of the citizens of such county; and for his services in making such statement he shall receive such compensation as the county court may deem just and reasonable (f). Act Jan. 14, 1857.

EXHIBITS OF RECEIPTS AND ALLOWANCES.

SEC. 1430. The county court for each county shall cause to be published at the close of each regular or special session thereof a statement of all sums of money allowed, and for what purpose, by causing the clerk to post the same on the door of the court-house, or place of holding court; said court shall also cause to be made out and published as aforesaid, between the third Monday in January and the third Monday in February in each year, a report of receipts and expenditures for the year next preceding, and a detailed statement of the indebtedness and financial condition of said county; said statements may be published in a newspaper if so ordered by the court. Act Jan. 27, 1875.

CONTINGENT EXPENSES OF CIRCUIT COURTS.

SEC. 1431. The county court shall, at the first term of each year, make an appropriation of not less than fifty dollars for the contingent expenses of the circuit court during the current year (g). Act Jan. 4, 1851, sec. 5.

SEC. 1432. Such contingent expenses shall be certified to by the clerk and countersigned by the circuit judge, and when so certified the county clerk shall issue a warrant upon the treasurer for so much of such appropriation as may be necessary to pay such expenses. Ib., and act April 3, 1873, secs. 11, 12.

COUNTY JUDGES SHALL NOT BE INTERESTED IN CONTRACTS WITH OR PURCHASES FOR THE COUNTY.

SEC. 1433. It shall be unlawful for any county judge to be interested, in his own county, either directly or indirectly, in the building or repairing of any public building, or in the building or repairing of any public bridge, or in any toll-bridge or causeway, or in any public ferry, or in the keeping, feeding or clothing of any pauper or poor or insane person, or any real or personal property, stationery, furniture, wood or other materials purchased for the use of the county, or in any internal improvement to be paid for in whole or in part by the county (h). Act April 3, 1873, sec. 21.

PLACE OF HOLDING TERMS—HOW CHANGED.

SEC. 1434. The county courts are invested with power to change the place of holding their terms from the county seat to any other place in the county that may be deemed necessary for their security and the safety of the public records. Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to affect in any manner the permanent location of county seats as now established by law.

SEC. 1435. The clerk shall remove all the books, papers and records of his office to such place as may be designated by the court as soon as practicable, and all the terms of said court shall be held at the said place. All writs shall be returnable thereto, and all acts done as valid as if they had been done and performed at the county seat. Act May 23, 1864, secs. 1, 2.

APPEALS (i).

SEC. 1436. Appeals shall be granted as a matter of right to the circuit court from all final orders and judgments of the county court, at any time within six months after the rendition of the same, either by the court rendering the order or judgment or by the clerk of the circuit court, with or without supersedeas, as in other cases at law, by the party aggrieved filing an affidavit and prayer for an appeal with the clerk of the court in which the appeal is taken; and upon the filing of such affidavit and prayer the court rendering the judgment or order appealed from, or the clerk of the circuit court, shall forthwith order an appeal to the circuit court, at any time within six months after the rendition of the judgment or order appealed from, and not thereafter. The party aggrieved, his agent or attorney, shall swear in said affidavit that the appeal is taken because the appellant verily believes that he is aggrieved, and is not taken for vexation or delay, but that justice may be done him.

SEC. 1437. Where an appeal is taken by any person in cases of allowances made for or against counties, he shall give a bond, payable to the proper county, conditioned to prosecute the appeal and save the county from all costs on account of the same being taken.

SEC. 1438. In all appeals to the circuit court from all said judgments and orders of the county court, the clerk of said court shall transmit all of the original papers and a transcript of the record entry in the cause or matter to the clerk of the circuit court, and take his receipt therefor and file the same in place of such papers.

(h) For punishment of county judge and clerk for violating the provisions of this chapter, or neglect or refusal to perform duties, see SEC. 1746.

(i) In all cases of allowances made for or against counties, cities or towns, an appeal shall lie to the circuit court of the county at the instance of the party aggrieved, or on the intervention of any citizen or resident and tax-payer of such county, city or town, on the same terms and conditions on which appeals may be granted to the circuit court in other cases; and the matter pertaining to any such allowance shall be tried in the circuit court de novo. In case an appeal be taken by any citizen, he shall give a bond, payable to the proper county, conditioned to prosecute the appeal and save the county from costs on account of the same being taken. Art. VII, sec. 51, Const.

As to appeals from rulings of the county court on objections to the levy of specific taxes, see SECS. 5607-5609.

SEC. 1439. All appeals granted ten days before the commencement of any term of the circuit court next after the appeal is allowed shall be tried and determined at such term, unless continued for cause.

SEC. 1440. If the appeal be not granted at the term at which the judgment or order is rendered, or the appellee enters his appearance in the circuit court, he shall be summoned, actually or constructively, as provided by law for the service of a summons, to appear and answer the appeal.

SEC. 1441. The circuit court shall proceed to try all such appeals de novo as other cases at law (j), and in cases of allowances made against counties it shall render judgment in favor of such counties against the appellees for the amount, with interest, of all such allowances wrongfully obtained by them. Act Feb. 20, 1883.

SEC. 1442. When appeals are prosecuted in the circuit or supreme court, the judge of the county court shall defend the same; and all expenses or money paid out by reason of such defense shall be repaid by the proper county by order of the county court. Act April 3, 1873, sec. 28.

COURT FOR LEVYING TAXES AND MAKING APPROPRIATIONS (k).

SEC. 1443. The county judge, with a majority of the justices of the peace of each county, shall constitute a court for levying the taxes and making appropriations for the expenses of the county, and they shall meet annually at the court-house, in their respective counties or districts, on the first Monday in July, for the purpose of levying the county taxes and making such appropriations. Act March 18, 1879, sec. 2, and act March 31, 1883, sec. 9.

SEC. 1444. In case a majority of all the justices of the peace of the county is not present, the county judge shall have power and authority, and it is hereby made his duty, to order the sheriff to summon the absent justices of the peace forthwith to meet at the place fixed by law for such meeting to assist in holding said court (l).

SEC. 1445. The county judge shall be the presiding officer of said court, and shall put all motions and submit all questions proposed by any member thereof, and shall be entitled to a vote, and a concurrence of a majority of said court shall be necessary in every case to a decision. In case of the absence of the county judge, the court may elect a presiding officer from their number, the

(j) By appeal the cause is transferred to the circuit court to be tried de novo, just as if brought there in the first instance. Phillips County v. Lee County, 34—240; Dodson v. Mayor, etc., Fort Smith, 33—508.

(k) See art. VII, sec. 30, Const.

For convenience, so much of the revenue law as it may be important to refer to in this connection is given below, and will also be found in its original connection in chap. 129:

The county court of each county, composed of the judge and a majority of the justices of the peace of each county, shall meet annually, on the first Monday in July, for the purpose of levying the county taxes and making appropriations for the expenses of the county.

Said court shall determine the amount to be raised for ordinary county purposes, for public buildings, for support of the poor, for bridges, for roads and for interest and principal on the county debt. The court shall set forth upon the record of proceedings especially the amount to be raised for each of the above defined purposes. Act March 31, 1883, sec. 9.

(l) The failure of any justice of the peace to attend a levying court of his county, without a legal or reasonable excuse, is a misfeasance in office for which he may be indicted. See SEC. 1754.

question therefor being put by the clerk or his deputy, and the presiding officer may call any member of said court to preside temporarily in his place.

SEC. 1446. The sheriff in person, or by deputy, shall attend said court, preserve order and execute the orders of said court.

SEC. 1447. The clerk of the circuit court in person, or by deputy, in his capacity as clerk of the county court, shall attend the sitting of said court and keep in the county court record a fair written record of the proceedings of said court, and the names of those members of the court voting in the affirmative and of those voting in the negative on all propositions or motions to levy a tax or appropriate any money shall be entered at large on said record.

SEC. 1448. When said court shall have been duly opened the roll of the justices of the peace of the county or district shall be called, and if a majority of said justices is not present the absentees shall be summoned forthwith to meet as before directed; and whenever a majority of the justices of the peace of the county or district shall be present the following order of business shall be pursued as near as may be:

First. The clerk of said court shall submit a full written report and statement of the financial condition of the county, showing the amount of revenue received and sources thereof during the twelve months next preceding the meeting of said court; the appropriations made at the previous term of said court for each purpose, and the amount thereof drawn, and any unexpended balance or deficit that there may be; the total amount and number of county warrants drawn and amount of allowances made by the county court during the twelve months aforesaid, and unadjusted claims, either against or in favor of the county, if any, and the total value of the taxable property of said county or district, both real and personal, as shown by the assessment books of the year.

Second. The sheriff shall submit a fair written report of the county revenue collected by him from all sources, and the kind of funds collected and the disposition made thereof by him during the twelve months next preceding the meeting of said court, and shall report the number of licenses delivered to him for collection, and the amount and number thereof collected, and the number of prisoners confined in the county jail during the time aforesaid, and the number confined at the time of making said report, and the time at which the confinement of each prisoner will expire, and the cause or ground of confinement in each case, and the expense of keeping said prisoners.

Third. The treasurer of the county or district shall submit a fair written statement of the funds received by him, and from whom and on what account, and the date thereof, during the period of time aforesaid. Each of said reports shall be sworn to by the respective officers.

Fourth. The county judge shall submit a written report of the condition of all public roads and bridges in said county or district, with such recommendations as may seem advisable to him, and of the number of paupers cared for at public expense and then a charge on the county; and also the condition of the poor-house and the terms upon which the same may have been let out, and all other matters of a public nature connected therewith, and the condition of all of the public property of the county, including public buildings and records, and shall make such recommendations as may seem good to him, or as may have been submitted by the grand jury of the county. Each of said reports shall be forthwith filed by the clerk, and be and remain in his custody as public records of the county or district; and any member of said court may cause the same, or any one of them, to be read aloud by the clerk for the information of the court, or may call for and examine the same in like manner as any other record may be examined; and the court may, by a majority vote, require either of said officers to amend his report, if it shall appear that the same is uncertain, unintelligent, too general, or not sufficiently full; and if any officer fail or refuse to make the report required by this act to be made by him on the first day of the term, or as soon as the court is organized, he shall be deemed in contempt of court, and, if he persist therein for an unreasonable time, may be fined in any sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars. Provided, that this clause shall not apply to the county judge.

Fifth. The presiding officer of the court may appoint one or more committees, consisting of three members of said court, to whom the said reports may be referred respectively for examination, with such instructions as may be deemed advisable by said court, which committees shall make their reports with all convenient dispatch.

Sixth. The court shall then proceed to the making of appropriations for the expenses of the county or district for the current year; but such appropriations shall not include as such expenses any item for blank printed forms used, or to be used, by any of the several officers, to wit: sheriff, clerk, coroner, collector, assessor or treasurer of said county or district, or for fuel, lights or stationery, unless such fuel, lights or stationery be used by some one of the courts of record of said county or district during the sitting thereof; and said appropriations shall be made in the following order:

1. To defray the lawful expenses of the several courts of record of the county or district and the lawful expenses of criminal proceedings in magistrates' courts, stating the expenses of each of said courts separately.
2. To defray the expenses of keeping persons accused or convicted of crime in the county jail.
3. To defray the expenses of making the assessment and tax-books and collecting taxes on real and personal property.
4. To defray the lawful expense of public records of the county or district.
5. To defray the expense of keeping paupers of the county or district.
6. To defray the expense of building and repairing public roads and bridges and repairing and taking care of public property.
7. To defray such other expenses of county government as are allowed by the laws of this state.
8. After the appropriations shall have been made, the court shall then levy the county, municipal and school taxes for the current year (m).

SEC. 1449. The court shall specify the amount of appropriations for each purpose in dollars and cents, and the total amount of appropriations for all county or district purposes for any one year shall not exceed ninety per cent of the taxes levied for that year (n).

(m) See SECS. 5599, 5605.

For proceedings, by petition or remonstrance, on objection to the levy of any specific tax for illegality and appeals to the circuit court from rulings of the county court against such objection, see SECS. 5607-5609.

(n) This section does not prevent the court from also appropriating the revenue accruing to the county from fines, forfeitures and licenses. Allis v. Jefferson County, 34—307.

SEC. 1450. It shall be the duty of the clerk annually, and immediately after the adjournment of the court for the levy of taxes and the making of the appropriations, to open a book to be kept for that purpose, in which he shall debit each appropriation by the amount appropriated therefor, and as the allowances are made by the county court he shall credit each appropriation by the allowance ordered to be paid out of such appropriation.

SEC. 1451. No county court or agent of any county shall hereafter make any contract on behalf of the county unless an appropriation has been previously made therefor and is wholly or in part unexpended.

SEC. 1452. The taxes levied for county purposes hereinbefore named and specified shall be extended upon the tax-books under the general head of county expenses, and warrants drawn by the clerk shall specify the fund or appropriation upon which the same are drawn respectively, and shall be made payable to the person in whose favor the allowance was made, or bearer; and when so lawfully drawn and issued shall be receivable by the sheriff and collector of revenue of the county for all taxes lawfully levied by the county court, or license or debts due to the county, subject to the next succeeding section.

SEC. 1453. The county taxes of any county of this state, levied in pursuance of law, shall only be payable in the lawful currency of the United States, or scrip or warrants of the county by whose authority the same were issued, drawn in pursuance of law and not inconsistent with this act. Provided, that nothing in this section shall be so construed as to affect in any manner the provisions and intent of an act of the general assembly of this state entitled, "An act to prevent discrimination in county warrants or county scrip," approved December 14, 1875.

SEC. 1454. Every order of allowance made by the county court shall set forth the appropriation out of which the same is to be paid (o).

SEC. 1455. If a majority of the justices of the peace of the county or district be not present on the first day of the term, summons shall be issued for the absentees as hereinbefore provided, and those present may adjourn from day to day until a majority be present. Provided, the county judge may transact any business of the county court which he is empowered by law to transact, if the said terms be the regular terms of the county court as fixed by law (p).

SEC. 1456. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to enlarge the functions or powers of the county court of Sebastian County as under existing laws. Act March 18, 1879, secs. 2-14.

SEC. 1457. The justices of the peace who shall hold or assist the county judge in holding the terms of the county courts in their respective counties in levying county taxes, and in making appropriations for the expenses of the county, shall be entitled each to three dollars per day for each day that they may be engaged in holding such court, payable out of the county treasury. Act Feb. 5, 1875.

(o) Since the act of March 18, 1879, the county court is not prohibited from allowing claims against the county in excess of the appropriations. The law makes it the duty of the clerk to issue warrants on allowances when made. Worthen v. Roots, 34—356.

(p) The levying of county taxes and making appropriations for county expenses must be by the court when held by the county judge and justices of the peace. The making of contracts and allowances for county expenses must be by the court when held by the county judge alone. Lawrence County v. Coffman, 36—641.

 1471. When judge disqualified from presiding.

SECTION

- 1472, 1473, 1474. Lapse of term, effect of; duty of clerk; not to affect any proceeding.
 1475. Change of term not to affect any proceeding.
 1476. Special and adjourned sessions, how ordered.
 1477, 1478, 1479, 1480, 1481, 1482. Special term for the trial of persons confined in jail, how ordered; proceedings.
 1483. Not to transact business on Sunday, except.
 1484. Sheriffs to furnish fuel; clerks to furnish books and stationery.
 1485. Court to audit accounts of sheriff and clerk for such expenditures.
 1486, 1487. Such expenditures in the supreme court to be paid out of the state treasury.
 1488. Expenditures in the circuit court to be paid out of the county treasury.
 1489. No court to appoint stenographer whose fees shall be paid by the state or any party.
 1490. Proceedings in all courts under "Chapters of the Digest" declared valid.

SECTION 1458. The supreme, circuit, probate and county courts shall each keep a seal. Rev. Stat., chap. 43, sec. 8.

SEC. 1459. All seals of courts shall present the same impressions, emblems and devices as are presented by the seal of state (a), except the surrounding words, which shall be such as to indicate the court or office to which they severally belong. Act May 3, 1864, sec. 3.

SEC. 1460. The impression of the seal of any court by stamp shall be sufficient sealing in all cases where sealing is required. Rev. Stat., chap. 43, sec. 11.

SEC. 1461. When no official seal is provided the clerk may use his private seal for the authentication of any record, process or proceeding required by law to be authenticated by the seal of his court, and the attestation of the clerk, stating that he has no seal of office and that he has affixed his private seal, shall be received as sufficient authentication without requiring any proof of such private seal or that it was affixed by the clerk. Ib., sec. 12.

SEC. 1462. The records of proceedings at law shall be in books separate and distinct from the records and proceedings in equity. Ib., sec. 14.

SEC. 1463. Judgment by default rendered by the circuit courts may be recorded in a separate book for that purpose. The orders showing the rendition of such judgments shall be signed by the judge of the court. Civil Code, sec. 424.

SEC. 1464. Full entries of the orders and proceedings of all courts of record, of each day, shall be read in open court on the morning of the succeeding day, except on the last day of the term, when the minutes shall be read and signed at the rising of the court (b). Rev. Stat., chap. 43, sec. 16.

(a) For emblems, etc., of seal of state, see SEC. 6308.

SEC. 1465. In making out transcripts of records, except on writs of error and appeals, the bills of exception shall not be inserted, unless specially required by the applicant therefor. Ib., sec. 17.

SEC. 1466. All writs, process, proceedings and records in any court shall be in the English language, except that the proper and known name of process and technical words may be expressed in the language heretofore and now commonly used; and shall be made out on paper or parchment, in a fair and legible character, in words at length, and not abbreviated, but such abbreviations as are now commonly used in the English language may be used, and numbers may be expressed by arabic figures or roman numerals, in the customary way. Ib., sec. 18.

SEC. 1467. The sittings of every court shall be public, and every person may freely attend the same. Ib., sec. 19.

SEC. 1468. All courts shall have power to issue all writs and process which may be necessary in the exercise of their respective jurisdiction, according to the principles and usages of law. Ib., sec. 20.

SEC. 1469. The sheriffs of the several counties shall be sheriffs of the several courts in their respective counties; and the sheriff in the county in which the supreme court is held shall be sheriff of that court. Ib., sec. 21.

SEC. 1470. Each court may enforce, by attachment, the return of any writ or process issued out of the same court, and the payment of moneys had and received by any sheriff, coroner, constable, attorney or collector in his official capacity, and the delivery of papers intrusted to him officially and unlawfully withheld. Ib., sec. 22.

SEC. 1471. No judge shall sit on the determination of any cause or proceeding in which he is interested or related to either party within the fourth degree of consanguinity or affinity, or shall have been of counsel, or have presided in any inferior court (c). Ib., sec. 24, and art. VII, sec. 20, Const.

SEC. 1472. If a term of any court shall not be held at the time prescribed by law, such court shall stand adjourned until the next regular term, and all cases, civil, penal and criminal, shall stand adjourned over until the next term of such court. Ib., sec. 26.

(b) The statute does not require the circuit judge to sign the record of the preceding day every morning, but only at the close of the term, and the omission of the judge to sign the record at the close of the term will not invalidate judgments and decrees of the term, though such omission would be gross negligence and subject the judge to animadversion. Slocumb, Richards & Co., ex parte, 9—375.

(c) No judge or justice shall preside in the trial of any cause in the event of which he may be interested, or where either of the parties shall be connected with him by consanguinity or affinity within such degree as may be prescribed by law, or in which he may have been of counsel, or have presided in any inferior court. Art. VII, sec. 20, Const.

It is no ground of error that a judge who was incompetent to sit in a cause took jurisdiction of it so far as to grant a continuance, for it would have been continued by operation of law, without action of the judge, he being incompetent to try it. Stone v. Robinson, 9—469.

The husband of the aunt is related to the husband of her niece, within the fourth degree of affinity. Kelly et al v. Neeley, judge, 12—675.

A circuit judge is not disqualified to preside where he is related by affinity, within the constitutional degrees, to one of the parties in a cause who is merely a trustee and has no interest in the determination of the cause. Fowler, adm., et al. v. Byers, adm., 16—196.

An application to the supreme court, in the first instance, for a writ of certiorari to a justice of the peace because the circuit judge is of kin to the petitioner, and disqualified, should show how he was related. Allston, ex parte, 17—580.

SEC. 1473. It shall be the duty of the clerk of such court, in such case, to enter in his docket a continuance of all suits and prosecutions. Ib., sec. 27.

SEC. 1474. No writ, process, plea or proceeding whatsoever, civil or criminal, shall be deemed discontinued or abated by the failure of any term or session of any court, nor by the failure to enter a continuance of any suit or cause on the record; but the same shall be continued and proceed as if no such failure had happened. Ib., sec. 35.

SEC. 1475. When any change shall be made, by law, in the times of holding any court, such change shall in no wise operate to affect or impair, avoid, annul or discontinue any suit, action, appeal, recognizance, bail bond, notice or process, original, mesne or final, taken, instituted or pending in such court, or returnable to or in such court, but the same shall be and stand valid and effectual in such court, at such new term, in every respect as if no change had been made in the time of holding the same. Act Dec. 22, 1856, sec. 3.

SEC. 1476. Special adjourned sessions of any court may be held in continuation of the regular term, upon its being so ordered by the court or judge in term time, and entered by the clerk on the record of the court (d). Rev. Stat., chap. 43, sec. 28.

SEC. 1477. The judge of any circuit court may at any time hold a special term, for the trial of persons confined in jail, by making out a written order to that effect and transmitting it to the clerk, who shall enter the same on the records of the court (e). Ib., sec. 29.

SEC. 1478. The judge shall, in such order, direct the clerk to issue a venire facias to the sheriff, requiring him to summon a grand jury to attend such special term of the court, if any person shall be confined in jail who may not have been indicted. Ib., sec. 30.

SEC. 1479. When a special term of the court shall be ordered under the preceding provisions, the judge ordering the same shall cause a notice thereof to be served on the prosecuting attorney for such circuit ten days before the commencement of such special term. Ib., sec. 31.

SEC. 1480. The sheriff of the proper county, or any other person appointed by the judge, may serve such notice. Ib., sec. 32.

SEC. 1481. No such adjourned session or special term shall interfere with any other court to be held by the same judge. Ib., sec. 33.

(d) All courts, unless restrained by statute, have a right of adjourning their sittings to a distant day, and proceedings had at the adjourned session will be considered as the proceedings of the term so adjourned. Dunn v. State, 2—229.

The circuit court, under this section, may provide for a special adjourned term, to be held after the time for holding the next regular term in another county of the circuit. Galbreath v. Mitchell, 32—278. An adjourning order to a distant day, made by the court, is a sufficient entry upon the record of an order for an adjourned session. Davies v. State, 39—448.

(e) The power to hold a special term being a special power, every circumstance necessary to its exercise must exist and be made to appear of record, otherwise the power can not appear to have been legally exercised. Pulaski County v. Lincoln, 9—326, and Dunn v. State, 2—230. The authority to hold such special term depends upon the following facts and circumstances:

First. That some person is confined in jail who may be lawfully tried upon some criminal charge.

Second. That it shall not interfere with any other court to be held by the same judge.

Third. That it shall not be held within twenty days of the regular term of such court.

Fourth. That an order therefor be made out by the judge, and by him transmitted to the clerk.

Fifth. That the same be entered on the records of the court. Dunn v. State, 2—230.

The power of the court, at such special term, is confined to the trial of the persons confined in jail when the order was made, which must be at least ten days before the term; and no other persons can be tried at such term. Ib.

SEC. 1482. No special term of the circuit court shall be held within twenty days of the regular term of such court. Ib., sec. 34.

SEC. 1483. No court shall be opened or transact business on Sunday, unless it be for the purpose of receiving a verdict or discharging a jury, and every adjournment of a court on Saturday shall always be to some other day than Sunday, except such adjournment as may be made after a cause has been committed to a jury; but this section shall not prevent the exercise of the jurisdiction of any magistrate when it may be necessary in criminal cases to preserve the peace or arrest the offenders (f). Ib., sec. 36.

SEC. 1484. The several sheriffs are authorized and required to furnish the fuel which may be necessary for the use of the court, and the clerks shall furnish all blank books and stationery for the use of the same. Ib., sec. 43.

SEC. 1485. The several courts shall audit and adjust the accounts of the sheriff and clerk for all expenditures made under this act, and certify the balance accordingly. Ib., sec. 44.

SEC. 1486. All such expenditures accruing in the supreme court shall be paid out of the state treasury out of any moneys appropriated for the contingent expenses of the supreme court. Ib., sec. 45.

SEC. 1487. The auditor shall draw his warrant for the amount of such expenditures, and the certificate of the court shall be a sufficient voucher. Ib., sec. 46.

SEC. 1488. The expenses accruing in the circuit courts shall be paid out of the county treasury in which the court is held in the same manner as other demands (g). Ib., sec. 47.

SEC. 1489. No court or judge shall have power or authority to appoint a stenographer whose salary, costs, expenses or per diem, or any part thereof, shall be paid by the state or any county, or taxed as costs against any party in any proceeding, either civil or criminal. Act Feb. 27, 1873.

SEC. 1490. All legal proceedings heretofore had and concluded under the "Chapters of the Digest" shall be as valid as if had in the proper courts and in the manner prescribed by law. Act March 7, 1873.

(f) As to when process in civil actions may issue and be executed on Sunday or other holiday, see SECS. 5309—5312.

(g) See SECS. 1376, 1431. The compensation of jurors is part of the current expenses of holding the circuit courts, and is not taxable as costs. Independence County v. Dunkin, 40—329.

SEC. 1497. A person shall be considered of sound mind w idiot or lunatic, or affected with insanity, and who hath arriv fourteen years, or before that age, if such person know the disti good and evil.

(a) See Rector v. State, 6--187; Yoes v. State, 9--42; Sikes v. State, 30--503.

SEC. 1498. An infant under twelve years of age shall not be found guilty of any crime or misdemeanor (b).

SEC. 1499. An idiot shall not be found guilty or punished for any crime or misdemeanor.

SEC. 1500. Any person counseling, advising or encouraging an infant under the age of twelve years, a lunatic or idiot to commit any offense shall be punished for such offense, when committed, as principal, in the same manner and to the same extent as if he had committed the offense directly, and without the intervention of such infant, lunatic or idiot.

SEC. 1501. Married women acting under the threats, commands or coercion of their husbands shall not be found guilty of any crime or misdemeanor if it appear, from all the facts and circumstances of the case, that violence, threats, commands or coercion were used (†); and in such cases the husband shall be prosecuted as principal, and receive the punishment which otherwise would have been inflicted on the wife if she had been found guilty.

SEC. 1502. Drunkenness shall not be an excuse for any crime or misdemeanor (c), unless such drunkenness be occasioned by the fraud, contrivance or force of some other person, for the purpose of causing the perpetration of an offense, in which case the person so causing said drunkenness, for such evil purpose, shall be considered principal, and suffer the same punishment as would have been inflicted on the person committing the offense if he had been possessed of sound reason and discretion.

SEC. 1503. Acts committed by misfortune or accident shall not be deemed criminal when it appears there was no evil design, intention or culpable negligence.

SEC. 1504. A person committing a crime or misdemeanor not punishable with death, under threats or menaces which show that his life or person was in danger, or that he had a reasonable cause to believe, and did believe, that his life or person was in danger, shall not be found guilty; and such threats or menaces being proved, the person compelling by such threats or menaces the commission of the offense shall be considered as principal, and suffer the same punishment as if he had perpetrated the offense. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 1, secs. 3-12.

(b) The common law presumption that one between the ages of twelve and fourteen years is incapable of discerning good from evil, until the contrary be affirmatively shown, still prevails. Dove v. State, 37-261.

(†) The coercion of the husband must be made to appear from all the facts and circumstances, and is not to be presumed merely from his presence. Edwards v. State, 27-493.

SECTION 1505. An accessory is he who stands by, aids, abets or assists, or who, not being present aiding, abetting or assisting, hath advised and encouraged the perpetration of the crime (d).

SEC. 1506. He who thus aids, assists, abets, advises or encourages shall be deemed in law a principal, and be punished accordingly (e).

SEC. 1507. An accessory after the fact is a person who, after a full knowledge that a crime has been committed, conceals it from the magistrate, or harbors and protects the person charged with or found guilty of the crime. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 8.

SEC. 1508. All persons being present, aiding and abetting, or ready and consenting to aid and abet, in any felony, shall be deemed principal offenders, and indicted and punished as such (*).

SEC. 1509. Accessories before or after the fact to the crime of rape shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period not less than five nor more than twenty-one years.

SEC. 1510. Accessories before the fact to all other felonies shall receive the same punishment as principals; and all accessories after the fact shall receive the same punishment as their principals, except in cases of murder in the first degree, who shall be punished as principals in murder in the second degree. Provided, that persons standing to the accused in the relation of parent, child, brother, sister, husband or wife shall not be deemed accessories after the fact, unless they resist the lawful arrest of such offenders. Act Dec. 17, 1838, secs. 4-10.

SEC. 1511. An accessory before or after the fact may be indicted, arraigned, tried and punished, although the principal offender may not have been arrested and tried, or may have been pardoned or otherwise discharged. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 98.

SECTION 1516. Murder is the unlawful killing of a human being, in the peace of the state, with malice aforethought, either express or implied (†).

SEC. 1517. The manner of the killing is not material, further than it may show the disposition of mind, or the intent with which the act was committed.

SEC. 1518. Express malice is that deliberate intention of mind unlawfully to take away the life of a human being which is manifested by external circumstances capable of proof.

SEC. 1519. Malice shall be implied when no considerable provocation appears, or when all the circumstances of the killing manifest an abandoned and wicked disposition (f). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 1, secs. 1-4.

SEC. 1520. The killing being proved, the burden of proving circumstances of mitigation that justify or excuse the homicide shall devolve on the accused, unless by the proof on the part of the prosecution it is sufficiently manifest that the offense committed only amounted to manslaughter, or that the accused was justified or excused in committing the homicide. Ib., art. 2, sec. 35.

SEC. 1525. If any captain, pilot or other person having the charge or control of any steamboat or other vessel shall willfully and maliciously run such steamboat or other vessel on board of or against any other vessel or raft, and thereby any human being should be killed, he shall be adjudged guilty of murder or manslaughter, as the circumstances of the case may be. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 2, sec. 13.

SEC. 1526. Every person who shall unnecessarily kill another while resisting an attempt by such other person to commit any felony, or to do any other unlawful act, or after such attempt shall have failed, shall be adjudged guilty of murder or manslaughter, according to the circumstances. Ib., sec. 8.

SEC. 1527. If any officer exceed the bounds of moderation in executing the sentence under which he acts, either in manner, the instrument or quantity of punishment, and death ensue, it will be murder or manslaughter, according to the circumstances of the case. Ib., sec. 16.

SEC. 1528. Every person who shall fight a duel with a deadly weapon, if death ensue, shall be adjudged guilty of murder. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 4, sec. 1.

SEC. 1529. In order to make the killing either murder or manslaughter, it is requisite that the person injured die within a year and a day after the stroke received or the cause of death administered, in the computation of which the whole of the day on which the offense was committed shall be reckoned the first day (†). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 1, sec. 6.

SEC. 1530. Every person convicted of murder in the first degree, or as accessory before the fact to such murder, shall suffer death by hanging by the neck. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 2.

SEC. 1531. Every person convicted of murder in the second degree shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period not less than five years, nor more than twenty-one years. Ib.

 1557, 1558. in unavoidable necessity.
 1559. in execution of public justice.
 1560. by misadventure.
 1561. General definition.

SECTION 1532. Manslaughter is the unlawful killing of a human being, without malice express or implied, and without deliberation.

SEC. 1533. Manslaughter must be voluntary, upon a sudden heat of passion, caused by a provocation apparently sufficient to make the passion irresistible (h).

SEC. 1534. If the killing be in the commission of an unlawful act, without malice, and without the means calculated to produce death, or in the prosecution of a lawful act, done without due caution and circumspection, it shall be manslaughter (i). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 2, secs. 1-3.

SEC. 1535. The willful killing of an unborn quick child, by any injury to the mother of such child which would be murder, if it resulted in the death of such mother, shall be adjudged manslaughter.

SEC. 1536. Every person who shall administer to any woman pregnant with a quick child any medicine, drug or substance whatever, or shall employ any instrument or other means, with intent thereby to destroy such child, and thereby shall cause its death, unless the same shall be necessary to preserve the life of the mother, or shall have been advised by a regular physician to be necessary for such purpose, shall be deemed guilty of manslaughter.

SEC. 1537. The killing of a human being, without a design to effect death, in the heat of passion, but in a cruel and unusual manner, unless it be committed under circumstances that would constitute excusable or justifiable homicide, shall be adjudged manslaughter. Ib., secs. 5-7.

SEC. 1538. The killing of a human being in the heat of passion, by or with a dangerous weapon, in any case except wherein the killing is herein declared to be excusable or justifiable, shall be adjudged manslaughter.

SEC. 1539. If the owner of a mischievous animal, knowing its propensities, willfully suffer it to go at large, or shall keep it without ordinary care, and such animal, while at large or not confined, shall kill any human being, who shall have taken all the precautions which the circumstances may permit to avoid such animal, such owner shall be adjudged guilty of manslaughter.

(h) See Atkins v. State, 16—569; Fitzpatrick v. State, 37—238; Harris v. State, 34—469.

(i) See State v. Hardester and Brown, 38—605.

SEC. 1540. Any person navigating any boat or vessel for gain who shall willfully or negligently receive so many passengers, or such a quantity of other lading, that by means thereof such boat or vessel shall sink or be upset, and thereby any human being shall be drowned, or shall be otherwise killed, shall be adjudged guilty of manslaughter.

SEC. 1541. If the captain or any other person having the charge of any steamboat used for the conveyance of passengers, or if the engineer or the person having charge of the boiler of such boat, or any other apparatus for the generation of steam, shall, from ignorance or gross negligence, or for the purpose of excelling any other boat in speed, create or allow to be created such an undue quantity of steam as to burst or break the boiler or other apparatus in which it shall be generated, or any apparatus or machinery connected therewith, by which bursting or breaking any human being shall be killed, every such captain, engineer or other person shall be deemed guilty of manslaughter. Ib., secs. 9-12.

SEC. 1542. If any physician, while in a state of intoxication, without the design to effect death, administer any poison, drug or medicine, or do any other act to any person which shall produce the death of such person, he shall be adjudged guilty of manslaughter. Ib., sec. 14.

SEC. 1543. If any woman shall endeavor privately, either by herself or the procurement of others, to conceal the death of any issue of her body, male or female, that it may not come to light, although it can not be proved that it was murdered, every such mother shall suffer the same punishment as for manslaughter (*).

SEC. 1544. Nothing contained in the last preceding section shall be so construed as to prevent such mother from being indicted for the murder of such bastard child. Ib., secs. 17, 18.

SEC. 1545. Whoever shall be convicted of the crime of voluntary manslaughter shall undergo imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period of not less than two nor more than seven years.

SEC. 1546. Every person who shall be convicted of involuntary manslaughter shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not exceeding twelve months (j). Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 3.

HOMICIDE—JUSTIFIABLE AND EXCUSABLE.

SEC. 1547. Justifiable homicide is the killing of a human being in necessary self-defense, or in defense of habitation, person or property, against one who manifestly intends or endeavors, by violence or surprise, to commit a known felony. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art 2, sec. 20.

SEC. 1548. If the homicide with which any person shall be charged shall appear upon the trial to be justifiable or excusable, such person shall be fully acquitted and discharged. Ib., sec. 34.

SEC. 1549. An attempt to commit murder, rape, robbery, burglary, or any other aggravated felony, although not herein specially named, upon either the person or property of any person, shall be justification of homicide. Ib., sec. 21.

(*) An indictment under this section must allege that the child was a bastard. Sullivan v. State, 36-64.

(j) See Winkler v. State, 32-539; Brown v. State, 34-232.

SEC. 1550. Every man's house or place of residence shall be deemed and adjudged, in law, his castle (k). Ib., sec. 22.

SEC. 1551. A manifest attempt and endeavor, in a violent, riotous or tumultuous manner, to enter the habitation of another, for the purpose of assaulting or offering personal violence to any person dwelling or being therein, shall be a justification of homicide. Ib., sec. 23.

SEC. 1552. A bare fear of those offenses, to prevent which the homicide is alleged to have been committed, shall not be sufficient to justify the killing. It must appear that the circumstances were sufficient to excite the fears of a reasonable person, and that the party killing really acted under their influence, and not in a spirit of revenge. Ib., sec. 24.

SEC. 1553. In ordinary cases of one person killing another in self-defense, it must appear that the danger was so urgent and pressing that in order to save his own life, or to prevent his receiving great bodily injury, the killing of the other was necessary, and it must appear also that the person killed was the assailant, or that the slayer had really and in good faith endeavored to decline any further contest before the mortal blow or injury was given (l). Ib., sec. 25.

SEC. 1554. If an officer, in the execution of his office in a criminal case, having legal process, be resisted and assaulted, he shall be justifiable in killing the assailant. Ib., sec. 26.

SEC. 1555. If any officer or private person attempt to take a person charged with treason, murder, rape, burglary, robbery, arson, forgery, counterfeiting or any other crime made felony by the statute laws of this state, and he be resisted in the endeavor to take the person accused, and by reason of such resistance the person so resisting be killed, the officer or private person so killing shall be justified. Ib., sec. 27.

SEC. 1556. An officer or private person, to be justified in killing a person accused of any felony as herein provided, shall have used all reasonable efforts to take the accused, without success, and there must have been, in all probability, no prospect of preventing injury from such resistance, or the escape of the person accused. Ib., sec. 28.

SEC. 1557. Justifiable homicide may consist in unavoidable necessity without any will or design, and without any inadvertence or negligence in the party killing. Ib., sec. 29.

SEC. 1558. An officer who, in the execution of public justice, puts a person to death in virtue of a judgment of a court of competent authority shall be justified. Ib., sec. 30.

SEC. 1559. The officer must, however, in the performance of his duty in carrying into effect the execution, proceed in accordance with the sentence of the court and the provisions of the law of the state. Ib., sec. 31.

SEC. 1560. Excusable homicide by misadventure is where a person, in doing a lawful act, without any intention of killing, yet unfortunately kills another, as where a man is at work with an ax, and the head flies off and kills a bystander, or where an officer is properly punishing a criminal and happens to be the occasion of his death, it is only a misadventure, for the act of correction was lawful. Ib., sec. 32.

(k) One who enters a dwelling house by force is indictable at common law. State v. Leathers, 31—44.

(l) In order to justify the taking of life in self-defense, the party must employ all means within his power and consistent with his safety to avoid the danger and avert the necessity. McPherson v. State, 29—225; Palmore v. State, Ib., 248; Fitzpatrick v. State, 37—238; Dolan v. State, 40—454.

SEC. 1561. All other instances which stand upon the same parity of reason and justice as those enumerated shall be adjudged murder, manslaughter, justifiable or excusable homicide, according to the circumstances of the respective cases. Ib., sec. 33.

1564. Punishment for simple assault.

SECTION

1565. Punishment for assault and battery.

1566. Assault with intent to inflict bodily injury.

1567. Assaults or attempts to murder.

SECTION 1562. An assault is an unlawful attempt, coupled with present ability, to commit a violent injury on the person of another. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 5, sec. 1.

SEC. 1563. Assault and battery is the unlawful striking or beating the person of another. Ib., sec. 5.

SEC. 1564. A simple assault, unattended with any apparent design to commit homicide or felony, shall, upon the conviction of any person thereof, be punished by fine, not exceeding one hundred dollars. Ib., sec. 4.

SEC. 1565. Any person who shall be convicted of an assault and battery shall be fined in any sum not exceeding two hundred dollars. Provided, that this section shall not be construed to apply to assaults and batteries of an aggravated character. Act Jan. 6, 1857.

SEC. 1566. If any person assault another with a deadly weapon, instrument or other thing, with an intent to inflict upon the person of another a bodily injury, where no considerable provocation appears, or where the circumstances of the assault show an abandoned and malignant disposition, he shall be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty nor exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisoned not exceeding one year. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 5, sec. 3.

SEC. 1567. Whoever shall, feloniously, willfully and with malice aforethought, assault any person, with intent to murder or kill, or shall administer, or attempt to give, any poison or potion, with intent to kill or murder, and their counselors, aiders and abettors, shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than three nor more than twenty-one years (m). Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 9.

(m) To sustain an indictment for an assault with intent to murder, the evidence must be such as would warrant a conviction for murder if death had ensued from the assault. Lacefield v. State, 34—275, and cases there cited.

For shooting at, etc., with intent to kill or maim, SEC. 1596.

For drawing gun or other deadly weapon for the purpose of frightening or intimidating, etc., see SEC. 1806.

1575. Forced marriage or defilement, penalty.
 1576. attempts, penalty.

SODOMY.

1577. Sodomy, punishment for.

INCEST.

1578. Incest defined.
 1579. punishment for.

SECTION 1568. Rape is the carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will (n). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 4, sec. 1.

SEC. 1569. Proof of actual penetration into the body shall be sufficient to sustain an indictment for a rape, or for the crime against nature. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 163.

SEC. 1570. Any person convicted of the crime of rape shall suffer the punishment of death. Act Dec. 14, 1842.

SEC. 1571. Every person convicted of carnally knowing, or abusing unlawfully, any female child under the age of puberty shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not less than five nor more than twenty-one years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

SEC. 1572. Whoever shall feloniously, willfully and with malice aforethought, assault any person with intent to commit a rape, and his counselors, aiders and abettors, shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than three nor more than twenty-one years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 9.

SEC. 1573. Every person who shall, with the intent to commit a rape, administer to any female any potion, substance or liquid, with intent to produce such stupor, or imbecility of mind, or weakness of body, as to prevent effectual resistance, shall, upon conviction, be punished with death. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, sec. 4.

ABDUCTION.

SEC. 1574. Every person who shall take away any female under the age of fifteen years from her father, mother, guardian or other person having the legal charge of her person, without their consent, either for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage, shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than four hundred dollars, and be imprisoned not less than one year.

SEC. 1575. Every person who shall take, unlawfully and against her will, any woman, and, by force, duress or menace, compel her to marry him, or to marry any other person, or to be defiled, shall suffer death.

(n) See Sulivant v. State, 8—400; Charles v. State, 11—390; Pleasant v. State, 13—360. Force is an essential element in the crime of rape; it must be committed forcibly and against the will of the female upon whom it is committed. Pat Bradley v. State, 32—704.

It is not the persistence with which the party accused intended to prosecute his illegal design, but the force actually used, that is an element in the crime of rape. Dawson v. State, 29—116.

Rape may be committed on a female under the age of puberty, or one so young as not to be capable of giving her consent. Ib.

SEC. 1576. If any person shall unlawfully take any woman in the last preceding section, with intent to compel her to marry any other person, or to defile her, without accomplishing such offender shall, on conviction, be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, and be imprisoned not less than one year. Act Dec. 3, art. 4, secs. 5-7.

SEC. 1579. Whoever shall be convicted of incest shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not less than three nor more than five years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

IX.—BIGAMY.

SECTION

1580. Bigamy defined.

1581. exceptions.

1582. venue in, immaterial.

SECTION

1583. Bigamy, unmarried person, for.

1584. penalty for.

SECTION 1580. Every person having a wife or husband shall not marry any other person, whether married or single, except in the next section, shall be adjudged guilty of bigamy (o).

SEC. 1581. The last preceding section shall not extend to persons or cases:

First. To any person, by reason of any former marriage, whose wife or husband by such marriage shall have been absent for five successive years, being known to such person within that time to be living.

Second. To any person whose wife or husband has been absent from the United States for the space of five years.

(o) The offense of bigamy is barred by the lapse of three years from the date of the first marriage. Scoggins v. State, 32—205. See same case in regard to allegation as to time when committed. It is the marrying by a person who has a husband or wife living that constitutes bigamy under this section, and the offense is complete upon the second marriage. Ib.

An indictment for bigamy must be found in the county in which the bigamous marriage was committed. r. State, 32—565. Evidence that the first marriage was within the age of legal consent is also be shown that it was annulled by a court of competent jurisdiction. Ib.

If A marries B, and afterward, while B is alive, marries C, and afterward, while C is living, marries D, while C is living, this last marriage is not bigamous, the second being absolute. State, 34—511. A decree divorcing the accused rendered after the alleged bigamous marriage is no bar to a prosecution for bigamy. State v. Ashley, 37—40. Evidence that his wife was living at the time of such marriage. State v. Ashley, 37—40.

Third. To any person whose former marriage has been dissolved by a court of competent authority.

Fourth. To any person whose former marriage has been pronounced void by the decree or sentence of a court of competent authority, on the ground of the nullity of the marriage contract.

Fifth. To any person by reason of any former marriage contract by such person within the age of legal consent, and which has been annulled by a decree of a court of competent authority. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 7, secs. 1, 2.

SEC. 1582. An indictment may be found against a person for a second, third or other marriage herein prohibited in any county in which such person may be apprehended, and the like proceedings, trial, judgment and sentence may be had in such county as if the offense had been committed therein, the venue in such indictment being immaterial. Ib., sec. 3.

SEC. 1583. If any unmarried person shall knowingly marry the husband or wife of another, in any case in which such husband or wife would be punishable according to the foregoing provisions, such person, on conviction, shall be subject to the same punishment as is prescribed in cases of bigamy. Ib., sec. 4.

SEC. 1584. Every person convicted of bigamy shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not less than three nor more than seven years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

X.—ENTICING FEMALES TO HOUSES OF ILL-FAME— SEDUCTION—ILLEGAL COHABITATION.

SECTION

1585. Enticing female to house of ill-fame.

1586. Warrant to search for inveigled female.

SECTION

1587. Seduction by feigned marriage, etc.

1588. Illegal cohabitation, penalty.

SECTION 1585. Any person who shall inveigle or entice any female, of good moral character, to a house of ill-fame, or shall knowingly conceal or aid or abet in concealing any such female so deluded or enticed, for the purpose of prostitution or lewdness, shall, on conviction, be imprisoned not exceeding one year in the penitentiary, or fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than two thousand dollars.

SEC. 1586. When there is reason to believe that any female has been inveigled, deluded or enticed to a house of ill-fame, as aforesaid, upon complaint thereof being made under oath by the parent or guardian of any such female, or any other person in her behalf, to any justice of the peace or other officer authorized by law to issue warrants, he may issue his warrant to enter, by day or night, such house of ill-fame and to search for such female, and to bring her and the person in whose possession or keeping she may be found before such justice or other officer, who may, on examination, order her to be delivered to such parent or guardian, or discharged, as law and justice may require.

SEC. 1587. Any person who shall be convicted of obtaining the edge of any female by virtue of any feigned or pretended marriage, false or feigned express promise of marriage, shall, on conviction, be imprisoned not exceeding two years in the penitentiary and fined not exceeding five thousand dollars; but no person shall be convicted of this crime upon the testimony of the female, unless the same be corroborated by other evidence (p).

SEC. 1588. If any man and woman shall cohabit together as husband and wife without being married, each of them shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon the first conviction, be fined in a sum not exceeding twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars; on a second conviction for said offense, the offender shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars and may be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding twelve months; upon a third or any subsequent conviction, the offenders shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for any time not less than one year nor more than three years (q). Act April 12, 1869.

XI.—CRIMINAL ABORTION.

SECTION

1589. Definition of; penalty for.

SECTION

1590. Penalty for advertising or procuring abortion.

SECTION 1589. It shall be unlawful for any one to administer any medicine or drugs to any woman with child, with intent to procure the miscarriage of the child, or to produce or attempt to produce such abortion by any other means. Any person offending against the provisions of this section shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term not less than one nor more than five years. Provided, that this section shall not apply to any abortion produced by any regular practicing physician for the purpose of saving the mother's life.

SEC. 1590. Every person who knowingly advertises, prints, publishes or knowingly causes to be advertised, printed, published or disseminated any pamphlet, printed paper, book, newspaper notice or reference containing any language giving or conveying any notice, hint or reference to the name of any person, real or fictitious, from whom or to a

(p) See Cheaney v. State, 36—74; Polk v. State, 40—482.

(q) Living or dwelling together in the same house is an essential element of the crime of cohabitation as husband and wife. Sullivan v. State, 32—187.

As to indictment for illegal cohabitation, see Crouse v. State, 16—566; Hopper v. State, 26—34; State v. Burgett, 22—323.

To constitute this offense it is not necessary that the parties claim to be husband and wife, or live together in the same house, in like manner as respects bed and board as marks the intercourse of husband and wife, they, in the sense and meaning of the statute, cohabit as husband and wife. Bush v. State, 37—215.

Sexual intercourse between persons not married, though living in the same house, does not constitute the offense. Taylor v. State, 36—34.

or shop or office where any poison, drug, mixture, preparation, medicine or noxious thing, whether medicinal, mechanical or otherwise, or any advice, information or knowledge, may be obtained for the purpose of causing miscarriage or abortion in the case of any woman pregnant with child, shall be punished by fine not less than one thousand dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail not less than six nor more than twelve months. Act Nov. 8, 1875.

XII.—MAIMING AND ASSAULT WITH INTENT TO MAIM (*).

SECTION

1591. Maiming defined.

1592, 1593, 1594. acts constituting.

1595. punishment for.

SECTION

1596. Shooting with intent to kill or maim.

1597. Injury to third person.

1598. Penalty for assault with intent to maim.

SECTION 1591. Maiming consists in unlawfully disabling a human being by depriving him of the use of a limb, or member, or rendering him lame or defective in bodily vigor.

SEC. 1592. If any person shall, willfully and of his malice aforethought, cut or bite off the ear, cut out or in any manner disable the tongue, put out an eye, slit, cut or bite off the nose or lip of any person, he shall be adjudged guilty of maiming.

SEC. 1593. If any person shall, of his malice aforethought, cut off an arm or leg, or any finger or toe, of any person, or shall break the bone of any arm or bone of any part of the body of any person, so as to disable any such person, he shall be adjudged guilty of maiming.

SEC. 1594. If any person shall, from malice aforethought, shoot, stab, cut or in any manner wound and disable any person, he shall be deemed guilty of maiming. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 3, secs. 1-4.

SEC. 1595. Whoever shall be convicted of maiming shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than seven years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 9.

ATTEMPTS TO MAIM.

SEC. 1596. If any person shall shoot at any other person, with intent to kill or wound such person, although he may miss or fail to hit the person aimed at, he shall be deemed guilty of an attempt to kill or maim, and, on conviction, shall be fined not exceeding three thousand dollars and imprisoned not exceeding seven years (). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 3, sec. 5.

SEC. 1597. If any person, of his malice, attempt to shoot or to do some bodily injury to some particular individual, and in attempting so to do shall shoot or injure some third person, against whom the offender had no evil design, he shall be held and adjudged to be guilty, in the same manner as if the injury had fallen on the person intended (r). Ib., sec. 6.

(*) If one be maimed in a fight by mutual agreement, it is not maiming. SEC. 1799.

() See Baker v. State, 4—56.

(r) This section has no application to assaults with intent to kill. It has relation to maiming or wounding, and prosecutions under it are for the maiming or bodily injury done, and not for the assault or attempt. Lacefield v. State, 34—275.

SEC. 1598. An assault with intent to maim shall subject the offender, on conviction thereof, to a fine not less than one hundred nor exceeding one thousand dollars, and to be imprisoned not exceeding one year. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 5, sec. 2.

XIII.—ROBBERY.

SECTION

1599. Robbery defined.

1600. punishment for.

SECTION

1601. Robbery, assault with intent to commit, penalty.

1602. by blackmail, penalty.

SECTION 1599. Robbery is the felonious and violent taking of any goods, money or other valuable thing from the person of another by force or intimidation; the manner of the force or the mode of intimidation is not material, further than it may show the intent of the offender (s). Act April 12, 1869, sec. 1.

SEC. 1600. Every person convicted of robbery shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not less than one nor more than fifteen years. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 1601. Whoever shall feloniously, willfully and with malice aforethought assault any person with intent to rob, and his counselors, aiders and abettors, shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than three nor more than twenty-one years (t). Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 9.

SEC. 1602. If any person shall willfully and maliciously send, or deliver, or make, or for the purpose of being delivered or sent shall part with the possession of any letter or writing, with or without a name subscribed thereto, or signed with a fictitious name, or with any letter, mark or designation, threatening therein to accuse any person of a crime, or to do any injury to the person or property of any one, with a view or intent to extort or gain any money or property of any description belonging to another, he shall be deemed guilty of an attempt to rob, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars or imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not less than one nor more than five years, or both. Act April 12, 1869, sec. 3.

(s) To constitute robbery, the taking must be either directly from the person or in the presence of the party robbed, and must be by force or a previous putting in fear. It is immaterial of what value the thing taken is. Clary v. State, 33—561. It is sufficient in an indictment for robbery to allege that the taking was done by violence, without alleging intimidation. Ib.

A violent taking of property in the presence of others, under claim of title, will not constitute the crime of robbery. Brown v. State, 28—126.

(t) When an indictment charges an assault with intent to rob one of a watch and money, proof of intent to rob either is sufficient. Phillips v. State, 36—282.

XIV.—KIDNAPING.

SECTION
1603, 1604. Kidnaping defined.

SECTION
1605. Kidnaping, punishment for.

SECTION 1603. Kidnaping is the unlawful and forcible abduction or stealing away a man, woman or child from his or her own country and sending or taking him or her into another.

SEC. 1604. Every person who shall unlawfully and forcibly steal, take or arrest any man, woman or child in this state and carry him or her into any other part of this state, or into any other state, country or territory, shall be deemed guilty of kidnaping. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art 7, secs. 1, 2.

SEC. 1605. Every person convicted of kidnaping shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than three nor more than twenty-one years. Act Dec. 17, 1838.

XV.—FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

SECTION
1606. False imprisonment defined.

SECTION
1607. False imprisonment, punishment for.

SECTION 1606. False imprisonment is the unlawful violation of the personal liberty of another, and consists in confinement or detention without sufficient legal authority (u).

SEC. 1607. Any person convicted of false imprisonment shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred nor exceeding five hundred dollars, and there may be added thereto imprisonment not exceeding one year. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 6, secs. 1, 2.

XVI.—ARSON.

SEC. 1609. Every person who shall willfully and maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, any dwelling-house or other house, although not herein specially named, shall be guilty of arson.

(u) See Vanderpool v. State, 34—174.

(v) It is not necessary to constitute arson that any part of the house should be wholly consumed. Mary v. State, 24—44.

SEC. 1610. If any person shall willfully and maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, any state-house, court-house, prison, church, bridge, or any other public building, although not herein specially named, such person, on conviction, shall be adjudged guilty of arson (w).

SEC. 1611. If any person shall willfully set fire to his own buildings or other property with the intent to burn the property of any other person, and the property or building of any other person shall thereby be burned, such person shall be deemed guilty of arson.

SEC. 1612. If any person shall willfully and maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, any railway locomotive, engine, car, water-tank, bridge, trestle or other railroad rolling stock or superstructure, or any steamboat or other vessel, or any water craft whatever, whether there be any person or goods on board or not, he shall be deemed guilty of arson. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 1, secs. 1-5, and act Dec. 15, 1874.

SEC. 1613. Every person convicted of arson shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not less than two nor more than ten years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

SEC. 1614. Any convict who shall willfully and maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, or attempt to burn, the penitentiary or any of the buildings therewith connected shall be deemed guilty of arson, and on conviction shall suffer death; and, on the trial of such convict for such arson, any convict in said penitentiary shall be a competent witness. Act Jan. 31, 1867, sec. 7.

SEC. 1615. If any person shall set fire to any building or tenement of another with intent to burn the same, although such house or tenement may not be burned, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars and be imprisoned not less than six months (x). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 1, sec. 7.

XVII.—BURGLARY.

SECTION

1616, 1617. Burglary defined.

1618, 1619. who deemed guilty of.

1620. punishment for.

SECTION

1621. Burglary and larceny may be joined in same indictment.

SECTION 1616. Burglary is the unlawful entering a house, tenement, railway car, or other building, boat, vessel or water craft, in the night time, with the intent to commit a felony.

SEC. 1617. The manner of breaking or entering is not material, further than it may show the intent of the offender.

SEC. 1618. If any person shall, in the night time, willfully and maliciously, and with force, break or enter any house, tenement, boat, or other vessel or building, although not specially named herein, with the intent to commit any felony whatever, he shall be deemed guilty of burglary.

(w) No allegation of ownership is necessary in an indictment for arson of a public building. Mott v. State, 29—147.

(x) See Mary v. State, 24—44.

SEC. 1619. If any person shall, in the night time, willfully, and with or without force, break or enter any house, tenement, boat or the like, with the intent to commit a felony, and shall then and there commit a felony or larceny, he shall be adjudged guilty of burglary, and also of felony or larceny, as the case may be. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 2, secs. 1-3, and act Dec. 24, 1874.

 1644. by road overseers.

SECTION 1622. Larceny is the felonious stealing, taking and carrying, riding or driving away the personal property of another (z).

SEC. 1623. Larceny shall embrace every theft which unlawfully deprives another of his money or other personal property, or those means and muniments by which the right and title to property, real or personal, may be ascertained.

(y) See SEC. 2109. If one feloniously enters a house in the night time with intent to steal, he is guilty of burglary, though he does not accomplish the theft. If he completes the theft, he is guilty of a further offense, and may be indicted and punished for both burglary and larceny; and he may be charged with the two offenses separately, or jointly in different counts in the same indictment. Dodd v. State, 33—517. See Toliver v. State, 35—385; Watkins v. State, 37—370.

(z) It is not necessary to trace the stolen goods to defendant's possession. If he was present aiding and abetting in the larceny, he is guilty. Lester v. State, 32—727.

A felonious intent is an essential constituent of larceny, and must be shown by circumstances connected with the taking. Mason v. State, Id., 238. It must exist at the time of the taking. Fulton v. State, 13—168.

Trees previously severed from the soil are personal property, and when furtively taken from the land or possession, actual or constructive, of another, it is larceny. State v. Parker, 34—158.

If one at the time of taking property is so under the influence of intoxicating liquor that a felonious intent can not be formed in his mind, he is not guilty of larceny. Wood v. State, 34—341.

Possession of property recently stolen, unexplained, is evidence of guilt to go to a jury for their consideration, but it is not such evidence as must compel the jury to convict unless it be rebutted. Boykin v. State, Id., 443.

When one takes another's horse without any intention of converting it to his own use, but to ride for some miles, which he does, and then abandons it, it is a trespass, but not larceny. Dove v. State, 37—261.

A reclaimed and tamed mocking bird is a subject of larceny. Haywood v. State, 41—479.

As to indictment for larceny, see State v. Parker, 34—158; State v. McMinn, Id., 160; Perry v. State, 37—54.

SEC. 1610. If any person shall willfully and maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, any state-house, court-house, prison, church, bridge, or any other public building, although not herein specially named, such person, on conviction, shall be adjudged guilty of arson (w).

SEC. 1611. If any person shall willfully set fire to his own buildings or other property with the intent to burn the property of any other person, and the property or building of any other person shall thereby be burned, such person shall be deemed guilty of arson.

SEC. 1612. If any person shall willfully and maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, any railway locomotive, engine, car, water-tank, bridge, trestle or other railroad rolling stock or superstructure, or any steamboat or other vessel, or any water craft whatever, whether there be any person or goods on board or not, he shall be deemed guilty of arson. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 1, secs. 1-5, and act Dec. 15, 1874.

SEC. 1613. Every person convicted of arson shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not less than two nor more than ten years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

SEC. 1614. Any convict who shall willfully and maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, or attempt to burn, the penitentiary or any of the buildings therewith connected shall be deemed guilty of arson, and on conviction shall suffer death; and, on the trial of such convict for such arson, any convict in said penitentiary shall be a competent witness. Act Jan. 31, 1867, sec. 7.

SEC. 1615. If any person shall set fire to any building or tenement of another with intent to burn the same, although such house or tenement may not be burned, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars and be imprisoned not less than six months (x). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 1, sec. 7.

XVII. — BURGLARY.

SECTION

1616, 1617. Burglary defined.

1618, 1619. who deemed guilty of.

1620. punishment for.

SECTION

1621. Burglary and larceny may be joined in same indictment.

SECTION 1616. Burglary is the unlawful entering a house, tenement, railway car, or other building, boat, vessel or water craft, in the night time, with the intent to commit a felony.

SEC. 1617. The manner of breaking or entering is not material, further than it may show the intent of the offender.

SEC. 1618. If any person shall, in the night time, willfully and maliciously, and with force, break or enter any house, tenement, boat, or other vessel or building, although not specially named herein, with the intent to commit any felony whatever, he shall be deemed guilty of burglary.

(w) No allegation of ownership is necessary in an indictment for arson of a public building. Mott v. State, 29—147.

(x) See Mary v. State, 24—44.

SEC. 1619. If any person shall, in the night time, willfully, and with or without force, break or enter any house, tenement, boat or the like, with the intent to commit a felony, and shall then and there commit a felony or larceny, he shall be adjudged guilty of burglary, and also of felony or larceny, as the case may be. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 2, secs. 1-3, and act Dec. 24, 1874.

SEC. 1620. Whoever shall be convicted of burglary shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not less than three nor more than seven years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

SEC. 1621. For larceny committed jointly with burglary the offender shall be held to restitution, as in other cases of larceny, and the offender may be indicted for such offenses, either separately or jointly in different counts of the same indictment (y). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 2, sec. 5.

XVIII.—LARCENY AND EMBEZZLEMENT.

SECTION

1622. Larceny defined.
 1623. what embraced therein.
 1624. of bank bills, notes, etc.
 1625. of same, measure of value of.
 1626. though owner not in possession.
 1627. punishment for.
 1628. of cattle, hogs, etc., punishment.
 1629. of horse, etc., punishment.
 1630. Receiving or buying stolen horses.
 1631. Receiving stolen goods, punishment.
 1632. Stealing or taking by robbery bank bill, etc.
 1633. Buying or receiving property obtained by larceny or robbery.

SECTION

1634. Receiver of stolen goods; time of trial.
 1635. Assaults with intent to commit larceny.

EMBEZZLEMENT.

1636. Embezzlement, by tenant or lodger.
 1637. by officer, of records, etc.
 1638, 1639. by clerks, apprentices, etc.
 1640, 1641. by carrier, etc.; who deemed such.
 1642. by executors, administrators and guardians.
 1643. by officers, of public funds.
 1644. by road overseers.

SECTION 1622. Larceny is the felonious stealing, taking and carrying, riding or driving away the personal property of another (z).

SEC. 1623. Larceny shall embrace every theft which unlawfully deprives another of his money or other personal property, or those means and muniments by which the right and title to property, real or personal, may be ascertained.

(y) See SEC. 2109. If one feloniously enters a house in the night time with intent to steal, he is guilty of burglary, though he does not accomplish the theft. If he completes the theft, he is guilty of a further offense, and may be indicted and punished for both burglary and larceny; and he may be charged with the two offenses separately, or jointly in different counts in the same indictment. Dodd v. State, 33—517. See Toliver v. State, 35—395; Watkins v. State, 37—370.

(z) It is not necessary to trace the stolen goods to defendant's possession. If he was present aiding and abetting in the larceny, he is guilty. Lester v. State, 32—727.

A felonious intent is an essential constituent of larceny, and must be shown by circumstances connected with the taking. Mason v. State, Ib., 238. It must exist at the time of the taking. Fulton v. State, 13—168.

Trees previously severed from the soil are personal property, and when furtively taken from the land or possession, actual or constructive, of another, it is larceny. State v. Parker 34—158.

If one at the time of taking property is so under the influence of intoxicating liquor that a felonious intent can not be formed in his mind, he is not guilty of larceny. Wood v. State, 34—341.

Possession of property recently stolen, unexplained, is evidence of guilt to go to a jury for their consideration, but it is not such evidence as must compel the jury to convict unless it be rebutted. Boykin v. State, Ib., 443.

When one takes another's horse without any intention of converting it to his own use, but to ride for some miles, which he does, and then abandons it, it is a trespass, but not larceny. Dove v. State, 37—261.

A reclaimed and tamed mocking bird is a subject of larceny. Haywood v. State, 41—479.

As to indictment for larceny, see State v. Parker, 34—158; State v. McMinn, Ib., 160; Perry v. State, 37—54.

SEC. 1624. The felonious taking and carrying away from the possession, actual or constructive, or custody of another, any bank note, bond, bill, note, receipt or any instrument of writing whatever, although not herein specified or named, of value to the owner, shall be deemed larceny.

SEC. 1625. If the property stolen consist of any bank note, bond, bill, covenant, bill of exchange, draft, order or receipt, or any evidence of debt whatever, of any public security issued by the United States, or any scrip or other public security issued by this state or any other state or territory, or of any instrument whereby any demand, right or obligation shall be assigned, transferred, created, increased, released, extinguished or diminished, the money due thereon or secured thereby and remaining unsatisfied, or which, in any event or contingency, might be collected thereon, or the value of the property transferred or affected, as the case may be, shall be adjudged the value of the article stolen.

SEC. 1626. The taking and removing away any goods or personal chattel of any kind whatever, with intent to steal the same, whether the article stolen be in the immediate possession of the owner or not, unless it shall appear that the owner has abandoned his claim thereto, shall be deemed larceny. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 4, secs. 1-5.

SEC. 1627. Whoever shall be guilty of larceny, when the value of the property stolen exceeds the sum of ten dollars, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than five years. And when the value of the property stolen does not exceed the sum of ten dollars, by imprisonment in the county prison not more than one year, and shall be fined in any sum not less than ten nor more than three hundred dollars (*). Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4, and act of July 21, 1868, as amended by acts of Jan. 23, 1875, and March 22, 1881.

SEC. 1628. Every person who shall mark, steal or kill, or wound, with intent to steal, any kind of cattle, pigs, hogs, sheep or goats, shall be guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, be imprisoned at hard labor in the penitentiary for any time not less than one year nor more than five years. Act Feb. 12, 1883.

SEC. 1629. Whoever shall be convicted of stealing any horse, mare, gelding, filly, foal, mule, ass or jenny shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than fifteen years.

SEC. 1630. Every person who shall be convicted of receiving or buying any horse or other animal named in the section last preceding, knowing the same to be stolen, with intent to deprive the true owner thereof, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than fifteen years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

SEC. 1631. Whoever shall receive or buy any stolen goods, moneys or chattels, knowing them to be stolen, with intent to deprive the true owner thereof, shall, upon conviction, be punished as is, or may be, by law prescribed for the larceny of such goods or chattels in cases of larceny. Ib., as amended by act Feb. 20, 1883.

SEC. 1632. Whoever shall steal or take by robbery any bank bill, bill of exchange, writing obligatory, or note or other valuable written paper, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than five years; and whoever shall fraudulently receive any such bank bill, bill of exchange, writing obligatory, note or other valuable written paper, knowing the same to be stolen, with intent to deprive the proper owner thereof, shall suffer the same punishment as if they had stolen the same. Act. Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

(*) See Southworth v. State, 42—270.

SEC. 1633. Every person who shall, for his own gain, or to prevent the owner from again possessing his property, buy or receive any property obtained by robbery or burglary, knowing the same to have been so obtained, shall, upon conviction, be punished as in cases of larceny. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 6, sec. 1.

SEC. 1634. Any person charged with receiving stolen goods may be tried, convicted and punished as well before as after the arrest or conviction of the principal. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 1635. An assault with intent to commit larceny shall subject the offender, on conviction thereof, to a fine not less than one hundred nor exceeding one thousand dollars, and to be imprisoned not exceeding one year. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 5, sec. 2.

EMBEZZLEMENT (*).

SEC. 1636. If any tenant or lodger shall take away, with intent to steal, embezzle or purloin any bedding, furniture, goods or chattels, or any fixture of any tenement, which by contract was let to him, to be used by him, in or with any house, or apartment, or room, or lodging, whether the contract for letting shall have been made by such person, or by any other person on his behalf, he shall be adjudged guilty of larceny, and on conviction shall be punished as in other cases of larceny.

SEC. 1637. If any officer or other person having the legal custody of any record, paper, document or proceeding, which by the law he is required to preserve for the use of the persons concerned therein, shall fraudulently take away, withdraw or destroy any such record, document, proceeding, paper or instrument in writing, filed or deposited with him, or left in his custody, he shall be deemed guilty of larceny and punished in like manner ().

SEC. 1638. If any clerk, apprentice or servant of any private person, or of any copartnership, except clerks, apprentices and servants within the age of sixteen years, or any officer, agent, clerk or servant of any incorporated company, or any person employed in any such capacity, shall embezzle or convert to his own use, or shall take, make way with, or secrete with intent to embezzle or convert to his own use, without the consent of his master or employer, any money, goods or rights in action, or any valuable security or effects whatsoever belonging to any other person, which shall have come to his possession, or under his care or custody, by virtue of such employment or office, he shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and on conviction shall be punished as in cases of larceny (aa).

SEC. 1639. Every embezzlement of any evidence of debt, negotiable by delivery, duly and actually executed by the master or employer of such clerk,

(*) The crimes of larceny and embezzlement are wholly separate and distinct, and the same evidence will not support an indictment for both offenses. Fulton v. State, 13—168.

() See SEC. 1719.

(aa) See Powell v. State, 34—693.

agent, officer or servant, but not issued or delivered as a valid instrument, shall be deemed an offense within the meaning of the last preceding section, and shall be punished in like manner.

SEC. 1640. If any carrier or other bailee shall embezzle, or convert to his own use, or make way with, or secrete with intent to embezzle, or convert to his own use, any money, goods, rights in action, property, effects or valuable security, which shall have come to his possession, or have been delivered to him, or placed under his care or custody, such bailee, although he shall not break any trunk, package, box or other thing in which he received them, shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and on conviction shall be punished as in cases of larceny.

SEC. 1641. Masters and clerks, or supercargoes of steamboats, and other vessels navigating the waters within this state, shall be deemed bailees and public carriers within the meaning of this act. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 10.

SEC. 1642. Every executor, administrator or guardian who shall embezzle, or fraudulently convert to his own use, or make way with or secrete with intent to embezzle or fraudulently convert to his own use, any money, goods, rights in action, property, effects or valuable security of his testator, intestate or ward, shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and on conviction shall be punished as in cases of larceny. Act March 14, 1879.

SEC. 1643. Every officer of the state, county, city, incorporated town or township, who has taken an oath of office, as required by law, employed in the collection of the public revenue, or who may have any public funds in his hands, who shall convert the same to his own use, or use it in any way for his private purpose, or shall loan, or permit any other person to use, or otherwise misapply any part of the money or funds so collected by him, or which may have come into his possession by virtue of his employment, and every such officer who shall fail or omit to pay the amount found due by him on settlement, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than twenty-one years (bb).

SEC. 1644. Any road overseer who shall fail to pay over to the proper officer any money collected by him as such, or who shall fail or refuse to duly account for the same, shall be guilty of a felony, and be punished as prescribed in the preceding section (*). Act Feb. 20, 1883.

XIX.—FALSE PRETENSES AND FRAUDS.

SECTION

- 1645. Obtaining property by, larceny.
- 1646. by fictitious token.
- 1647. If larceny, not ground for acquittal.
- 1648. False personation.

SECTION

- 1649. Fraudulent conveyance of property.
- 1650. of real estate.
- 1651. Vendor liable for double damages.

SECTION 1645. Every person who, with intent to defraud or cheat another, shall designedly, by color of any false token or writing, or by any other false pretense (cc), obtain a signature of any person to any written instrument, or obtain from any person any money, personal property, right in action, or other valuable thing or effects whatever, upon conviction thereof shall be deemed guilty of larceny and punished accordingly.

(bb) See State v. Hunnicut, 34—562.

(*) See SECS. 5920, 5954.

SEC. 1646. If any false token, by which any money, signature, property, right in action or other valuable thing shall be obtained, as specified in the last preceding section, be a promissory note, bill of exchange, check or evidence of debt, purporting to have been made or issued by or under the authority of any banking company or corporation not in existence, the person convicted of such cheat shall be punished as in case of larceny.

SEC. 1647. If, upon the trial of any person indicted for any offense prohibited in the two last preceding sections, it shall be proved that he obtained the property or thing in question in such manner as to amount to larceny, he shall not, by reason thereof, be entitled to an acquittal, but he shall be convicted and punished as if the offense had been proved as charged.

SEC. 1648. Every person who shall falsely represent or personate another, and in such assumed character shall receive any goods, chose in action, or property or effects of any description, belonging or intended to be delivered to the individual so personated, he shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and upon conviction shall be punished as for larceny (dd).

SEC. 1649. Every person who shall be a party to any conveyance or assignment of any real estate, or interest in any real estate, goods or chose in action, or any rents or profits issuing therefrom, or to any charge upon such estate, with intent to defraud any prior or subsequent purchaser, or to hinder, delay or defraud creditors or other persons, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 1650. If any person shall bona fide sell any tract or parcel of land, and shall make any written deed, conveyance, bond, or other instrument in writing, assuring the title of such land to the purchaser thereof, and shall afterward sell and convey such tract of land to any subsequent purchaser, whether the subsequent purchaser have knowledge of the previous sale or not, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than twice the value of the land so sold.

SEC. 1651. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of the two last preceding sections shall, in addition to the fine to be assessed in the criminal prosecution, pay to every person so by him injured or defrauded, by any of the means therein mentioned, double the damages sustained by him, to be recovered by proper action. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 11.

(cc) The word "pretense," as here used, has a legal and technical meaning. McKenzie v. State, 11—594. False pretenses, within the meaning of the statute, must be of some existing fact, and not of future transactions. Burrow v. State, 12—65.

A false pretense is such a fraudulent representation of an existing or past fact, by one who knows it to be false, as is adapted to induce the person to whom it is made to part with something of value. State v. Vandemark, 35—396.

It is not necessary that the false pretense should be such as is calculated to deceive a person of ordinary prudence or caution. It is as criminal to defraud the unwary as the wary. Johnson v. State, 36—242.

Proof that defendant by false pretenses obtained the satisfaction of his debt to another is not sufficient to sustain an indictment for obtaining money under such pretenses. Jamison v. State, 37—445. See Morgan v. State, 42—131.

(dd) The allegation of false personation in an indictment under this section is descriptive of the offense, and must be proved as alleged. Kirtley v. State, 38—543.

XX.—MALICIOUS MISCHIEF, AND TRESPASS AND INJURY TO PROPERTY.

SECTION

1652. Marking or altering mark or brand of animals.

 1655. Unmarked stock, taking not larceny, when.
 1656. Injury to telegraph line.
 1657. Severing article from the soil.
 1658, 1659, 1660, 1661, 1662, 1663. Destroying or taking timber, etc.
 1664. Cutting timber within five miles of Little Rock.
 1665. Burning or destroying fences and other improvements.
 1666. Injury to wood, lumber, boats, etc.
 1667. to bridge, mill-dam or levee.
 1668. Taking cord-wood without paying price.
 1669, 1670, 1671, 1672, 1673, 1674. Trespass on inclosures, etc.

SECTION

1675, 1676. Injury to and avoiding tolls on turn-pike.
 1677. Poisoning lakes or streams, penalty.
 1678. Removing or destroying landmarks.
 1679. Defacing or damaging state-house, etc.
 1680. Duty of state officers to prosecute.
 1681. Parent or guardian responsible for acts of minor.
 1682. Does not acquit from liability for damage.
 1683. Trespass on swamp land, punishment.
 1684. on school land, defined.
 1685. penalty for, exceptions.
 1686. by apprentice, master liable for.
 1687. other penalty for.
 1688. Making cut-off on Mississippi River.
 1689. Malicious injury to grave, monument, etc.

SECTION 1652. If any person shall mark, brand or alter the mark or brand of any animal, the subject of larceny, being the property of another, with an intent to steal or convert the carcass or skin of any such animal to his own use, or to prevent identification thereof by the true owner, he shall, on conviction, be punished in the manner prescribed by law for feloniously stealing property of the value of such animals.

SEC. 1653. Every person who shall knowingly administer any poison to any horse, ass, mule or to any cattle, hog, sheep, goat or dog, or maliciously expose any poisonous substance with intent that the same shall be taken or swallowed by any of the aforesaid animals, shall, on conviction, be punished in the manner prescribed by law for feloniously stealing property of the value of the animal so poisoned; and the jury who shall try such case shall assess the amount of damages, if any actual damage has occurred, occasioned by such poisoning or intent to poison, and the court shall render judgment in favor of the party injured for threefold the amount so assessed by the jury. Act April 12, 1869, secs. 1, 2.

SEC. 1654. If any person shall willfully and maliciously, by any means whatsoever, kill, maim or wound any animal of another which it is made larceny to steal, he shall, on conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than ten nor more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and shall, moreover, be liable to damages to the owner of the animal so killed, maimed or wounded, as in the preceding section provided (ee). Provided, that nothing in this section shall be so construed as to extend to any person who shall kill, maim or wound any animal trespassing in the fields or grounds of such person which are inclosed with a lawful fence, as defined in sections 3646, 3647, 3648 and 3649 (ff). Ib., sec. 3, as amended by act March 17, 1879.

(ee) Malice toward the owner of the animal is essential to constitute this offense. Chappell v. State, 35—345. As to measure of damages, see Lemon v. State, 19—171.

(ff) An indictment for killing a mule need not allege that it was killed in an inclosure having an insufficient fence. If killed while trespassing in the defendant's inclosure, having a lawful fence, he can prove it in defense. Dean v. State, 37—37.

SEC. 1655. Owners of cattle, hogs or sheep which run at large in the range or woods shall designate such animals, if over twelve months old, by brands or ear-marks; otherwise, if taken or converted to the use of any other person, such person shall not be deemed guilty of larceny, but the owner may have his action for the value of such unmarked or unbranded animal (*). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 8, sec. 4.

SEC. 1656. Any person who shall willfully and intentionally destroy, injure or obstruct any telegraph line, or any of the materials thereof, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in a sum not less than two hundred dollars and imprisoned for not less than six months, and pay the owners of said line all the damages sustained thereby. Act Jan. 21, 1861.

SEC. 1657. If any person shall sever from the soil of another any vegetable or produce growing thereon of the value of one dollar or more, or shall sever from any building or frame, any gate or fence, or other railing or inclosure, or any part thereof, or any material of which it is composed of like value, and shall take and carry away, or convert the same to his own use, with intent to steal the same, he shall be adjudged guilty of larceny in the same manner as if the article so taken had been severed at some different and previous time.

SEC. 1658. Every person who shall willfully commit any trespass by cutting down or destroying any kind of wood or timber, standing or growing upon the lands of any other person, or carry away any kind of wood or timber that may have been cut down, and that may be lying on such land (†); or shall maliciously cut down, lop, girdle or otherwise injure any fruit, ornamental or shade tree, or maliciously sever from the freehold any produce thereof, or any thing attached thereto, shall, upon conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars. Rev. Stat., chap 44, div. 4, art. 9, secs. 1, 2.

SEC. 1659. Any person who shall, without lawful authority, willfully and knowingly enter upon any lands belonging to this state, or any lands belonging to any corporation or person, and shall cut down or destroy, or cause to be cut down or destroyed, any tree or trees standing or growing thereon, of the value of more than ten dollars, or any person who shall induce, assist, aid or abet any other person so to do, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment at hard labor in the state penitentiary not more than two years.

SEC. 1660. Any person who shall take and carry away any trees or parts thereof, or any logs, timber, lumber, staves or shingles cut from such lands, with intent to convert the same to his own use, or the use of his employer or principal, of the value of more than ten dollars, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and shall be punished as provided in section 1659.

SEC. 1661. If the owner of any saw-mill, stave-mill or shingle-mill, or any person operating such mill, or if any person as agent of any person owning or operating any such mill, or if any person as officer or agent of any corporation owning or operating any such mill, or if any other person shall, by himself, his agent or servant, knowingly receive or purchase any trees, logs or timber, knowing the same to have been cut contrary to the provisions of this act, for the purpose of sawing or manufacturing the same into lumber, staves or shingles, or for the purpose of selling the same, of the value of more than ten dollars, he shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and shall, upon conviction, be punished as provided in section 1659.

SEC. 1662. If the trees so cut down or destroyed, or if the parts of trees, timber, lumber, staves or shingles made therefrom so taken and carried away, or so sawed at any saw-mill, shall not exceed in value the sum of ten dollars, the person so offending shall be deemed guilty of petit larceny, and shall be punished accordingly.

SEC. 1663. In any indictment under this act, the person accused may be charged with commencing at some particular time to commit any of the acts hereby made punishable, and of continuing to commit the same at divers times and on divers days between that day and some other day to be therein stated. It shall not be necessary, in order to convict, to prove title to the lands upon or from which it is alleged the trees, timber, lumber, staves or shingles were cut or carried away as alleged in the indictment, but it shall be sufficient to prove title, legal, equitable or colorable, in the State of Arkansas (*), or any corporation or any person or persons other than the accused; and it shall not be necessary to allege in the indictment or prove on the trial the kind of trees, timber, lumber, staves or shingles cut, destroyed or carried away; but, in case the accused be found guilty, the value of the timber so cut down, destroyed, sawed or carried away shall be stated in the finding or verdict. Act March 17, 1883.

SEC. 1664. Every person who shall cut and carry away any timber on any lands within five miles of Little Rock, on the south side of the Arkansas River, without permission or license from the owner or legal possessor of such lands, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars, and be imprisoned not less than one nor more than three months; and the owner of such lands shall also be entitled to sue and recover damages, according to the laws heretofore existing. Act Dec. 16, 1838.

SEC. 1665. If any person shall willfully or maliciously burn or otherwise destroy any rail or plank fence, or other inclosure, or any cotton or corn pen, fodder, hay, wheat or oat stack, or any other valuable improvements, less than a tenement, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars or sentenced to hard labor in the state penitentiary for a term not less than twelve months, or both, at the discretion of the court. Act Feb. 3, 1875.

SEC. 1666. If any person shall willfully and maliciously burn, injure or destroy any pile or raft of wood, plank, boards or other lumber, or any part thereof, or cut loose or set adrift any such raft or part thereof, or shall cut loose, break, injure, sink or set adrift any canoe, skiff, boat or vessel, being the property of another, he shall be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be punished as in cases of larceny.

SEC. 1667. Every person who shall willfully and maliciously cut down, break, injure or destroy any bridge, or mill-dam, or other dam, or levee, erected or constructed to create hydraulic power or to prevent the overflow of lands, or any embankment necessary to support such dam or levee, or shall make, or cause to be made, any aperture in such dam or embankment with intent to destroy or injure the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five thousand dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 9, secs. 3, 4.

SEC. 1668. If any owner, master, clerk, or any other person having charge or belonging to any boat, vessel or raft, shall take any cord-wood or any other species of property from the owner or his agent without paying the customary price for the same at the time, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined for every such offense not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred, one-half to be paid to the person injured and the other half to the county. Ib., sec. 6.

SEC. 1669. If any person shall ride, range or hunt in the inclosed grounds of another without the consent of the owner previously obtained, or shall pull down or break the fence (*), or leave open the gate of the farm, plantation or other inclosed ground of another, the party so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, before a justice of the peace, or other court having jurisdiction of such offense, shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and, in default of the payment of such fine, shall be imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten nor more than thirty days. Act Jan. 21, 1875.

SEC. 1670. Any person who shall willfully, directly or indirectly, turn loose any horse, mule, hog, sheep, goat or neat cattle, or any other animal, or so allow any such animals to be turned loose in any inclosure where crops of any kind are growing or have been cultivated and not gathered, without the consent of all persons, or their agents, owning and cultivating such crops, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, this act not to be enforced for such trespass occurring after the close of the year in which the crop has been grown.

SEC. 1671. Willfully to leave open gates or gaps in fences in such manner that such animals will or can enter such cultivated land, when the crop is not gathered and in the year in which the crop is grown, shall be a violation of this act and be punished as provided in section 1670.

SEC. 1672. Where different owners or their tenants have cultivated under a common inclosure, one or more years, and any one owning only a part of the land desires to avoid the penalties of this act, and will put up half of a division fence by the first day of March in any year, and give notice in writing before the first day of January preceding the first of March to the owner of the rest of the field, notifying him to put up the rest of the division fence, and the owner so notified fails to inclose his land by putting up the rest of the division fence, or a fence entirely his own, before the first of April following such notice, the person giving the notice shall not be liable to the penalties herein provided for trespass that may occur on the land of the owner so notified.

SEC. 1673. Where division fences are put up under the provisions of this act, or have existed for one year or more by common consent of adjacent owners of land, no one shall break or remove the same, or any part thereof, without giving at least nine months' notice of the intention to do so to the owner or agent of the adjoining land inclosed by such fence, and if done without such notice, the offender shall be punished as provided in section 1670.

SEC. 1674. It is not the purpose of this act to repeal or modify any law of inclosure now existing, nor the remedies therein, nor to affect or repeal any animal statute or law whatever, nor the penalties therein. Act Feb. 20, 1883.

SEC. 1675. Every person who shall willfully break, cut down, deface or injure any mile-stone or post on any turnpike road, or willfully break or throw down any gate or turnpike on any such road, or any thing thereunto belonging, or forcibly or fraudulently pass any gate thereon without having paid the legal toll, for each of such offenses the person thus offending shall forfeit and pay the sum of twenty-five dollars, in addition to the damages resulting from his wrongful act, one-half of the fine aforesaid to go to the benefit of the county, and the other half to the benefit of the corporation thus injured.

SEC. 1676. Every person who, in order to avoid the payment of legal toll, shall, with his team, carriage, or horse, or with any thing else subject to toll, turn out of any such turnpike road or pass any gate thereon on ground adjacent thereto, and again enter on such road, or without entering again on such road, if for the purpose of evading such toll, shall, for each offense, forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars, one-half of which to go to the county, and the other half to the corporation injured. Act March 28, 1871, secs. 20, 21.

SEC. 1677. Any person who shall poison any lake or stream of water for the purpose of killing (*) stock, or for any other purpose, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars. Act Jan. 16, 1861.

SEC. 1678. Every person who shall knowingly and maliciously remove any monument of stone or other durable material, erected for the designation of any corner or other point in the boundary of any lot or tract of land, or of the state, or of any legal division of the state, or shall alter or deface the marks upon any tree, post or other monument made for the purpose of designating any point in such boundary, or shall cut down or remove any tree upon which any such mark shall be made, with the intent to destroy such marks, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 9, sec. 5.

SEC. 1679. To cut, write upon, deface, disfigure or damage any part or appurtenance, or the inclosure of the state-house, or any other building belonging to the state, shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by fine, not exceeding one hundred dollars. Act Jan. 10, 1849, sec. 5.

SEC. 1680. It shall be the duty of the secretary, the auditor, the treasurer, or any official occupant of any part or portion of said public buildings, to cause any person who may offend against the preceding section to be arrested and prosecuted. Ib., sec. 6.

SEC. 1681. In all cases where an offense against this act shall be committed by a minor, the parent or guardian of such minor shall be liable for all the penalties thereof. Ib., sec. 7.

(*) See SECS. 1921-1925.

SEC. 1682. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to acquit any person who may be fined, as aforesaid, from liability for any damage done to said public buildings. Ib., sec. 8.

SEC. 1683. Any person who may cut, destroy or remove any timber standing on any of the swamp and overflowed lands granted by congress to this state, on conviction thereof, shall be fined the full value of the timber cut, destroyed or carried away, and be imprisoned not less than two nor more than twenty days. Provided, that any person residing on such swamp or overflowed lands shall have the right to cut any timber growing on the tract which he may occupy for his own use for building or farming purposes. Act Jan. 12, 1853, secs. 35, 36.

SEC. 1684. It shall not be lawful for any person to cut or remove any timber or stone off the sixteenth sections of land, for the use of schools, or any section or fractional section selected instead of the sixteenth sections.

SEC. 1685. Any person violating the provisions of the preceding section shall, for each offense, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than five nor more than one thousand dollars. Provided, that this act shall not apply to any person who resides or has improvements on such lands, so as to prevent him from residing on or using timber or stone for his use or for the use of his improvements; but this proviso shall not be so construed as to permit residents, or those having improvements on said land, to cut or remove any timber or stone off said lands for purposes of speculation or sale (†).

SEC. 1686. If an apprentice shall violate the provisions of the last two preceding sections, the master of such apprentice shall be responsible for such act, and be proceeded against in all respects as though the act had been his own. Act Jan. 18, 1843.

SEC. 1687. Every trespasser upon the school lands shall, upon conviction, be fined in three times the amount of damages done, and shall stand committed as in other cases of misdemeanor. Act April 12, 1869, sec. 13.

SEC. 1688. If any person shall make, or commence to make, or shall aid or assist in making or commencing to make, any cut-off upon or near the Mississippi River, in this state, across or partly across any point of land or elsewhere, or shall make or commence to make, or shall aid or assist in making or commencing to make, any ditch or trench, or other excavation or work whatever, near or upon said river, in this state, or keep the same open, if now made, whereby the course of said river may be extended or changed, or intended to be changed, directed or turned, or any point of land cut off, such person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine, in any sum not less than five hundred dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars, and be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than three years. Act Jan. 15, 1857.

SEC. 1689. Any person who shall willfully and maliciously destroy, injure or deface any grave or any monument erected or placed to mark the place of interment of any deceased person, or shall willfully and maliciously remove or destroy any inclosure erected for the protection of any such grave or monument, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term not less than two nor more than five years. Act March 5, 1867.

XXI.—OBSTRUCTING CARS—INJURING RAILROADS.

SECTION

1690. Malicious obstruction of cars, how punished.

1691. Imperilling life by, how punished.

SECTION

1692. Using railroad track as common highway, how punished.

SECTION 1690. Every person who shall willfully and maliciously place an obstruction, by stones, logs or any other thing, on the track of a railroad, or shall tear up or remove, or burn or destroy, any part of any railroad or the works thereof, with intent to obstruct the passage of a car or cars thereon, or to throw them off the track, shall, upon conviction, be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not exceeding twenty years.

SEC. 1691. Every person who shall, by any of the unlawful acts enumerated in the preceding section, cause the life of any person to be put in immediate peril, or shall cause any engine or car to be actually thrown off the track of any part of a railroad or the works thereof, shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not more than twenty years.

SEC. 1692. Every person who shall use any railroad track as a common highway for horses, cattle or vehicles, other than those propelled on the rails of such railroad in the operation thereof, shall, on conviction, be fined in any sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars for each offense, and may be imprisoned in the county jail for a period not exceeding thirty days. Act Jan. 28, 1875.

XXII.—REMOVING PROPERTY MORTGAGED OR SUBJECT TO OTHER LIEN.

SECTION

1693. Punishment for.

1694. Punishment of aiders and abettors.

SECTION

1695. Laborer's lien.

1696. Aidors and abettors.

SECTION 1693. Any person who shall hereafter remove beyond the limits of this state, or of any county wherein the lien may be recorded, property of any kind upon which a lien shall exist by virtue of a mortgage, deed of trust, or by contract of parties, or by operation of law, or who shall sell, barter or exchange or otherwise dispose of any such property without the consent of the person in whose favor such lien shall have been created or exists by law, or who shall secrete the same or any portion thereof, shall be deemed guilty of felony and subject to an indictment, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to hard labor in the jail and penitentiary house of this state for a period of not less than one nor more than two years, at the discretion of the jury trying the same (gg). Act Dec. 21, 1846, sec. 1, as amended by act Feb. 3, 1875.

(gg) It is no crime to remove from the county a crop on which there is an unrecorded landlord's lien. This section inhibits the removal of property only when the lien is recorded. Grace v. State, 40—97. But see State v. Smith, 1b., 431, as to a lien created by simply filing a mortgage as provided in section 4750.

Actual recording of the instrument creating the lien is not necessary to make it a felony for one to remove, sell, barter or otherwise dispose of the property. Filing in the recorder's office is sufficient. Cooper (I. Z.) v.

SEC. 1694. Any person who shall aid, abet or assist in any manner in the removal of property as prohibited in the foregoing section, upon conviction thereof, shall receive the same punishment as is prescribed therein. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 1695. Any person who shall remove beyond the limits of this state, or of any county wherein a lien may exist under the provisions of section 4425, property of any kind, he being the owner thereof, upon which a lien shall exist by virtue of labor performed, without the consent of the person in whose favor such lien shall have been created, shall, upon conviction thereof, be sentenced to hard labor in the penitentiary for not more than two years.

SEC. 1696. Any person who shall aid, abet or assist in the removal of any property to which any lien shall have attached under section 4425, knowing such lien to exist, shall be deemed guilty and punished in the same manner as the principal. Act Jan. 23, 1868, secs. 2, 3.

XXIII.—CUTTING OR INJURING LEVEES.

SECTION

1697. Cutting or breaking public levee a felony.

1698. Cutting or breaking private levee a felony, exception.

SECTION

1699. Punishment.

1700. Driving on levees a misdemeanor, how punished.

SECTION 1697. Should any person cut, break or in any wise injure any public levee or levees constructed, or which shall hereafter be constructed, by authority of this state, or paid for, or which shall be paid for, out of any funds of this state, or out of the funds of any county or public corporation, in whole or in part, he shall be deemed guilty of a felony.

SEC. 1698. Any person who shall enter upon the premises of another, and shall willfully and maliciously cut down, break or destroy any levee erected or constructed to prevent the overflow of lands, or any embankment necessary to support such levee, with intent to destroy or injure the same, shall be deemed guilty of a felony. Provided, nothing in this act shall be construed to protect any levee or embankment obstructing or damming up a running stream or natural outlet for the water so as to injure other persons, unless the same has been condemned to public use in the manner provided by the constitution and laws of the state.

SEC. 1699. Whenever any person shall be convicted of a felony in any case under the provisions of this act, he shall be punished by imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary of this state for a period not less than one nor more than five years. Act May 29, 1874.

SEC. 1700. Any person who shall drive a wagon or other vehicle on any of the public levees, or on any private levee, without the consent of the owner thereof, using the same as a road-bed, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not less than fifteen days nor more than thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court having jurisdiction of the same. Provided, that such levees are constructed and maintained for the purpose of protection against overflow. Act March 4, 1875.

State, 37—412. After the offense of removing mortgaged property has been committed, it can not be condoned by satisfying the creditor with other property. Ib. As to indictment for disposing of mortgaged property, see same case and Cooper (G. M.) v. State, Ib., 421.

XXIV.—TAKING OR INJURING STOCK BY DROVERS.

SECTION

1701, 1702. Punishment for.

SECTION 1701. If horses, asses, cattle, sheep, hogs or other stock fall in with or attempt to follow any drove in passing through a county, and the drover neglects or fails to turn them out or keep them from following, or marks, brands, kills, or in any way injures them, he shall be punished as is now or may hereafter be prescribed by law for marking, branding, enticing away or killing stock belonging to another.

SEC. 1702. A willful violation of sections 2620, 2621, 2622, shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and the party offending shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars. Act July 16, 1868.

XXV.—PERJURY.

SECTION

1703, 1704. Perjury defined.

1705. indictment for, what sufficient.

1706. punishment for.

1707. subornation of, defined.

SECTION

1708. Perjury, indictment for, what sufficient.

1709. punishment for.

1710. attempts to procure commission of.

SECTION 1703. Perjury is the willful and corrupt swearing, testifying or affirming falsely to any material matter in any cause, matter or proceeding before any court, tribunal, body corporate or other officer having, by law, authority to administer oaths (hh).

SEC. 1704. The willful and corrupt swearing, affirming or declaring falsely to any affidavit, deposition or probate authorized by law to be taken before any court, tribunal, body politic or officer shall be deemed perjury.

SEC. 1705. In indictments for perjury, it shall be sufficient to set forth the substance of the offense charged, and by what court or before whom the oath or affirmation was taken, averring such court or person to have competent authority to administer the same, together with the proper averments to falsify the matter wherein the perjury is charged or assigned, without setting forth any part of the record, proceeding or process, either in law or equity, or any commission or authority of the court or person before whom the perjury was committed, or the form of the oath or affirmation, or the manner of administering the same. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 1, secs. 1, 2, 7.

(hh) The materiality of testimony alleged to be perjury must be established by evidence, and not left to presumption or inference. And when there is no dispute about the facts, its materiality is a question of law for the court to decide. Nelson v. State, 32—192.

SEC. 1706. Whoever shall be convicted of perjury shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than fifteen years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 8.

SEC. 1707. Subornation of perjury is the procuring of any other person, by any means whatsoever, to commit any willful and corrupt perjury, in any cause, matter, proceeding, affidavit, deposition or probate, in or concerning which such other person shall be legally sworn, affirmed or declared. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 1, sec. 4.

SEC. 1708. In every indictment for subornation of perjury, or for any corrupt bargain, contract or attempt to procure another to commit perjury, it shall be sufficient to set forth the substance of the offense, without setting forth the record, proceeding or process, or any commission or authority of the court or person before whom the perjury was committed, or the form of the oath or affirmation, or the manner of administering the same. Ib., sec. 8.

SEC. 1709. Every person convicted of subornation or perjury shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than fifteen years. Act Dec. 17, 1838.

SEC. 1710. Every person who shall, by the offer of any valuable consideration, attempt, unlawfully and corruptly, to procure or entice any other person to commit willful and corrupt perjury in any cause, matter or proceeding whatever, in or concerning which such other person might by law be sworn or affirmed, shall, on conviction, be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, and be imprisoned not less than six months. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 1, sec. 1.

XXVI.—BRIBERY AND EMBRACERY.

SECTION

1711. Bribery of witnesses.

1712, 1713. of jurors, etc.

1714. Partiality of officer selecting jury.

1715. Compounding felony.

SECTION

1716. Conviction of principal offender not necessary.

1717. Attempt to corrupt juror, etc.

1718. Bribery of legislators and public officers.

SECTION 1711. Every person who shall, by bribery (ii), menace and other means, directly or indirectly, induce or attempt to induce any witness to absent himself, or avoid a subpoena or other process, or to withhold his evidence, or shall deter or attempt to deter him from offering or giving evidence in any cause, matter or process, civil or criminal, shall, on conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not exceeding three hundred dollars, and be imprisoned not exceeding one year.

(ii) For definition of bribery, see Watson v. State, 29—299.

SEC. 1712. If any person summoned as juror, or chosen an arbitrator, or appointed a referee, shall take any thing to give his verdict, award or report, or shall receive any gratuity, reward or gift from any party to such proceeding or prosecution, for the trial of which such person shall have been summoned as a juror, or for the hearing of which he shall have been chosen an arbitrator, or appointed a referee, he shall, on conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, and imprisoned not less than six months.

SEC. 1713. If any person, summoned or sworn as a juror, in any case, shall promise or agree to give any verdict for or against any party, in any case or proceeding, civil or criminal, or shall receive any paper, evidence or information from any one in relation to any matter or cause for trial for which he shall be summoned or sworn, without the authority of the court or officer before whom such juror shall have been summoned, and without immediately disclosing the same to such court or officer, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, and be imprisoned not less than six months.

SEC. 1714. Every person whose duty it shall be to select or summon jurors, in any court, or before any officer, who shall be guilty of any unlawful, partial or improper conduct in selecting or summoning any juror shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 1715. Every person who shall have a knowledge of the actual commission of any offense punishable with death, or of any felony, who shall take any money or any gratuity, or receive any promise, engagement or undertaking therefor, upon agreement or understanding, express or implied, to compound or conceal such crime, or to abstain from any prosecution therefor, or withhold any evidence thereof, shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than three hundred dollars, and be imprisoned not less than three months.

SEC. 1716. Upon the trial of any indictment, for any offense specified in the last preceding section, it shall not be necessary to prove the conviction of the offender for the offense in relation to which any engagement or understanding therein prohibited shall have been made.

SEC. 1717. Every person who shall corrupt, or attempt to corrupt, any other person summoned or sworn as a juror, or chosen an arbitrator, or appointed a referee, for the hearing of any matter, by giving, or offering to give, any gratuity or gift whatever, with the intent to bias the mind of such juror, arbitrator or referee, or incline him to be more favorable to one side than the other, in relation to any cause, matter or proceeding which may be pending in the court to which such juror shall have been summoned, or in which such referee or arbitrator shall be appointed or chosen, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, and imprisoned not less than six months. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 2.

SEC. 1718. If any person shall, directly or indirectly, promise, offer to give, or cause or procure to be promised, offered or given, any money, goods, right in action, bribe, present or reward, or any promise, contract, undertaking, obligation or security for the payment or delivery of any money, goods, right in action, bribe, present or reward, or any other valuable thing whatever, to any member of the general assembly of the State of Arkansas, after his election as such member, and either before or after he shall have qualified and taken his seat, or to any officer of the state, or person holding any place of profit or trust, under any law of the state, or under the order of either house of the general assembly, with intent to influence his vote or decision on any question, matter, cause or proceeding which may then be pending, or may by law, or under the constitution of the state, be brought before him in his official capacity, or in his place of trust or profit, and shall be convicted thereof, such person so offering, promising, or giving, or causing, or procuring to be promised, offered or given, any such money, goods, right in action, bribe, present or reward, or any promise, contract, undertaking, obligation or security for the payment or delivery of any money, goods, right in action, bribe, present or reward, or other valuable thing whatever, and the member, officer or person who shall in any wise accept or receive the same, or any part thereof, shall be liable to indictment in any court having jurisdiction, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding double the amount so offered, promised or given, and be imprisoned in the penitentiary not exceeding two years; and the person convicted of so accepting or receiving the same, or any part thereof, if an officer or person holding any such office, place of trust or profit as aforesaid, shall forfeit his office or place; and any person so convicted shall forever be disqualified to hold any office of trust or profit under the constitution or laws of this state. Act April 5, 1873.

XXVII.—STEALING AND DESTROYING PUBLIC RECORDS, Etc.

SECTION

1719. Stealing or avoiding record, process, etc.
1720. Defacing or tearing down advertisement.

SECTION

1721. Stealing or altering poll-book.

SECTION 1719. Every person who shall steal, take away, withdraw or avoid any record, or part or parcel thereof, writ, return, panel, process, or any book or paper, belonging to any of the public offices of this state, or to the records of any court, with intent to injure another, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than three nor more than ten years (jj). Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 8.

SEC. 1720. If any person shall intentionally deface, obliterate, tear down or destroy, before the expiration of the time for which the same shall have been set up, any advertisement, copy, transcript or extract from any of the laws of the United States, or of this state, set up at any place in this state by authority of any law of the United States, or of this state, or by the order of any court, such person shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Rev. Stat., chap. 6, sec. 4.

(jj) It is not necessary that the stealing should be from a court of record, properly speaking—from any of the public offices makes the offense complete; stealing bank notes from a justice's court, where they were regularly filed as part of the papers, is within this act. Such crime, charged with intent to defraud a corporation, is well laid. Wilson v. State, 5—513.

SEC. 1721. Any person who shall change, alter or obliterate the poll-book or books of any election, after such election is closed, or shall break the seals thereof, except as authorized by law, or shall steal, take and carry away any such poll-book or books, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in a sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than six months nor more than two years. Act Dec. 12, 1844.

- 1729. bank bills, etc.
- 1730. counterfeiting instruments.
- 1731, 1732, 1733. Counterfeiting or attempting to counterfeit or pass, or having in possession, etc., incomplete or fictitious bills, etc.

SECTION

- 1734. Making or keeping in possession base coin or metal.
- 1735. Forgery by officer of corporation.
- 1736. False acknowledgment of deed, etc.
- 1737. False entries in public books of account.
- 1738. in bank books.
- 1739. Erasure or obliteration of instrument.
- 1740. Connecting parts of two instruments.
- 1741. Forgery, punishment for.
- 1742. of auditor's warrant, etc.
- 1743. of treasurer's certificate.

SECTION 1722. If any person shall forge or counterfeit any gold or silver coin, which is, or hereafter shall be, passing as current in this state, or shall knowingly and falsely alter, pay or tender in payment any such counterfeit and forged coin, he shall be confined in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than fifteen years.

SEC. 1723. If any person shall forge, counterfeit or alter the warrant of the auditor of state, check of the treasurer of state, or certificate of either, or any other public security or state bond, or coupon of interest thereon, or the bond or coupon of any company or corporation, county, city or town, with intent to defraud the state, or any county, city, town, company, corporation or person; or if he shall be concerned in printing, writing, signing, altering or passing any such forged and counterfeit papers as above described, knowing the same to be forged and counterfeited, he shall, on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than five years.

SEC. 1724. If any person shall forge (kk) or counterfeit any deed, will, testament, bond, writing obligatory, bill of exchange or promissory note, for payment of money or other thing, or any indorsement or assignment of a bond, writing obligatory, bill of exchange or promissory note, for the payment of money or other thing, or any acquittance or receipt for money or property or other thing, with intent to defraud another, or shall knowingly utter or pub-

(kk) The term forgery has a fixed legal meaning. It is the fraudulent making or alteration of any writing to the prejudice of another man's rights. Van Horne v. State, 5—349; Lemay v. Williams, 32—166. As to indictment for, see McClellan v. State, Id., 609.

lish as true any such instrument as above described, or shall fraudulently forge, counterfeit or alter any commission, patent, pardon or public record, or an attested copy thereof, of any judicial, executive or legislative officer, or utter as true any of the before described papers, knowing them to be forged, counterfeited or altered, he shall, on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 1725. If any person shall fraudulently make or counterfeit any instrument, stamping or impression in the figure or likeness of the seal officially used by the State of Arkansas, or of the United States, or of any of the states, or of any officer of this state, or of any corporation or officer thereof, or if he have in his possession any such instrument, and conceal the same, knowing it to be falsely made and counterfeited, he shall, on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than fifteen years.

SEC. 1726. If any person shall forge or counterfeit any writing whatever, whereby fraudulently to obtain the possession or to deprive another of any money or property, or cause him to be injured in his estate or lawful rights, or if he shall utter and publish such instrument, knowing it to be forged and counterfeited, he shall, on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 1727. If any person shall forge or counterfeit a bank bill or note, or check or draft upon a bank, or the certificate of deposit of money therein of any bank or company incorporated by law in any part of the United States, or any indorsement thereon, or shall erase or alter the same, or any indorsement thereon, or shall tender in payment, utter, vend, exchange, barter or demand to have exchanged for money any such forged, erased, altered or counterfeited bill, note, draft, check or certificate of deposit, or the indorsement thereon, knowing the same to be forged, counterfeited, erased or altered, he shall, on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 1728. If any person shall have or keep in his possession any counterfeit bank note, or counterfeit gold or silver coin, knowing the same to be forged and counterfeited, with the intention of circulating the same, he shall, on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 1729. If any person shall have or keep in his possession promissory notes, purporting to be bank notes on any bank not in existence, or of any unauthorized association of persons for banking, knowing the notes to be such, with the intention of fraudulently circulating the same, or to pass or offer to pass or circulate the same, he shall, on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 1730. If any person shall knowingly make or mend, or proceed to make or mend, or buy or sell, or have in his possession or control, any machine, press, die, tool, plate or stamp, or other instrument or thing used or intended to be used in counterfeiting, he shall, on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than four years, and all such machinery, plates, stamps, dies, tools or other instruments shall be seized, and may be used on the trial as evidence, and then defaced and destroyed by order of the court.
Act April 12, 1869.

SEC. 1731. Whoever shall be guilty of forgery, or of counterfeiting, or of paying or tendering in payment, buying, passing or attempting to pass the counterfeit resemblance or imitation of any bank bill, or of any note, check, or draft, or bill of exchange, or instrument which circulates as currency, of any corporation, company or person (*), or purporting to be of any corporation, company or person that really exists, or may exist, or that does not exist, and whether such bill, note, check, draft, bill of exchange or instrument be complete and filled up, or otherwise, with intent to deceive and defraud, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than twenty-one years (ll). Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

SEC. 1732. Whoever shall fraudulently keep in his possession or conceal the counterfeit resemblance or imitation of any bank bill, note, check or draft, or any instrument which circulates as currency, of any corporation, company or person that exists, or may exist, whether such bill, note, check, draft or instrument be complete and filled up, or otherwise, or shall fraudulently keep in possession or conceal any fictitious instrument, purporting to be a bank bill, note, check or draft of any corporation, company or person, whether the same be filled up and complete or not, though no such corporation, company or person exist (mm), or shall fraudulently alter or erase any genuine bill, note, draft, check or instrument that circulates as currency, of any corporation, company or person, or shall fraudulently keep in possession or conceal any such bill, note, draft, check or instrument that shall be so altered or erased, or shall fraudulently buy, pay or tender in payment, alter or offer to alter, pass or offer to pass, any such bill, note, draft, check or instrument that may be so altered or erased, on conviction, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than three nor more than ten years. Ib.

SEC. 1733. No person shall fraudulently fill up or complete, or begin to fill up or complete, the counterfeit resemblance or imitation of any bank bill, note, check, draft or any instrument that circulates as currency of any corporation, company or person that exists or may exist, or any fictitious instrument, purporting to be a bank bill, note, check or draft of any corporation, company or person, though none such exist, and no person shall fraudulently make or prepare, or begin to make or prepare, any plate or other instrument, whereby to stamp or otherwise make the counterfeit resemblance or imitation of any bank bill, note, check or draft of any corporation, company or person that exists or may exist, or to stamp or otherwise make any fictitious bank bill, note, check or draft purporting to be of any corporation, company or person, though none such exist, and no person shall fraudulently keep in possession or conceal any such plate or instrument whereby to make or stamp the counterfeit resemblance or imitation of any note, bank bill, check or draft of any corporation, company or person that exists or may exist, or whereby to make or to stamp

(*) For construction of the words "corporation, company or person," see SEC. 6339.

(ll) In Van Horne v. State, 5—349, counterfeiting change tickets issued by the corporation of Little Rock was held to be forgery within the meaning of this act, though said corporation was prohibited by law from issuing such tickets.

(mm) In an indictment against one for fraudulently keeping in his possession a fictitious instrument purporting to be a bank note, it is not necessary to set forth a copy or fac simile of the instrument, but it is sufficient to describe it in such manner as to identify it. Gabe, alias Santa Anna, v. State, 6—519. In such an indictment, it is necessary to aver that the defendant had the fictitious note in his possession with intent to utter or pass it as and for a genuine bill, for the intent to impose the instrument on the community as good money constitutes the essence of the offense. Ib.

any fictitious bank bill, note, draft or check purporting to be of any corporation, company or person, though none such may exist, whether such plate be complete or not. No person shall fraudulently make or prepare, or begin to make or prepare, any paper of that description which is used for bank bills or notes or other paper currency, or fraudulently make, mend or prepare the paper, molds or other necessary machines or instruments commonly used in the process of making or preparing paper of that kind which is used for bank bills, notes or other paper currency, or fraudulently keep in possession or conceal any such paper, paper molds or other necessary machines or instruments for making or manufacturing the same. Whoever shall be guilty of any of the offenses enumerated in this section shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than twenty years. Act Dec. 17, 1832, sec. 5.

SEC. 1734. No person shall fraudulently make or begin to make, prepare or complete, any base or adulterated coin, in imitation of any coin which may be current in this state, either by law or usage, nor fraudulently pass or offer to pass any such base or adulterated coin, nor fraudulently keep in possession or conceal any such base or adulterated coin. No person shall fraudulently make or prepare, or begin to make or prepare, any piece of base or adulterated metal, intended to be converted into the counterfeit resemblance of any coin which may be current in this state either by law or usage, nor fraudulently keep in possession or conceal such piece of base or adulterated metal, and every person convicted of any offense named in this section shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than ten years. Ib., sec. 7.

SEC. 1735. Every president, cashier, treasurer, secretary or other officer, and every agent of any bank, railroad, manufacturing or other corporation, who shall willfully and designedly sign, with intent to issue, sell or pledge, any false, fraudulent or simulated certificate or other evidence of the ownership or transfer of any share of the capital stock of such corporation, or any certificate or other evidence of the ownership or transfer of any share in such corporation, or any instrument purporting to be a certificate or other evidence of such ownership or transfer, promissory note, bond, bill of exchange or other evidence of indebtedness, the signing, issuing, selling or pledging of which by such president, cashier, treasurer, secretary, or other officer or agent, shall not be authorized by the charter and by-laws of such corporation, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than ten years. Act Jan. 22, 1855.

SEC. 1736. If any officer authorized by law to take the proof or acknowledgment of any conveyance of real estate, or of any other instrument which by law may be recorded, shall willfully and falsely certify that any such conveyance or instrument was acknowledged by any party thereto when in truth no such conveyance was acknowledged, or that any such conveyance was proved when in truth no such proof was made, he shall be adjudged guilty of forgery.

SEC. 1737. Every person who shall, with the intent to defraud, make any false entry or shall falsely alter any entry made in any book of accounts kept in the office of the auditor or in the office of the treasurer of this state, or of any county treasurer, by which any demand, obligation, claim, right or interest, either against or in favor of this state, or of any county, city, town or individual, shall be, or shall purport to be, discharged, diminished, increased, created or in any manner affected, shall, upon conviction, be punished as for forgery.

SEC. 1738. Every person who, with the intent to defraud, shall make any false entry or shall falsely alter any entry made in any book of accounts by any banking corporation within this state, or in any book kept by such corporation or its officers, by which any pecuniary obligation, claim or credit shall be, or purport to be, discharged, diminished, increased, created or in any manner affected, shall, on conviction thereof, be punished as for forgery.

SEC. 1739. The total erasure or obliteration of any instrument or writing, with the intent to defraud, by which any pecuniary obligation or any right, interest or claim to property shall be, or shall be intended to be, created, increased, discharged, diminished or in any manner affected, shall be deemed forgery, in the same manner as the false altering of any part of such instrument or writing.

SEC. 1740. Where different parts of two or more genuine instruments shall be so placed or connected together as to produce one instrument, with intent to defraud, the same shall be deemed forgery, in the same manner as if the parts so put together were falsely made or forged. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 12, secs. 7, 12, 13, 17, 18.

SEC. 1741. Whoever shall be guilty of forgery, when no other punishment is prescribed, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than twenty-one years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 4.

SEC. 1742. If the auditor of state or any other person shall make or present for payment or approval to the treasurer of state, or to any person whomsoever, any false bill, certificate or warrant, or knowingly advise the making of any such false bill, certificate or warrant for the purpose of obtaining, or of aiding to obtain, any approval or payment of any claim against the State of Arkansas, or if any person shall forge or counterfeit any signature, or any bill, certificate or warrant, or utter or knowingly use the same as true or genuine, he shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary for not less than five nor more than twenty years.

SEC. 1743. If the treasurer of state or any other person shall make or cause to be made a treasurer's certificate, on bank-note paper, without the proper auditor's warrant for his voucher, he shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than twenty years. Act March 16, 1871.

county, on or before the first day of the succeeding term of the circuit court, giving the style of the case, the nature of the offense, how he obtained jurisdiction of the case, whether the defendant was acquitted or convicted, and, if convicted, the amount of fine or punishment imposed.

SEC. 1756. The abstract provided for in the preceding section shall remain on file with said clerk, subject to the inspection of the grand jury, the prosecuting attorney and all other persons interested in the same.

SEC. 1757. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five nor more than fifty dollars. Act Feb. 11, 1875.

SEC. 1758. If the auditor of state shall knowingly issue any warrant upon the treasury not authorized by law, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and, upon conviction thereof, he shall forfeit for the use of the state any sum not less than fifty dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 18, sec. 32.

SEC. 1759. If the treasurer of state shall willfully and unlawfully refuse to pay any warrant drawn upon the treasury, having funds on hand for that purpose, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined for the use of the state in any sum not less than one hundred dollars. Ib., sec. 33.

EXTORTION.

SEC. 1760. If any officer shall charge, demand or receive any more or greater fees for his services than are allowed by law, or shall demand, charge or receive any such fees without having performed the services for which the same are charged, such officer, for every such offense, shall forfeit to the party injured, or against whom the same may be charged, the amount of fees illegally charged, and five dollars for each item illegally demanded, charged or received, with cost, to be recovered by action, and shall also be subject to an indictment for extortion (oo). Act Dec. 23, 1842, sec. 35.

SEC. 1761. Any person who shall violate the provisions of sections 1414, 3248, 3260, 3261, or corruptly charge or receive from any county a greater sum than that allowed by law, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars, and the same shall work a forfeiture of his office. Act April 28, 1873, sec. 9.

SEC. 1762. If the auditor or treasurer of state shall willfully neglect or refuse to perform any duty enjoined by law, or shall be guilty of any oppression or extortion in the performance of any legal duty, or shall receive any fee or reward for the performance of any legal duty not allowed by law, or shall by color of his office knowingly do any act not authorized by law, or shall use any of the moneys belonging to the state, or shall perform any other duty of his office in any other manner than is required by law, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and, on conviction thereof, shall forfeit for the use of the state any sum not less than one hundred dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 18, sec. 34.

(oo) If an officer take a fee not authorized by law, under the belief that he is by law entitled to it, and without any corrupt intent in the matter, he is not guilty of extortion. Leeman v. State, 35—438. It is a sufficient averment of a corrupt intent in an indictment for extortion to allege that the defendant "extorsively" took the unlawful fee. Ib.

XXX.—BARRETRY.

SECTION

1763. Punishment for.

SECTION

1764. Bringing or encouraging frivolous suit.

SECTION 1763. Every person who shall be convicted of being a barretor (*) shall be fined in any sum he may be able to pay, not less than one hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned six months. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 3, sec. 15.

SEC. 1764. Any officer or any person who shall bring, or aid and encourage others to bring, frivolous, groundless or malicious prosecutions, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. Act March 23, 1871, sec. 5.

XXXI.—OBSTRUCTING PROCESS—ESCAPE AND RESCUE.

1765. Obstructing or resisting execution of writ, etc.

1766. Assaulting officer.

1767. Drawing weapon on officer.

ESCAPE AND RESCUE.

1768. Rescue in case of felony.

1769. In case of misdemeanor.

1770. Escaped convict may be retaken.

1771. Aiding an escape.

SECTION

1772. Escape, etc., of penitentiary convict.

1773. Attempt at rescue.

1774. Conveying instruments into jail to aid escape.

1775. Attempt to escape by force or violence.

1776, 1777. Officer permitting escape.

1778. failing to execute process.

1779. Jailer refusing to receive prisoner.

1780. Permitting escape of penitentiary convict.

SECTION 1765. If any person shall knowingly and willfully obstruct or resist (pp) any sheriff, or other ministerial officer, in the service or execution of, or in the attempt to serve or execute any writ, warrant or process, original or judicial, in discharge of any official duty, in case of felony, or any other case, civil or criminal, or in the service of any order or rule of court, in any case whatever, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars, and may also be imprisoned not exceeding six months.

SEC. 1766. Every person who shall assault, beat or wound any officer while engaged in the service or execution of, or in attempting to serve or execute, any writ, warrant or process, original or judicial, or any order or rule of court, or while engaged in the discharge of any official duty, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be punished as prescribed in the last preceding section. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 3, secs. 1, 2.

SEC. 1767. Every person who shall resist the execution of any civil or criminal process, by threatening, or by actually drawing a pistol, gun or other deadly weapon upon the sheriff or other officer authorized to execute such process, shall, upon conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term not less than one nor more than five years. Act July 23, 1868.

(*) A barretor is one who excites or maintains suits and quarrels, either in courts or elsewhere in the country; a disturber of the peace, who spreads false rumors and calumnies, whereby discord and disquiet may grow among neighbors. Burrill's Law Dic., Tit. "Barretor."

(pp) By the use of these terms the legislature did not intend to create two distinct and different offenses. Sticker v. State, 13—397. As to indictment under this section, see Oliver v. State, 17—508.

ESCAPE AND RESCUE.

SEC. 1768. Whoever shall, by force or menaces of bodily harm, or by other unlawful means, set any one at liberty who is in custody, after a lawful arrest, either before or after conviction for any felony, knowing or being informed that such offender is lawfully arrested; or any officer or other person having such offender in custody, upon a lawful arrest or conviction, for any such offense, who shall voluntarily, corruptly and of purpose let such prisoner escape (qq), shall, on conviction, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than seven years. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 10.

SEC. 1769. Every person who shall by force set at liberty or rescue any person held in custody or prison for any offense other than felony, whether before or after conviction, or upon any writ or process, original or judicial, in any civil case, shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars and be imprisoned not less than six months.

SEC. 1770. If any person sentenced to imprisonment in any jail or other place of confinement, on conviction for a criminal offense, shall escape, he shall be pursued, retaken and again imprisoned, notwithstanding the term for which he was sentenced to be imprisoned may have expired at the time he is retaken, and shall remain so imprisoned until tried for such escape, or until discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 1771. Every person who shall, by any means whatever, aid or assist any prisoner lawfully committed to any jail or place of confinement, or in custody of any officer, in any case, civil or criminal, to escape therefrom, whether such escape be effected or not, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars and be imprisoned not exceeding one year. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 3, secs. 5, 8, 14.

SEC. 1772. If any convict confined in the penitentiary shall escape therefrom, he shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than five nor more than ten years. If any convict shall openly rebel, with intent to kill the keeper or any other officer of the penitentiary, or with intent by open violence to escape therefrom, he shall, on conviction, be punished by confinement therein during his natural life; and if any two or more convicts shall conspire together, and shall not have carried their intention into execution, on conviction thereof, they shall undergo a further imprisonment of not less than five nor more than ten years, to commence at the end of the terms of time for which said persons were under sentence of confinement. Act Dec. 17, 1838.

SEC. 1773. The attempt to rescue and set at liberty by force any person in custody, or in prison, although the attempt fail of success, shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, the offender shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 1774. Every person who shall convey into any jail or place of confinement any disguised instrument, arms or other thing proper or useful to aid any prisoner in his escape, with the intent thereby to facilitate the escape of any prisoner lawfully committed to or detained in such jail or place of confinement, for felony or other criminal offense, or detained therein for any violation of any penal statute, or in any civil action, whether such escape be effected or attempted or not, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars and be imprisoned not less than six months.

SEC. 1775. Every person lawfully imprisoned in any jail or other place of confinement, or held in custody of any officer, for any cause whatever, who shall attempt, by force or violence to any person, to effect his escape from such imprisonment or custody, although no escape be effected, shall be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than fifty dollars and imprisoned not less than six months, which imprisonment shall commence at the end of the term for which such person may be in prison.

SEC. 1776. If any officer or other person having by law the custody or charge of any jail, or other place of confinement, or the under officer or deputy of such officer or person, shall knowingly suffer or permit any disguised instrument, arms or other thing proper or useful to aid any person in his escape to be conveyed into or remain in such jail or place, he shall, upon conviction, suffer the like punishment as the person conveying such disguised instrument, arms or other thing into such jail or place of confinement would be liable to, according to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 1777. If any officer, or his under officer or deputy, having the lawful custody of any prisoner, for any cause whatever, shall voluntarily suffer, or permit, or connive at the escape of such prisoner from his custody (rr), or permit him to go at large, he shall, upon conviction, be punished in the same manner as if convicted of aiding or assisting such prisoner to escape.

SEC. 1778. If any sheriff or other officer shall willfully and corruptly fail or refuse to execute any lawful process whatever, which by law it is his duty to execute, requiring the apprehension or confinement of any person charged with a criminal offense, whereby such person shall escape, the officer so offending shall be punished in the same manner as persons aiding or assisting an escape.

SEC. 1779. If any jailer, or keeper of any jail, shall refuse to receive in the jail under his charge any person lawfully committed to such jail on any criminal charge or conviction, or on any lawful process whatever, he shall, on conviction, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not less than one hundred dollars and be dismissed from his office. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art. 3.

SEC. 1780. Any person who shall willfully or corruptly suffer, connive at, or permit the escape of any convict sentenced to confinement in the penitentiary shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary for not less than five nor more than ten years. Act March 21, 1881.

XXXII.—OFFENSES AGAINST THE REVENUE (*).

SECTION

1781. Collector or deputy purchasing land sold for taxes.

1782. collecting taxes not on tax-book.

1783. Disposing of property to avoid assessment.

1784. Refusing to pay special taxes.

1785. County treasurer failing to settle.

SECTION

1786. President or agent of bank failing to list stock.

1787. Express, insurance or telegraph companies failing to pay.

1788. False listing of property for taxation, perjury.

1789. Clerk failing to make exhibit of county expenses.

SECTION 1781. Should any collector or his deputy be concerned, either directly or indirectly, in the purchase of any tract of land or town lot sold for the payment of taxes, he shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars, to be recovered by indictment. Rev. Stat., chap. 128, sec. 94.

SEC. 1782. If any collector shall collect taxes not stated on the tax-book, or shall collect a greater amount than is therein stated, except as authorized by law, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than five years, and make restitution in double the amount wrongfully collected.

SEC. 1783. If any person shall, for the purpose of avoiding the listing or the payment of taxes on any property subject to taxation, sell, give away or otherwise dispose of such property, under or subject to any agreement, expressed or implied, or any understanding with the purchaser, donee or recipient thereof, that the same is to be reconveyed, restored or delivered to the person so disposing of such property, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars.

SEC. 1784. If any person following the occupation of auctioneer, exhibitor of circus or menagerie on which specific taxes are by law levied shall fail, refuse or neglect to pay said taxes, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than two hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, and stand committed until such fine and costs be paid ().

SEC. 1785. Should any county treasurer refuse or neglect to make settlement as required by law, or, having settled, failed to produce, for counting, the amount found to be in his hands (), he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of one hundred dollars, and his said office shall be by the court declared forfeited.

SEC. 1786. If the president or principal accounting officer or agent of any bank or incorporated company shall fail to comply with the provisions of the law in regard to listing or the payment of taxes on the shares or capital stock of such bank or incorporated company, at the time fixed by law for listing property or paying taxes, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be deemed guilty of a felony, and shall be fined not less than one thousand and not more than five thousand dollars, and imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than five years; and the fine hereby imposed shall be a lien against the assets of such bank or incorporated company, and execution may issue as in other cases.

(*) For other offenses against the revenue law, see SECS. 5734, 5743, 5617, 5619, 5642, 5646, 5655, 5685, 5872.

() That part of this section which applied to peddlers is omitted because of the decision in State v. McGinnis, 37—362.

() See Vance & Wallace v. State, use, etc., 35—176.

SEC. 1787. If the taxes assessed against any express, insurance or telegraph company, in any county, shall remain due and unpaid after the tenth day of February, in any year, it shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to act as agent, or do or transact any business for such company so in default in such county, until said tax and interest and penalty is fully paid; and any person, or agent, manager or clerk of any corporation who shall, after such default, directly or indirectly, act as agent of, or do or transact any business whatever on account of, or for the benefit of, such company so in default shall, upon conviction thereof, be confined in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than twelve months.

SEC. 1788. Any president, secretary, receiver, accounting officer, servant, agent or person who shall knowingly make any false answer to any question or statement required by law touching the business, property, moneys and credits of such person or corporation liable to taxation shall be deemed guilty of perjury. Act April 28, 1873, secs. 83, 137, 159, 189, 17, 28, 38.

SEC. 1789. Any clerk who shall refuse to comply with the requirements and provisions of section 1429 shall be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned not exceeding one month. Act Jan. 14, 1857, sec. 3.

XXXIII.—DUELING AND CHALLENGES.

SECTION

- 1790. Duel where death does not ensue.
- 1791. Bearing challenge, etc.
- 1792. Offending parties compelled to testify.
- 1793. Conviction incapacitates for holding office.

SECTION

- 1794. Former conviction or acquittal, a bar.
- 1795. Production of written challenge not necessary on trial.

SECTION 1790. Every person who shall fight a duel with a deadly weapon, if death does not ensue, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum he may be able to pay, not less than one thousand dollars, and be imprisoned not less than one year.

SEC. 1791. Every person who shall induce another to fight such a duel, or who shall send or deliver any written or verbal message purporting or intended to be such challenge, or who shall accept such challenge or message, or who shall be present at the time and place of fighting any such duel with deadly weapons, either as second, aid or surgeon, or who shall advise, countenance or assist in such duel, shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than five hundred dollars, and be imprisoned not less than six months.

SEC. 1792. Every person offending against any of the provisions of this statute shall be a competent witness against any other person offending in the same transaction, and shall be compelled to appear and give evidence before the grand jury, or in any court, in the same manner as other persons; but the testimony so given shall not be used in any prosecution or proceeding against the person so testifying.

SEC. 1793. Every person convicted of a violation of the provisions of the first section of this title shall be incapable of holding, or being elected or appointed to, any office, post or place of trust or profit, civil or military, under the constitution or laws of this state (*).

SEC. 1794. Every offender under this title may plead a former conviction or acquittal for the same offense in another state or county, and if such plea be admitted or established it shall be a bar to any further or other proceeding against such person for the same offense.

SEC. 1795. On the trial of any person for any offense under the provisions of this title, if there was a written challenge to fight, or any other paper, it shall not be necessary, on the part of the prosecution, to produce such challenge or paper, but it shall be sufficient to prove that there was a challenge or agreement to fight, either verbal or written; or that such person did fight, or did agree to fight, as the case may be, shall be sufficient. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 5, art 4, secs. 2-7.

XXXIV.—RIOT—AFFRAYS—DISTURBING THE PUBLIC PEACE.

SECTION

1796, 1797. Riot defined and punished.

AFFRAYS.

1798. Affray defined and punished.

1799. aggravated; punishment.

DISTURBING THE PUBLIC PEACE.

1800. By loud noise, threats, etc.

1801. Disturbers failing to disperse.

SECTION

1802. Profane or abusive language.

1803. Peace officers to arrest disturbers.

1804. Proceedings after arrest.

1805. Penalty for failure to arrest.

1806. Drawing deadly weapon.

1807. Insulting teacher.

1808. Forcibly taking or holding real estate.

SECTION 1796. If three or more persons assemble together with the intent, or, being assembled, shall agree, mutually, to assist each other to do an unlawful act, with force or violence, against the person or property of another, or against the peace or to the terror of the people, and shall accomplish the purpose intended, or do any unlawful act in furtherance of such purpose, in a violent or turbulent manner, every person so offending, or who shall aid or assist in doing any unlawful act, shall be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 8, art. 1, sec. 1.

SEC. 1797. If any person or persons do an unlawful act, with force or violence, against the person or property of another, with or without a common cause or quarrel, or even do a lawful act in a violent or tumultuous manner, the person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a riot, and, on conviction, shall severally be fined in any sum not more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not more than three months, or both. Act July 23, 1868, sec. 9.

AFFRAYS (ss).

SEC. 1798. If two or more persons shall, by agreement, fight, to the terror of any citizen of this state, the person or persons so offending shall be deemed

(*) See art. XIX, sec. 2, Const.

(ss) See Childs v. State, 15—204; State v. Brewer, 33—176.

guilty of an affray, and shall be fined in any sum not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than one nor more than three months, or both. Act July 23, 1868, secs. 2, 3.

SEC. 1799. If any persons fight by mutual agreement, and one of them be maimed, it shall not be deemed maiming, but the parties shall be punished by fine and imprisonment, as for an aggravated affray, which fine shall not exceed one thousand dollars, and the imprisonment shall not exceed one year. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 3, sec. 8.

DISTURBING THE PUBLIC PEACE.

SEC. 1800. If any person shall willfully or maliciously disturb, either by day or night, the peace and quiet of any town, village, neighborhood or family by loud or unusual noise, or by abusive, violent, obscene or profane language, whether addressed to the party so disturbed or some other person, or by threatening to fight, quarreling or challenging to fight, or fighting, or shooting off any fire-arms, or brandishing the same, or by running any horse at unusual speed along any street, alley, highway or public road, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not more than three hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than one month nor more than six months, or both, at the discretion of the court or jury trying the case. Act July 23, 1868, sec. 1, as amended by act March 21, 1881.

SEC. 1801. If two or more persons assemble together for the purpose of disturbing the public peace or committing any unlawful act, and do not disperse on being desired or commanded so to do by a judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner, constable or other public officer, all persons so offending shall, on conviction thereof, be severally fined in any sum not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not less than one nor more than three months, or both.

SEC. 1802. If any person shall make use of any profane, violent, abusive or insulting language toward or about another person, in his presence or hearing, which language, in its common acceptance, is calculated to arouse to anger the person about or to whom it is spoken or addressed, or to cause a breach of the peace or an assault, every such person shall be deemed guilty of a breach of the peace (tt), and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail, in close confinement, for not less than one nor more than six months, and any person who shall be punished by fine only under the provisions of this section, and shall not pay said fine, or secure the payment thereof to the satisfaction of the court, before such person is released from custody, it shall be the duty of the officer having such person in custody to confine him in the county jail until such fine is paid, at the rate of two dollars per day.

SEC. 1803. It shall be the duty of every justice of the peace, police magistrate, sheriff, coroner, constable and police officer who may have personal knowledge of the commission of any breach of the peace, as defined in the last preceding section, to arrest such offender and bring him to trial.

(tt) See SEC. 1901. Whether profane language is calculated to arouse to anger or produce a breach of the peace is a question to be left to a jury. State v. Moser, 33—140. As to using insulting language to a crowd, see Hearn v. State, 34—550. As to indictment under this section, see State v. Hulson, 40—361.

SEC. 1804. Any person so arrested shall be taken before the nearest justice of the peace, who shall at once proceed to hear such complaint as may be lodged against the person so arrested, unless, for good cause shown, the examination or trial of such cause may be continued not more than thirty days at one time. In case of any continuance of such cause, the court shall require the person so arrested to enter into bond for his appearance, with sufficient security, to be approved by the court, in a sum not less than the largest fine that may be imposed for such offense.

SEC. 1805. Any officer whose duty it may be to make or cause the arrest of persons so offending, or any judge or justice of the peace having jurisdiction of such offenses, who shall fail or refuse to arrest, or cause to be arrested, and bring to justice any person whom they may know, or may be legally informed, to have so offended shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished.

SEC. 1806. Every person who shall draw a pistol, gun or any other deadly weapon upon any other person, for the purpose of frightening or intimidating him from doing or attempting to do any lawful act, when such person drawing said pistol, gun or other deadly weapon is not justified in self-defense for so doing, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in a sum not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars and be imprisoned in the county jail for twelve months. Act July 23, 1868, secs. 2-8 and 13.

SEC. 1807. If any parent, guardian or other person, from any cause, fancied or real, visit any school and insult any teacher in the presence of his pupils, the person offending by such conduct shall be liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars. Act Dec. 7, 1875, sec. 85.

SEC. 1808. Every person who shall take or keep possession of any real estate by actual force or violence, without the authority of law, or who, being armed with a deadly or dangerous weapon, shall by violence to any person entitled to the possession, or by putting in fear of immediate danger to his person, obtain or keep possession of any such real estate or property without legal authority, shall, on conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not less than fifty dollars and be imprisoned not exceeding one year. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 8, art. 1, sec. 6.

XXXV.—LIBEL AND SLANDER.

SECTION

1809. Libel defined.

1810. punishment for.

1811. truth may be given in evidence.

1812. Proclaiming person coward for not accepting challenge.

SLANDER.

1813, 1814, 1815. Slander, what is.

SECTION

1816. Slander, no indictment for, unless.

1817. truth of words may be given in evidence.

1818. prosecution for, does not prevent civil suit.

1819. limitation of offense.

1820. punishment for.

SECTION 1809. A libel is a malicious defamation, expressed either by writing, printing or by signs or pictures or the like, tending to blacken the memory of one who is dead, or to impeach the honesty, integrity, veracity, virtue or reputation, or to publish the natural defects, of one who is living, and thereby expose him to public hatred, contempt and ridicule.

SEC. 1810. Every person, whether writer, printer or publisher, convicted of the crime of libel shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five thousand dollars and may also be imprisoned not exceeding one year.

SEC. 1811. In all prosecutions for libel, under the provisions of the preceding sections, the truth thereof may be given in evidence in justification. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 8, art. 2, secs. 1-3.

SEC. 1812. If any person shall in any newspaper, or handbill or other advertisement printed or written, publish or proclaim any other person as a coward, or use any other opprobrious or abusive language, for not accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or for not fighting a duel, such person, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than three hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned in the penitentiary at hard labor for a term of not less than two months nor more than one year, or both fine and imprisonment. The publisher or printer of any newspaper, handbill or other publication may be summoned as a witness, and shall be required to testify against the writer of such handbill or publication; and if any such publisher or printer shall refuse to testify in relation to the premises, either before the grand or petit jury or any judicial officer, he shall be deemed guilty of a flagrant contempt of court, and may be punished by fine and imprisonment or either. Provided, however, that the testimony given by any such witness shall in no case be used in any prosecution or civil suit against such witness. Act July 23, 1868, sec. 11, and Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 8, art 2, secs. 4-7.

SLANDER.

SEC. 1813. If any person shall falsely use, utter or publish words which, in their common acceptation, shall amount to charge any person with having been guilty of fornication or adultery, such words, so spoken, shall be deemed slander, and shall be actionable and indictable as such.

SEC. 1814. It shall be deemed slander, and shall be actionable, to charge any person with swearing falsely, or with having sworn falsely, or for using, uttering or publishing words of, to or concerning any person which, in their common acceptation, amount to such charge, whether the words be spoken in conversation of and concerning a judicial proceeding or not.

SEC. 1815. It shall be deemed slander to falsely use, utter or publish words which, in their common acceptance, shall amount to charge any person with having been guilty of any other crime or misdemeanor not mentioned in this act, or to charge any person with having been guilty of any dishonest business or official conduct or transaction, the effect of which charge would be to injure the credit or business standing, or to bring into disrepute, the good name or character of such person so slandered, and such words, so spoken, shall be actionable, and the person so falsely publishing, speaking or uttering the same shall be deemed guilty of slander and punished accordingly.

SEC. 1816. No indictment shall be found under this act except at the instance or by consent of the person slandered or his legal representative.

SEC. 1817. Upon the trial of any person for the crime of slander he shall be allowed to give in evidence the truth of the words charged in the indictment to have been spoken by him.

SEC. 1818. Nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to prevent any person slandered from bringing and maintaining a civil suit against any person committing such slander for damages.

SEC. 1819. All presentments made under this act must be made within twelve months from the date of uttering or publishing such slander.

SEC. 1820. Slander shall be a crime; and any person who shall hereafter be found guilty of the crime of slander shall, upon conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary, at hard labor, for a term of not less than six months nor more than three years, or fined not less than fifty nor more than three thousand dollars, or both fine and imprisonment may be imposed; and any person so convicted and punished by fine only, if such fine be not paid at once, shall be confined in the penitentiary, at hard labor, until such fine be paid, at the rate of two dollars per day. Act March 19, 1869.

XXXVI.—CONSPIRACIES AND USURPATION OF OFFICE.

SECTION

1821. Conspiracy to usurp the government.

1822. to commit felony.

1823. to cheat.

SECTION

1824. Conspiracy to procure indictment.

1825. Usurpation of office.

SECTION 1821. If any two or more persons conspire, by force or otherwise, to usurp the government of the state, or overthrow the same, or seize any department thereof, or obstruct the administration of justice, by interrupting the proceedings thereof, or by intimidating any court of justice, or any officer of the law, evidenced by any acts or by forcible attempts to accomplish any of the purposes aforesaid, every person so offending shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period of not less than one nor more than fifteen years, in the discretion of the court. Act Feb. 27, 1873.

device, commonly called ———, there kept contrary to the statute in such case made and provided: You are therefore hereby commanded to make search there for such gambling device, and, if the same be found, then that you forthwith proceed publicly to burn the same, according to law. Hereof fail not, and make due return of this writ.

Given under my hand, this ——— day of ———, 18—.

———, J. P.

SEC. 1833. The officer executing such warrant, and burning, by virtue thereof, any gaming device, as required in the last preceding section, shall, on his making his return to the officer who issued the same, and getting the statement of such judge or justice that said warrant has been returned to him, duly executed, by the burning of any gaming device, stating what, or describing the device burnt, indorsed on such warrant, be entitled to his fees for such service, to be paid by the person keeping such gambling table.

SEC. 1834. If any person shall be guilty of betting any money, or any valuable thing, on any game of brag, bluff, poker (xx), seven-up, three-up, twenty-one, vintgun, thirteen cards, the odd trick, forty-five, whist, or at any other game at cards known by any name now known to the laws, or with any other or new name, or without any name, he shall, on conviction, be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars (*). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 6, art. 3, secs. 1-8.

SEC. 1835. If any person shall be guilty of betting any money, or any valuable thing, on any game of hazard or skill, he shall, on conviction, be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars.

SEC. 1836. In prosecuting under the preceding section it is sufficient for the indictment to charge that the defendant bet money or other valuable thing on a game of hazard or skill, without stating with whom the game was played. Act Jan. 22, 1855.

SEC. 1837. When it shall come to the knowledge of any peace officer that any person is guilty of any of the offenses aforesaid, it shall be his duty to give notice thereof to any judge or magistrate in the county, who shall issue his warrant and cause such offender to be brought before him; and it shall be the duty of the judge or magistrate to examine the matter in a summary manner, and to discharge, bail or commit the offender, as the circumstances and the right of the case may require.

SEC. 1838. Whenever any judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner or constable shall deem it necessary, they, or either of them, are hereby authorized to summon any militia officer and as many militia men as they shall deem necessary or competent to assist in enforcing the provisions of this title.

SEC. 1839. Every militia officer or militia man so summoned, failing or refusing to aid and assist therein, shall forfeit and pay, for the use of the school fund, as well as for the officer summoning such delinquent, a sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, to be recovered in the name of the county, and to be paid, when collected, one-half to the school fund and the other half to the officer summoning such delinquent; and execution shall issue on such judgment as in case of debt.

(xx) See Flynn v. State, 34—441; State v. Jeffrey, 33—136.

(*) An indictment for gaming need not allege the names of the parties playing the game if known, nor the grand jury's ignorance of their names if not known. Goodman v. State, 41—228. As to when a participant in the game is a competent witness, see Robinson v. State, 41—400.

SEC. 1840. The judges of the several courts in this state shall, in their constructions of the statutes prohibiting gaming, construe the same liberally, with a view of preventing persons from evading the penalty of the law, by changings of the name, or the invention of new names or devices, that now are, or may hereafter be brought into practice in any and in all kinds of gaming, and all general terms of description shall be so construed as to have effect and to include all such games and devices as are not specially named, and in all cases when construction is necessary it shall be in favor of the prohibition and against the offender. Rev. Stat., chap 44, div. 6, art. 3, secs. 9-13.

SEC. 1841. Every person who shall make any bet or wager upon the result of any general or special election in this state shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars. Act Feb. 21, 1859.

KENO (*).

SEC. 1842. If any person or persons shall set up or exhibit, or cause to be set up or exhibited, or aid or assist in setting up or exhibiting, in any county, city or town in the state, any gaming device commonly known and designated as "keno," or any device similar thereto, by any other name or without a name, each person so setting up or exhibiting such device, or aiding or assisting in exhibiting or setting up such device, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on indictment and conviction before the circuit court, or on conviction before a justice of the peace, shall be fined in any sum not less than two hundred dollars.

SEC. 1843. It shall be the duty of each prosecuting attorney in this state who knows or is informed of any person or persons exhibiting or setting up, or aiding or assisting in setting up, any device described in the preceding section in his circuit to take immediate steps to have such person or persons immediately arrested for trial, and such prosecuting attorney shall have such person or persons arrested as above provided for each separate offense done or committed on every separate day.

SEC. 1844. It shall be the duty of every justice of the peace knowing or being informed of any violation of section 1842 in his township, for which the parties have not been arrested or tried under the provisions of this act, to cause the arrest and trial of the person or persons so offending for each separate offense done or committed against the provisions of this act.

SEC. 1845. If any justice of the peace who knows or is informed of any violation of section 1842 in his township shall refuse or neglect to cause the arrest and trial of the person or persons so violating the same within five days next after he is informed of the same, he shall be guilty of a misfeasance in office, and, on indictment and conviction therefor, he shall be by the circuit court removed from office.

SEC. 1846. If any prosecuting attorney who knows or is informed of any violation of this act shall refuse or neglect to cause the arrest and trial of such person so offending within five days next after he knows or is informed of the same, he shall, on indictment and conviction, be fined in any sum not less than five hundred dollars.

(*) See Stephen Trimble v. State, 27—355; Portis v. State, Id., 360; State v. Lindsay, 34—372.

SEC. 1847. No license granted by any city or town shall be a bar to any prosecution or conviction under the provisions of this act, or any excuse, protection or justification for any justice of the peace or prosecuting attorney failing to carry out the same. Act March 10, 1877.

DEALING IN FUTURES.

SEC. 1848. The buying or selling or otherwise dealing in what is known as futures, either in cotton, grain or anything whatsoever, with a view to profit, is hereby declared to be gambling.

SEC. 1849. Whoever shall so engage in dealing in futures in any capacity whatsoever in this state shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than two hundred and fifty dollars and not more than five hundred dollars, and for the second offense, in addition to the penalty above prescribed, such offender shall, upon conviction, be imprisoned in the county jail for the period of thirty days. Act March 30, 1883.

SEC. 1861. Any person who shall sell, exchange or dispose of any animal taken up as an estray in any manner, or kill any neat cattle, hogs or sheep, until after the expiration of the time that the owner has the right to prove his property in the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than half nor more than double the appraised value of any such estray so taken up, to be recovered in the county where such estray may have been taken up. Rev. Stat., chap. 58, sec. 21, and act Dec. 24, 1842.

XLII.—DRIVING STOCK FROM USUAL RANGE.

SECTION

1862. Without consent of owner a misdemeanor; punishment.

SECTION 1862. Any person who shall drive or remove from their usual range, without the consent of the owner or person having the right to control the same, any cattle, horses, sheep, hogs or other stock shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars, for the use of the county where said offense may be committed. Act March 1, 1877.

(zz) As to form of indictment for keeping a tavern without having first procured a license, see State v. Adams, 16—497.

XLIII.—OFFENSES AGAINST ROAD LAW (aaa).

SECTION

1863. Overseers, list of, to be furnished grand jury.

SECTION

1864. Overseers, penalty for neglect of duty.

SECTION 1863. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court, at each regular term of the circuit court, to furnish the grand jury with a list of the names of all the overseers of roads in the county, with the name and number of the district assigned to each overseer; and it shall be the duty of the grand jury to inquire into the condition of the roads, or parts of roads, in each road district assigned to each overseer.

SEC. 1864. If the overseer in any road district shall fail to keep the roads in said district in good repair, or shall fail to erect and keep in repair guide-posts as required by law, or shall fail to report such persons as shall fail, refuse or neglect to perform any act or duty required of them by the road law, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than one nor more than twenty-five dollars (bbh). Act March 23, 1871, secs. 39, 40, 41.

XLIV.—OBSTRUCTING HIGHWAYS, INJURING BRIDGES, ETC.

SECTION

1865. Obstructing public roads a misdemeanor, exception.

SECTION

1866. Injuring bridges, etc., how punished.
1867. Removing mile-stones, etc., how punished.

SECTION 1865. If any person shall obstruct any public road by felling any tree or trees across the same, or placing any other obstruction therein, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to indictment in the circuit court of the proper county, and, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars (ccc), and shall forfeit two dollars for every day he shall suffer such obstruction to remain after he shall have been notified to remove the same by the overseer. Provided, this shall not extend to any person who may cut down any timber for rails, wood or other lawful purpose who shall immediately remove the same out of the road, or to any person who shall dig a ditch or drain across such road on his own lands, and who keeps the same in repair.

SEC. 1866. If any person shall willfully injure or destroy any bridge or crossway, or remove any of the planks or timber therefrom, or destroy or deface any guide-post on a public road, every person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars. Act Dec. 4, 1874.

(aaa) For obstructing highways, injuring bridges, etc., see SECS. 1865-1867.

For overseer's failure to pay over or account for money collected by him as such, see SEC. 1644. For other offenses against the road law, see SEC. 5907.

(bbb) Parol evidence that an overseer acted as such is admissible to prove his acceptance of the appointment. State v. Stroope, 20—202. See also State v. Hester, 21—193. The state must prove the road is a public road as defined by the statute. State v. Moore, 23—530. An order of the county court appointing an overseer for a particular road or district is evidence that, during the term of the appointment, the road described is a public road. Id.; State v. Hagood, Id., 553. The description of the road is material, and must be proved as alleged. Dormar v. State, 31—49.

(ccc) It is an indictable offense for one to change a public road running across his land without authority of the county court. McKibbin v. State, 40—480. See State v. Lemay, 13—405; Sanders v. State, 18—198.

SEC. 1867. Any person who shall willfully and maliciously break, destroy or remove any mile-stone, post or any guide-board, erected by authority of law, on any public highway, or shall deface or alter any inscription on any such post, stone or board, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 4, art. 9, sec. 7.

XLV.—HORSE-RACING.

SECTION

1868. On highway or street, how punished.

1869. Inducing a minor to ride in, a misdemeanor.

SECTION

1870. Near church, school-house or highway; punishment; exception.

SECTION 1868. If any person shall be engaged, directly or indirectly, in running a horse, by way of practicing him, or in running a horse-race on a public highway, or on the street of any town or city, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, he shall be fined in any sum not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars.

SEC. 1869. If any person shall induce or accept of any minor or apprentice, without the consent of the parent or guardian of such minor or apprentice, to ride in a race or to practice any horse to run, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars.

SEC. 1870. If any person shall be engaged in running a horse-race, on a bet or wager, or for sport or pastime, with or without such bet or wager, within one-fourth of one mile of any church or school-house, or any public road or highway, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than ten nor more than twenty-five dollars. Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any regular inclosed race-course or racing park. Act Nov. 5, 1875, secs. 1, 2 and 3.

XLVI.—VAGRANTS.

SECTION

SECTION 1871. Every able-bodied person who shall be found loitering or rambling about, not having any visible means of maintaining himself, and who doth not betake himself to labor or some honest calling to procure a livelihood, and all able-bodied persons who are found begging, and who quit their houses and leave their wives and children without the means of subsistence, shall be deemed and treated as vagrants.

SEC. 1872. All keepers or exhibitors of any gaming table, bank or other gambling device, and all persons who travel or remain in steamboats, or go about from place to place for the purpose of gaming, shall be deemed and treated as vagrants.

SEC. 1873. Where any such person is found, any justice of the peace of the county shall, upon information or from his own knowledge, issue his warrant to the sheriff or any constable of the county to bring such person before him (†).

SEC. 1874. If, upon due examination, it shall appear to such justice that such person is a vagrant, and the fact being ascertained by a jury, which shall, in all cases, be summoned and sworn to inquire whether the person be a vagrant or not, he shall order him to be committed to the common jail of the county for any term not less than thirty nor more than ninety days, one-half of such time to be fed on bread and water alone.

SEC. 1875. If such vagrant be a minor, the justice shall commit him to jail, unless he enter into recognizance, with good and sufficient security, to appear at the next term of the circuit court, and, on the appearance of such minor, it shall be the duty of the court to bind him apprentice to some useful trade or occupation until he arrives at the age of twenty-one years, and such vagrant minor shall, in all respects, be subject to the laws regulating apprentices.

SEC. 1876. All sheriffs and constables, within their respective counties, shall give information to some justice of the peace of all vagrants that may from time to time come within their knowledge.

SEC. 1877. The grand jury impaneled for any county shall make presentment of all persons within the county whom they may suspect to be vagrants, and, upon such presentment, the circuit court shall direct some justice of the peace of the county to issue his warrant to bring such suspected person before him, and proceed with him as in this act directed. Rev. Stat., chap. 154.

XLVII.—SELLING SPIRITUOUS LIQUORS TO MINORS AND INDIANS.

SECTION

1878. Selling to minors.

SECTION

1879. Selling to Indians.

SECTION 1878. Any person who shall sell, either for himself or another, or be interested in the sale of any ardent, vinous, malt or fermented liquors, or any compound or preparation thereof, called tonics, bitters or medicated whisky, to any minor, without the written consent or order of the parent or guardian, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars (ddd). Act March 8, 1879, sec. 19.

SEC. 1879. If any person shall sell, exchange, give, barter or dispose of any spirituous liquors or wine to an Indian, on conviction thereof, he shall be fined in any sum not less than one nor more than five hundred dollars. Act Jan. 15, 1857.

(†) See art. VII, sec. 28; Const.; Brizzolari v. State, 37—364.

(ddd) One who sells liquor to a minor without the written consent of his parent or guardian violates this section, although he is informed and believes at the time that he is of full age; but an honest mistake as to his age will mitigate the penalty. Redmond v. State, 36—58; Crampton v. State, 37—108; Edgar v. State, Ib., 219; Pounders v. State, Ib., 399. A partner in a saloon or dram-shop is criminally liable for an illegal sale of

XLVIII.—PROFANITY.

SECTION

1880. Profanity in presence of court.
1881. In presence of judge or justice.

SECTION

1882. Profanity, when offender to be committed.

SECTION 1880. Every person who shall profanely swear or curse shall forfeit one dollar for every offense. If the offense be committed in the presence and hearing of any justice of the peace, mayor or judge, while holding a court, the offender shall be forthwith fined by the magistrate or judge without any other proof whatever.

SEC. 1881. If, at any time whatever, the offense of profane cursing and swearing be committed in the presence of any such justice, mayor or judge, such magistrate or judge may, in his discretion, fine the offender in a summary manner, without further proof, in any sum not less than five dollars.

SEC. 1882. If the offender do not forthwith pay the penalty incurred, with the cost, or give security for the payment of the same within six days, he shall be committed to jail for every such offense, or any number of offenses whereof he was convicted at the same time, for not less than one day nor more than three days. Act April 12, 1869.

XLIX.—SABBATH-BREAKING (eee).

SECTION 1883. Every person who shall, on the Sabbath or Sunday, be found laboring, or shall compel his apprentice or servant to labor or to perform other services than customary household duties, of daily necessity, comfort or charity, on conviction thereof, shall be fined one dollar for each separate offense (fff).

SEC. 1884. Every apprentice or servant compelled to labor on Sunday shall be deemed a separate offense of the master.

SEC. 1885. The provisions of this act shall not apply to steamboats and other vessels navigating the waters of the state, nor to such manufacturing establishments as require to be kept in continual operation.

liquor by his co-partner to a minor, though he was absent at the time of the sale and had no knowledge of it. Robinson & Warren v. State, 38—641; Cloud v. State, 36—151; Waller v. State, 38—656. The burthen of proving the consent of parent or guardian is on the seller. Edgar v. State, 37—219. Such consent must be in writing. Hill v. State, Id., 395. See Pounders v. State, Id., 399. An indictment must negative consent of parent or guardian. State v. Emerick, 35—324. The word "minor" sufficiently describes the age of the person to whom the liquor was sold. Waller v. State, 38—656.

(eee) The institutions of the Christian religion are entitled to profound respect, and may well be protected by law. Shover v. State, 10—259.

(fff) That the defendant's grain was wasting from over-ripeness is no defense to an indictment for Sabbath-breaking. State v. Goff, 20—289.

SEC. 1886. Persons who are members of any religious society who observe as Sabbath any other day of the week than the Christian Sabbath or Sunday shall not be subject to the penalties of this act, so that they observe one day in seven, agreeably to the faith and practice of their church or society.

SEC. 1887. Every person who shall, on Sunday, keep open any store or retail any goods, wares or merchandise, or keep open any dram-shop or grocery, or sell or retail any spirits or wine, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty (ggg).

SEC. 1888. Charity or necessity on the part of the customer may be shown in justification of the violation of the last preceding section.

SEC. 1889. Every person who shall, on the Christian Sabbath or Sunday, be engaged in the running of any single horse, for any bet or wager on the speed of such horse, or for pastime, or for amusement, without any bet or wager (*), or shall be engaged in any cock fight, on any bet or wager, or for pastime, without bet or wager, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, nor less than twenty dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 7, art. 2.

SEC. 1890. Every person who shall, on the Christian Sabbath or Sunday, be engaged in any game of brag, bluff, poker, seven-up, three-up, twenty-one, vingtun, thirteen cards, the odd trick, forty-five, whist, or at any other game at cards known by any name now known to the laws, or with any other new name, for any bet or wager on such games, or for amusement, without any bet or wager, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than fifty dollars (hhh). Act Jan. 12, 1853.

SEC. 1891. If any person shall be found hunting with a gun, with intent to kill game, or shooting for amusement on the Sabbath day, on conviction thereof, he shall be fined in any sum not less than five nor more than twenty-five dollars for each separate offense. Act Jan. 19, 1855.

SEC. 1892. If such offense should be committed by a minor, under the age of twenty-one years, and it shall be made appear that the offense was committed by or with the consent or approbation of the parent or guardian of said minor, then such parent or guardian, as aforesaid, shall also be fined according to the provisions of section 1891. Ib., sec. 2.

SEC. 1893. If any person shall be engaged in running a horse-race on the day known as the Christian Sabbath or Sunday, on a bet or wager, or for sport or pastime, with or without such bet or wager, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars. Act Nov. 5, 1875, sec. 4.

(ggg) See Shover v. State, 10—259; Brittin v. State, Ib., 299; Bennett v. State, 13—694; State v. Parnell, 16—506; Blahut v. State, 34—447. One keeping a saloon open on Sunday is guilty, whether he is the owner or proprietor or not. If a clerk or servant in the saloon, and serving in it as such, when the door is open on Sunday, he is a participant in the offense. Marre v. State, 36—222. Alcohol is embraced in any one of the terms, "goods, wares or merchandise," as used in this section. Bridges v. State, 37—224. It is necessary to prove the offense on some Sabbath within twelve months before the prosecution, but proof of any particular Sabbath is not necessary. Marre v. State, 36—222. The indictment must show the offense was committed on some Sunday, though the particular Sunday is not important. Robinson v. State, 38—548.

(*) See SEC. 1893.

(hhh) It is not necessary in an indictment, under this section, for playing cards on Sunday to allege that the game was played for amusement, or that the defendant bet upon the game. Stockden v. State, 18—186. Nor is it necessary to state the name of the game. State v. Jeffrey, 33—136.

If any person shall overdrive, overload, torture, torment, deprive of necessary sustenance, or cruelly beat or needlessly mutilate or kill, or cause or procure to be overdriven, overloaded, tortured, tormented or deprived of necessary sustenance, or to be cruelly beaten or needlessly (III) mutilated or killed, any living creature, every such offender shall, for every such offense, be guilty of a misdemeanor (†).

SEC. 1942. Any person who shall keep or use, or in any way be connected with or interested in the management of, or shall receive money for the admission of any person to any place kept or used for the purpose of fighting or baiting any bull, bear, dog, cock or other creature, and every person who shall encourage, aid or assist therein, or who shall permit or suffer any place to be so kept or used, shall, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 1943. Any person who shall impound, or cause to be impounded, in any pound or other place, any creature, shall supply to the same during such confinement a sufficient quantity of good, wholesome food and water, and in default thereof shall, upon conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 1944. In case any creature shall be at any time impounded as aforesaid, and shall continue to be without necessary food and water for more than twelve successive hours, it shall be lawful for any person from time to time, and as often as it shall be necessary, to enter into and upon any pound or other place in which any such creature shall be so confined, and to supply it with necessary food and water so long as it shall remain so confined; such person shall not be liable to any action for such entry, and the reasonable cost of such food and water may be collected by him of the owner of such creature, and the said creature shall not be exempt from levy and sale upon execution issued upon a judgment therefor.

SEC. 1945. If any person shall carry or cause to be carried in or upon any vehicle, boat or otherwise any creature in a cruel or inhuman manner, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and whenever he shall be taken into custody therefor by any officer, such officer may take charge of such vehicle, boat, etc.,

(III) The term "needlessly," as here used, simply means an act done without useful motive, in a spirit of wanton cruelty, or for the mere pleasure of destruction. Grise v. State, 37—456. An indictment under this section need not allege the value or ownership of the animal. Ib. An indictment for needlessly killing an animal need not state the manner nor the particular circumstances of the killing. State v. Greenlees, 41—353.

(†) The offenses created by this act are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under SEC. 2:23. See State v. Greenlees, 41—353.

and its contents, and deposit the same in some safe place of custody, and any necessary expenses which may be incurred for taking charge of and keeping and sustaining the same shall be a lien thereon, to be paid before the same can lawfully be recovered; or the said expenses, or any part thereof remaining unpaid, may be recovered by the person incurring the same of the owner of said creature in any action therefor.

SEC. 1946. Every person who shall willfully set on foot, or instigate, or move to, or carry on, or promote, or engage in, or do any act toward the furtherance of any act of cruelty to any animal, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 1947. Any person who shall sell, or offer for sale, or use, or expose, or who shall cause or procure to be sold, or offered for sale, or used, or to be exposed, any horse or other animal having the disease known as glanders or farcy, or any other contagious or infectious disease known to such person to be dangerous to human life, or which shall be diseased past recovery, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 1948. Every animal having glanders or farcy shall at once be deprived of life by the owner or person having charge thereof upon discovery or knowledge of its condition; and any such owner or person omitting or refusing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 1949. The agents of any society which shall be incorporated for the prevention of cruelty to animals, upon being appointed thereto by the president of such society in any county of this state, may within such county make arrests and bring before any court or magistrate thereof having jurisdiction offenders found violating the provisions of this act.

SEC. 1950. Any officer, agent or member of such society may lawfully interfere to prevent the perpetration of any act of cruelty upon any animal in his presence. Any person who shall interfere with or obstruct any such officer, agent or member in the discharge of his duty shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 1951. Any agent or officer of such society may lawfully destroy or cause to be destroyed any animal found abandoned or otherwise and not properly cared for, appearing, in the judgment of two reputable citizens called by him to view the same in his presence, to be glandered, injured or diseased past recovery for any useful purpose.

SEC. 1952. When any person arrested is at the time of such arrest in charge of any vehicle drawn by or containing any animal, any agent of such society may take charge of such animal and of such vehicle and its contents and deposit the same in a safe place of custody, or deliver the same into the possession of the police or sheriff of the county or place wherein such arrest was made, who shall thereupon assume the custody thereof.

SEC. 1953. No injunction shall be granted against such society or any of its officers or agents, except upon motion after due notice and hearing thereof.

SEC. 1954. Upon complaint under oath or affirmation to any magistrate authorized to issue warrants in criminal cases that the complainant has any just and reasonable cause to suspect that any of the provisions of law relating to or in any wise affecting animals are being, or are about to be, violated in any particular building or place, such magistrate shall immediately issue and deliver a warrant to any person authorized by law to make arrests for such offenses, authorizing him to enter and search such building or place and to arrest any person there present found violating any of said laws, and to bring such person before the nearest magistrate of competent jurisdiction, to be dealt with according to law (*).

SEC. 1955. In this act, and in every law of this state passed or which may be passed relating to or affecting animals, the singular shall include the plural; the words "animal" or "dumb animal" shall be held to include every living creature; the words "torture," "torment" or "cruelty" shall be held to include every act, omission or neglect whereby unjustifiable physical pain, suffering or death is caused or permitted; and the words "owner" and "person" shall be held to include corporations as well as individuals; but nothing in this act shall be construed as prohibiting the shooting of birds or other game for the purposes of human food. Act March 11, 1879.

LXII.—FIRING WOODS, MARSHES OR PRAIRIES.

SECTION

1956. So as to occasion damage.

1957. Firing woods, etc., of another.

1958. Person injured by willful firing of any woods may recover double damages.

SECTION

1959. Act committed by hireling, when employer liable.

1960. Woods, etc., may be burned by consent of parties concerned.

SECTION 1956. If any person shall willfully set on fire any woods, marshes or prairies so as thereby to occasion any damage to any other person, such person shall pay a sum not less than twenty-five nor more than three hundred dollars, one-fourth thereof for the use of the person suing for the same, and the other three-fourths to the use of the county in which the offense is committed; in default of payment of such fine, he shall be imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten nor more than sixty days.

SEC. 1957. If any person shall willfully set on fire any woods, marshes or prairies not his own, such person shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten nor more than thirty days.

SEC. 1958. If any person shall willfully set on fire any woods, marshes or prairies, whether his own or not, so as thereby to occasion any damage to any other person, such person shall make satisfaction in double damages to the party injured, to be recovered by civil action (†).

SEC. 1959. When an offense shall be committed against this act by a hireling, with the consent or by the command of his employer, such employer shall be liable in the same manner and to the same extent as if the act had been committed by himself.

SEC. 1960. If two or more persons shall wish to burn off any woods, marshes or prairies for the benefit of such neighborhood, they shall give notice

(*) In ordinary proceedings under this act the warrant will be in the form used in other cases of misdemeanor, describing the offense charged in general terms. See note (1) to SEC. 1933. When the complaint authorizes a search the clause directing it may be substantially in the language of the statute, preceded by a recital, as in the form given in note (o), sub. div. 5, chap. 46.

(†) This section is inserted here because the provisions of section 1960 apply equally to it and to all the other sections found in this subdivision. It would otherwise have been placed in chapter 150. See SEC. 6462.

of such intention to those concerned in the immediate vicinity at least one day before such burning, and if a majority of those living contiguous thereto shall consent to the same, and said persons shall use all due caution to prevent damage thereby, such persons shall not be liable to the penalty in the foregoing sections of this act. Act Feb. 3, 1875, secs. 1-4, 6.

LXIII.—ALL ACTS INJURIOUS TO PUBLIC HEALTH, MORALS, ETC., HOW PUNISHED.

SECTION 1961. If any person shall commit any act injurious to the public health or public morals, or to the perversion or obstruction of public justice, or the due administration of the laws, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor (*). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, sec. 7.

I.—MODE OF PROSECUTION.

SECTION

1962. Offenses, persons charged with, liable to arrest.

1963. what indictable; exceptions.

1964. how prosecuted in justice or police courts.

SECTION

1965. Offenses punishable by fine only, may be prosecuted, how.

SECTION 1962. Persons charged with the commission of a public offense shall be liable to be immediately arrested and proceeded against in the manner hereinafter directed.

SEC. 1963. All public offenses may be prosecuted by indictment, except:

First. Offenses of public officers, where a different mode of procedure is prescribed by law.

Second. Offenses exclusively within the jurisdiction of police or city courts.

Third. Offenses arising in the militia, of which a military court has exclusive jurisdiction (a).

SEC. 1964. Offenses within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, or of a city or police court, may be prosecuted by a summons or warrant of arrest, in which shall be stated, in general terms, the offense charged to have been committed.

SEC. 1965. A public offense, of which the only punishment is a fine, may be prosecuted by a penal action in the name of the State of Arkansas, or in the name of an individual or corporation, where the whole fine is given to such individual or corporation. The proceedings in penal actions are regulated by the practice in civil actions. Crim. Code, secs. 5-8.

II.—CRIMINAL JURISDICTION OF THE COURTS OF THE STATE.

SECTION

1966. Jurisdiction of offenses.

LOCAL JURISDICTION.

1967. Jurisdiction of senate and supreme court.

1968. of circuit and justices' courts.

1969. of police and city courts.

1970. Locality of misdemeanors in city, stated when.

1971. Circuit court may certify case to police court, when.

1972, 1973, 1974, 1975, 1976, 1977, 1978, 1979, 1980. When offenses may be prosecuted in either of several counties.

SECTION

1981. County in which offender first arrested to try offense.

1982. Mortal injury in this state, and death elsewhere.

1983, 1984. Larceny of property out of the state brought into the state.

1985. Plea of conviction or acquittal out of state, in such case, bars prosecution here.

WRIT OF PROHIBITION.

1986. Prohibition, writs of, when to issue.

SECTION 1966. The jurisdiction of the various courts of this state, for the trial of offenses, shall be as follows:

First. The senate of Arkansas have exclusive jurisdiction of impeachment.

Second. The supreme court shall have general supervision and control over all inferior courts in criminal cases (*).

(a) See art. II, sec. 8, Const.

(*) See art. VII, sec. 4, Const., note (gg).

Third. The circuit courts have general jurisdiction for the trial of all offenses which may be prosecuted by indictment, and all prosecutions and penal actions, except as herein otherwise provided (b); and where an indictment is found in the circuit court for an offense within its jurisdiction, such court shall have jurisdiction of all the degrees of such offense, and of all the offenses included in the one charge, although some of those degrees or included offenses are within the exclusive jurisdiction of an inferior or local court.

Fourth. City and police courts shall have exclusive jurisdiction of all prosecutions and actions for infraction of the by-laws or ordinances of the city or town in which they are located; and concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit courts and justices' courts of prosecutions for misdemeanors committed in the town or city, and also concurrent jurisdiction in the cases provided by the special statutes creating or regulating such courts (c).

Fifth. In criminal causes the jurisdiction of justices of the peace shall extend to all matters less than felony for final determination and judgment (d). Provided, that circuit courts shall have jurisdiction concurrent with justices' courts in all such cases. Crim. Code, sec. 10, as amended 1871, and sec. 11.

LOCAL JURISDICTION.

SEC. 1967. The jurisdiction of the senate and supreme court embraces the whole state.

SEC. 1968. The local jurisdiction of circuit courts and justices' courts shall be of offenses committed within the respective counties in which they are held (*).

SEC. 1969. The local jurisdiction of police or city courts shall be of offenses committed within the limits of the jurisdiction of such courts, as prescribed by the statutes creating or regulating them.

SEC. 1970. The judges of circuit courts may require the grand juries, in prosecutions for misdemeanors within the local jurisdiction of city or police courts, to state in the indictments that such misdemeanors were committed within the town or city or other local limits of the jurisdiction of the city or police courts.

SEC. 1971. Where prosecutions have been commenced in the circuit court, of which a city, magistrate's or police court has concurrent jurisdiction, they may, by an order made by the judge of the circuit court, at his discretion, be removed into such city, magistrate's or police court for trial. Upon such order being made, the clerk of the circuit court shall deliver to the clerk of the city, magistrate's or police court all the papers relating to the prosecutions and a copy of the order of removal, and thereupon the defendant shall be bound to appear in said police, magistrate's or city court, and the prosecution be carried on to final judgment and execution, as if commenced in such court. Crim. Code, secs. 12-16.

SEC. 1972. Where the offense is committed on the boundary of two counties, or if it is uncertain where the boundary is, the indictment may be found and a trial had in either county (e). Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 93.

SEC. 1973. When property stolen in one county, and brought into another, shall have been taken by burglary or robbery, the offender may be indicted, tried and convicted for such burglary or robbery in the county into which such stolen property was taken, in the same manner as if such burglary or robbery had been committed in that county. Ib., sec. 99.

SEC. 1974. When any person shall be liable to be prosecuted as the receiver of any personal property that may have been feloniously stolen, taken or embezzled, he may be indicted, tried and convicted in any county where he received or had such property, notwithstanding such larceny may have been committed in another county. Ib., sec. 91.

SEC. 1975. An indictment against any accessory to any felony may be found in any county where the offense of such accessory may have been committed, notwithstanding the principal offense may have been committed in another county; and the like proceedings shall be had therein, in all respects, as if the principal offense had been committed in the same county. Ib., sec. 97.

SEC. 1976. When any offense may have been committed within this state, on board of any steam, flat or keel-boat, or other vessel, in the course of any voyage or trip, an indictment for the same may be found, and a trial and conviction thereon had in any county through which, or any part of which, such boat or vessel shall have passed in the course of the same voyage or trip, and with like effect as in the county in which the offense was committed (†). Ib., sec. 92.

SEC. 1977. Where a river is the boundary between two counties, the criminal jurisdiction of each county shall embrace offenses committed on the river or any island thereof.

SEC. 1978. Where the offense is committed partly in one county and partly in another, or the acts or effects thereof requisite to the consummation of the offense occur in two or more counties, the jurisdiction is in either county.

SEC. 1979. Where the offense consists of importing any property into the state, the jurisdiction shall be in any county into which the offender imports the property.

SEC. 1980. Where the offense consists of kidnaping or seizing or confining a person without lawful authority, the jurisdiction shall be in the county in which the kidnaping, seizing or confining was committed, or in any county in which it was continued.

SEC. 1981. Whenever two or more counties, by the foregoing provisions, have jurisdiction of the same offense, the county in which the defendant is first arrested shall proceed to try the offense to the exclusion of the others. Crim. Code, secs. 17-21.

SEC. 1982. If any wound or mortal injury shall be inflicted on any human being in this state, who shall die thereof in another state or country, whether the same be within the jurisdiction of the United States or not, an indictment may be found, and trial and conviction thereon had, in the county in which the wound or mortal injury was given or inflicted, in all respects as if the death had happened in such county.

(e) Under the present constitution the legislature can not invest a court with jurisdiction of crimes committed beyond the limits of the county. Dougan v. State, 30—41. But as to crimes committed on the boundary line between two counties, see State v. Rhoda, 23—156.

(†) See note (e) to SEC. 1972.

SEC. 1983. Every person who shall steal or obtain by robbery the property of another, in any other state or country, whether the same be within the jurisdictional limits of the United States or not, and shall bring the same within this state, may be indicted, tried and punished for larceny, in the same manner as if such property had been feloniously stolen or taken within this state; and in any such case the larceny may be charged to have been committed in any county into or through which such stolen property may have been taken (f).

SEC. 1984. Every person prosecuted under the provisions of the preceding section may plead a former conviction or acquittal for the same offense in another state or country.

SEC. 1985. If such plea be admitted or established, it shall be a bar to any other or further proceedings against such person for the same matter. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 96, 255, 256.

WRIT OF PROHIBITION.

SEC. 1986. The circuit court of any county may, by writ of prohibition, restrain all other courts in the limits of the county from exceeding their criminal jurisdiction. Crim. Code, sec. 22.

III.—LIMITATION OF PROSECUTIONS.

SECTION

1987. Limitation, none for capital offenses.
1988. of other felonies, what.

SECTION

1989. Limitation of misdemeanors, etc., what.
1990, 1991. In what cases does not run.

SECTION 1987. Any person may be prosecuted, tried and punished for any offense punishable with death at any time after the offense may have been committed.

SEC. 1988. No person shall be prosecuted, tried and punished for any other felony unless an indictment be found within three years after the commission of the offense.

SEC. 1989. No person shall be tried, prosecuted and punished for any offense less than felony, or any fine or forfeiture, unless the indictment be found or a prosecution instituted within one year after the commission of the offense or incurring the fine or forfeiture (g).

SEC. 1990. Nothing in the two preceding sections shall avail any person who shall flee from justice; and in all cases the time during which any defendant shall not have been a resident of this state shall not constitute any part of the limitation prescribed in the preceding sections (g2).

(f) This section was not abrogated by art. II, sec. 10, of the constitution. State v. Johnson, 38—558. In order to give the circuit court of a county in this state jurisdiction to try one for larceny of property stolen in another state, it must appear that the property was brought by him into this state, with a continuous felonious intent. Ib.

(g) See Strawn v. State, 14—549.

SEC. 1991. When any indictment or prosecution shall be quashed, set aside or reversed, the time during which the same was pending shall not be computed as part of the time of the limitation prescribed for the offense (h). Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 250-254.

IV.—ARREST OF CRIMINALS FOR PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION OR TRIAL BEFORE A MAGISTRATE.

SECTION

1992. Warrant of arrest, who may issue.
 1993. form of.
 1994. bail on, who may take, and when.
 1995. duty of officer taking bail on.
 1996. bail on not invalid, when.
 1997, 1998. magistrate, when to issue.
 1999, 2000. return of officer executing.

ARREST, BY WHOM AND HOW MADE.

2001. Arrest, may be by peace officer or private person.
 2002. by peace officer, when.
 2003. by private person, when.

SECTION

2004. Arrest, by verbal order of magistrate, when.
 2005, 2006, 2007. how made.
 2008. officer making, may summon posse comitatus.
 2009. officer may break door to effect, when.
 2010. officer making, how to proceed with defendant.
 2011, 2012. without warrant, proceedings.
 2013. when made in county where offense committed, magistrate to proceed to preliminary examination or final trial.
 2014. escape or rescue from.

SECTION 1992. A warrant of arrest may be issued by the following officers, who are called magistrates, viz.: judges of city or police courts, mayors and justices of the peace; and may be executed by the following officers, who are called peace officers, viz.: sheriffs, constables, coroners, jailers, marshals and policemen.

SEC. 1993. A warrant of arrest shall, in general terms, name or describe the offense charged to have been committed, the county in which it was committed, and command the officer to whom it is directed to arrest the person named therein as the offender, and bring him before some magistrate of the county in which the offense was committed, to be dealt with according to law. It may be substantially in the following form, varying the terms to suit the case (i):

(g2) It is not necessary that the defendant should leave the state. It is fleeing from justice, within the meaning of this section, for him to abscond from his known place of abode and secrete himself in another county to avoid arrest and prosecution for the offense. Lay v. State, 42—105.

(h) See State v. Gill, 33—129; Gill v. State, 38—524; Lay v. State, 42—105.

(i) This form is proper where the offense charged is a felony, but where it is a misdemeanor committed within the jurisdiction of the magistrate issuing the warrant the following form is more appropriate; and the authority to take bail according to section 1994 is only to be indorsed on warrants where the offense charged is a misdemeanor:

FORM OF WARRANT FOR MISDEMEANOR COMMITTED WITHIN LOCAL JURISDICTION OF MAGISTRATE.

THE STATE OF ARKANSAS.

To any sheriff, constable, coroner, jailer, marshal or policeman of the State of Arkansas:

You are commanded to arrest A. B. and bring him forthwith before me to answer the charge made against him of having committed an assault and battery on the person of C. D., in said county, on the first day of January, 18—.

Given under my hand, as justice of the peace of Pulaski County, this tenth day of January, 18—.

_____, J. P.
 See Watson v. State, 29—299; Martin v. State, 32—124.

THE STATE OF ARKANSAS.

To any sheriff, constable, coroner, jailer, marshal or policeman of the State of Arkansas:

It appearing that there are reasonable grounds for believing that A. B. has committed the offense of larceny in the County of Pulaski, you are therefore commanded forthwith to arrest A. B. and bring him before some magistrate of Pulaski County, to be dealt with according to law.

Given under my hand the — day of —, 18—.

C. D.,

Justice of the peace for Pulaski County.

Summon as witnesses E. F. and J. K.

Crim. Code, secs. 23, 24.

SEC. 1994. If the offense charged is a misdemeanor, the person arrested may immediately give bail for appearing on a day, to be named in the bail-bond, before the magistrate who issued the warrant, or before the court having jurisdiction to try the offense (j). The sheriff or other officer making the arrest may be authorized by the justice issuing the warrant to take the bail herein mentioned, by an indorsement made on the warrant to that effect. But no peace officer, except a sheriff or under-sheriff, can take bale except as provided in this section. Crim. Code, secs. 25 and 79, as amended 1871.

SEC. 1995. If the defendant give bail for his appearance before the magistrate, as provided in the preceding section, the officer taking the bail shall fix the day of the defendant's appearance, which shall not exceed five days from the day of arrest, unless the arrest be made in a different county from that in which the offense was committed, in which case there may be one day added for every twenty miles of distance from the place of arrest to the county in which the offense is charged to have been committed.

SEC. 1996. A deviation from the provisions of the preceding section shall not, however, render the bail-bond invalid.

SEC. 1997. It shall be the duty of a magistrate to issue a warrant for the arrest of a person charged with the commission of a public offense, when, from his personal knowledge, or from information given him on oath, he shall be satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing the charge.

SEC. 1998. When a magistrate is satisfied that a felony has been committed, he shall have power to summon before him any persons he may think proper, and examine them on oath concerning it, to enable him to ascertain the offender, and to issue a warrant for his arrest.

SEC. 1999. The officer who has executed a warrant of arrest shall make a written return on the warrant of the time and manner of executing it, and deliver the warrant to the magistrate before whom the defendant is brought; or, if bail be given, as provided in section 1994, the officer shall deliver the warrant and bail-bond to the magistrate before whom, or to the clerk of the court in which, the defendant is bound by the bail-bond to appear.

SEC. 2000. If the arrest is made in a different county from that in which the offense is charged to have been committed, and bail be given, the officer may transmit the warrant and bail-bond by mail to the person to whom, by the preceding section, he is required to deliver them.

(j) See SECS. 1966, 2013, 2369.

ARREST, BY WHOM AND HOW MADE.

SEC. 2001. An arrest may be made by a peace officer, or by a private person.

SEC. 2002. A peace officer may make an arrest (k):

First. In obedience to a warrant of arrest delivered to him.

Second. Without a warrant, where a public offense is committed in his presence, or where he has reasonable grounds for believing that the person arrested has committed a felony (*).

SEC. 2003. A private person may make an arrest where he has reasonable grounds for believing that the person arrested has committed a felony.

SEC. 2004. A magistrate or any judge may orally order a peace officer or private person to arrest any one committing a public offense in the magistrate's or judge's presence, which order shall authorize the arrest.

SEC. 2005. An arrest is made by placing the person of the defendant in restraint, or by his submitting to the custody of the person making the arrest.

SEC. 2006. No unnecessary force or violence shall be used in making the arrest.

SEC. 2007. The person making the arrest shall inform the person about to be arrested of the intention to arrest him, and the offense charged against him for which he is arrested, and, if acting under a warrant of arrest, shall give information thereof, and, if required, show the warrant.

SEC. 2008. An officer making an arrest may orally summon as many persons as he deems necessary to aid him in making the arrest, and any person failing, without reasonable excuse, to obey the summons, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by fine and imprisonment, or either.

SEC. 2009. To make an arrest, an officer may break open the door of a house in which the defendant may be, after having demanded admittance and explained the purpose for which admittance is desired.

SEC. 2010. The officer making an arrest, in obedience to a warrant, shall proceed with the defendant as directed by the warrant.

SEC. 2011. Where an arrest is made without a warrant, whether by a peace officer or private person, the defendant shall be forthwith carried before the most convenient magistrate of the county in which the arrest is made, and the grounds on which the arrest was made shall be stated to the magistrate, and, if the offense for which the arrest was made is charged to have been committed in a different county from that in which the arrest was made, and the magistrate believes, from the statements made to him on oath, that there are sufficient grounds for an examination, he shall, by his written order, commit the defendant to a peace officer, to be conveyed by him before a magistrate of the county in which the offense is charged to have been committed; or, if the offense is a misdemeanor only, the defendant may give bail before the magistrate for appearing before a court or magistrate having jurisdiction to try the offense, on a day to be fixed by the magistrate and named in the bail-bond.

SEC. 2012. The magistrate taking bail, as provided in the last section, shall transmit by mail the bail-bond to the officer before whom, or the clerk of the court in which, the defendant is bound to appear.

(k) A constable is a peace officer, but he can not execute process directed to the sheriff, unless deputized. Winkler v. State, 32—539.

(*) See Chrisman v. Carney, 33—321.

SEC. 2013. Where the arrest is made in the county in which the offense is charged to have been committed, the magistrate before whom the defendant is carried shall forthwith proceed to an examination of the charge; and, if the offense charged be a felony, shall commit, hold to bail or discharge, as the case may be (l); or, if he have jurisdiction to hear and finally try the charge, shall proceed to final determination and judgment therein (m).

SEC. 2014. If the defendant, after an arrest, escapes or is rescued, the person in whose custody he was may immediately pursue and recapture him in any part of the state (n). Crim. Code, secs. 26-45.

SEARCH WARRANT, TO SEARCH BY DAY OR NIGHT.

[Beginning and conclusion as in foregoing form, body of as follows:]

WHEREAS, Complaint has been made on oath before the undersigned, one of the justices of the peace in and for the county of _____, by _____, that certain personal property of _____, to wit (as in the foregoing form): has been stolen (or embezzled), and is concealed in, etc. (as in foregoing form); and,

WHEREAS, Positive proof has been made before me, the said justice, that such property, or part thereof is there concealed, you are, therefore, hereby commanded to search the said place, in the day-time or in the night-time, and to bring such property, or any part thereof which may be found, before me, the said justice, forthwith. Hereof, etc.

_____, J. P.

property has been stolen or embezzled, and that the complainant suspects that such property is concealed in any particular house or place, if such officer shall be satisfied that there is reasonable ground for such suspicion, he shall issue a warrant to search for such property.

SEC. 2016. Such warrant shall be directed to the sheriff of the county, or to any constable, and shall command him to search the place where such property is suspected to be concealed, in the day-time, which place shall be designated and the property particularly described, and bring such property before the magistrate issuing the warrant.

SEC. 2017. If there be positive proof that any property stolen or embezzled is concealed in any particular house or place, the warrant may order the searching of such house or place in the night-time.

SEC. 2018. Every such warrant shall be executed by a public officer, and not by any other person. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 15-18.

SECTION 2019. A magistrate of the county in which a public offense has been committed is authorized to examine the charge, and commit to jail or hold to bail the person charged with its commission (p).

SEC. 2020. When a person who has been arrested shall be brought, or in pursuance of a bail-bond shall come, before a magistrate of the county in which the offense is charged to have been committed, the charge shall be forthwith examined, reasonable time, however, being allowed for procuring counsel and the attendance of witnesses. The magistrate, before commencing the examination, shall state the charge, and inquire of the defendant whether he desires the aid of counsel, and shall allow a reasonable opportunity for procuring it.

SEC. 2021. The magistrate shall issue subpoenas for witnesses either for or against the defendant, which shall be executed by a peace officer, and shall coerce their attendance by the same process as in the circuit courts.

SEC. 2022. For the purpose of procuring the attendance of witnesses, either against or for the defendant, or other sufficient reason, the magistrate may adjourn the examination from time to time, not, however, exceeding three days at a time. Crim Code, secs. 46-48.

SEC. 2023. During the periods of adjournment the defendants shall be committed to jail or to the custody of a peace officer; but the defendant may give bail, or the magistrate may fix a sum equivalent to bail, upon which being deposited with the peace officer in attendance, unless he be a policeman, as surety for the defendant's appearance at the time or times appointed, he may be released from custody during the periods of the adjournment of the examination. Provided, that magistrates shall have no power to admit to bail in such cases, where the charge is for a capital offense, murder or manslaughter. Crim. Code, sec. 49, as amended by act. Feb. 16, 1877.

SEC. 2024. The sum of money to be deposited shall not be less than the full amount in which bail would be required upon the defendant being held for trial of the charge.

SEC. 2025. An entry shall be made by the magistrate of the deposit, and by whom made, on the minutes of the examination; and if the defendant appears on the day, or on a day to which the magistrate may extend the time of his appearance, or dies during the adjournment, the money shall be returned by the peace officer to the person depositing it, or his representatives; but, if the defendant fails to appear, the peace officer shall, within ten days after such failure, pay over the money to the county collector, to be paid into the county treasury.

SEC. 2026. The peace officer shall be responsible on his official bond for the money so deposited with him.

SEC. 2027. Where a deposit of money has been made or bail given, the magistrate may, for sufficient cause, extend the time for the appearance of the defendant, not exceeding, however, ten days.

SEC. 2028. If the defendant gives bail for his appearance during the examination, and fails to appear at the time specified, or at the time extended, the magistrate shall indorse on the bail-bond the word "forfeited," with his signature thereto, and return the bond to the clerk of the circuit court of the county, who shall issue summons thereon, as directed in section 2068, and such indorsement shall be sufficient evidence of the forfeiture of the bond.

SEC. 2029. Upon the request of the defendant all persons may be excluded from the room in which the examination is made, except the magistrate, his clerk, the peace officer, the prosecutor, the attorney or attorneys representing the state, the prisoner, his counsel, and the witness under examination.

SEC. 2030. During the examination the magistrate may cause the witnesses to be kept out of hearing of the witness deposing, and also separate from each other.

SEC. 2031. The magistrate, in the minutes of the examination, shall state the name and place of residence of each witness, and shall make a general statement of the substance of what was proved and file the same with the proceedings (q).

SEC. 2032. When the examination is closed, if the magistrate is of opinion that there is not sufficient cause for believing that the defendant has committed a public offense, he shall discharge the defendant from custody and make an entry thereof on the minutes.

(q) Evidence of the testimony of a witness before an examining court is admissible on the trial for the same offense in the circuit court where the witness has forfeited his recognizance and can not be found. Shackelford v. State, 33—539. See Hurley v. State, 29—17; Dolan v. State, 40—454; Griffith v. State, 37—324.

SEC. 2033. If, however, the magistrate is of opinion, from the examination, that there are reasonable grounds to believe the defendant guilty of the offense charged, he shall be held for trial and committed to jail, or discharged on bail if the offense be bailable.

SEC. 2034. If upon the trial it shall appear that the defendant is guilty of a public offense other than that charged in the warrant, he shall be held in custody of the officer and tried for such offense, a reasonable opportunity having been given him to obtain his witnesses and prepare his defense.

SEC. 2035. Justices of the peace shall have no power to admit to bail in capital offenses, murder or manslaughter.

SEC. 2036. On holding the defendant to answer the charge, the magistrate shall cause each of the material witnesses on behalf of the state to enter into a recognizance (r) before him to the effect that he will attend and testify at the court to which the defendant is sent for trial, or forfeit a sum not less than one hundred dollars to the State of Arkansas.

SEC. 2037. The magistrate shall, in like manner, at the defendant's request, cause the material witnesses for the defendant to enter into recognizance in the same penalty for appearing and testifying in the court to which he is sent for trial; but it shall be named in the recognizance that they are witnesses for the defendant, and the state shall not be liable for their attendance and mileage as witnesses.

SEC. 2038. If the defendant is committed to jail, the magistrate shall make out a written order of commitment (s), signed by him, which shall be delivered to the jailer by the peace officer who executed the order of commitment. If the offense is bailable, the magistrate must fix the sum for which bail is to be given, and, if sufficient bail is offered, take the same and discharge the defendant. If, however, sufficient bail is not offered, the sum in which bail is required must be stated in the order of commitment.

SEC. 2039. The defendant, after commitment and before the commencement of the next term of the court having jurisdiction to try the offense, may be admitted to bail in the sum fixed by the committing magistrate, by such magistrate, or the circuit court, or the judge thereof in vacation; but after the commencement of the term of the court he can only be admitted to bail by the court or the judge thereof.

SEC. 2040. The magistrate shall, in ten days, and before the commencement of the next term of the court to which the defendant is sent for trial, deliver to the clerk of such court the warrant, if any; the minutes of the examination, including the statements of the witnesses; the instruments of ADMISSION TO BAIL (t).

SECTION 2041. Admission to bail is an order from a competent court or magistrate that the defendant be discharged from actual custody on bail.

SEC. 2042. The taking of bail consists in the acceptance, by a competent court, magistrate or officer, of the undertaking of sufficient bail for the appearance of the defendant according to the terms of the undertaking, or that the bail will pay to the state the sum specified (*).

SEC. 2043. The bail shall be residents of the state, owners of visible property, over and above that exempt from execution, to the value of the sum in which bail is required, and shall be worth that amount after the payment of their debts and liabilities ().

SEC. 2044. The person or persons offered as bail shall be examined on oath in regard to their qualifications as bail, and any officer authorized to take bail is authorized to administer the oath, reduce the statements on oath to writing, and require the person offered as bail to sign the statement. Other proof may be also taken in regard to the sufficiency of bail.

(t) All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses, when the proof is evident or the presumption great. Art. II, sec. 8, Const.

(*) The indorsement upon a bail-bond of the approval of the officer taking it is not essential to its validity. Adler v. State, 35—517.

() A bail-bond is a debt by contract, and the exemption laws apply to a judgment and execution on it. State v. Williford, 36—155.

SEC. 2045. No person shall be taken as bail, unless the court, magistrate or officer is satisfied, from proof and examination on oath, of the sufficiency of such person, according to the requisitions of the two preceding sections.

SEC. 2046. Where more than one person is offered as bail, they shall be deemed sufficient, if in the aggregate they possess the qualifications required.

SEC. 2047. The undertaking of the bail shall be substantially as follows:

A. B., being in custody, charged with the offense of (naming or briefly describing it), and being admitted to bail in the sum of ——— dollars, we, C. D., of (stating his place of residence), and E. F., of (stating his place of residence), hereby undertake that the above-named A. B. shall appear in the ——— court on the ——— day of its ——— term to answer said charge, and shall at all times render himself amenable to the orders and process of said court in the prosecution of said charge, and, if convicted, shall render himself in execution thereof; or, if he fail to perform either of these conditions, that we will pay to the State of Arkansas the sum of ——— dollars.

SEC. 2048. The sheriff arresting a person under a warrant or other process, in which it shall appear that the person is to be admitted to bail in a specified sum, may take the bail and discharge the person from actual custody. A sheriff taking bail shall be officially responsible for the sufficiency of the bail, as in taking bail in civil actions (u). Civil Code, secs. 67, 68, 72-75, 77, 78.

SEC. 2049. When a sheriff shall commit to the common jail of his county any prisoner, under a bench warrant, in a bailable case, when the amount of bail has been fixed by the circuit judge, and when he shall so commit, under a warrant from a magistrate who has fixed the amount of bail, it shall be lawful for said sheriff to take the bail and discharge the prisoner in the same manner as he could have done before the said commitment. Act Nov. 12, 1875.

SEC. 2050. No peace officer, except a sheriff or under-sheriff, can take bail, except as provided in section 1994.

SEC. 2051. No bail-bond or recognizance shall be deemed to be invalid by reason of any variance between its stipulations and the provisions of law relating there to, or of the failure of the magistrate or officer to transmit or deliver the same at the times herein provided, or of any other irregularity, so that it be made to appear that the defendant was legally in custody, charged with a public offense, and that he was discharged therefrom by reason of the giving of the bond or recognizance, and that it can be ascertained from the bond or recognizance that the bail undertook that the defendant should appear before a magistrate for the trial thereof. If no day be fixed for such appearance, or an impossible day, or a day in vacation, the bond or recognizance, if for his appearance before a magistrate, shall be considered as binding the defendant so to appear and surrender himself into custody for an examination of the charge in twenty days from the time of his giving such bond or recognizance; and, if for his appearance for trial in court, shall be considered as binding the defendant so to appear and surrender himself into custody on the first day of the next term of the court which shall commence more than ten days after the giving of the bond or recognizance (v). Crim. Code, secs. 79, 80.

SEC. 2052. Recognizances taken in any criminal proceeding in open court, by any court of record, shall be entered on the minutes of such court, and the substance thereof shall be read to the person recognized. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 236.

SEC. 2053. If the defendant is committed to jail, and the application for bail is made to a magistrate or judge of the circuit court during vacation, it must be by a written petition, signed by the defendant or his counsel, briefly stating the offense for which he is committed, and naming the persons offered as bail. In all other cases, the application may be made orally to the court, magistrate or officer (*).

SEC. 2054. During the trial of an indictment for a misdemeanor the defendant may remain on bail; but for a felony, when he is upon bail, he may remain upon bail or be kept in actual custody, as the court may direct.

SEC. 2055. Before conviction the defendant may be admitted to bail:

First. For his appearance before a magistrate for an examination of the charge, where the offense charged is a misdemeanor; or,

Second. For his appearance in the court to which he is sent for trial; or,

Third. For his appearance to answer an indictment which has been found against him; or,

Fourth. For his appearance in a penal action.

SEC. 2056. After conviction the defendant can not be admitted to bail.

SURRENDER OF THE DEFENDANT.

SEC. 2057. At any time before the forfeiture of their bond, the bail may surrender the defendant, or the defendant may surrender himself, to the jailer of the county in which the offense was committed; but the surrender must be accompanied by a certified copy of the bail-bond, to be delivered to the jailer, who must detain the defendant in custody thereon as upon a commitment and give a written acknowledgment of the surrender, and the bail shall thereupon be exonerated.

SEC. 2058. For the purpose of surrendering the defendant, the bail may obtain from the officer having in his custody the bail-bond or recognizance a certified copy thereof, and thereupon, at any place in the state, arrest the defendant, or by his written indorsement thereon authorize any person over the age of twenty-one years to do so (†).

SEC. 2059. The bail may arrest the defendant without such certified copy.

DEPOSIT OF MONEY IN LIEU OF BAIL.

SEC. 2060. Whenever the defendant is admitted to bail in a specified sum, he may deposit said sum with the county treasurer in the county in which the trial is directed to be had, and take from the treasurer a certificate of such deposit; upon delivering which to the officer in whose custody he is, he shall be discharged.

SEC. 2061. After bail has been taken, a deposit may in like manner be made of the sum mentioned in the bail-bond, which shall exonerate the bail.

(*) The supreme court has power to review, on certiorari, the decision of a circuit judge refusing bail. Harbour, ex parte, 39—126. On an application for bail in a criminal case, the court will give the prisoner the benefit of any reasonable doubts that may arise in considering the testimony. Bird and Bailey, ex parte, 24—275.

(†) See Sternberg v. State, 42—127.

SEC. 2062. Where money is deposited, the county treasurer shall hold and pay the same according to the orders of the court having jurisdiction to try the offense, and he and his sureties shall be liable for the same on their official bond.

SEC. 2063. Upon judgment being rendered against a defendant for fine and costs, the court rendering judgment may order any money deposited agreeably to the foregoing sections to be applied to the payment thereof.

FORFEITURE OF BAIL.

SEC. 2064. If the defendant fail to appear for trial or judgment, or at any other time when his presence in court may be lawfully required, or to surrender himself in execution of the judgment, the court may direct the fact to be entered on the minutes, and thereupon the bail-bond, or the money deposited in lieu of bail, is forfeited (w).

SEC. 2065. If, before the final adjournment of the court, the defendant appears and satisfactorily excuses the failure, the court may discharge the forfeiture.

SEC. 2066. If the forfeiture is not discharged, the prosecuting attorney for the circuit may, at any time after the adjournment of the court, proceed by action against the bail on their bond.

SEC. 2067. The action on the bail-bond shall be in the court in which the defendant was, or would have been, required to appear for trial.

SEC. 2068. No pleadings are required on the part of the state, but the clerk shall issue a summons against the bail, requiring them to appear on the first day of the next term of the court to show cause why judgment should not be rendered against them for the sum specified in the bail-bond on account of the forfeiture thereof, which summons shall be executed as in civil actions, and the action proceed as an ordinary civil action (x).

SEC. 2069. Where money is deposited in lieu of bail, after such forfeiture and final adjournment of the court the treasurer shall pay the sum deposited to the collector of the county, who shall pay the same into the county treasury.

SEC. 2070. If, before judgment is entered against the bail, the defendant is surrendered or arrested, the court may, at its discretion, remit the whole or part of the sum specified in the bail-bond.

(w) See State v. Richardson, 28—346; Gentry v. State, 22—544; Pack v. State, 23—239.

(x) The record and proceedings in the case against the principal constitute the complaint against the bail. Ullery v. Town of Fort Smith, 35—214; Thomm v. State, Ib., 327. If fatally defective, the summons may be quashed on motion, but is not subject to demurrer. Miller v. State, Ib., 276. Matters in defense on merits may be set up by answer as in civil actions. Ib. See also State v. Jones, 29—127.

The sureties can not show that the indictment against the principal was bad. Revere v. State, 34—610.

Where the defendant is ordered into the custody of the sheriff, to be taken to a county to which the venue is changed, the liability of the bail ceases. State v. Jones, 29—127.

Whatever judicial act deprives a defendant's bail of the right to arrest and surrender him discharges the bail. State, use, etc., v. Glenn, 40—332.

It is no defense that the principal, by reason of mob violence existing in the county before and at the time he should have appeared, and the fear of losing his life by violence, had fled from the county, and that he could not safely have remained in the county and at the court for fear that he would not be protected by the law. Sugarman v. State, 28—142.

The act of God, of the obligee or of the law may excuse the surety. Belding v. State, 25—315.

It is no defense that the principal, at the time he was required to appear, was insane and had been taken out of the state and confined in an insane asylum of another state to be treated for his insanity. Adler v. State, 35—517.

RECOMMITMENT AFTER BAIL OR DEPOSIT OF MONEY.

SEC. 2071. The court in which a prosecution for a public offense is pending may, by an order, direct the defendant to be arrested and committed to jail until legally discharged, after he has given bail or deposited money in lieu thereof, in the following cases:

First. When, by having failed to appear, a forfeiture of bail or of the money deposited has been incurred.

Second. When the court is satisfied that his bail, or either of them, is dead or insufficient, or has removed from the state.

Third. Upon an indictment being found for an offense not bailable.

SEC. 2072. Upon such order being made, the clerk shall issue process for the arrest and recommitment of the defendant. If the order is made on account of either of the cases mentioned in the first and second subdivisions of the preceding section, the defendant shall be admitted to bail as upon his first commitment, in a sum to be fixed by the court and named in the process for his arrest. Crim. Code, secs. 69, 70, 71, 76, 81-94, 96, 97.

SECTION 2073. The selecting, summoning and impaneling of a grand jury shall be as prescribed by law (*). Crim. Code, sec. 98.

SEC. 2074. The court shall appoint one of the number of every grand jury foreman thereof. Crim. Code, sec. 406, as amended 1871.

SEC. 2075. The following oath, in substance, shall be administered to the grand jurors: "Saving yourselves and fellow jurors, you do swear that you will diligently inquire of and present all treasons, felonies, misdemeanors and breaches of the penal laws over which you have jurisdiction, of which you have knowledge or may receive information" (). Ib.

(*) For mode of selecting, etc., see SECS. 3982, 3983, 3987, 3991, 3992.

() See Baker v. State, 32—180.

SEC. 2076. Every grand jury may appoint one of the members to be clerk thereof, to preserve and keep the minutes of their proceedings and of the evidence given before them.

SEC. 2077. The minutes of the proceedings and evidence so kept shall be delivered to the prosecuting attorney when so directed by the grand jury. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 62.

SEC. 2078. The grand jury has power, and it is their duty, to inquire into all public offenses committed within the jurisdiction of the court in which they are impaneled, and to indict such persons as they find guilty thereof.

SEC. 2079. The grand jury must inquire—

First. Into the case of every person imprisoned in the county jail, or on bail, to answer a criminal charge in that court, and who is not indicted.

Second. Into the condition and management of the public prisons of the county.

Third. Into the willful and corrupt misconduct in office of public officers of every description in the county.

SEC. 2080. They are entitled to free access, at all reasonable times, to public prisons, and to the examination, without charge, of all public records in the county. Crim. Code, secs. 99, 105, 106.

SEC. 2081. They shall make careful examination of the condition of the accounts of the collecting officers of the county, dockets of justices of the peace, and any matters relating to the general school fund (y). Act March 23, 1871, sec. 18.

SEC. 2082. If a member of the grand jury know, or have reason to believe, that a public offense has been committed within the jurisdiction of the court, he must disclose the same to his fellow jurors, who must thereupon investigate the same.

SEC. 2083. The foreman of the grand jury shall have power to administer oaths to witnesses appearing before the grand jury (*).

SEC. 2084. The grand jury can receive none but legal evidence; they are not bound to hear evidence for the defendant, but it is their duty to weigh all the evidence before them, and if they believe that other evidence within their reach will explain away the charge they should order the evidence to be produced.

SEC. 2085. The grand jury should find an indictment when all the evidence before them, taken together, would, in their judgment, if unexplained, warrant a conviction by the trial jury.

SEC. 2086. The clerk, on the request of the foreman of the grand jury, or of the prosecuting attorney, shall issue subpoenas for witnesses to appear before the grand jury; and if any witness fail to attend in obedience thereto, the court shall proceed to coerce his attendance, and may punish disobedience by fine and imprisonment, as in the case of a witness failing to attend on the trial.

SEC. 2087. When a witness under examination refuses to testify, or to answer a question put to him by the grand jury, the foreman shall proceed with the witness into the presence of the court, and there distinctly state the refusal of the witness; and if the court, upon hearing the witness, shall decide that he is bound to testify or answer the question propounded, he shall inquire of the witness if he persists in his refusal, and, if he does, shall proceed with him as in cases of similar refusal in open court.

(y) See SECS. 5861-5873.

(*) As to form of oath, see State v. Green, 24—591.

SEC. 2088. Every member of the grand jury must keep secret whatever he himself, or any other grand juror, may have said, or in what manner he, or any grand juror, may have voted on a matter before them (z).

SEC. 2089. A member of the grand jury may, however, be required by a court to disclose the testimony of a witness examined before the grand jury, for the purpose of ascertaining its consistency with the testimony given by the witness on trial, or for the purpose of proceeding against the witness for perjury in his testimony, or upon the trial of a prosecution of the witness for perjury; and it shall be the duty of the foreman of the grand jury to communicate to the prosecuting attorney, when requested, the substance of the testimony before them.

SEC. 2090. A grand juror can not be questioned for anything he may say, or any vote he may give, relative to a matter legally before the grand jury, except for a perjury he may have committed in making accusation, or giving testimony before his fellow jurors.

SEC. 2091. The grand jury may, at all reasonable times, ask the advice of the court or the prosecuting attorney.

SEC. 2092. No person except the prosecuting attorney and the witnesses under examination are permitted to be present while the grand jury are examining a charge, and no person whatever shall be present while the grand jury are deliberating or voting on a charge.

SEC. 2093. All the papers and other matters of evidence relating to the arrest and examination of the charge against persons committed or on bail, returned to court by magistrates, shall be laid before the grand jury, and if upon investigation they refuse to find an indictment, they shall write upon some one of the papers "dismissed," with the signature of the foreman; and thereupon the court shall discharge the defendant from custody, if in jail, or exonerate the bail, if bail be given, unless the court should be of the opinion that the charge should again be submitted to another grand jury, in which case the defendant may be continued in custody, or on bail, until the next term of the court.

SEC. 2094. The dismissal of the charge does not prevent it being again submitted to a grand jury, as often as the court may direct, but without such direction it can not again be submitted.

SEC. 2095. Unless an indictment be found at the term of the court next after the first submission of the charge to the grand jury, the defendant shall be discharged from custody or exonerated from bail, unless for cause shown the court shall otherwise direct. Crim. Code, secs. 101-104, 107-116.

SEC. 2096. Any grand juror may be indicted by the grand jury of which he is a member; but when any complaint shall be lodged by a grand juror, the foreman shall inform the attorney for the state thereof, and if, on examination, there are grounds for proceedings against such juror, he shall inform the court thereof, and the court shall discharge such juror, and cause another to be summoned if necessary. Crim. Code, sec. 407, as amended 1871.

(z) See SEC. 1751.

SEC. 2097. If any offense be committed or discovered during the sitting of any court after the grand jury attending such court shall have been discharged, such court may, in its discretion, by an order to be entered in the minutes, direct the sheriff to summon a special grand jury. The sheriff shall, in pursuance of such order, forthwith summon such grand jury from the inhabitants of the county qualified to serve as grand jurors, who shall be returned and sworn, and shall proceed in the same manner in all respects as provided by law in respect to other grand jurors. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 71, 72.

SEC. 2098. Every person held to answer a criminal charge may object to the competency of any one summoned to serve as a grand juror, before he is sworn, on the ground that he is the prosecutor or complainant upon any charge against such person, or that he is a witness on the part of the prosecution, and has been summoned or bound in a recognizance as such; and, if such objection be established, the person so challenged shall be set aside (aa). Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 60.

SEC. 2099. The court shall give in charge, specially, to the grand jury sections 1429, 1789, sections 510 to 520, both inclusive; sections 521 to 536, both inclusive; section 1683; sections 1693 to 1696, both inclusive; section 1788; section 1789; sections 1813 to 1820, both inclusive; sections 1827 to 1847, both inclusive; sections 1860, 1861; sections 1863, 1864; sections 1871 to 1877, both inclusive; sections 1935, 1936, 1937, 4263, 2658, 2678, 2692 and 2701 (*).

IX.—INDICTMENT, ITS FORM AND REQUISITES.

SECTION

2100. Indictment defined.
 2101. twelve jurors must concur in finding.
 2102. must be indorsed "a true bill," and signed by foreman.
 2103. names of witnesses must be indorsed on.
 2104. must be presented by the foreman and filed.
 2105. requisites of.
 2106, 2107. when sufficient.
 2108. must charge but one offense, but may vary mode of charge.
 2109. what offenses may be joined in.
 2110. error as to name of defendant in.
 2111. erroneous allegation in, as to person injured, not material.
 2112. allegation as to time in, immaterial.
 2113. no place stated in, rule.
 2114. What not necessary in pleading judgment.
 2115. Indictment, what sufficient in libel.
 2116. for perjury.

SECTION

2117. Indictment, when misdescription of written instrument immaterial in.
 2118. presumptions of law and matters of judicial notice need not be stated in.
 2119. statutory words need not be strictly pursued in.
 2120. words used in, how construed.
 2121. must contain, what.
 2122. form of.
 2123. not void because grand juror disqualified.
 2124. not open to inspection until defendant arrested.
 2125, 2126. officers of court not to disclose fact of finding, except.
 2127. after arrest clerk to record.
 2128. when certified copy of may be used.
 2129. when statutory fine or penalty may be recovered by.
 2130. second, for same offense, suspends first.
 2131. trial on, not to be delayed because some of defendants have not been arrested.

SECTION 2100. An indictment is an accusation in writing, found and presented by a grand jury to the court in which they are impaneled, charging the person with the commission of a public offense.

(aa) See Fenally v. State, 12—630.

(*) The authority for this section is found in numerous acts, the dates of which it does not appear to be necessary or important to give.

SEC. 2101. The concurrence of twelve grand jurors is required to find an indictment (bb).

SEC. 2102. When so found, it must be indorsed "a true bill," and the indorsement signed by the foreman.

SEC. 2103. When an indictment is found, the names of all witnesses who were examined must be written at the foot of or on the indictment (cc).

SEC. 2104. The indictment must be presented by the foreman of the grand jury to the court, and filed with the clerk, and remain in his office as a public record (dd).

SEC. 2105. The indictment must be direct and certain as regards:

First. The party charged.

Second. The offense charged.

Third. The county in which the offense was committed.

Fourth. The particular circumstances of the offense charged where they are necessary to constitute a complete offense (ee).

SEC. 2106. The indictment is sufficient if it can be understood therefrom:

First. That it was found by a grand jury of a county impaneled in a court having authority to receive it, though the name of the court is not accurately stated (ff).

Second. That the offense was committed within the jurisdiction of the court, and at some time prior to the time of finding the indictment.

Third. That the act or omission charged as the offense is stated with such a degree of certainty as to enable the court to pronounce judgment on conviction, according to the right of the case.

SEC. 2107. No indictment is insufficient, nor can the trial, judgment or other proceeding thereon be affected by any defect which does not tend to the prejudice of the substantial rights of the defendant on the merits (gg).

(bb) But a lawful grand jury consists of sixteen persons—no more and no less; and an indictment found by a less number or a greater number is invalid. State v. Hawkins, 10—71; Harding v. State, 22—210.

(cc) The omission to indorse on an indictment the names of witnesses examined before the grand jury is not ground of demurrer. State v. Brandon, 28—410. Nor cause for setting aside the indictment. State v. Johnson, 33—174.

(dd) The indictment must be presented by the foreman in the presence of the grand jury. Robinson v. State, 33—180. The record must show that the indictment was brought into court. The indorsement of the clerk upon the indictment, "filed in open court," is not sufficient. McKensie v. State, 24—636; Holcomb v. State, 31—427; Chancellor v. State, 33—815. The omission in the record may be supplied by a nunc pro tunc entry. State v. Goven, 12—62; Green v. State, 19—178; James v. State, 41—451. Where indictment has been recorded, see note (qq) to SEC. 2128. For form of entry by clerk when the party indicted is not in custody, see Fitzpatrick v. State, 37—238.

(ee) As to the degree of certainty required in the statement of the offense charged, see Graham v. State, 1—171; Anderson v. State, 5—444; Thompson v. State, 26—323; Edwards v. State, 27—493; Barton v. State, 29—68; Dixon v. State, Ib., 165; McPherson v. State, Ib., 225; Sikes v. State, 30—496; Clary v. State, 33—561; State v. Parker, 34—158; Haney v. State, Ib., 263; Lacefield v. State, Ib., 275; Howard v. State, Ib., 433; J. Johnson v. State, 36—242; Curtis v. State, Ib., 284; State v. Graham, 38—519. The same particularity is not required in an indictment for an assault with intent to commit an offense as in an indictment for the actual commission of the offense. Lacefield v. State, 34—275. It is necessary in charging a felony to allege that the act was feloniously done. Mott v. State, 29—147; Edwards v. State, 25—444; Milan v. State, 24—346; State v. Eldridge, 12—608. An indictment charging an offense in the alternative is bad. Thompson v. State, 37—408; Cooper (J. Z.) v. State, Ib., 412; Cooper (G. M.) v. State, Ib., 421. As to when it is sufficient to follow the language of the statute in statutory offenses, see Gabe v. State, 6—519; Smith Bell v. State, 10—536; Moffatt v. State, 11—169; State v. Eldridge, supra; State v. Adams, 16—497; Medlock v. State, 18—363; Lemon v. State, 19—171; Guest v. State, Ib., 405; State v. Collins, Ib., 587; State v. Hoover, 31—676; State v. Moser, 33—140; State v. Witt, 38—216; State v. Graham, Ib., 519; State v. Snyder, 41—226.

Where an offense, as defined by statute, is essentially the same as that defined by the common law, an indictment good at common law is good upon the statute. Roberts v. State, 21—183.

As to when it is necessary to negative a proviso or exception in a statute, see Brittin v. State, 10—299; Matthews v. State, 24—484; Wilson v. State, 33—557; Walker v. State, 35—386; Wilson v. State, Ib., 414.

(ff) See note (ee) to preceding section.

(gg) See note (ee) to SEC. 2105.

SEC. 2108. An indictment, except in cases mentioned in the next section, must charge but one offense, but, if it may have been committed in different modes and by different means, the indictment may allege the modes and means in the alternative (hh).

SEC. 2109. The offenses named in each of the subdivisions of this section may be charged in one indictment:

First. Larceny, and knowingly receiving stolen property.

Second. Larceny, and obtaining money or property on false pretense.

Third. Larceny and embezzlement.

Fourth. Robbery and burglary.

Fifth. Robbery, and an assault with intent to rob.

Sixth. Passing or attempting to pass counterfeit money or bank notes, knowing them to be such, and having in possession counterfeit money or bank notes, knowing them to be such, with the intention of circulating the same (ii).

SEC. 2110. An error as to the name of the defendant shall not vitiate the indictment or proceedings thereon, and, if his true name is discovered at any time before execution, an entry shall be made on the minutes of the court of his true name, referring to the fact of his being indicted by the name mentioned in the indictment, and the subsequent proceedings shall be in the true name, substantially as follows:

against

A. B., indicted by the name of C. D. (jj). }

SEC. 2111. Where an offense involves the commission, or an attempt to commit, an injury to person or property, and is described in other respects with sufficient certainty to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the person injured, or attempted to be injured, is not material (kk).

SEC. 2112. The statement in the indictment as to the time at which the offense was committed is not material, further than as a statement that it was committed before the time of finding the indictment, except when the time is a material ingredient in the offense (ll).

SEC. 2113. If the indictment contains no statement of the place in which the offense was committed, it shall be considered as charged therein that it was committed in the local limits of the jurisdiction of the court in which the grand jury was impaneled (mm).

SEC. 2114. In pleading a judgment, or other determination of, or proceeding before a court or officer of special jurisdiction, it is not necessary to state the facts conferring jurisdiction, but the judgment, determination or proceed-

(hh) See State v. Jourdan, 32—203; State v. Brewer, 33—176; Howard v. State, 34—433; State v. Lancaster, 36—55; State v. Rhea, 38—555; Bridges v. State, 37—224.

(ii) Burglary and larceny may be joined in the same indictment. SEC. 1621; Dodd v. State, 33—517; Toliver v. State, 35—395; Watkins v. State, 37—370. Distinct larcenies can not be joined in the same indictment. State v. Jourdan, 32—203. A count for an affray and one for an assault and battery can not be joined. State v. Brewer, 33—176. But if the count for an affray include a charge of assault and battery the two counts may be joined. Ib. Uttering vulgar or profane language at the domicile of another, and making violent threats against him there, can not be joined in the same indictment. State v. Lancaster, 36—55.

(jj) See State v. Webster, 30—166; Phillips v. State, 35—384.

(kk) See State v. Seely, 30—162, assault and battery; State v. Jourdan, 32—203, larceny; Edmonds v. State, 34—720, murder; Johnson v. State, 40—453, selling liquor.

(ll) See Lee v. State, 26—260; State v. Hoover, 31—676; Scoggins v. State, 32—205; State v. Gill, 33—129.

(mm) When the name of the county appears in the caption, and is referred to in the body of the indictment, it is sufficient. State v. Hunn, 34—321. See also Thetstone v. State, 32—179.

ings may be stated to have been duly given or made. Where it is necessary to prove the statement on the trial, the facts conferring the jurisdiction must be established.

SEC. 2115. An indictment for libel need not set forth any extrinsic facts for the purpose of showing the application, to the party libeled, of the defamatory matter; but it is sufficient to state generally that the same was published concerning him.

SEC. 2116. In an indictment for perjury it is not necessary to set forth the pleadings, record or proceedings with which the oath is connected, so that the substance of the controversy, or matters in respect to which the offense was committed, is properly stated; nor is it necessary to set forth the commission or authority of the court or person before whom the oath alleged to be false was taken, so that it be stated in what court or before whom it was taken, and that the court or person was authorized to administer the oath.

SEC. 2117. When a written instrument, which is the subject of an indictment for forgery, larceny or other offense has been withheld or destroyed by the act or procurement of the defendant, and such destruction or withholding is alleged in the indictment and proved on the trial, a misdescription of the instrument is immaterial.

SEC. 2118. Neither presumptions of law nor matters of which judicial notice is taken need be stated in an indictment.

SEC. 2119. The words used in a statute to define an offense need not be strictly pursued in an indictment, but other words conveying the same meaning may be used.

SEC. 2120. The words used in an indictment must be construed according to their usual acceptance in common language, except words and phrases defined by law, which are to be construed according to their legal meaning.

SEC. 2121. The indictment must contain:

First. The title of the prosecution, specifying the name of the court in which the indictment is presented, and the name of the parties.

Second. A statement of the acts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language, and in such a manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended (nn).

SEC. 2122. It may be substantially in the following form:

PULASKI CIRCUIT COURT.

The State of Arkansas }
 against }
 George Smith.

The grand jury of Pulaski County, in the name and by the authority of the State of Arkansas, accuse George Smith of the crime of (here insert the name of the offense, if it have one, such as treason, murder, manslaughter, arson, larceny, rape or the like, or if it have no general name, then a brief general description as given by law), committed as follows, viz.: The said George Smith, on the — day of —, 18—, in the county aforesaid (here insert the acts constituting the offense), against the peace and dignity of the State of Arkansas (oo).

(nn) See note to SEC. 2105.

Crim. Code, secs. 117-138.

SEC. 2123. No indictment shall be void or voidable because any of the grand jury fail to possess any of the qualifications required by law. Crim. Code, sec. 406, as amended 1871.

SEC. 2124. When an indictment shall be found against any person, for any offense known to the laws of this state, not in actual confinement, or held by recognizance to answer thereto, such indictment shall not be open to the inspection of any person except the judge, clerk of the court and the prosecuting attorney, until the defendant shall have been arrested (pp).

SEC. 2125. No judge, clerk, prosecuting attorney or other officer of any court shall disclose the fact of any indictment being found until the defendant therein shall have been arrested or recognized to answer the same.

SEC. 2126. The provisions of the two preceding sections shall not extend to any officer making such disclosure by the issuing or in the execution of any process on such indictment, or in any other manner, when it shall become necessary in the discharge of any official duty. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 86, 87, 89.

SEC. 2127. It shall be the duty of the clerk, whenever an arrest shall have been made of any person against whom an indictment has been found by the grand jury, properly returned, to record such indictment, with the entries thereon, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose.

SEC. 2128. In all cases where an indictment may be lost or destroyed, or where the same can not be found, a copy of the record thereof, as provided in the preceding section, duly certified by the clerk under his hand and the seal of the court, shall be taken and used for all purposes in any of the courts of this state, the same as the original indictment (qq). Act March 19, 1881.

SEC. 2129. In all cases where any fine or penalty shall be imposed by any statute, as a punishment for any offense, and no other provision is made for the recovery thereof, the same may be recovered by indictment.

SEC. 2130. If there shall be, at any time, pending against the same defendant, two indictments for the same offense, or two indictments for the same matter, although charged as different offenses, the indictment first found shall be deemed to be suspended by such second indictment, and shall be quashed (rr).

SEC. 2131. No trial on an indictment against several shall be delayed because some of the defendants have not been arrested, but those arrested or in custody shall be tried, and the cause continued as to those not arrested. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 85, 90, 101.

(oo) The form given in this section need not be strictly followed. Lacefield v. State, 34—275. Indictments shall conclude: "Against the peace and dignity of the State of Arkansas." Art. VII, sec. 49, Const.; Anderson v. State, 5—414. Each count must so conclude, and any count omitting the proper conclusion should be quashed. State v. Cadle, 19—613; State v. Hazle, 20—156. It is not necessary that an indictment should be signed by the prosecuting attorney. Anderson v. State, supra; Watkins v. State, 37—370.

(pp) See Humphries v. State, 33—713; Fitzpatrick v. State, 37—238.

(qq) It is legally presumed from the fact that the clerk recorded an indictment that it was found by the grand jury and returned into court; and in case of the loss or destruction of the original, the defendant may be tried and convicted on a copy from the record. Miller v. State, 40—488.

(rr) But the pendency of another indictment must be taken advantage of by plea. State v. Barkman, 7—387. It is irregular to try a defendant upon two indictments at once, even with his consent. McClellan v. State, 32—609. See also State v. Clark, Id., 231.

X.—PROCESS UPON AN INDICTMENT.

SECTION

2132. Process on indictment, defined.
 2133. how issued and re-issued.
 2134. court to order on indictment.
 2135. Bench warrant, form of.
 2136. indorsement on, as to bail.
 2137. bail on, when not executed by sheriff.

SECTION

2138. Bench warrant issued on forfeiture of bail.
 2139. Summons on indictment, form of.
 2140. how issued and served.
 2141. only issued on indictment for misdemeanor, and not then if.
 2142. Bench warrant may issue on any indictment.

SECTION 2132. The process on an indictment consists of the writs for arresting or summoning the defendant to appear and answer the indictment.

SEC. 2133. The process of arrest shall be issued by the clerk, upon the order of the court, and may be re-issued from time to time by order of the attorney for the state (ss).

SEC. 2134. Upon an indictment being found, if the defendant is not in custody or on bail, the court shall forthwith make an order for process to be issued thereon, designating whether it shall be for arresting or summoning the defendant; and if for arresting the defendant, and the offense charged is bailable, the sum in which he may be admitted to bail shall be fixed (tt).

SEC. 2135. The process of arrest on an indictment shall be a bench warrant, and may be substantially in the following form :

PULASKI CIRCUIT COURT, STATE OF ARKANSAS.

To any sheriff, coroner, jailer, constable, marshal or policeman in the state (uu) :

You are hereby commanded forthwith to arrest A. B., and bring him before the Pulaski Circuit Court, to answer an indictment found in that court against him for felony (or misdemeanor, as the case may be), or, if the court be adjourned for the term, that you deliver him to the custody of the jailer of Pulaski County.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, this ——— day of ———, 18—. C. D., Clerk P. C. C.

SEC. 2136. If the offense be bailable, an indorsement shall be made on the bench warrant, substantially as follows :

The defendant is to be admitted to bail in the sum of ——— dollars, and if he desire to give bail, it may be taken by the sheriff of the county in which he is arrested, or the sheriff of Pulaski County.

SEC. 2137. If the bench warrant be executed by any other officer than a sheriff, such officer, at the defendant's request, shall take him before a sheriff of the county in which he is arrested, or of the county in which the indictment was found, for the purpose of giving bail (vv).

SEC. 2138. If the defendant is on bail, and the indictment is for an offense not bailable, and he appears in pursuance of the bail-bond, he shall be forthwith committed to jail; and if he does not appear, on being required by the court, the bond shall be forfeited, and a bench warrant be issued for his arrest.

SEC. 2139. The summons on an indictment may be substantially in the following form :

(ss) See Humphries v. State, 33—713.

(tt) See Humphries v. State, 33—713.

(uu) See Winkler v. State, 32—539.

(vv) See Blevins v. State, 31—53.

PULASKI CIRCUIT COURT, STATE OF ARKANSAS.

To any sheriff, coroner, jailer, constable, marshal or policeman in this state:

You are hereby commanded to summon A. B. to appear in the Pulaski Circuit Court on the first day of its next (June) term, to answer an indictment for misdemeanor found against him in that court.

Given under my hand the —— day of ——, 18—.

C. D., Clerk P. C. C.

SEC. 2140. The summons shall be issued and served in the same manner as a summons in civil actions.

SEC. 2141. The summons shall only be issued on indictments for misdemeanor, where the court has not ordered a bench warrant to issue, and may be issued without any order by the court.

SEC. 2142. The court may, at its discretion, order a bench warrant to be issued on any indictment; but where the punishment is limited to a fine of one hundred dollars, or less, a bench warrant shall not be issued, unless the court is satisfied that there is reason to believe the defendant will escape punishment if a bench warrant is not issued. Crim. Code, secs. 139-150.

XI.—PRODUCTION OF EVIDENCE.

SECTION

2143. Clerk to issue subpoenas for witnesses.

2144. Law governing and summoning witnesses in civil actions, applies in criminal cases, except.

SECTION

2145. Court may compel production of written documents, etc.

2146, 2147, 2148, 2149. Depositions may be taken by defendants, when and how.

SECTION 2143. The clerk of the court, upon the request of the prosecuting attorney, or of the defendant, or his attorney, shall issue subpoenas for witnesses.

SEC. 2144. The provisions of law in civil actions shall apply to and govern the summoning and coercing the attendance of witnesses, and compelling them to testify in all prosecutions, criminal or penal actions or proceedings, except that the attendance of witnesses residing in any part of the state may be coerced, and it shall never be necessary to tender to the witnesses any compensation for expenses or otherwise before process of contempt shall issue.

SEC. 2145. The court, on motion of either party, may, by its order and process, compel the production of any written document, or any other thing which may be necessary or proper to be produced or exhibited as evidence on the trial, and may punish a disobedience of its orders or process as in case of witnesses refusing to testify.

SEC. 2146. The court, or judge in vacation, or a judge of the supreme court, may authorize a defendant to take the deposition of a material witness where there are reasonable grounds to apprehend that, before the trial, the witness will die or become mentally incapable of giving testimony, or physically incapable of attending the trial, or of becoming a non-resident of the state (ww).

(ww) Defendants in criminal cases are entitled to take the depositions of witnesses residing out of the state. Giboney v. Rogers, judge. 32-462. And the supreme court will compel the circuit court by mandamus to make the necessary order. Id.

SEC. 2147. The materiality of the testimony and the reason for taking his deposition shall be shown by affidavit.

SEC. 2148. The court or judge shall, by written order, prescribe the manner of taking the deposition, whether by interrogatories or upon notice to the prosecuting attorney.

SEC. 2149. Upon the death of the witness, or his becoming mentally incapable of testifying, or physically incapable of attending the trial or giving his testimony, or a non-resident of the state, and absent therefrom, so that he could not be summoned, the deposition taken in pursuance of such order may be read as evidence, provided, that the ground of non-residence and absence from the state shall not be sufficient unless the defendant makes an affidavit that he has tried in good faith to procure the attendance of such witness and been unable to do so. Crim. Code, secs. 151-154.

XII.—ARRAIGNMENT OF AND PLEADINGS BY DEFENDANT.

SECTION

- 2150. Arraignment defined.
- 2151. Counsel appointed for defendant, when.
- 2152. Copy of indictment for capital offense to be furnished prisoner, when.
- 2153. in all cases, defendant entitled to, on demand, etc.
- 2154. Arraignment only made in felony; dispensed with, when.
- 2155. Defendant believed to be insane, trial to be postponed; proceeding.
- 2156. On arraignment, defendant must move to set aside indictment, or plead.

SETTING ASIDE INDICTMENT.

- 2157. Grounds of motion to set aside.
- 2158. Motion sustained, case to be resubmitted to grand jury; proceedings.
- 2159. New indictment not found, defendant discharged.
- 2160. Motion overruled, defendant must plead.
- 2161. Nolle prosequi not to be entered without leave of court.

PLEADINGS BY DEFENDANT.

- 2162. Demurrer or plea, only pleading by defendant.
- 2163. Must be made in open court, etc.

DEMURRER.

- 2164. Demurrer, when proper.

SECTION

- 2165. Demurrer, proceedings on, when sustained for want of local jurisdiction.
- 2166. same proceedings where same facts appear in proof on trial.
- 2167. not sustained, when.
- 2168. judgment on, when final.
- 2169. sustained, case to be submitted to another grand jury, when.
- 2170. overruled, defendant may plead.
- 2171. judgment on, for defendant, does not bar another prosecution, when.

PLEAS BY DEFENDANT.

- 2172. Pleas, number and kind of.
- 2173. of guilty can only be put in by defendant in open court.
- 2174. of guilty may be withdrawn.
- 2175. of not guilty, what given in evidence under.
- 2176. Acquittal or conviction bars another prosecution for the same offense.
- 2177. Where offense consists of different degrees, bars all.

FORM OF RECORD ENTRY OF DEMURRER AND PLEA.

- 2178. Entry, what to state.
- 2179. No joinder in demurrer, or reply necessary.

SECTION 2150. An arraignment is the reading of the indictment by the clerk to the defendant, and asking him if he pleads guilty or not guilty to the indictment (xx). Crim. Code, sec. 155.

SEC. 2151. If any person about to be arraigned upon an indictment for a felony be without counsel to conduct his defense, and shall be unable to employ any, it shall be the duty of the court to assign him counsel, at his request, not exceeding two, who shall have free access to the prisoner at all reasonable hours (yy).

(xx) A nunc pro tunc order after trial, showing that the accused was arraigned before trial, can not be made in the absence of the prisoner. Baker v. State, 39—180. As to arraignment on change of venue, see Hudley v. State, 36—237.

SEC. 2152. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the court in which an indictment against any person, for a capital offense, may be pending, whenever the defendant shall be in custody, to make out a copy of such indictment, and cause the same to be delivered to the defendant or his counsel at least forty-eight hours before he shall be arraigned on such indictment; but the defendant may, at his request, be arraigned and tried at any time after the service of such copy (zz).

SEC. 2153. Every person who shall be indicted for an offense, who shall be in custody, or held by recognizance to appear and answer such indictment, shall, on demand, and on payment of the fees allowed by law therefor, be entitled to a copy of the indictment and all indorsements thereon (aaa). Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 110-112.

SEC. 2154. The arraignment shall only be made in indictments for felony, and may be dispensed with by the court, with the defendant's consent (bbb).

SEC. 2155. If the court shall be of the opinion that there are reasonable grounds to believe that the defendant is insane, all proceedings in the trial shall be postponed until a jury be impaneled to inquire whether the defendant is of unsound mind (ccc); and if the jury shall find that he is of unsound mind the court shall direct that he be kept in prison, or conveyed by the sheriff to the lunatic asylum, and there kept in custody by the officers thereof until he is restored, when he shall be returned to the sheriff, on demand, to be reconveyed by him to the jail of the county (ddd).

SEC. 2156. Upon the arraignment, or upon the call of the indictment for trial, if there is no arraignment, the defendant must either move to set aside the indictment or plead thereto (eee).

SETTING ASIDE INDICTMENT.

SEC. 2157. The motion to set aside the indictment can only be made on the following grounds:

(yy) If the record is silent, the supreme court will presume that the court below assigned counsel to a prisoner charged with felony. Brown v. State, 12—623. Such counsel are not entitled to compensation. Arkansas County v. Freeman & Johnson, 31—266.

(zz) It is only in capital cases, when the accused is in custody, that it is made the duty of the clerk, without a fee, to furnish a copy of the indictment under this section. Howard v. State, 37—265. Service of a copy of the indictment on the accused while he is in prison, and in the absence of his counsel, is sufficient. Hurley v. State, 29—17. A defendant who is at large on bail is not entitled to service of a copy of the indictment under this section. He might apply to the clerk and get a copy by paying for it. Dawson v. State, Ib., 116. The counsel of a defendant indicted for a capital offense can not, in the absence of the defendant, waive further time as to copy of the indictment. Oeborn v. State, 24—629.

In the absence of any showing of a demand of a copy of the indictment, and of any affirmative showing that a copy was not furnished to defendant before trial, it will be presumed, on appeal, that it was done, or that he waived it. Wright v. State, 42—94.

A prisoner is not entitled to be furnished with a list of the jurors before trial. Benton v. State, 30—328; Wright v. State, 35—639; Green v. State, 38—304.

(aaa) See Dawson v. State, 29—116; also, note (zz) to preceding section.

(bbb) See Baker v. State, 39—180.

(ccc) See notes to SECS. 2188, 2195.

(ddd) But see SECS. 4547-4565.

(eee) It is error to proceed to trial without a plea from the defendant. Lacefield v. State, 34—275; Perry v. State, 37—54; Baker v. State, 39—180.

First. A substantial error in the summoning or formation of the grand jury (fff).

Second. That some person other than the grand jurors was present before the grand jury when they finally acted upon the indictment.

Third. That the indictment was not found and presented as required by law.

SEC. 2158. If the motion is sustained the court shall make an order that the case be submitted to another grand jury, to be assembled at that or the next term of the court, and the defendant, if in custody, shall be remanded to jail, or if on bail the bail shall be liable for the defendant's appearance to answer a new indictment, if one be found.

SEC. 2159. Unless, however, a new indictment is found before the final discharge of the next grand jury, the defendant shall be discharged from custody or bail, unless for good cause shown the court shall otherwise order.

SEC. 2160. If the motion is overruled the defendant shall be required to plead to the indictment. Crim. Code, secs. 156-162.

SEC. 2161. No attorney for the state shall enter a nolle prosequi on any indictment, or in any other way discontinue or abandon the same, without the leave of the court in which such indictment is pending being first entered on the minutes. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 109.

PLEADINGS BY DEFENDANT.

SEC. 2162. The only pleading on the part of the defendant is a demurrer or a plea.

SEC. 2163. The demurrer and plea must be put in, in open court, and may be oral, but an entry thereof must be made on the record.

DEMURRER.

SEC. 2164. A demurrer is proper:

First. Where it appears from the indictment that the offense was not committed within the local jurisdiction of the court (ggg).

Second. Where it does not substantially conform to the requirements of sections 2105 to 2122, both inclusive.

Third. When more than one offense is charged in the indictment, except as provided in sections 2109 and 1621.

Fourth. Where the facts do not constitute a public offense (hhh).

Fifth. Where the indictment contains matter which is a legal defense or a bar to the prosecution.

(fff) When the grand jury has been impaneled and the indictment returned by them into court, irregularities in summoning or impaneling them and questions as to the qualifications of the jurors are waived by a plea of not guilty to the indictment. Miller v. State, 40—488; Shropshire v. State, 12—190; Fenally v. State, Ib., 630; Brown v. State, 13—96; Stewart v. State, Ib., 744; Straughan v. State, 16—41; Dixon v. State, 29—165, and cases cited; Wright v. State, 42—94. It is irregular for the court to designate by name particular persons among the bystanders to complete the grand jury; but such irregularity would not invalidate all the proceedings of the grand jury, and is not sufficient ground for setting aside the indictment. Runnels v. State, 28—121.

(ggg) When the court sees it has no jurisdiction, it should quash the indictment of its own motion. State v. Kirkpatrick, 32—117.

(hhh) A general demurrer to an indictment containing several counts should be overruled, if either count be good. Cooper (I. Z.) v. State, 37—412.

SEC. 2165. If the demurrer is sustained on account of its appearing that the offense was not committed within the jurisdiction of the court, and it does appear that the offense is a felony, and was committed in the jurisdiction of another court in this state, the court shall make an order that the clerk transmit to the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the offense a copy of the indictment and all the original papers, including the bail-bond, if any there be; and, if the defendant be in custody, that he be carried and delivered, with a copy of the order, to the jailer of the county to which the papers are directed to be transmitted; and said order, and the proceedings in obedience thereto, shall operate in all respects as an order of a magistrate holding a defendant to answer the charge; and the bail, if any, shall be liable for the appearance of the defendant to answer an indictment in the court to which the papers are transmitted, and shall have the right of surrendering the defendant to the jailer of that county, or to that court.

SEC. 2166. The same orders and proceedings may be had whenever it appears on the trial, by proof, that the offense, being a felony, was committed out of the jurisdiction of the court in which the indictment was found, but within the jurisdiction of another court of this state.

SEC. 2167. Where the indictment improperly charges more than one offense, the attorney for the state may dismiss one of them, and thereupon the demurrer shall not be sustained on that ground.

SEC. 2168. If the demurrer is sustained because the indictment contains matter which is a legal defense or bar to the indictment, the judgment shall be final, and the defendant discharged from any further prosecution for the offense (iii).

SEC. 2169. If the demurrer is sustained on any other grounds than those mentioned in the last four sections, the case may be submitted to another grand jury, and an order to that effect may be made by the court on the record; whereupon the defendant shall be held in custody, or on bail, in the manner and for the time provided in sections 2158 and 2159 (jjj).

SEC. 2170. If the demurrer is overruled, the defendant has a right to plead to the indictment; if he fails to do so, final judgment shall be entered against him, and, if necessary, a jury impaneled to fix the punishment.

SEC. 2171. The dismissal of the indictment by the court, on demurrer, except as provided in section 2168, or for an objection to its form or substance taken on the trial, or for variance between the indictment and the proof, shall not bar another prosecution for the same offense.

PLEAS BY DEFENDANT.

SEC. 2172. There are but three kinds of pleas to an indictment:

First. A plea of guilty (kkk).

(iii) See State v. Gill, 33—129.

(jjj) See State v. Gill, 33—129; State v. McMinn, 34—160. This section does not authorize the court to dismiss a valid indictment after arraignment, plea and impanelling of the jury, so as to hold the accused for trial on another indictment for the same offense. Lee v. State, 26—260, and cases cited. As to when jeopardy attaches, see same case.

(kkk) By the plea of guilty, defendant but confesses himself guilty in manner and form as charged in the indictment, and if the indictment charges no offense against the law, none is confessed. Fletcher v. State, 12—169.

Second. Not guilty.

Third. A former conviction or acquittal of the offense charged, which may be pleaded with or without the plea of not guilty (lll).

SEC. 2173. The plea of guilty can only be put in by the defendant himself in open court.

SEC. 2174. At any time before judgment, the court may permit the plea of guilty to be withdrawn and a plea of not guilty substituted.

SEC. 2175. The plea of not guilty is a denial of every material allegation in the indictment; and all matters of fact tending to establish a defense, other than a former conviction or acquittal, may be given in evidence under it.

SEC. 2176. An acquittal by a judgment on a verdict, or a conviction, shall bar another prosecution for the same offense, notwithstanding a defect in form or substance in the indictment on which the acquittal or conviction took place (mmm).

SEC. 2177. Where an offense consists of different degrees, a conviction or acquittal by judgment upon a verdict shall be a bar to another prosecution for the offense in any of its degrees (nnn).

FORM OF RECORD, ENTRY OF DEMURRER AND PLEA.

SEC. 2178. The entry on the record of the demurrer and pleas may be substantially in the following form:

First. A demurrer: "The defendant demurs to the indictment."

Second. A plea of guilty: "The defendant pleads that he is guilty of the offense charged in the indictment."

Third. A plea of not guilty: "The defendant pleads that he is not guilty of the offense charged in the indictment."

Fourth. A plea of former acquittal or conviction: "The defendant pleads that he has been acquitted (or convicted, as the case may be,) of the offense

(lll) Where the defendant pleads former acquittal, and not guilty, the plea of former acquittal should be first tried. Lee v. State, 26—260.

A plea of former conviction or acquittal, before a justice of the peace, of a felony, or of a misdemeanor included in a felony, will not bar a prosecution for the felony in the circuit court. State v. Nichols, 38—350. But see Southworth v. State, 42—270.

(mmm) But if upon a former indictment the defendant could not have been convicted of the offense described in a second indictment, an acquittal upon the former is no bar to the latter. State v. McMinn, 34—160; Williams v. State, 42—35.

Where the defendant is indicted for the larceny of several articles, tried, convicted as to part of the articles, a new trial granted him, a new indictment afterward found against him for the same larceny, and the original indictment quashed, he can not be put in jeopardy again on the new or a subsequent indictment as to the articles which he was acquitted of stealing, or other articles embraced in the same larceny but not included in the first indictment; but he may be tried again upon the second indictment for the larceny of the articles he was found guilty of stealing under the first indictment. State v. Clark, 32—231.

The mere filing of an affidavit before a justice of the peace and issuance of a warrant of arrest will not bar a subsequent indictment for the same offense. James Bradley v. State, Id., 722.

A conviction of assault and battery before a justice of the peace on the confession or information of the offender is no bar to an indictment for the same offense. Id.

When, after conviction, a new trial is granted the defendant on his own motion, he may be tried again for the same offense. Johnson v. State, 29—31.

A conviction of murder in the second degree on an indictment for murder in the first degree is an implied acquittal of murder in the first degree, and the defendant can not again be put in jeopardy for the higher offense; and the court should so instruct the jury, whether the former acquittal is pleaded or not. Id. See also McKensie v. State, 26—334. For a full discussion of the question of "former jeopardy," see Lee v. State, Id., 260. See also Williams v. State, 42—35.

(nnn) See State v. Nichols, 38—550.

charged in the indictment, by the judgment of —— court (naming it), rendered on the —— day of —— (naming the time)" (ooo).

SEC. 2179. Neither a joinder in demurrer nor a reply to the plea of former acquittal or conviction shall be necessary; but the demurrer shall be heard and decided, and the plea shall be considered as controverted by denial, and by any matter of avoidance that may be shown in evidence. Crim. Code, secs. 163-180.

XIII.—ISSUES, HOW TRIED.

SECTION

2180. Issue of law arises on demurrer.

2181. of law tried by the court.

2182. of fact arises on plea.

SECTION

2183. Issue of fact tried by jury.

2184. of fact, court may try, when.

SECTION 2180. An issue of law arises on a demurrer to the indictment.

SEC. 2181. Issues of law shall be tried by the court.

SEC. 2182. An issue of fact arises upon a plea of not guilty, or of former acquittal or conviction.

SEC. 2183. Issues of fact shall be tried by a jury.

SEC. 2184. In all cases of misdemeanors the parties may, by consent, waive a jury and submit the law and facts to the court; in which case the court shall find the facts and report upon them separate from its decision upon the law (ppp). Crim. Code, secs. 181-183.

XIV.—TIME AND POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL.

SECTION

2185. Trial, when may be, if defendant in custody or on bail.

2186. to be continued to first day of next term, when.

2187. all prosecutions to stand for, on the day to which docketed, when.

POSTPONEMENT OF.

2188. Trial may be postponed, when.

2189. postponement of, by defendant to be by rules in civil actions.

SECTION

2190. Trial, postponement of may be on official statement of prosecuting attorney.

2191. defendant in prison and not brought to, before end of second term, discharged, unless.

2192. defendant on bail and not brought to, before end of third term, discharged, unless.

2193. not had for want of time, etc., not to work discharge of defendant.

2194. may be continued to succeeding term by court, when.

SECTION 2185. If the defendant is in custody, or on bail, when the indictment is found, the trial may take place at the same term of the court, on a day to be fixed by the court (qqq).

(ooo) As to what plea should contain, see State v. Clark, 32—231; Johnson v. State, 29—31.

A plea of former conviction which does not verify the alleged conviction by the record is bad on demurrer. James Bradley v. State, 32—722, and cases cited.

(ppp) Under this section the court may, by consent, try a misdemeanor. James Bradley v. State, 32—722.

(qqq) Where a trial has been properly conducted in other respects, a judgment of conviction will not be reversed simply because the record fails to show that the court set a day for trial. Wallace v. State, 28—531.

SEC. 2186. If not tried at the same term all indictments, together with all other criminal prosecutions and penal actions, shall be docketed for the first day of the next term of the court, unless a different day be fixed by the order of the court.

SEC. 2187. All prosecutions shall stand for trial on the day to which they are docketed, where the defendant is in custody, or on bail, or has been summoned three days before the commencement of the term.

POSTPONEMENT OF.

SEC. 2188. When an indictment is called for trial, or at any time previous thereto, the court, upon sufficient cause shown by either party, may direct the trial to be postponed to another day in the same term, or to another term (rrr).

SEC. 2189. The provisions of law in civil actions, in regard to postponements of the trial of actions, shall apply to the postponement of prosecutions on behalf of defendant (sss). Crim. Code, secs. 186-190.

SEC. 2190. The attorney for the state shall not be required, in order to obtain a continuance of a criminal case, to make an affidavit to the causes for continuance; his official statement in writing shall be sufficient.

SEC. 2191. If any person indicted for any offense, and committed to prison, shall not be brought to trial before the end of the second term of the court having jurisdiction of the offense, which shall be held after the finding of such indictment, he shall be discharged so far as relates to the offense for which he was committed, unless the delay shall happen on the application of the prisoner.

SEC. 2192. If any person indicted for any offense, and held to bail, shall not be brought to trial before the end of the third term of the court in which such indictment is pending, which shall be held after the finding of such indictment and holding to bail thereon, he shall be discharged so far as relates to such offense, unless the delay happen on his application.

SEC. 2193. Nothing in the two preceding sections shall be so construed as to discharge any person who may have been indicted for any criminal offense, on account of the failure of the judge to hold any term of the court, or for the want of time to try such person at any term of the court.

SEC. 2194. If, when application is made for the discharge of any defendant, under either of the three preceding sections, the court shall be satisfied that there is material evidence on the part of the state which can not be had, that reasonable exertions have been made to procure the same, and that there is just ground to believe that such evidence can be had at the succeeding term, the cause may be continued to the next term, and the prisoner remanded or admitted to bail as the case may require. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 159, 168-172.

(rrr) No person should be tried upon a charge of felony when he has not reason enough, whether in consequence of intoxication or other cause, to appreciate his peril or act advisedly with his counsel. Taffe v. State, 23-34.

(sss) Continuances in criminal as well as in civil cases, as a general proposition, are within the sound discretion of the court, and its refusal to grant a continuance is never ground for a new trial, unless it clearly appears to have been an abuse of such discretion and manifestly operates as a denial of justice. Thompson v. State, 26-323.

XV.—CHANGE OF VENUE (ttt).

SECTION

2195. Change of venue when inhabitants of county prejudiced against defendant.
2196. Application therefor, how made.
2197. Cause of removal to be specified in order.
2198. Order to be entered of record; in vacation, signed by judge.
2199. Defendant to enter into recognizance.
2200. Recognizance may be taken by whom.
2201. Order not effectual unless recognizance entered into.
2202. If defendant in actual custody, court to order his removal to county of trial.
2203. Duty of sheriff on such order.

SECTION

2204. Clerk to make transcript.
2205. First transcript lost, another to be made.
2206. Transcript to be filed when received.
2207. Defendant and witnesses bound to attend, having notice.
2208. Order of removal in term time deemed notice.
2209. Expenses of removal, how adjusted and allowed.
2210. Penalty for clerk failing to perform duty.
2211. Where several defendants, the case removed as to applicant only.
2212. But one change granted.

SECTION 2195. Any criminal cause pending in any circuit court may be removed by the order of such court, or by the judge thereof in vacation, to the circuit court of another county, whenever it shall appear, in the manner hereinafter provided, that the minds of the inhabitants of the county in which the cause is pending are so prejudiced against the defendant that a fair and impartial trial can not be had therein (uuu).

SEC. 2196. Such order of removal shall be made on the application of the defendant by petition setting forth the facts, verified by affidavit, if reasonable notice of the application be given to the attorney for the state, and the truth of the allegations in such petition be supported by the affidavit of some credible person (vvv).

SEC. 2197. Every order for the removal of a criminal cause shall specify the cause of removal and designate the county to which the cause is to be removed (www).

SEC. 2198. Such order, if made in term time, shall be entered on the record of the proceedings of the court; and if made by a judge in vacation, shall be in writing, and be signed by such judge, and shall be filed by the clerk with the petition, if any, as a part of the record.

SEC. 2199. When such order shall be made, the defendant, if not in custody, and the offense charged be bailable, shall enter into recognizance, with sufficient security, for his appearance to answer the charges in the court to which the cause is to be removed on the first day of the next term thereof, and not depart such court without leave.

SEC. 2200. Such recognizance may be taken by the court or judge making the order of removal, or by any officer authorized by law to let to bail after indictment found; and when taken out of the court in which the cause is

(ttt) Under the present constitution the venue in a criminal case can, for no cause, be changed to a county out of the judicial circuit in which the indictment is found. State v. Flynn, 31—35.

(uuu) When the question of insanity is submitted to a jury on writ of error coram nobis, after conviction and sentence, the prisoner is entitled to a change of venue upon such issue, but the change of venue carries with it the whole case. Adler v. State, 35—517.

(vvv) The prosecuting attorney may introduce counter affidavits to show that the person making affidavit in support of the application is not a credible person. Curtis v. State, 36—286.

As to change of venue after motion for new trial and order of continuance, see Coll v. Elliott, judge, 28—294.

pending, the same shall be filed with the clerk thereof as a part of the record in such cause.

SEC. 2201. No order for the removal of a cause shall be effectual in the case of any defendant not in confinement or custody, unless a recognizance be entered into as herein directed, nor unless the order of such removal be delivered before any juror is sworn in the cause.

SEC. 2202. If the defendant be in actual custody, the court or judge granting the order of removal shall also make an order commanding the sheriff to remove the body of the defendant to the jail of the county into which the cause is to be removed, and there deliver him to the keeper of such jail, together with the warrant or process by virtue of which he is imprisoned and held.

SEC. 2203. The sheriff shall obey such order without unnecessary delay, and shall indorse on the commitment, process or order of the court by which the prisoner is held in his custody the reason of the change of custody, and shall deliver such warrant, with the prisoner, to the keeper of the jail of the proper county, who shall give such sheriff a receipt therefor, and take charge of and keep the prisoner in the same manner as if he had been originally committed to such jail.

SEC. 2204. Whenever any order shall be made for the removal of any cause under the foregoing provisions of this act, the clerk of the court in which the same is pending shall make out a full transcript of the records and proceedings in the cause, including the order of removal, the petition therefor, if any, and the recognizance of the defendant, and of all witnesses, and shall immediately transmit the same, duly certified, under the seal of the court, to the clerk of the court to which the removal of the cause is ordered (xxx).

SEC. 2205. If such transcript shall not have been transmitted, or shall not have been received, on or before the first term of the court to which the cause is ordered to be removed, or if such transcript shall be lost or destroyed, the cause shall not, by reason thereof, abate or be discontinued; but such transcript, or another in lieu thereof, may be transmitted and filed, as required by this act, at or before the next succeeding term of such court, and proceeding shall be thereon had as if no such failure or loss had happened.

SEC. 2206. On the receipt of such transcript by the clerk of the court to which any such cause is removed, he shall file the same as a record of his court, and the same proceedings shall be had in the cause in such court, and in the same manner in all respects as if the same had originated there (yyy).

SEC. 2207. The defendant and all witnesses and others who shall have entered into recognizance to attend the trial of any such cause, having notice of the removal thereof, shall be bound to attend at the time and place of trial in the county to which the cause is so removed; and a failure so to do shall be deemed a breach of the recognizance, and, upon motion of the prosecuting attorney, judgment of forfeiture shall be entered by the court as provided by law.

(xxx) The original indictment remains in the court where it is preferred. Pleasant v. State, 15—624.

The transcript should be duly certified by the clerk under the seal of his court, and the omission of the seal can not be corrected by the clerk's attaching his official seal to the certificate, by leave of the court, after trial and judgment. Hudley v. State, 36—237.

(yyy) Until the transcript is lodged in the court to which the venue is changed, such court has no jurisdiction to try the cause. Burris v. State, 38—221. On a change of venue after verdict against the prisoner, and while a motion in arrest of judgment is pending, the transcript may be perfected by certiorari. Green v. State, 19—178; Binns v. State, 35—118.

SEC. 2208. When the order of removal is made in term time, it shall be deemed a notice to every person who has entered into recognizance to appear at such term, and in all other cases the notice shall be given in writing, signed by the attorney for the state or the clerk of the court, and be served on the person so recognized in the manner provided by law for serving other notices.

SEC. 2209. The costs and expenses necessarily incurred in the removal of any cause under the foregoing provisions shall be adjusted and allowed by the court where the cause is tried, and shall be taxed and collected as other costs in the cause.

SEC. 2210. If any clerk of the circuit court shall neglect or refuse to perform any duty in relation to the removal of a cause enjoined on him by the provisions of this act, he shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, to be recovered by civil action, in the name of the state.

SEC. 2211. When there are several defendants in any indictment or criminal prosecution, and the cause of the removal thereof exists only as to one or more of them, the other defendants shall be tried and all proceedings had against them in the county in which the case is pending, in all respects as if no order of removal had been made as to any defendant. Crim. Code, secs. 414-431, as amended 1873.

SEC. 2212. But one change of venue shall be granted in any criminal case or prosecution. Ib., sec. 432.

PRESENCE OF DEFENDANT.

SECTION 2213. If the indictment be for a felony, the defendant must be present during the trial (zzz). If he escapes from custody after the trial has commenced, or, if on bail, shall absent himself during the trial, the trial may either be stopped or progress to a verdict, at the discretion of the prosecuting attorney, but judgment shall not be rendered until the presence of the defendant is obtained.

SEC. 2214. If the indictment is for a misdemeanor, the trial may be had in the absence of the defendant (aaaa).

SEC. 2215. During the trial of an indictment for felony, where the defendant is on bail, he may remain on bail or be committed to and remain in the custody of the proper officer, as the court may direct.

SEPARATE TRIAL.

SEC. 2216. When two or more defendants are jointly indicted for a misdemeanor, they may be tried jointly or separately, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 2217. When jointly indicted for a felony, any defendant requiring it is entitled to a separate trial, and when the trials are severed, the defendants may elect the order in which they shall stand upon the docket for trial; but if no such election is made, they shall stand in the order in which their names appear upon the indictment. Crim. Code, secs. 184, 185, 228, 236.

(zzz) The defendant must be personally present at each and every time when any step is taken by the court in his case, and the record, on appeal, must affirmatively show the fact. Brown v. State, 24—620, and cases cited.

(aaaa) The court has the discretion to refuse a trial in the defendant's absence. Bridges v. State, 38—510. The state can not demand a trial in the absence of the defendant. Owen v. State, 38—512. The court should not permit a defendant to be tried in his absence, even with his consent, where the punishment may be imprisonment; but if it does so, and there is a verdict for imprisonment as part of his punishment, he can not, after consenting, complain of it. Martin v. State, 40—364. An attorney's consent to try his client for a misdemeanor in his absence will be presumed to be by authority of the client in the absence of proof to the contrary. Id.

SEC. 2218. When two or more defendants are jointly indicted for any criminal offense, the attorney for the state may sever the trial of such joint defendants when he may deem it proper. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 167.

FORMATION OF THE JURY.

SEC. 2219. The jurors for the trial of criminal prosecutions shall be selected and summoned as provided by law (bbbb), and shall be composed of twelve jurors. Provided, that cases other than felony may, by agreement of the parties, be tried by a jury of less than twelve jurors.

SEC. 2220. The jury for the trial of all prosecutions for misdemeanors shall be selected in the manner provided by law for the formation of a jury in a civil action (cccc).

SEC. 2221. In a prosecution for felony, the clerk, under the direction of the court, shall draw from the jury-box (dddd) the names of twelve petit jurors, who shall be sworn to make true and perfect answers to such questions as may be asked them touching their qualifications as jurors in the case on trial, and each juror may be examined by the state and cross-examined by the defendant touching his qualification. If the court decide he is competent, the state may challenge him peremptorily or accept him; then the defendant may peremptorily challenge or accept him (eeee). If not so challenged by either party, he shall stand as a juror in the case, and each of the twelve jurors shall be examined and disposed of in like manner. If any of said jurors are disqualified or challenged, the clerk shall draw from the box as many more as may be required, and as often as may be required, until the jury shall be obtained, or the whole panel exhausted (ffff).

SEC. 2222. When the panel is exhausted, the court shall order the sheriff to summon bystanders to at least twice the number necessary to complete the jury, whose names shall be placed in the box and drawn, and such jurors shall be sworn, examined and disposed of in the same manner as is provided for drawing, examining and disposing of the regular panel. If the jury is still incomplete, the bystanders shall again be summoned to twice the number necessary to complete the jury, who shall, in like manner, be drawn, sworn and disposed of, and the mode herein provided shall be continued until the jury is completed (gggg).

SEC. 2223. By consent of the parties, the drawing of the jury may be waived, in which case the whole panel may be sworn, examined and disposed of as provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 2224. The court may, for sufficient cause, designate some other officer or person than the sheriff to summon jurors, the officer or person designated being first duly sworn in open court to discharge the duty faithfully and impartially.

(bbbb) For mode of selecting and summoning jury, see SECS. 3984, 3987.

(cccc) For mode of selecting jury in civil action, see SECS. 4013-4015.

(dddd) The clerk is required to keep a box for that purpose. SEC. 4013.

(eeee) See SECS. 2212, 2243.

(ffff) As to correcting clerical error in name of juror on the record, see Hurley v. State, 29-17.

(gggg) The erroneous rejection of a talesman is not a ground for a new trial; it is in the discretion of the court to excuse a talesman for any ground deemed sufficient, without prejudice to the accused. Hurley v. State, 29-17.

SEC. 2225. Where the judge of the circuit court is satisfied, after having made a fair effort, in good faith, for that purpose, that from any cause it will be impracticable to obtain a jury free of bias in the county wherein the prosecution is pending, he shall be authorized to order the sheriff to summon a sufficient number of qualified jurors from some adjoining county in which the judge shall believe there is the greatest probability of obtaining impartial jurors, and, from those so summoned, the jury may be formed (*).

SEC. 2226. The persons so summoned shall be allowed the same mileage as witnesses and the same pay as other jurors.

SEC. 2227. The sheriff shall have the same power of summoning jurors under such order that he would have in the county of which he is the sheriff, and the court the same power of coercing the attendance of such jurors that it would have if they were summoned in the same county. Crim. Code, secs. 191-198.

CHALLENGES (hhhh).

SEC. 2228. A challenge is an objection to the trial jurors, and is of two kinds:

First. To the panel.

Second. To the individual juror.

SEC. 2229. A challenge to the panel shall only be for substantial irregularity in selecting or summoning the jury, or in drawing the panel by the clerk.

SEC. 2230. Where the challenge is sustained on the ground of irregularity in selecting or summoning the jury, all the standing jurors shall be excluded from the trial jury, and it shall be composed of persons summoned by the sheriff, or other officer appointed by the court for that purpose. If sustained because of irregularity in drawing the panel, all the names of the standing jury shall be replaced and another panel drawn.

SEC. 2231. The challenge to the individual juror is:

First. For cause.

Second. Peremptory.

SEC. 2232. It must be taken before he is sworn in chief; but the court, for a good cause, may permit it to be made at any time before the jury is completed.

SEC. 2233. The challenge for cause may be taken either by the state or by the defendant.

SEC. 2234. It may be general, that the juror is disqualified in serving in any case, or particular, that he is disqualified from serving in the case on trial.

SEC. 2235. Causes of general challenge are:

First. A want of the qualifications prescribed by law.

Second. A conviction for a felony.

Third. Unsoundness of mind, or such defect in the faculties of the mind or organs of the body as render him incapable of properly performing the duties of a juror.

SEC. 2236. Particular causes of challenge are actual and implied bias.

(*) If this section can stand, as consistent with art. II, sec. 10, of the present constitution, it seems clear that it must be understood to be applicable only to cases in which the defendant may expressly waive his right to a trial by a jury "of the county in which the crime shall have been committed."

(hhhh) For challenges and oath of jury in civil cases, see chap. 90.

SEC. 2237. Actual bias is the existence of such a state of mind on the part of the juror in regard to the case, or to either party, as satisfies the court, in the exercise of a sound discretion, that he can not try the case impartially and without prejudice to the substantial rights of the party challenging (iii).

SEC. 2238. A challenge for implied bias may be taken:

First. Where the juror is related by consanguinity or affinity, or stands in the relation of guardian and ward, attorney and client, master and servant, landlord and tenant, employer and employed on wages, or is a member of the family of defendant, or of the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose complaint the prosecution was instituted.

Second. Being adverse to the defendant in a civil suit, or having complained against or being accused by him in a criminal prosecution.

Third. Having served on the grand jury which found the indictment, or on the coroner's jury which inquired into the death of the party whose death is the subject of the indictment.

Fourth. Having served on a trial jury which has tried another person for the offense charged in the indictment.

Fifth. Having been one of the former jury sworn to try the same indictment, and whose verdict was set aside, or who were discharged without a verdict.

Sixth. Having served as a juror in a civil action brought against the defendant for the act charged in the indictment.

Seventh. When the offense is punishable with death, the entertaining of such conscientious opinions as would preclude him from finding the defendant guilty.

SEC. 2239. The state shall be entitled to ten peremptory challenges in prosecutions for felony, and to three in prosecutions for misdemeanor.

SEC. 2240. The defendant is entitled to twenty peremptory challenges in prosecutions for felony, and to three in prosecutions for misdemeanor.

SEC. 2241. An exemption from serving on a jury is not a cause of challenge; and having formed or expressed an opinion from rumor merely shall not be a cause of challenge.

SEC. 2242. The challenge to the juror shall first be made by the state, and then by the defendant; and the state must exhaust her challenges to each particular juror before such juror is passed to the defendant for challenge or acceptance.

SEC. 2243. The challenges of either party need not be all taken together, but separately, in the following order:

First. To the panel.

Second. To the individual juror for general disqualification.

Third. To the individual juror for implied bias.

Fourth. To the individual juror for actual bias.

Fifth. Peremptory.

SEC. 2244. Challenges shall be tried and determined by the court in a summary manner, without the issues of law or of fact arising thereon being reduced to writing.

SEC. 2245. The juror himself may be examined on oath by either party upon challenge.

(iii) See Casey v. State, 37—67; Dolan v. State, 40—454; Casal v. State, Ib., 511; Benton v. State, 30—328, and cases cited.

SEC. 2246. Other witnesses may also be examined, and their attendance coerced.

SEC. 2247. When several defendants are tried together, the challenge of any one of the defendants shall be the challenge of all.

OATH OF JURY—PROCEDURE OF TRIAL.

SEC. 2248. When a jury of twelve qualified jurors shall have been duly impaneled, they shall be sworn substantially as follows:

"You, and each of you, do solemnly swear that you will well and truly try the case of the State of Arkansas against A. B., and a true verdict render, unless discharged by the court or withdrawn by the parties" (jjjj).

SEC. 2249. The prosecuting attorney may then read to the jury the indictment, and state the defendant's plea thereto, and the punishment prescribed by law for the offense, and may make a brief statement of the evidence on which the state relies.

SEC. 2250. The defendant, or his counsel, may then make a brief statement of the defense and the evidence upon which the defendant relies.

SEC. 2251. The state must then offer the evidence in support of the indictment.

SEC. 2252. The defendant, or his counsel, must then offer his evidence in support of his defense.

SEC. 2253. The parties may then respectively offer rebutting evidence only, unless the court, for good reason, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original case.

SEC. 2254. When, in the opinion of the court, it is necessary that the jury should view the place in which the offense is charged to have been committed, or in which any other material fact occurred, it may order the jury to be conducted in a body, in the custody of proper officers, to the place, which must be shown to them by the judge or a person appointed by the court for that purpose (kkkk).

SEC. 2255. Such officers must be sworn to suffer no person to speak or communicate with the jury on any subject connected with the trial, nor do so themselves, except the mere showing of the place to be viewed, and return them into court without unnecessary delay, or at some specified time.

SEC. 2256. All questions of law arising during the trial shall be decided by the court, and the jury shall be bound to take the decisions of the court on points of law as the law of the case (llll).

(jjjj) Where the record fails to show that the trial jury, in a felony case, were sworn in that case, a judgment of conviction will be reversed. Barbour v. State, 37—61; Lawrence v. State, 25—106. Where the record shows that the jurors were sworn, but the form of oath administered is not set out in the entries, it will be presumed by the supreme court, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, that the oath was administered to the jurors in proper form. Hurley v. State, 29—17; Anderson v. State, 34—257, and cases cited; Lay v. State, 42—105. But if the form of oath administered is entered of record, and appears not to be in substance and legal effect the oath prescribed by law, it will be error. Anderson v. State, supra. When the regular panel is exhausted, and the deficiency of jurors is supplied by talesmen, they may be sworn separately as they are selected. Hurley v. State, supra. As to form of oath given in this section, see Palmore v. State, 29—248.

(kkkk) When a view of the locality where the crime is alleged to have been committed is ordered by the court, the defendant must be permitted to accompany the jury. Benton v. State, 30—328.

(llll) See Pleasant v. State, 13—360; Edwards v. State, 22—253; Robinson v. State, 33—180; Sweeney v. State, 35—585.

SEC. 2257. When the evidence is concluded, the court shall, on motion of either party, instruct the jury on the law applicable to the case (mmmm).

SEC. 2258. In all cases where, by law, two witnesses, or one witness with corroborating circumstances, are requisite to warrant a conviction, if the requisition is not fulfilled, the court shall instruct the jury to render a verdict of acquittal, by which instruction they are bound. Crim. Code, secs. 199-225, 234, 235, 241.

SEC. 2259. A conviction can not be had in any case of felony upon the testimony of an accomplice, unless corroborated by other evidence tending to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense; and the corroboration is not sufficient if it merely shows that the offense was committed, and the circumstances thereof. Provided, that in misdemeanor cases a conviction may be had upon the testimony of an accomplice (nnnn). Crim. Code, sec. 240, as amended by act Jan. 25, 1883.

SEC. 2260. A confession of a defendant, unless made in open court, will not warrant a conviction unless accompanied with other proof that such offense was committed.

SEC. 2261. Where there is a reasonable doubt of the degree of the offense which the defendant has committed, he shall only be convicted of the lower degree (oooo).

SEC. 2262. Where there is a reasonable doubt of the defendant's guilt upon the testimony in the whole case, he is entitled to an acquittal (pppp). Crim. Code, secs. 237-239.

SEC. 2263. If the case be not submitted without argument, the party having the burden of proof shall have the opening and conclusion of the argument, and if, upon the demand of the adverse party, the attorney prosecuting for the state, or the attorney for the defense, shall refuse to open and fully state the grounds on which he claims a verdict, the party so refusing shall be refused the conclusion of the argument. Crim. Code, sec. 226, as amended by act March 6, 1877.

SEC. 2264. If more than one counsel on each side argue the case, they shall do so alternately.

SEC. 2265. The jurors, before the case is submitted to them, may, in the discretion of the court, be permitted to separate (qqqq), or be kept together in the charge of proper officers. The officers must be sworn to keep the jury together during the adjournment of the court, and to suffer no person to speak to or communicate with them on any subject connected with the trial, nor do so themselves.

(mmmm) Judges shall not charge juries with regard to matters of fact, but shall declare the law; and in jury trials shall reduce their charge or instructions to writing on the request of either party. Art. VII, sec. 23, Const. The reading of a section of the digest to the jury as an instruction is a sufficient compliance with the law when it is required to be in writing. Palmore v. State, 29-248. See also note (11) to sec. 23, art. VII, Const.; Fitzpatrick v. State, 37-238; Polk v. State, 36-117; Wallace v. State, 28-531; Rose's Digest, p. 427, title, "Instructions to Jury."

(pppp) The rule applies to misdemeanors as well as to felonies. State v. King, 20-166.

The rule that the guilt of the accused must be established to the exclusion of every other hypothesis only applies in cases depending upon circumstantial evidence. Cohen v. State, 32-226. See also Benton v. State, 30-328.

(qqqq) It is within the sound discretion of the court to permit the jury to separate, either before or after the cause is submitted to them; but such discretion should be exercised, especially in trials for felony, with the utmost caution. Johnson v. State, 32-309.

SEC. 2266. The jury, whether permitted to separate or kept in charge of officers, must be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to permit any one to speak to or communicate with them on any subject connected with the trial, and that all attempts to do so should be immediately reported by them to the court, and that they should not converse among themselves on any subject connected with the trial, or form or express any opinion thereon until the cause is finally submitted to them. This admonition must be given or referred to by the court at each adjournment.

SEC. 2267. A suitable room must be provided for the use of the jury on their retirement for deliberation, with suitable furniture, fuel, lights and stationery.

SEC. 2268. After the cause is submitted to the jury, they must be kept together in the charge of the sheriff, in the room provided for them, except during their meals and periods for sleep, unless they be permitted to separate by order of the court (rrrr). Suitable food and lodging must be provided by the sheriff, and the expense paid by the county.

SEC. 2269. Upon retiring for deliberation, the jury may take with them all papers which have been received as evidence in the cause (ssss).

SEC. 2270. After the jury retires for deliberation, if there is a disagreement between them as to any part of the evidence, or if they desire to be informed on a point of law, they must require the officer to conduct them into court. Upon their being brought into court the information required must be given in the presence of, or after notice to, the counsel of the parties.

SEC. 2271. If, after retirement, one of the jurors become so sick as to prevent the continuance of his duty, or other accident or cause occur preventing the jury from being kept together (tttt), or, after being kept together such a length of time as the court deems proper, they do not agree in a verdict, and it satisfactorily appears that there is no probability they can agree, the court may discharge them.

SEC. 2272. In all cases where a jury is discharged, either in the progress of a trial or after the cause is submitted to them, the cause may again be tried at the same or another term of the court.

SEC. 2273. While the jury are absent the court may adjourn from time to time as to other business; but it shall be deemed open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury, until a verdict is rendered or the jury discharged.

SEC. 2274. A final adjournment of the court discharges a jury.

SEC. 2275. Where two or more persons are included in the same indictment, and the court is of opinion that the evidence in regard to a particular individual is not sufficient to put him on his defense, it must, on motion of either party desiring to use such defendant as a witness, order him to be discharged from the indictment, and permit him to be examined by the party so moving. The order is an acquittal of such defendant and a bar to another prosecution for the same offense.

(rrrr) See note (qqqq) ante.

(ssss) It is in the discretion of the court to determine whether the jury shall take the instructions with them when they retire. Benton v. State, 30—328; Hurley v. State, 29—17.

The jury should not be permitted to take with them papers containing statements bearing on the case which were not read in evidence. Palmore v. State, 29—248.

(tttt) For causes for which the court may discharge the jury after the case is submitted to them, see Lee v. State, 26—260.

SEC. 2276. If, during the trial, it shall appear that the offense was committed out of the jurisdiction of the court, but within the jurisdiction of some other court of this state, the court shall stop the trial, discharge the jury, and take the proceedings in the case as directed in sections 2165 and 2166.

SEC. 2277. If it appears the offense was committed out of the state, the trial shall in like manner be stopped, and the defendant either discharged or ordered to be retained in custody for a reasonable time, until the counsel for the state shall have an opportunity to inform the chief executive officer of the state in which the offense was committed of the facts, and for said officer to require the delivery of the offender.

SEC. 2278. If, during the trial, the court shall be of opinion that the facts proved constitute an offense of a higher nature than that charged in the indictment, it may direct the jury to be discharged and all proceedings to be suspended until the case can be resubmitted to the grand jury, and may order the defendant to be committed, or admit him to bail to answer any new indictment which may be found against him for the higher offense. If an indictment is not found for the higher offense before the next grand jury is discharged, the court must proceed to try the defendant on the original indictment.

SEC. 2279. If, during the trial, the court is of opinion that the facts charged in the indictment do not constitute an offense punishable by law, it shall order the jury to be discharged and the indictment to be quashed, and thereupon take the proceedings directed in section 2169.

SEC. 2280. The prosecuting attorney, with the permission of the court, may, at any time before the case is finally submitted to the jury, dismiss the indictment as to all or a part of the defendants, and such dismissal shall not bar a future prosecution for the same offense.

VERDICT.

SEC. 2281. Where the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they must be conducted into court by the officer having them in charge, their names called by the clerk, and, if they all appear, their foreman must declare their verdict (uuuu).

SEC. 2282. The jury may render either a general or a special verdict.

SEC. 2283. A general verdict is either "guilty" or "not guilty;" if guilty, the jury affixing the punishment, if the amount thereof is not determined by law (vvvv). Crim. Code, secs. 227, 229-233, 242-255.

SEC. 2284. The jury shall, in all cases of murder, on conviction of the accused, find by their verdict whether he be guilty of murder in the first or (uuuu) The verdict need not be in writing, but may be announced orally by the foreman of the jury and entered by the clerk upon the record, and if in writing and responsive to the issue, it is sufficient, without the formula "In manner and form as charged in the indictment." Dixon v. State, 29-165, and cases cited. It is not necessary that the verdict should be written upon the indictment, though it is usual to do so. Atkins v. State, 16-569. The verdict is of no validity until delivered by the jury in court; and the clerk can not receive it in the recess of the court without the direction of the court or consent of parties. State v. Mills, 19-476. As to calling jury back immediately after their discharge to amend their verdict, see Levick's v. State, 32-585.

(vvvv) Where the jury find a verdict of guilty, and fail to agree on or assess the punishment, the court may assess and declare it. SEC. 2308. A verdict of guilty on an indictment containing several counts is good, if either of the counts be good and be sustained by evidence. Cooper (I. Z.) v. State, 37-412; Howard v. State, 34-433; Watkins v. State, 37-370; Brown v. State, 10-607. See also Youngblood v. State, 35-35. Where several are jointly indicted and tried together, the verdict and judgment against them should be several; that is, fix the fine or punishment to be paid or suffered by each. Straughan v. State, 16-37.

second degree (www); but if the accused confess his guilt, the court shall impanel a jury and examine testimony, and the degree of crime shall be found by such jury. Act Dec. 17, 1838, sec. 1.

SEC. 2285. A special verdict is the finding of the facts only, leaving the law arising on the facts to the judgment of the court, with an ascertainment of the punishment in the event that the court pronounces a judgment of conviction on the verdict.

SEC. 2286. A special verdict must present the conclusions of fact as established by the evidence, and not the evidence of those facts; and the facts must be so presented that the court has nothing to do but draw the conclusions of law upon them.

SEC. 2287. The special verdict must be reduced to writing by the jury, and read to them in the presence of the court. It shall not be received by the court unless it pronounces affirmatively on the facts necessary to enable the court to give judgment.

SEC. 2288. Upon an indictment for an offense consisting of different degrees, the defendant may be found guilty of any degree not higher than that charged in the indictment, and may be found guilty of any offense included in that charged in the indictment (xxxx).

SEC. 2289. The offenses named in each of the subdivisions of this section shall be deemed degrees of the same offense in the meaning of the preceding section:

First. All offenses of homicide.

Second. All injuries to the person by maiming, wounding, beating and assaulting, whether malicious or from sudden passion, and whether attended or not with the intention to kill.

Third. All offenses of larceny.

Fourth. Arson and house-burning.

Fifth. Burglary and house-breaking.

Sixth. An offense, and an attempt to commit the offense. Offenses punished capitally are of the highest degree; other felonies are of higher degree than misdemeanor; and those punished by imprisonment of higher degree than those punished by fine alone. Where the punishment is the same in kind, the amount that may be inflicted fixes the degree.

SEC. 2290. Where an offense is charged in an indictment to have been committed with particular circumstances as to time, place, person, property, value, motive or intention, the offense, without the circumstances, or with part only, is included in the offense, although that charge may be a felony, and the offense, without the circumstances, a misdemeanor only.

SEC. 2291. When the proof shows the defendant to be guilty of a higher (www) See Ford v. State, 34—649, and cases cited. A verdict which does not find the degree of murder is so fatally defective that no judgment can be entered upon it. Thompson v. State, 26—333; Trammell v. State, Ib., 534; Allen v. State, Ib., 333; Neville v. State, Ib., 614, and cases cited. But if the judgment is arrested for this cause, on motion of the defendant, he may be tried again on the same indictment. Allen v. State, supra. Where there are two counts substantially the same, a general verdict of murder in the first degree is a finding upon both counts, and is sufficient. Lovells v. State, 32—385.

(xxxx) Upon an indictment for a felony, the accused may be convicted of a misdemeanor, where both offenses belong to the same generic class, where the commission of the higher may involve the commission of the lower offense, and where the indictment for the higher offense contains all the necessary substantive allegations to let in proof of the misdemeanor. Cameron v. State, 13—712; Childs v. State, 15—204; Sveeden v. State, 19—205; Gurst v. State, Ib., 405; State v. Cryer, 20—64; Bryant v. State, 41—359. See also State v. Nichols, 38—550; Brown v. State, 31—232; McPherson v. State, 29—225; Curtis v. State, 26—439.

degree of the offense than is charged in the indictment, the jury shall find him guilty of the degree charged in the indictment.

SEC. 2292. Upon an indictment against several, if the jury can not agree as to all, they may render a verdict as to those concerning whom they do agree, and the case as to the others may be tried by another jury.

SEC. 2293. If the defense be the insanity of the defendant, the jury must be instructed, if they acquit him on that ground, to state the fact in their verdict.

SEC. 2294. Upon a verdict being rendered, the jury may be polled at the instance of either party, which consists of the clerk or judge asking each juror if it is his verdict, and if one answers in the negative the verdict can not be received (yyyy). Crim. Code, secs. 256-265.

XVII.—NEW TRIAL AND ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

SECTION

2295. New trial defined.
2296. application for, when to be made.
2297. in what cases granted.
2298. juror can not be examined to establish grounds for, except.
2299. effect of.

SECTION

ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

2300. Arrest of judgment defined.
2301. motion for, when may be made.
2302. ground for, court may arrest.
2303. proceedings if court deems defendant guilty.

SECTION 2295. A new trial is the re-examination of an issue of fact in the same court by another jury after a verdict has been given (zzzz).

SEC. 2296. The application for a new trial must be made at the same term at which the verdict is rendered, unless the judgment is postponed to another term, in which case it may be made at any time before judgment.

SEC. 2297. The court in which a trial is had upon an issue of fact may grant a new trial, when a verdict is rendered against the defendant by which his substantial rights have been prejudiced, upon his motion, in the following cases:

First. Where the trial in a case of felony was commenced and completed in his absence.

Second. Where the jury has received any evidence out of court other than that resulting from a view as provided by law.

Third. Where the verdict has been decided by lot, or in any other manner than by a fair expression of opinion by the jurors.

Fourth. Where the court has misinstructed or refused properly to instruct the jury.

Fifth. Where the verdict is against law or evidence.

Sixth. Where the defendant has discovered important evidence in his favor since the verdict (a5).

(yyyy) If there is any reason to doubt that all the jurors concur, it is competent for the court, of its own motion, to cause the jury to be polled. Harris v. State, 31—196.

(zzzz) When a defendant is acquitted of a misdemeanor punishable by fine only, the circuit court may set aside the verdict, upon motion of the state, and again put the defendant upon trial. Taylor v. State, 36—84.

(a5) See Redman v. State, 40—445, and cases cited; Wallace v. State, 28—531; Anderson v. State, 41—229; Johnson v. State, 29—62, and cases cited; McPherson v. State, Id., 225; Runnels v. State, 28—121.

Seventh. Where, from the misconduct of the jury (b5), or from any other cause, the court is of opinion that the defendant has not received a fair and impartial trial.

SEC. 2298. A juror can not be examined to establish a ground for a new trial, except it be to establish, as a ground for a new trial, that the verdict was made by lot (c5).

SEC. 2299. The granting of a new trial places the parties in the same position as if no trial had been had. All the testimony must be produced anew, and the former verdict can not be used or referred to in evidence or in argument (d5).

ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

SEC. 2300. A motion in arrest of judgment is an application on the part of the defendant that no judgment be rendered upon a verdict against him, or on a plea of guilty.

SEC. 2301. The motion may be made at any time before judgment, or after judgment, during the same term of the court.

SEC. 2302. The only ground upon which a judgment shall be arrested is, that the facts stated in the indictment do not constitute a public offense within the jurisdiction of the court; and the court may arrest the judgment without motion on observing such defect (e5).

SEC. 2303. If the court is of opinion, from the evidence on the trial, that the defendant is guilty of a public offense, he may be detained in custody or on bail, in the manner and for the time prescribed in sections 2158 and 2159; but otherwise he shall be discharged on the arrest of judgment. Crim. Code, secs. 266-275.

XVIII.—BILLS OF EXCEPTION.

SECTION

2304. Exceptions may be taken by either party.
2305. upon what decisions not allowed.

SECTION

2306. Exceptions, how taken and shown.

SECTION 2304. Upon the trial of criminal or penal prosecutions, either party may except to any decision of the court by which the substantial rights of such party are prejudiced, subject to the restrictions in the next section.

SEC. 2305. The decisions of the court upon challenges to the panel, and for cause, shall not be subject to exception (f5).

(b5) As to when a new trial should be granted for misconduct of the jury, see Dolan v. State, 40—454, and cases cited; Palmore v. State, 29—248; Kee v. State, 28—155; McKensie v. State, 26—334; Portis v. State, 27—360.

(c5) See Wilder v. State, 29—293.

(d5) For the proper construction of this section where the indictment charges several offenses or grades of offense, see Johnson v. State, 29—31.

(e5) To proceed to trial without a plea from the defendant is error, for which judgment should be arrested. Lacelfield v. State, 34—275.

The provisions of this section require that every material fact necessary to constitute an offense be alleged in the indictment. Barton v. State, 29—68; see also Younger v. State, 37—116.

(f5) The provision of this section which applied to motions to set aside an indictment is omitted as unconstitutional. See Palmore v. State, 29—248; art. II, sec. 8, Const. It seems to be questionable whether the rest of the section is not also in conflict with the constitution. See Benton v. State, 30—328; Wallace v. State, 28—547.

SEC. 2306. The exception shall be shown upon the record by a bill of exceptions, prepared, settled and signed as in civil cases (*). Crim. Code, secs. 276-278.

XIX.—JUDGMENT.

SECTION	SECTION
2307. Judgment, may be rendered, when.	2320. Judgment, when for imprisonment in penitentiary, duty of court.
2308. court may declare and fix punishment, when.	2321. for costs to be rendered against defendant.
2309. where verdict of jury exceeds limits of law.	ACTS PROHIBITED AND NOT OTHERWISE PUNISHED SHALL BE DEEMED MISDEMEANORS.
2310. where verdict of jury is below limit.	2322, 2323. Judgment, where punishment is not defined by statute.
2311. where court deems punishment assessed by jury excessive.	JUDGMENT OF REMOVAL FROM OFFICE, WHEN.
2312. in felony, defendant must be present.	2324. Judgment, for what, excludes from office.
2313. proceedings before pronouncing.	2325. when to be for removal from office.
2314. what cause defendant may show against.	SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE MAY BE REQUIRED IN ADDITION TO SENTENCE.
2315. not to be pronounced if defendant insane; proceedings.	2326, 2327. Security to keep the peace may be an additional requirement in, when; proceedings.
2316. of death, day to be fixed.
2317. where defendant convicted of two or more offenses.
2318. for fine, imprisonment for, limit.
2319. proceedings upon pronouncing.

SECTION 2307. Upon verdicts in cases of misdemeanor, and verdicts of acquittal in cases of felony, and upon trials by the court, and upon a plea of guilty, the court may immediately render judgment; but, upon verdicts of conviction in cases of felony, the court shall not pronounce judgment until two days after the verdict is rendered, unless the court is about to adjourn for the term, and then in not less than six hours after the verdict, except by the defendant's consent. Crim. Code, sec. 279.

SEC. 2308. When a jury find a verdict of guilty and fail to agree on the punishment to be inflicted, or do not declare such punishment in their verdict, or if they assess a punishment not authorized by law, and in all cases of judgment on confession, the court shall assess and declare the punishment and render judgment accordingly (g5).

SEC. 2309. If the jury in any case assess a greater punishment, whether of fine or imprisonment, than the highest limit declared by law for the offense for which they convict the defendant, the court shall disregard the excess and enter judgment and pronounce sentence according to the highest limit prescribed by law in the particular case.

SEC. 2310. If the jury in any case assess a punishment, whether of fine or imprisonment, below the limit prescribed by law for the offense of which the defendant is convicted, the court shall render judgment and pronounce sentence according to the lowest limit prescribed by law in such cases.

SEC. 2311. The court shall have power, in all cases of conviction, to reduce (*) See Nick Walker v. State, 39—221; Dolan v. State, 40—454.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions, it will be presumed in the supreme court that the verdict was sustained by the evidence. Wigley v. State, 41—225.

(g5) But see SEC. 2324, as to judgment in case of plea of guilty to indictment for murder.

the extent or duration of the punishment assessed by a jury, if, in the opinion of the court, the conviction is proper, and the punishment assessed is greater than, under the circumstances of the case, ought to be inflicted, so that the punishment be not, in any case, reduced below the limit prescribed by law in such cases. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 176-179.

SEC. 2312. Judgment shall not be rendered against a defendant, in case of felony, except in his presence. If he is in custody, he shall be brought into court by the proper officer, and, if not in custody, a bench warrant shall be issued for his arrest similar to the bench warrant on indictments.

SEC. 2313. When the defendant appears for judgment, he must be informed by the court of the nature of the indictment, his plea and verdict thereon, if any, and he must be asked if he has any legal cause to show why judgment should not be pronounced against him.

SEC. 2314. He may show for cause against the judgment any sufficient ground for a new trial, or for arrest of judgment.

SEC. 2315. He may also show that he is insane. If the court is of opinion that there is reasonable ground for believing he is insane, the question of his insanity shall be determined by a jury of twelve qualified jurors, to be summoned and impaneled as directed by the court (h5). If the jury do not find him insane, judgment shall be pronounced. If they find him insane, he must be kept in confinement, either in the county jail or lunatic asylum, until, in the opinion of the court, he becomes sane, when judgment shall be pronounced.

SEC. 2316. Where judgment of death is pronounced, the day of the execution thereof shall be fixed in the judgment, and shall not be in less than thirty days after the judgment.

SEC. 2317. If the defendant is convicted of two or more offenses, the punishment of each of which is confinement, the judgment shall be so rendered that the punishment in one case shall commence after the termination of it in the others. Crim. Code, secs. 280-283, 285.

SEC. 2318. If the punishment of an offense be a fine, the judgment shall direct that the defendant be imprisoned until the fine and costs are paid, specifying, however, the extent of imprisonment (i5), which shall not exceed one day for each seventy-five cents of the fine and costs (*). Ib., sec. 284, as amended by act March 24, 1875.

SEC. 2319. The law in relation to the punishment, pains and penalties of all persons when convicted, so far as relates to them, and the sentence, shall be read to each convict and the consequences fully declared to him, so that such person so convicted and sentenced shall in no instance be deemed ignorant of the sentence pronounced on him (j5). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, art. 7, sec. 8.

(h5) The question of the defendant's insanity may be submitted to a jury on writ of error coram nobis, after judgment and sentence of death. Adler v. State, 35—317.

(i5) The word "imprisonment," as here used, means imprisonment in the county jail, and applies only to misdemeanors. Cheaney v. State, 36—74.

(*) But see chap. 39. It may be questioned whether the statutes found there have not by implication repealed this section, SEC. 2356 and part of SEC. 2350.

(j5) Where the record is silent, the supreme court will presume on appeal that the court below, in passing sentence upon a person convicted of crime, complied with the provisions of this section, and a failure to do so would be no cause of reversal. It could only be a ground to order the convict back to the circuit court, to be there enlightened and then remanded to the penitentiary in pursuance of his sentence. Brown v. State, 13—96.

SEC. 2320. Whenever any person shall be sentenced to the penitentiary, it shall be the duty of the court before which he shall have been convicted to cause to be made and transmitted to the keeper of the penitentiary a short report of the circumstances attending the offense, particularly such as tend to aggravate or extenuate the same, which report the keeper shall file and preserve. Act Dec. 17, 1838.

SEC. 2321. In judgments against the defendant, a judgment for costs, in addition to the other punishment, shall be rendered, which shall be taxed by the clerk for the benefit of the officers rendering the services, and, in case of failure by the defendant to pay said costs, they shall be paid by the county where the conviction is had (k5). Crim. Code, sec. 286, as amended 1871.

ACTS PROHIBITED AND NOT OTHERWISE PUNISHED SHALL BE DEEMED MISDEMEANORS.

SEC. 2322. Where the performance of any act is prohibited, or the performance of any act is required by any statute, and no penalty for the violation of such statute is imposed, either in the same section containing such prohibition or requiring such act or duty, or in any other section or statute, the doing of such prohibited act, or the neglect of such required act or duty, shall be deemed a misdemeanor (l5).

SEC. 2323. Every person who shall be convicted of any misdemeanor, the punishment of which is not defined in this or some other statute, shall be punished by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, or by fine and imprisonment both (*). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 8, art. 1, secs. 11, 12.

JUDGMENT OF REMOVAL FROM OFFICE, WHEN.

SEC. 2324. Every person convicted of bribery or felony shall be excluded from every office of trust or profit and from the right of suffrage in this state (m5). Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 3, art. 11, sec. 8.

SEC. 2325. Where justices of the peace, sheriffs, coroners, surveyors, jailers, county assessors, prosecuting attorneys, constables, city or police judges, clerks (n5) and marshals shall be convicted upon an indictment for malfeasance or misfeasance in office, or for willful neglect in the discharge of their official duties, or for any offense which, by the statute law or constitution, creates a forfeiture of their offices, the court shall render a judgment of removal from office, in addition to the other penalties and punishment prescribed by law. Crim. Code, sec. 287.

SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE MAY BE REQUIRED IN ADDITION TO SENTENCE.

SEC. 2326. The court before which any person may be convicted of any criminal offense not punishable with death shall have power, in addition to the sentence prescribed or authorized by law, to require such person to give security to keep the peace or be of good behavior, or both, for any term not exceeding three years from the time he may be discharged from prison, if imprisonment be a part of the punishment. If such person fail to give such security, he shall be committed to prison, there to remain until such security be given.

(k5) But in cases of misdemeanor, when the defendant is convicted, the county is not liable for the costs. See SEC. 2342. Bradley County v. Bond, 37—226. The costs include the prosecuting attorney's fee. Phillips County v. Clayton, 29—246.

(l5) See SECS. 566, 567, 1961.

SEC. 2327. No such recognizance shall be deemed to be broken unless the principal therein be convicted of some offense amounting in judgment of law to a breach of the recognizance. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, secs. 180, 181, 182.

XX.—EXECUTION.

SECTION	SECTION
2328. Judgment of death, who may suspend.	2334. Judgment of confinement, execution of, by sheriff.
2329. how sheriff may suspend for insanity or pregnancy.	2335. sheriff to make written return of execution of.
2330. copy of warrants, sheriff to execute.	2336. imprisonment for fine in execution of; rule.
2331. when and how executed.	2337. certified copy of, authorizes its execution, except.
2332. governor to fix day of execution, when.
2333. conveyance of defendant to penitentiary, under; powers of sheriff.

SECTION 2328. The only officers who shall have the power of suspending the execution of a judgment of death are the governor, and, in cases of insanity or pregnancy of the defendant, the sheriff, as provided in the next section; and, in cases of appeals, the clerk of the supreme court, as prescribed by law.

SEC. 2329. When the sheriff is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the defendant is insane or pregnant, he may summon a jury of twelve persons on the jury list drawn by the clerk, who shall be sworn by the sheriff well and truly to inquire into the insanity or pregnancy of the defendant and a true inquisition return; and they shall examine the defendant and hear any evidence that may be presented, and by a written inquisition, signed by each of them, find as to insanity or pregnancy. And, unless the inquisition find the defendant insane or pregnant, the sheriff shall not suspend the execution; but, if the inquisition find the defendant insane or pregnant, he shall suspend the execution and immediately transmit the inquisition to the governor.

SEC. 2330. Where a judgment of death or confinement either in the penitentiary or county jail is pronounced, a certified copy thereof must be furnished forthwith to the sheriff, who shall thereupon execute it, and no other warrant or authority is necessary to its execution.

SEC. 2331. The judgment of death must be executed by the sheriff on the day designated in the judgment, between sunrise and sunset, by hanging the defendant by the neck until he is dead.

SEC. 2332. Whenever a judgment of death has not been executed on the day appointed therefor by the court, from any cause whatever, the governor, by a warrant, under his hand and the seal of the state, shall fix the day of execution, which warrant shall be obeyed by the sheriff, and no one but the governor can then suspend its execution.

SEC. 2333. In conveying the defendant to the penitentiary, the sheriff shall have all the powers of preventing an escape, of resisting an effort to rescue the defendant, and of recapturing him, and of summoning persons to his aid, that he would have in executing a warrant of arrest in his county.

SEC. 2334. The sheriff, in executing a judgment of confinement, shall deliver the defendant, with a certified copy of the judgment, to the keeper of the penitentiary, or to the jailer, according to the judgment.

SEC. 2335. The sheriff shall make a written return of the execution of the judgment of death or imprisonment, and file the same with the clerk of the court in ten days after such execution. Crim. Code, secs. 288-295.

SEC. 2336. The defendant shall not be held in confinement for a fine for a longer period than at the rate of one day for each seventy-five cents of the fine (o5), but such confinement shall not discharge the fine, which thereafter can only be collected by proceeding against the defendant's property. But the provisions of this section shall not apply to judgments in city or police courts, which may be discharged by confinement in the city work-house, according to the provisions of the special statutes regulating them (*).

SEC. 2337. A certified copy of the judgment, delivered to the sheriff, shall authorize and require him to execute a judgment for the abatement or removal of a nuisance, or for any other thing than the payment of money by the defendant; and he shall make a return of his executing it, and file the same with the clerk of the court in sixty days after the copy is delivered to him. Ib., secs. 298, 299.

XXI.—COSTS IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS.

SECTION

- 2338. Costs on conviction in capital cases.
- 2339. where defendants sever on trial.

ance shall be adjudged against such of the defendants as may have been convicted, and the costs thereafter accruing shall be apportioned and adjudged accordingly. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 197, 198.

SEC. 2340. The property, both real and personal, of any person charged with a criminal offense, shall be bound from the time of his arrest, or the finding of an indictment against him, whichever shall first happen, for the payment of all fines and costs which he may be adjudged to pay (p5). Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 202.

SEC. 2341. The clerk of the court, at the end of each term, shall issue executions for all fines imposed on indictments, or in penal actions or otherwise, and the costs of conviction in criminal cases, during the term, and remaining unpaid, which shall be executed in the same manner as executions in civil cases, and the property of the defendant may be seized and sold, notwithstanding he may be in custody for the same demand; and in every case where a witness is summoned by a special subpoena, to testify in a particular case, in which an indictment may be found, it shall be the duty of the clerk to tax the attendance of such witness with the costs of the suit, to be collected from the defendant, in the event that judgment shall be rendered against him therefor, to be paid into the county treasury. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 203; act Jan. 15, 1857, sec. 2, and Crim. Code, sec. 296.

SEC. 2342. Fees allowed in criminal cases shall be paid by the defendant, but if sufficient property belonging to the defendant can not be found for that purpose, they shall be paid by the county where the conviction is had, except in cases of misdemeanor, when the county shall not be liable. Act Feb. 25, 1875, sec. 5.

SEC. 2343. In all criminal or penal cases, if the defendant shall be acquitted, except in cases where the prosecutor shall be adjudged to pay the costs, or, in cases of felony, if convicted, shall not have property to pay the costs, the same shall be paid by the county (q5). Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 205, and act Feb. 25, 1875, sec. 5.

SEC. 2344. The county shall not be liable for costs when the defendant is convicted, until execution shall have been issued against the property of such convict, and returned unsatisfied for the want of property to satisfy the same, unless the court in which the trial was had shall certify that, in the opinion of such court, the costs can not be made out of the property of the defendant (r5).

SEC. 2345. In all cases where the county shall be liable to pay the costs and expenses in criminal cases, the circuit court in which the case was tried shall adjust the same and cause the same to be certified to the county court (s5). Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 206, 207.

(p5) This section creates a lien in favor of the state upon the property of the accused, wheresoever it may be found within the limits of the state, which binds it not only in his hands, but of any person in possession, from the time of arrest or indictment found until the accused is discharged or the fines and costs adjudged against him are paid; but this does not confiscate the property, or divest him of the possession and use of it during the prosecution. Lawson, sheriff, v. Johnson & Ashley, 5—168.

(q5) The liability of a county for costs incurred in the prosecution of offenses committed within its limits includes the costs accruing in another county upon a change of venue. Independence County v. Dunkin, 40—329; County of Ouachita v. Saunders, 10—467; Pulaski County v. Irwin, 4—473. Counties are liable for costs in all cases of acquittals on indictments. Bradley County v. Bond, 37—226.

The county is not liable where the prosecutor is adjudged to pay the costs. County of Ouachita v. Saunders, supra.

SEC. 2346. The costs in all state prosecutions for any of the offenses enumerated in section 1772, and for all other offenses which may be committed in, or in respect of, the penitentiary, shall be paid out of the state treasury.

SEC. 2347. In the cases mentioned in the last preceding section, it shall be the duty of the judge to cause to be made out an accurate bill of costs therein, and certify to the correctness thereof; and it shall be the duty of the auditor to draw his warrant for the amount, when an appropriation shall be made therefor. Act Dec. 26, 1848.

BOND FOR COSTS IN ALL PROSECUTIONS IN INFERIOR COURTS.

SEC. 2348. In all prosecutions in cases less than felony, in courts of justices of the peace and in other inferior courts, the prosecutor, or some person for him, shall enter into bond, with good and sufficient security, for the payment of all the costs which may accrue in said prosecution (t5).

SEC. 2349. Such bond may be substantially in this form, to wit: State of Arkansas against A—— B——. I, ——, as principal, and ——, as security, bind ourselves to pay all costs in this cause. Signed this —— day of ——, A. D. ——.

SEC. 2350. If the accused be acquitted (u5), the court rendering the judgment of acquittal shall immediately render judgment for the costs against the principal and surety in the said bond; but if the accused be convicted, the court rendering the judgment shall, in addition to the fine or imprisonment which it shall impose upon the person convicted, render judgment against such person for all costs accrued in the case, and if such costs are not immediately paid, such convicted person shall, besides undergoing the penalty adjudged against him, be confined in the county jail at the rate of one day for every seventy-five cents adjudged against him for fine and costs (*).

SEC. 2351. It shall be lawful, however, for the justice or other officer, when he has strong reasons to believe that the person applying for a warrant has been, in plain violation of the criminal laws of this state, maltreated, either in person or property, to permit such person to prosecute without giving the bond required in section 2348. Provided, that the person so applying for a warrant shall make affidavit that he is unable to give security for the costs which may accrue in said prosecution.

SEC. 2352. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent officers of the law from arresting and prosecuting offenders when they are eye-witnesses of the offense. Act March 23, 1871, secs. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6.

(s5) For mode of obtaining allowance of such costs, see SEC. 1412. As to mode of obtaining allowances of costs in cases of felony before examining courts, see SEC. 3263.

(t5) A failure of the prosecutor to give bond as required by this section is matter in abatement, and is waived by the defendant pleading not guilty, instead of requiring him by rule to give the bond. Mann v. State, 37—405.

This section has no application to prosecutions by indictment in the circuit court. State v. Parker, 39—174. The bond includes the costs which accrue on appeal in the circuit court. Taylor v. State, 39—291; Perrin, ex parte, 41—194.

(u5) It is only when the party prosecuted is acquitted that a judgment for the cost can be rendered against the prosecutor and his surety in the bond for cost. A not. pros. as to the defendant will not authorize such judgment. Taylor v. State, 39—291.

 2363. Summons, how executed.
 2364. Witnesses, subpoena for, etc.
 2365. Judge possesses power of clerk.
 2366. Defendant arrested, to be tried or bailed.

SECTION 2353. The judge of the police or city court may, by orders entered on its minutes, fix terms for its sessions, to which process may be returnable, but may hold the court at any time for the transaction of business brought before him.

SEC. 2354. No indictment shall be necessary in prosecutions for violation of the by-laws or ordinances of a city or town, nor in other prosecutions in police or city courts.

SEC. 2355. No written information or pleadings are required in prosecutions in which an indictment is not required.

SEC. 2356. The proceedings in circuit courts for the trial of criminal cases, so far as applicable, shall govern the proceedings of police or city courts, except as herein provided. Crim. Code, secs. 300, 301, 310, 311.

SEC. 2357. The issues of law and of fact may be tried by the judge or police justice, unless the defendant demand a trial by jury, in which case the same shall be tried by a jury of twelve men, unless the defendant shall consent to be tried by a less number. Crim. Code, sec. 312, as amended 1871.

SEC. 2358. All prosecutions in such courts shall stand for trial immediately, where the defendant is in custody, or on bail for the offense charged, or on the day to which the defendant has been summoned to appear. Provided, the summons was executed within the limits of the court's jurisdiction one day, or elsewhere ten days, before the day on which he is summoned to appear. If not executed as above provided, the trial shall be postponed to a day to be fixed by the court.

SEC. 2359. The court may, for good cause, grant continuances or postponements of the trial.

SEC. 2360. Upon information given by a peace officer or by a private person, on oath, to the judge or a clerk of a court, that an offense within the jurisdiction of such court has been committed, the judge or clerk shall issue a summons against the offender.

SEC. 2361. The summons mentioned in the last section shall command the peace officer to whom it is directed to summon the defendant (naming him) to appear in the court, on a day to be named in the summons, to answer the charge made against him of having committed an offense (naming or briefly describing it), and return the summons on a day to be named. It shall be signed by the judge or clerk and directed to the peace officer of the town or city, but may be executed by any peace officer of the city or county.

SEC. 2362. Upon information on oath, made to the judge of the court, he may order a warrant of arrest to be issued, which shall be similar to the summons, except in the command to arrest the defendant instead of summon him.

SEC. 2363. The summons shall be executed by the officer reading it to the defendant, or stating to him its contents; and, if required, the officer shall show it to him.

SEC. 2364. The clerk shall issue subpoenas for witnesses at the request of the officers of the city or of the defendant, and the court may compel their attendance in the manner prescribed in civil proceedings.

SEC. 2365. Where the judge acts as the clerk of the court the foregoing provisions as to the clerk shall apply to him.

SEC. 2366. When a person has been arrested and brought before the city court, or the judge thereof, charged with an offense within the jurisdiction (v5) of such court, he shall be forthwith tried, or, at the discretion of the judge, held to bail for his future appearance for trial or discharge from custody. Crim. Code, secs. 302-309, 313.

 2376. Issues, how tried.
 2377. Jury, how summoned.

CHANGE OF VENUE.

2378. Change of venue, when granted.
 2379. Application for, how supported.
 2380. Order of removal, what to specify, etc.

SECTION 2367. No written information or pleadings shall be required in prosecutions in justices' courts.

SEC. 2368. The provisions of law regulating proceedings in the circuit courts in criminal cases, so far as applicable, shall govern the trial, verdict, judgment and execution in justices' courts, except as herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 2369. Where a person is brought, or in obedience to a bail-bond comes, before a justice of the peace, charged with the commission of an offense within the jurisdiction of his court, the justice shall forthwith proceed to the trial of the charge, or for sufficient cause may postpone the trial to a future day (w5).

SEC. 2370. If the trial is postponed, the defendant may be committed to the custody of a peace officer, or to jail, or discharged upon bail or without bail.

SEC. 2371. It shall be the duty of the justice to require bail of the defendant, upon its being made to appear that, unless bail be required, he will probably escape punishment, or that his discharge without bail would endanger persons or property; in which latter case the justice may also require security for the peace or for good behavior.

SEC. 2372. Where, from his personal knowledge, or from information given to him on oath (x5), a justice is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that a person has committed a public offense within the jurisdiction of his court, he shall either issue a warrant of arrest or a summons against such person.

(x5) The informer must give bond, with surety for costs of prosecution (SEC. 2348), unless the justice is satisfied the prosecution is meritorious and the informer is unable to give security (SEC. 2351), or the information is made by a peace officer who was an eye-witness. SEC. 2352.

SEC. 2373. The warrant of arrest shall not be issued unless the offense charged is one of actual or apprehended violence to person or property, accompanied with a breach of the peace, or the justice is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the defendant will escape punishment unless arrested.

SEC. 2374. The warrant of arrest and the summons shall be similar to those prescribed for police courts.

SEC. 2375. The justice shall issue subpoenas for witnesses and for the production of documentary evidence, and enforce their attendance or production as in civil actions. Crim. Code, secs. 314-321, 324.

SEC. 2376. The issues of law and of fact may be tried by the justice, unless the defendant demands a trial by jury, in which case the same shall be tried by a jury of twelve men, unless the defendant shall consent to be tried by a less number. Ib., sec. 322, as amended 1871.

SEC. 2377. Upon a jury trial being lawfully demanded, the justice shall order a peace officer to summon a sufficient number of qualified jurors, from which the jury may be formed.

CHANGE OF VENUE.

SEC. 2378. Any criminal cause pending before a justice of the peace may be removed to some other township within the county in which the cause is then pending; provided, the defendant shall first file with such justice an affidavit, setting forth that the justice is a material witness for him, or is so prejudiced against him, or that the inhabitants of the township in which the cause is pending are so prejudiced against him, that he can not obtain a fair and impartial trial in such township.

SEC. 2379. Such order of removal shall be made on the application of the defendant, setting forth the foregoing facts, verified by affidavit, supported by the affidavit of some other credible person.

SEC. 2380. Every order for the removal of a criminal cause shall specify the cause of removal, and designate the township and justice to which the cause is to be removed. Such order shall also be entered on the docket of the justice granting the order, and all the papers in the cause shall be by him transmitted to the justice to whom the cause has been removed. Act Nov. 10, 1875.

		2412.	disorderly persons, when.
		2413, 2414, 2415.	Proceedings in such cases.

SUPPRESSION OF RIOTS.

SECTION 2381. The commission of public offenses may be prevented by proceedings:

First. For suppressing riots and resistance to lawful authority.

Second. For requiring security to keep the peace, or for good behavior.

Third. For arresting and confining drunken and disorderly persons. Crim. Code, sec. 9.

SEC. 2382. When three or more persons shall be riotously, unlawfully or tumultuously assembled, as specified in section 1796, it shall be the duty of any judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner or constable, who shall have knowledge or be informed thereof, to make proclamation among the persons so assembled, or as near them as he can safely come, charging and commanding them immediately to disperse themselves and peaceably to depart to their habitations or lawful business.

SEC. 2383. If, upon such proclamation being made, the persons so assembled shall not immediately disperse and depart as commanded, or if they shall resist such officer or prevent the making such proclamation, such officer shall command those present, and the power of the county if necessary, and shall disperse such unlawful assembly, arrest the offenders and take them before some judicial officer, to be dealt with according to law.

SEC. 2384. If any persons so assembled shall be armed, or make forcible resistance to the officer so making or attempting to make such proclamation, such officer shall summon to his aid a sufficient number of the militia, or other persons in arms, to disperse such assembly, arrest the offenders and maintain the authority of the law.

SEC. 2385. All militia officers and others who shall be so summoned shall give prompt obedience to such officer. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, div. 8, secs. 2-5.

SEC. 2386. When persons to the number of twenty or more are unlawfully or riotously assembled in a city or town, the sheriff of the county and his deputies, and the other peace officers and magistrates of such city or town, together with the mayor or other chief officers of the city or town, must go among the persons assembled, or as near them as possible, and in the name of the state command them to disperse.

SEC. 2387. If the persons assembled do not immediately disperse, the magistrates and officers must arrest them, or cause them to be arrested, that they may be punished according to law, and may command to their aid all persons present or in the county.

SEC. 2388. If the persons commanded to aid the magistrates and officers neglect to do so without just cause, they shall be treated as part of the rioters and punished accordingly.

SEC. 2389. If such magistrate or other officer, having notice of an unlawful or riotous assembly, neglect to proceed to the place of assembly, or as near as he can with safety, and exercise the authority invested in him to suppress the same and arrest the offenders, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 2390. Where the unlawful assembly have the intent of committing a felony, or of offering violence to person or property, or of resisting by force the laws, the judge of the circuit court, or the mayor or chief officer of the city, or the sheriff of the county, or any two justices of the peace, may, by an order directed to a commanding officer of the militia, or of a military company, summon such military force under his command as shall be specified to appear at a specified time and place, armed and equipped, to aid the civil authorities in suppressing violence and enforcing the law, which order shall be forthwith obeyed by the commanding officer and troops.

SEC. 2391. When a sheriff, or other public officer authorized to execute process, finds or has reason to apprehend that resistance will be made to the execution of the process, he may command as many male inhabitants of his county as he may think proper, and any military companies in his county, armed and equipped, to assist him in overcoming the resistance and in arresting and confining the resisters and their aiders and abettors, to be punished according to law.

SEC. 2392. The officer must report to the court from which the process issued the names of the resisters and their aiders and abettors, that they may be punished for contempt.

SEC. 2393. Every person commanded by a public officer to assist him in the execution of process who, without lawful cause, refuses or neglects to obey the command is guilty of a misdemeanor and contempt of the court from which the process issued.

SEC. 2394. If it appears to the governor that the power of the county is not sufficient to execute process, he must, on application of the sheriff, order such a military force from any other county or counties as is necessary. Crim. Code, secs. 362-370.

REQUIRING SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE, OR FOR GOOD BEHAVIOR.

SEC. 2395. A person may be arrested for the purpose of requiring of him security to keep the peace, or for his good behavior, in the following cases:

First. Upon the complaint, on oath, of a person threatened to a magistrate, that the defendant has threatened to commit an offense against his person or property, and upon the magistrate being satisfied, by an examination, on oath, of the complainant or others, that there are reasonable grounds to fear the commission of the offense threatened.

Second. Upon information given, on oath, to a magistrate, by any person, that the defendant is about to commit violence endangering human life, or is about to commit an offense amounting to felony, and the magistrate is satisfied, by an examination, on oath, of the informant or others, that there are reasonable grounds for apprehending the commission of such violence or felony.

Third. When a magistrate or court is satisfied, by the conduct or words of a person in the presence of such magistrate or court, or from proof given before such magistrate or court, that there are reasonable grounds for apprehending that such person will commit an offense against the person or property of another.

SEC. 2396. If the defendant is in the presence of the court or magistrate, a peace officer shall be verbally directed by the court or magistrate to take him into custody.

SEC. 2397. If not in the presence of a magistrate, he shall issue a warrant of arrest, directed to any peace officer of the county, city or town, commanding him to arrest the defendant and bring him before the magistrate.

SEC. 2398. The complaint, information or proof shall be briefly recited in the warrant.

SEC. 2399. Upon the defendant being brought before the magistrate, or being taken into custody by order of a court or magistrate, the court or magistrate shall hear the evidence which may be produced on either side, and if satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for apprehending that the defendant will commit an offense against the person or property of another, or will commit violence endangering human life, or an offense amounting to felony, may require of him surety to keep the peace, or for his good behavior, in a sum not exceeding five thousand dollars where human life is endangered, or one thousand dollars in other cases, and, in default of giving such security, may commit the defendant to jail.

SEC. 2400. When the security is required by a circuit or police court, it may be for keeping the peace, or for good behavior, any length of time not exceeding one year.

SEC. 2401. Where it is required by a magistrate, it shall be for keeping the peace, or for good behavior, until the defendant shall appear before the circuit court of the county, on the first day of its next term, before which court the defendant shall also be bound, with security, to appear, and not depart without leave of the court.

SEC. 2402. The magistrate shall return the bond of the defendant and his surety, for his appearance and keeping the peace, to the clerk of the circuit court before its next term.

SEC. 2403. Where the proceedings are taken upon the complaint of the person threatened, if he fails to appear before the court or magistrate, the defendant shall be discharged.

SEC. 2404. Unless the court or magistrate is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the defendant will commit an offense against the person or property of another, or commit violence endangering human life, or an offense amounting to a felony, he shall be discharged.

SEC. 2405. Upon the defendant appearing, the court shall examine the case, and either discharge the defendant or require security to keep the peace, or for his good behavior, for a period not exceeding one year; and, in default of giving such security, may commit the defendant to jail for a period to be fixed by the court, not exceeding three months, unless he shall in the meantime give security.

SEC. 2406. Where a defendant is committed to jail for failure to give security, as above provided, the cause of commitment and the sum in which he is required to give security shall be stated in the written order of commitment, which shall be delivered to the jailer.

SEC. 2407. Where the security required in such cases is given in court, it may be by a recognizance entered into in open court and entered upon the records by the clerk.

SEC. 2408. Any magistrate may take the security required by the foregoing provisions of a defendant committed to jail for default of giving such security.

SEC. 2409. The following are the breaches of the bond required in such cases:

First. The failure of the defendant to appear in the circuit court, where the bond requires such appearance, or departing therefrom before he is lawfully discharged.

Second. A judicial conviction of the defendant of an offense involving a breach of the peace within the period specified in the bond.

Third. A judicial conviction of the defendant of a felony within the time specified in the bond, where the bond is for his good behavior.

SEC. 2410. The prosecuting attorney may proceed by action, in the name of the state, against the defendant and his security upon a breach of the bond. Crim. Code, secs. 371-382.

ARREST AND CONFINEMENT OF DRUNKEN AND DISORDERLY PERSONS.

SEC. 2411. It shall be the duty of all peace officers to arrest any drunken person whom they may find at large, and not in the care of some discreet person, and take him before some magistrate of the county, city or town in which the arrest is made.

SEC. 2412. It shall also be the duty of all peace officers to arrest any disorderly person whom they may find creating a disturbance by noise or other disorder, and take him before some magistrate of the county, town or city in which the arrest is made.

SEC. 2413. If the arrests authorized in the last two sections are made during the night, the officer shall keep them in confinement until the next morning, unless, in the case of a drunken person, he may deliver him into the custody of some discreet person who will undertake to restrain and take care of him; and, if the arrests are made in the local jurisdiction of a police or city court, the person arrested shall be taken before the judge of such court, unless he be absent. Ib., secs. 383-385.

SEC. 2414. Upon a drunken person being brought before a magistrate, he shall have the power to order him to be confined until he becomes duly sober.

SEC. 2415. Upon a disorderly person being brought before him, the magistrate may require of him surety for his good behavior, and for keeping the peace for a period not exceeding one year; and, on his failure to give such security, may commit him until he gives security; but in no event is the confinement to exceed thirty days. Ib., sec. 387.

XXV.—DISPOSITION OF STOLEN PROPERTY.

SECTION	SECTION
2416. Stolen property, duty of officer having possession of.	2420. Stolen property, when to be sold; disposition of proceeds.
2417, 2418. duty of magistrate in relation to.	2421. perishable, may be sold.
2419. duty of court in which conviction is had.	2422. description of to be filed, when.

SECTION 2416. When property, alleged to have been stolen, shall have come into the possession of any sheriff, constable or any other person authorized to perform the duties of such officer, he shall hold the same, subject to the order of the officer hereinafter authorized to direct the disposition thereof.

SEC. 2417. Upon receiving satisfactory evidence of the ownership of such property, the magistrate who shall take the examination of the person accused of stealing such property may order the same to be delivered to such owner on his paying the reasonable and necessary expenses incurred in the preservation of such property, to be certified by such magistrate, which order shall entitle the owner to demand and receive such property.

SEC. 2418. If stolen property come into the hands of a justice of the peace, or other magistrate, upon satisfactory proof of the ownership thereof, it shall be delivered to the owner on the payment of the necessary expenses incurred in the preservation thereof, to be certified by the magistrate.

SEC. 2419. If the property stolen shall not have been delivered to the owner thereof, the court before which a conviction shall be had for stealing such property may, on proof of the ownership, order the same to be restored to the owner on payment of the expenses incurred in the preservation thereof.

SEC. 2420. If stolen property shall not be claimed by the owner within six months from the time any person may have been convicted for stealing the same, the court or magistrate authorized by the preceding provisions to order a restoration may order the same to be sold; and the proceeds of the sale, after payment of the expenses of the preservation and sale of such property, shall be paid into the county treasury, for the use of the county.

SEC. 2421. If the thing stolen be a living animal, or property of a perishable nature, the court or magistrate authorized to order a restitution may order a sale thereof; and the proceeds shall be applied in the same manner as hereinbefore directed in respect to such stolen property.

SEC. 2422. In all cases of sale, as specified in the preceding section, a particular description of the property shall be made out in writing, and filed with the court or magistrate making the order of sale, so that the owner may be enabled to identify the same, if he shall claim the proceeds within the time before limited for making his claim. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 228-234.

XXVI.—CONVEYANCE OF PRISONERS (y5).

SECTION

2423. Officers, conveying prisoners, powers of.

2424. not liable to arrest, and may summon posse.

SECTION

2425. Officers may require jailer to keep prisoner.

SECTION 2423. Every officer or other person who shall have arrested, or have in his custody, under the authority of the laws of this state, any prisoner who is to be conveyed from one county to another, may carry such prisoner through such parts of any county as shall be in the ordinary route of travel from the place where such prisoner shall have been arrested to the place where he is to be conveyed and delivered, under the process or authority by which such person shall have been arrested, or is detained.

SEC. 2424. The officer or person having such prisoner in charge shall not be liable to arrest on his route; and he shall have the like power to require any person to aid in securing such prisoner, and retaking him if he escape, as sheriffs or other officers have in their respective counties; and a refusal or neglect to render such aid shall be an offense punishable in the same manner as for disobedience to a summons to assist in the execution of process.

SEC. 2425. The jailer of any county through which any prisoner may be taken is required to receive and safely keep such prisoner, in the jail of which he has the charge, when thereto requested by the officer or person having lawful charge of such prisoner, and to redeliver him on the demand of such officer or person. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 237-239.

XXVII.—PARDON.

SECTION

2426. General power of governor to grant; how granted in cases of treason.

2427. on condition convict leaves the state.

2428. breach of condition; arrest; reward.

SECTION

2429. Pardon, recommitment of convict.

2430. breach of; rule as to imprisonment in such case of convict.

2431. when convict to leave the state.

SECTION 2426. In all criminal and penal cases, except in those of treason and impeachment, the governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations of sentence and pardons after conviction, and to remit fines and forfeitures, under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by law. In cases of treason he shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to grant reprieves and pardons; and he may, in the recess of the senate, respite the sentence until the adjournment of the next regular session of the general assembly. He shall communicate to the general assembly at every regular session each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon, with his reasons therefor, stating the name and crime of the convict, the sentence, its date, and the date of the commutation, pardon or reprieve. Art. VI, sec. 18, Const.

SEC. 2427. Where any person convicted of a criminal offense shall agree, as a condition of his pardon, to leave the state and never again return to it, the governor may pardon him on such conditions; and if such convict should at any time after the granting of such pardon be found within this state the sentence passed on him by the court shall be executed in the same manner as if no such pardon had been granted.

SEC. 2428. Any person who shall apprehend any criminal within the bounds of this state who may have been pardoned on the condition of his leaving the state and not again returning to it, and shall deliver such criminal to the proper officer of the county in which he was convicted, shall be entitled to receive a reward of two hundred dollars, to be paid out of the state treasury, on the certificate of the governor, out of any appropriation made for that purpose.

SEC. 2429. Upon the receipt of any such criminal by the sheriff or jailer of the proper county, it shall be his duty to give the person from whom he received such criminal a receipt for his delivery, and he shall commit him to jail, and there keep him until he shall have fully satisfied the sentence of the court, if such sentence was imprisonment.

SEC. 2430. The time that any criminal may have remained in prison prior to his pardon shall not be computed as any part of the sentence.

SEC. 2431. Every person pardoned for a criminal offense, on condition of his leaving the state, shall be allowed ten days after his release to leave the state; and during that time he shall not be arrested under the preceding provisions of this act in relation to conditional pardons. Rev. Stat., chap. 45, secs. 243, 244, 246, 247, 249.

XXVIII.—APPEALS TO CIRCUIT COURT IN CRIMINAL CASES.

SECTION

2432. Appellate jurisdiction of circuit courts.
2433. The state, no right of appeal.
2434. No appeal after payment of judgment or lapse of sixty days.
2435. Appeal bond, judgment on.

SECTION

2436. No appeal without bond.
2437. Case tried anew on appeal.
2438. Attorney's fee, when allowed.
2439. Money collected returned to defendant, when.

SECTION 2432. The circuit court shall have appellate jurisdiction over the judgments of justices' courts, police and city courts (z5), in their respective counties, without regard to the amount in controversy. Crim. Code, sec. 354, as amended by act Dec. 16, 1874.

(z5) Circuit courts have jurisdiction in appeals from corporation courts in both civil and criminal cases. Ulery v. Ft. Smith, 35—214.

SEC. 2433. The state shall have no right of appeal from judgments of the justices' courts.

SEC. 2434. No appeal shall be taken from a judgment of a justice's court after it has been paid or collected, nor after sixty days from the rendition of the judgment (a6).

SEC. 2435. In all cases where a person has been convicted of a misdemeanor, and shall appeal, there shall be no supersedeas of the judgment unless bond shall be given, with approved security, conditioned for the payment of the fine and all costs of prosecution; which said bond shall be approved by the court or justice of the peace rendering the judgment, and shall be transmitted to the appellate court. In case of conviction, judgment shall be rendered on such bond against principal and sureties without further notice (b6). Act March 22, 1881, sec. 7.

SEC. 2436. No appeal shall be allowed until the execution and approval of such bond. Act March 15, 1879, sec. 2.

SEC. 2437. Upon the appeal the case shall be tried anew, as if no judgment had been rendered, and the judgment shall be considered as affirmed if a judgment for any amount is rendered against the defendant; and thereupon he shall be adjudged to pay the costs of the appeal (c6).

SEC. 2438. Upon an affirmance an attorney's fee of ten per cent. on the amount of the judgment shall be taxed as part of the costs, and the costs in the justice's court shall be taxed as part of the costs of the appeal.

SEC. 2439. If judgment is rendered for the defendant, any money paid into the circuit court which has been collected of the defendant on the original judgment shall be forthwith returned to the defendant. Crim. Code, secs. 355-360.

(a6) It is the duty of the appellant to file his appeal bond and the original papers and transcript of the justice's docket in the circuit court within sixty days after the rendition of the judgment; but his failure to do so will only be cause for dismissing the appeal on motion of the state, and will not deprive the court of jurisdiction to try the case upon a transcript filed after the sixty days, but in time for the appeal term of the court. Perrin, ex parte, 41-194.

(b6) The justice rendering the judgment must take and approve the bond and transmit it to the appellate court. Perrin, ex parte, 41-194; Morrison v. State, 40-448.

The appeal bond, when executed and approved by the justice, stays the judgment, and no supersedeas by the clerk is necessary. If execution has not been issued, none can be issued. If execution has been issued, the justice can recall or supersede it. Perrin, ex parte, supra. The justice should transmit to the appellate court, with the appeal bond and other original papers, an authenticated transcript of his docket entries. Ib.

When the appellant has filed an imperfect appeal bond, the circuit court may, in its discretion, allow him to file another. Morrison v. State, supra.

(c6) The accused must be tried in the circuit court, on appeal, for the same offense for which he was tried before the justice. Marre v. State, 36-222; Thomas v. State, 41-408.

The court is not authorized to affirm the judgment on failure of the appellant to appear, but may, in its discretion, order him to be brought in on warrant, or may dismiss his appeal and order the justice to execute his judgment. Thomas v. State, supra.

XXIX.—APPEALS TO THE SUPREME COURT IN CRIMINAL CASES.

 2444. reasonable time given for obtaining transcript on.
 2445, 2446, 2447, 2448. how taken by defendant.
 2449. supreme judge to indorse refusal of.
 2450. refusal of, final, unless.
 2451, 2452. how taken on behalf of state.
 2453. Judgment of acquittal which bars future prosecution, not reversible.
 2454. of conviction, for what errors reversed.
 2455. of death, affirmance after day of execution; proceedings.
 2456. Appeal by state does not suspend proceedings.
 2457. Decisions of supreme court binding on circuit court.
 2458. Appeal after confinement in penitentiary.
 2459. Reversal in such case; proceedings.
 2460. Again convicted, time under first conviction to be deducted.

SECTION

IN MISDEMEANORS.

2461. Jurisdiction of supreme court in.
 2462. No summons required.
 2463. When prayed for and how granted.
 2464. How judgment suspended by.
 2465, 2466. How taken by the state.
 2467. Judgment on verdict of acquittal shall not be reversed, when.
 2468. Reversed for errors of law apparent on record only.
 2469. Attorney's fee on affirmance or reversal.
 2470. Appeals in penal actions.
 2471. Damages awarded on affirmance, when.

WHEN APPEALS STAND FOR TRIAL AND DECISION.

2472. Appeals in criminal cases take precedence.
 2473. when they stand for trial.
 2474. in felonies, stand for trial, when.
 2475. when decided.
 2476. judgment for costs against defendant, when.

IN FELONIES.

SECTION 2440. The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction in prosecutions for felonies, subject to the restrictions herein contained.

SEC. 2441. An appeal shall only be taken on a final judgment, except on behalf of the state (d6).

SEC. 2442. No appeal shall be taken after the defendant's death, and upon his death an appeal taken during his life shall abate, and shall not be revived.

SEC. 2443. No summons or notice shall be necessary upon an appeal.

SEC. 2444. Upon an appeal being prayed, the circuit court shall grant to the defendant a reasonable time for obtaining a transcript of the record, for submitting the transcript to a judge of the supreme court for his allowance of the appeal, for filing the same in the clerk's office of the supreme court, and obtaining the certificate of appeal (e6).

SEC. 2445. An appeal may be taken by the defendant in the following manner only:

First. The appeal must be prayed during the term at which the judgment is rendered, and the prayer noted on the record in the circuit court.

Second. The appeal shall be allowed by a judge of the supreme court after an examination of a certified transcript of the complete record, unless he is thereupon satisfied that there are no reasonable grounds for believing that any error to the prejudice of the defendant has been committed for which the judgment should be reversed, and that the appeal is prayed for delay merely.

(d6) Where an interlocutory order is entered under an indictment for felony, by which the jurisdiction of the court is rendered doubtful, it is proper that an appeal should be taken to the supreme court on behalf of the state. State v. Flynn, 31—35.

(e6) See Youngblood v. State, 35—35.

Third. The appeal is taken by lodging in the clerk's office of the supreme court, within sixty days after the judgment, a certified transcript of the record (f6), with the certificate of the allowance of the appeal indorsed on the transcript, under the signature of one of the judges of the supreme court.

SEC. 2446. The clerk of the supreme court shall thereupon issue a certificate that an appeal has been taken, which shall suspend the execution of the judgment.

SEC. 2447. A judge of the supreme court may extend the time for filing the record.

SEC. 2448. The court may act upon and decide a case in which the appeal was not prayed or the record was not filed in the time prescribed, when a good reason for the omission is shown by affidavit.

SEC. 2449. If the judge of the supreme court refuses an appeal, he shall indorse upon the record the words "an appeal refused," with his signature thereto, and forthwith transmit to the clerk of the supreme court a certificate of his refusal.

SEC. 2450. After such refusal, no appeal shall be taken, and, if surreptitiously obtained afterward, shall be immediately dismissed by the court. Provided, however, that two judges of the supreme court may revoke the order of refusal and grant the appeal.

SEC. 2451. Where an appeal in behalf of the state is desired, the prosecuting attorney shall pray the appeal during the term at which the decision is rendered, whereupon the clerk shall immediately make a transcript of the record and transmit the same to the attorney-general, or deliver the transcript to the prosecuting attorney, to be transmitted to him.

SEC. 2452. If the attorney-general, on inspecting the record, is satisfied that error has been committed to the prejudice of the state, and upon which it is important, to the correct and uniform administration of the criminal law, that the supreme court should decide, he may, by lodging the transcript in the clerk's office of the supreme court within sixty days after the decision, take the appeal (g6).

SEC. 2453. A judgment in favor of the defendant, which operates as a bar to a future prosecution of the offense, shall not be reversed by the supreme court (h6).

SEC. 2454. A judgment of conviction shall only be reversed for the following errors of law to the defendant's prejudice appearing upon record (i6) :

First. An error of the circuit court in admitting or rejecting important evidence.

Second. An error in instructing, or in refusing to instruct, the jury.

Third. An error in failing to arrest the judgment.

(i6) The record of the circuit court may be amended so as to make it speak the truth in a criminal, as well as in a civil case, after appeal or writ of error, the prisoner in a criminal case being brought into court, and the amended record brought up to the supreme court by certiorari. Sweeney v. State, 35—585; Binns v. State, Ib., 118; Freed v. State, 21—213.

(g6) Where it does not appear that the provisions of this and the preceding section have been complied with, the case will be stricken from the docket of the supreme court. State v. Cox, 29—115.

(h6) Where a defendant, indicted for a misdemeanor punishable by fine only, has been tried, acquitted and the judgment reversed and cause remanded, he may be tried again upon the same indictment. Jones v. State, 15—261; State v. Czarnikow, 20—160.

(i6) See Wallace v. State, 28—531.

Fourth. An error in allowing or disallowing a peremptory challenge.

Fifth. An error in overruling a motion for a new trial.

SEC. 2455. When a judgment of death has been affirmed, and the day of execution passed, the clerk of the supreme court shall transmit to the governor a certificate of the affirmance and of the judgment, to the end that a warrant for the execution of the judgment may be issued by the governor.

SEC. 2456. An appeal by the state from a decision of the circuit court shall not suspend the proceedings in the case.

SEC. 2457. The decisions of the supreme court shall be obligatory on the circuit court as being the correct expositions of the law.

SEC. 2458. If a judgment of confinement in the penitentiary has been executed before the certificate of appeal was delivered to the sheriff whose duty it was to execute the judgment, the defendant shall remain in the penitentiary during the pendency of the appeal, unless discharged by the expiration of his term of confinement, or by pardon; and, upon a reversal, if a new trial is ordered, shall be removed back from the penitentiary to the county jail from which he was brought by the sheriff of said county (j6).

SEC. 2459. Upon a mandate of reversal, ordering a new trial, being filed in the clerk's office of the circuit court in which the judgment of confinement in the penitentiary was rendered and executed, the clerk shall deliver to the sheriff a copy of the mandate and precept, authorizing and commanding him to bring the defendant from the penitentiary to the county jail, which shall be obeyed by the sheriff and keeper of the penitentiary.

SEC. 2460. If the defendant, upon the new trial, is again convicted, the period of his former confinement in the penitentiary shall be deducted by the court from the period of confinement fixed in the last verdict of conviction.

IN MISDEMEANORS.

SEC. 2461. The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction in prosecutions for misdemeanors.

SEC. 2462. No summons is necessary on an appeal.

SEC. 2463. The appeal shall be prayed during the term at which the judgment was rendered, and shall be granted upon the condition that the record is lodged in the clerk's office of the supreme court within sixty days after the judgment (k6).

SEC. 2464. The appeal shall not suspend the execution of judgment, unless the defendant causes to be executed, before the clerk of the circuit court, a covenant by good security, to be approved by said clerk, for the payment, in case the judgment is affirmed, of the fine and costs, and costs of appeal and all damages thereon, and for the surrender of the defendant, in execution of the judgment, where the judgment is for imprisonment, or, on his failure so to surrender himself, for the payment of a sum equal to two dollars for every day of imprisonment adjudged, and causes said covenant to be copied into the transcript, upon which, being lodged with the clerk of the supreme court, he shall issue a certificate that execution of the judgment is suspended.

(j6) See Youngblood v. State, 35—35.

(k6) The supreme court will not take jurisdiction of an appeal in a criminal cause where the transcript is not filed within sixty days after the judgment; and an agreement of the prosecuting attorney who tried the case to waive the time will not be regarded. Siverburg v. State, 30—39.

SEC. 2465. When the prosecuting attorney prays an appeal, the clerk shall forthwith make and certify a complete transcript of the record, and transmit the same to the attorney-general, or deliver it to the prosecuting attorney for that purpose.

SEC. 2466. If the attorney-general, on inspecting the same, believes it proper to take the appeal, he shall do so by filing the transcript in the clerk's office of the supreme court in sixty days after the judgment.

SEC. 2467. A judgment on a verdict of acquittal of an offense, the punishment of which is imprisonment, shall not be reversed.

SEC. 2468. The judgment shall only be reversed for errors of law apparent on the record to the prejudice of the appellant.

SEC. 2469. Upon the affirmance of a judgment on the appeal of the defendant, an attorney's fee of twenty dollars, to be paid to the prosecuting attorney, shall be taxed as part of the costs of the appeal, and upon the reversal of a judgment upon an appeal by the plaintiff, a fee of five dollars.

SEC. 2470. Where the prosecution is by a penal action, the appeal shall be similar in all respects to appeals in civil actions.

SEC. 2471. Where the execution of a judgment for a fine is suspended, as herein provided, upon an affirmance of the judgment, damages at the rate of ten per cent. shall be awarded against the defendant, one-fourth of which shall be for the use of the prosecuting attorney.

WHEN APPEALS STAND FOR TRIAL AND DECISION.

SEC. 2472. Appeals in criminal cases shall take precedence over all other business of the court, and be placed first upon the docket for trial.

SEC. 2473. They shall stand for trial at the first term succeeding the lodging of the transcript in the clerk's office of the supreme court; provided, it is so lodged ten days before the commencement of the term.

SEC. 2474. When an appeal by the defendant in a case of felony is lodged within ten days before the commencement of the term, or during the term, it shall stand for trial on the tenth day after it was so lodged.

SEC. 2475. The appeal shall be decided at the same term at which it is tried.

SEC. 2476. On the affirmance of a judgment, where the appeal is taken by the defendant, and on the reversal of the judgment, where the appeal is taken by the state, a judgment for costs shall be rendered against the defendant. Crim. Code, secs. 325-353.

SECTION 2477. An institute of learning is hereby established in the State of Arkansas for the education of deaf-mutes of the state, by and under the name and title of the Arkansas Deaf-Mute Institute (*).

SEC. 2478. The government of the institute for the education of the deaf-mutes shall be under the direction of a board of trustees, to consist of five members, who shall be appointed by the governor, as provided in section 2479. Act July 17, 1868, secs. 1, 2, as amended by act April 9, 1869.

SEC. 2479. The governor shall immediately after the passage of this act, and on the second Wednesday after the organization of the next general assembly, and the same day every two years thereafter, appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, five persons to be trustees for said institute, who shall each hold office for the term of two years, or until their successors are qualified. Act March 21, 1883.

SEC. 2480. The state treasurer shall be ex officio a member and treasurer of the board of trustees. All the members of said board shall be electors of the state. Any member permanently removing from the state thereby vacates his office.

SEC. 2481. Said trustees shall receive for their services three dollars per day for each day actually employed in behalf of the institution, which shall be paid in the same manner as provided for the payment of other debts due by the institution.

SEC. 2482. The persons appointed trustees shall, before entering upon the duties of their office, severally take and subscribe the oath prescribed by the constitution, and an oath to faithfully discharge their duties as such trustees, and to obey all laws in force relative to said institution.

SEC. 2483. The board of trustees may take and hold in trust for the state, to the use of the institute, any lands conveyed or devised, and any money or other personal property given or bequeathed, to be applied to the use and benefit of the institute. Act July 17, 1868, secs. 2, 3, 4, as amended by act April 9, 1869.

SEC. 2484. The board of trustees shall have power to make all contracts for the rent or construction and repair of any building and appurtenances thereto belonging or used by said institute; to appoint a principal, matron, assistant teachers, who shall be qualified to impart instruction to mutes, a steward and such other officers as the board may deem necessary to meet the requirements of the institute. The principal and matron shall constantly reside in the institution, but the assistant teachers and other officers may occupy other buildings, to be provided at their own expense. No person shall lodge or board in said institute who is not a pupil thereof, except its officers and their families.

SEC. 2485. The treasurer shall have the custody of all moneys, notes, securities and other obligations belonging to the deaf-mute institute, and shall be responsible for the same under his bond and oath as state treasurer. He shall pay all the expenses of said institute out of the funds appropriated for the use of the same, upon warrants drawn by the auditor in favor of the trustees. The auditor shall issue his warrants upon orders signed by the president and at least two members of the board of trustees, except as herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 2486. The accounts and records of said institute shall be so kept by the board of trustees and the principal as to show: The kind, quantity, cost and of whom bought of each article purchased for the use thereof, the condition of the institute, the specific amount of the receipts and expenditures, the number, name, date of admission, age, cause of deafness, and length of time under instruction, of beneficiaries, and all other pupils received into the institute, and the number and salaries of officers and employes, which shall be embodied in a report made to the governor on or before the convening of the general assembly at each regular session, and be by him laid before that body with his message.

SEC. 2487. Each deaf-mute applying for admission as a pupil shall be between the ages of nine and thirty years, of fair natural intellect, and free from any contagious disease.

SEC. 2488. The officers of the board of trustees shall be a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, and, except the treasurer, shall be elected annually on the first Monday in January. Should a vacancy occur, the board may hold a special election to fill the same.

SEC. 2489. The board of trustees shall, in their rules, regulations and by-laws, prescribe the duties of the respective officers, except as hereinafter provided. They may remove at their discretion, if deemed for the good of the institute, any officer or employe of the institute.

SEC. 2490. The board of trustees shall determine the salary of each of the said resident officers, subject to the approval of the governor and state auditor; such salaries shall be paid quarterly-yearly to the said officers by the treasurer, as provided in section 2485, out of any moneys appropriated for the institute.

SEC. 2491. For all damages for trespass and other wrongs upon the buildings or any other property, personal or real, belonging to said institute, actions may be maintained in the name of the state, and all damages received in such actions shall be appropriated to the reparation of the property injured.

SEC. 2492. The principal shall be a teacher of knowledge, skill and ability in his profession, and of experience in the management and instruction of mutes; he shall not, while such principal, engage in any other employment, but shall, to the exclusion of all other business, devote himself to the instruction, supervision and care of the institute and its inmates. Before he enters upon the duties of his office, he shall take an oath that he will diligently, faithfully and impartially discharge all the duties required of him by law.

SEC. 2493. The principal shall be the chief executive officer of the institute, and shall have the care and control of everything connected with the management and discipline thereof; he shall see that the several officers faithfully and diligently discharge their respective duties, and upon failure thereof make report of the facts to the board. He shall receive such mutes as are entitled to admission to the institute. The board of trustees may at any time discharge any pupil for gross or immoral conduct, or other sufficient cause.

SEC. 2494. Two of the trustees shall, together, visit the institute monthly; a majority of them quarterly; and all the trustees shall, together, make one visit during the year.

SEC. 2495. Any deaf-mute who may be admitted into the institute and supported as a beneficiary, at the expense of the state, shall be permitted to remain in said institute for seven years, unless, in the judgment of the trustees, he or she shall be sooner discharged.

SEC. 2496. It shall be the duty of the principal to furnish, or cause to be furnished, suitable and proper boarding and lodging, as well as suitable instruction, for all deaf-mutes received as beneficiaries. Provided, he shall receive into the institution other deaf-mutes, according to such regulations as the trustees may prescribe.

SEC. 2497. All persons employed in the institute, while so employed, shall be exempt from serving on juries, and the certificate of the principal, under his own hand, shall be sufficient evidence of such employment.

SEC. 2498. Any parent or guardian who may be unable to pay the expenses of transportation from their homes to the institute, of such deaf-mutes as are under their charge, in consequence of poverty, shall make a written statement of the facts in the case, and lay the same before the county court of the county in which they reside, when said court shall immediately take action thereupon, and, if in its judgment the statements are well sustained, shall issue a certificate setting forth the facts, signed by the judge of the court and clerk. Such certificate shall be the authority for the sheriff of the county to furnish transportation for such mute from his home to the institute, by the nearest and most practicable route. Such certificate, countersigned by the president of the board of trustees, shall be the authority for the auditor to issue his warrant in favor of said sheriff for the reimbursement of all moneys paid out for the transportation of such mute or mutes from their homes to the institute (a).

(a) But see SECS. 2508, 2509, by which this section was probably by implication repealed.

SEC. 2499. It shall be the duty of the sheriff of each county to ascertain and keep a record of how many deaf-mutes, with their names, ages and sex, there are in his county between the ages of nine and thirty years, and report the same to the board of trustees of said deaf-mute institute at least once in each year.

SEC. 2500. Where deaf-mutes have no parents, the board of trustees of said institute are by law made the guardians (b) of all such deaf-mute orphans, and it is hereby made the duty of the sheriff of each county to send all such orphan mutes to the board of trustees at such institute, who shall perform the duties of guardians to said mutes. Said sheriff shall receive for said service the necessary expenses incurred in traveling by the nearest and most practicable route to and from said institute, and such further sum for his services as the county court of his county may direct and allow.

SEC. 2501. All property pertaining to the deaf-mute institute shall be exempt from taxation.

SEC. 2502. There shall be no cruel or severe punishment inflicted upon the pupils of the institute.

SEC. 2503. The board of trustees shall receive sealed proposals for furnishing said institute with necessary provisions and fuel, thirty days' notice whereof shall be given by said board by three insertions in at least two newspapers in each congressional district of the state; and said proposals shall be opened at the office of the secretary of state, in the City of Little Rock, on the first Monday in January of each year, at 12 o'clock M., and the contract for furnishing said supplies shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, with good and sufficient bond and security for the faithful observance of the terms of the contract. Act July 17, 1868.

SEC. 2504. The principal of the said institute is hereby required to keep a list of all applications for admission in their numerical order.

SEC. 2505. The applicants shall be received in the said order, without restriction on account of race or color. Act March 21, 1871.

INDIGENT PUPILS.

SEC. 2506. Whenever application is made for the admission of any deaf-mute person into the state institution for the education of the deaf and dumb (*), as a beneficiary of the privileges thereof, such application shall be accompanied by the certificate of the county judge that such person is a legal resident of the county in which it is claimed that he resides.

SEC. 2507. When such person shall, upon proper application, be admitted as a pupil of said institution, it shall be the duty of his parent, guardian or other friends to suitably provide him with clothing at the time of his entrance into the school and during his continuance therein; also, to defray his traveling expenses to and from the institution, not only at the time of his first entrance and final departure, but at any other time when it shall become necessary for him to leave or return to the school.

(*) This act applies equally to the School for the Blind, and will also be found in the chapter containing the law governing that institution. For convenience the form of the statute is changed so as to be applicable, in each chapter, only to the institution there provided for.

SEC. 2508. In all cases where suitable clothing and means for defraying traveling expenses are not otherwise supplied to the pupils of said institution, the same shall be provided by the superintendent or principal thereof, who shall make out and file with the auditor of state accounts therefor, separate in each case, against the respective counties from which such pupils are sent, in an amount not exceeding forty dollars per annum for any one pupil, which accounts shall be severally signed by the superintendent or principal, and the auditor of state shall draw his warrant on the treasurer for said amounts, which shall be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated. Provided, that the amount drawn by said institution for the aforesaid purposes in one year shall not exceed two thousand dollars, and each account thus certified shall be charged to the county from which the pupil named therein was sent.

SEC. 2509. The auditor of state shall forward a certified copy of each account so filed with him to the sheriff of the proper county, who shall proceed to collect the same in the name of the state, as other debts are collected, and the money so collected shall be paid over to the treasurer of state, who shall give receipts therefor as in cases of other moneys paid into the state treasury. Provided, that if the sheriff shall be unable to collect the amount of any bill from the parents or estate of any pupil, then the same shall be refunded to the state out of the county treasury.

SEC. 2510. In case of the death of any pupil at said institution aforesaid, where funeral expenses are not otherwise provided for, an account thereof shall be made out, certified to and collected, and applied in like manner as provided in the preceding sections of this act.

SEC. 2511. Whenever it shall be deemed necessary by the proper officers of the said institution, in accordance with the by-laws and regulations thereof, to have pupils removed, either temporarily, on account of ill health or the vacation of the school, or permanently, on account of having completed their course of instruction, or been found disqualified from any cause for a longer continuance in the school, the parents or guardians of such pupils, if they have any, shall promptly remove them upon the requirement of said officers; and, in case they shall not be thus provided for, it shall be the duty of the superintendent or principal of such institution to cause them to be so removed to their houses or delivered to the proper officers of the counties in which they may reside, and the expense of such removal shall be refunded to said institution in the same manner as provided in sections 2508 and 2509, and the county sheriff may collect it in the same manner as provided in said sections.

SEC. 2512. In case of pupils now in said institution who may need the benefit of this act, and who may not have a certificate from the judge of the county in which they reside as to their residence, the certificate of two responsible citizens of the county shall be sufficient. Act Dec. 14, 1875.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

DEFAULTERS.

SECTION

2513. Who are, and to what offices, not eligible.
2514. County treasurer to certify to clerk a list of persons indebted to the county.
2515. Clerk to certify to governor whether each person elected is a defaulter.
2516. Auditor to furnish to governor a list of defaulters to the state, when.

SECTION

2517. Duty of governor as to withholding commissions of defaulters.
2518. Not to withhold commission, when.
2519. Governor to send copies of certificates to general assembly.
2520. When person elected by general assembly a defaulter, duty of governor.
2521. Penalty for failure to perform duties.

SECTION 2513. No collector or holder of public money in this state shall be eligible to a seat in either house of the general assembly, or to any office of trust or profit in this state, until he shall have accounted for and paid over all sums for which he may be liable (a).

SEC. 2514. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer of each county, within ten days after each election for members of the general assembly and other civil officers, to make out and certify to the clerk of the county court a true and perfect list or statement of the names of all persons indebted to the county and the amount charged to each person.

SEC. 2515. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court to certify to the governor, on each abstract or certificate of election he may be required to make, whether the person whose election he is certifying is a defaulter to the county, and, if so, for what amount.

SEC. 2516. It shall be the duty of the auditor, within ten days after each election for members of the general assembly and other civil officers, to furnish the governor a certified list or statement of all persons indebted to the state and the amount charged to each person.

SEC. 2517. If it shall appear to the governor, from the certificates furnished him as aforesaid, that any person returned elected to the office of clerk, sheriff, coroner, county treasurer, county surveyor, or justice of the peace for any county, is a defaulter to the state or county, he shall withhold the commission of such person until the first day of December thereafter; and if such person shall fail to present to the governor a certificate from the proper officer of his discharge from liability to the state or county, such office shall be deemed vacant.

SEC. 2518. The provisions of the preceding section shall not be so construed as to authorize the governor to withhold the commission from any person elected to any of the offices before mentioned who does not appear by such certificates to be a defaulter.

SEC. 2519. It shall be the duty of the governor, immediately after the commencement of each regular session of the general assembly, to cause copies of such certificates to be transmitted to each house of the general assembly; and if it shall appear from such certificates that any person elected a member of either house of the general assembly is a defaulter to the state or any county, his seat shall be declared vacant, unless he shall forthwith produce a certificate of his discharge from such liability.

SEC. 2520. If any person shall be elected to any office of trust or profit by the joint vote of both houses of the general assembly who from such certificates shall appear to be a defaulter either to the state or any county, it shall be the duty of the governor to withhold the commission or credential from such person and forthwith report the fact to the general assembly.

SEC. 2521. If the auditor of state, or any clerk or county treasurer, shall neglect or refuse to perform any of the duties prescribed in this act, or shall make a false return, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and shall be proceeded against accordingly. Rev. Stat., chap. 47.

CHAPTER XLIX.

DESCENTS AND DISTRIBUTIONS (a).

SECTION

- 2522. General law of descent.
- 2523. Posthumous children, how to inherit.
- 2524. Illegitimate children to inherit and transmit on part of mother.
- 2525. How legitimized by subsequent intermarriage.
- 2526. Issue of marriages null in law or dissolved by divorce legitimate.
- 2527. No bar that ancestor was alien.
- 2528. No kindred to inherit, whole to go to wife or husband; no wife or husband, estate to escheat.
- 2529. Some children living and some dead, to take per stirpes.
- 2530. This rule to apply in every case where those entitled to inherit are in equal degree of consanguinity to intestate.
- 2531. If there be no descendants, rules of descent:
 1. Where estate comes by father; 2. By mother; and 3. Where a new acquisition.
- 2532. Estate, how to go, where no father or mother.
- 2533. Those of half-blood, how to inherit.
- 2534. In cases not herein provided for, descent to be according to common law.

SECTION

- 2535. All who inherit, to do so as tenants in common.

ADVANCEMENT.

- 2536. By settlement or portion to child, how reckoned, and effect of.
- 2537. When not equal to share of estate.
- 2538. Value of such advancement, how ascertained.
- 2539. Maintenance, education, etc., not to be taken as advancement.

CONSTRUCTION.

- 2540. Of term "real estate."
- 2541. Of term "inheritance."
- 2542. Where person described as "living."
- 2543. Of expression, "come on part of father," or "on part of mother."

HEIRS AT LAW MAY BE MADE BY DECLARATION IN WRITING.

- 2544. Heir at law may be made by declaration in writing.
- 2545. Declaration must be recorded before of effect.

SECTION 2522. When any person shall die, having title to any real estate of inheritance, or personal estate (b), not disposed of, nor otherwise limited by marriage settlement, and shall be intestate as to such estate, it shall descend and be distributed, in parcenary, to his kindred, male and female, subject to the payment of his debts and the widow's dower, in the following manner:

First. To children, or their descendants, in equal parts.

(a) See Kelley v. McGuire, 15—555; Scull v. Vaugine, Ib., 695; Bird v. Lipscomb, 20—19; Galloway v. Robinson, 19—401; Campbell v. Ware, 27—65; Beard v. Mosely, 30—517; Oliver v. Vance, 34—564; Kountz v. Davis, Ib., 590.

(b) See Loftis v. Glass, 15—680; Gibson v. Dowell, 42—164.

Second. If there be no children, then to the father, then to the mother; if no mother, then to the brothers and sisters, or their descendants, in equal parts.

Third. If there be no children, nor their descendants, father, mother, brothers or sisters, nor their descendants, then to the grandfather, grandmother, uncles and aunts and their descendants, in equal parts, and so on in other cases, without end, passing to the nearest lineal ancestor, and their children and their descendants, in equal parts.

SEC. 2523. Posthumous children of the intestate shall inherit in like manner as if born in the life-time of the intestate, but no right of inheritance shall accrue to any person other than the children of the intestate, unless they be born at the time of the intestate's death.

SEC. 2524. Illegitimate children shall be capable of inheriting and transmitting an inheritance, on the part of their mother, in like manner as if they had been legitimate of their mother (c).

SEC. 2525. If a man have by a woman a child or children, and afterward shall intermarry with her, and shall recognize such children to be his, they shall be deemed and considered as legitimate.

SEC. 2526. The issue of all marriages deemed null in law, or dissolved by divorce, shall be deemed and considered as legitimate.

SEC. 2527. In making title by descent, it shall be no bar to a demandant that any ancestor through whom he derives his descent from the intestate is, or has been, an alien.

SEC. 2528. If there be no children, or their descendants, father, mother, nor their descendants, or any paternal or maternal kindred capable of inheriting, the whole shall go to the wife or husband of the intestate. If there be no such wife or husband, then the estate shall go to the state.

SEC. 2529. If any of the children of an intestate be living, and some be dead, the inheritance shall descend to the children who are living, and to the descendants of such children as shall have died, so that each child who shall be living shall inherit such share as would have descended to him if all the children of the intestate who shall have died leaving issue had been living, so that the descendants of each child who shall be dead shall inherit the same their parent would have received if living.

SEC. 2530. The rule of descent prescribed in the last preceding section shall apply in every case where the descendants of the intestate, entitled to share in the inheritance, shall be in equal degree of consanguinity to the intestate, so that those who are in the nearest degree of consanguinity shall take the shares which would have descended to them had all the descendants in the same degree who shall have died leaving issue been living, so that the issue of the descendants who shall have died shall respectively take the shares which their parents, if living, would have received.

SEC. 2531. In cases where the intestate shall die without descendants, if the estate come by the father, then it shall ascend to the father and his heirs; if by the mother, the estate, or so much thereof as came by the mother, shall ascend to the mother and her heirs; but if the estate be a new acquisition it shall ascend to the father for his life-time, and then descend, in remainder, to the collateral kindred of the intestate in the manner provided in this act; and, in default of a father, then to the mother, for her life-time; then to descend to the collateral heirs as before provided (d).

SEC. 2532. The estate of an intestate, in default of a father and mother, shall go, first, to the brothers and sisters, and their descendants, of the father; next, to the brothers and sisters, and their descendants, of the mother. This provision applies only where there are no kindred, either lineal or collateral, who stand in a nearer relation.

SEC. 2533. Relations of the half-blood shall inherit equally with those of the whole blood in the same degree; and the descendants of such relatives shall inherit in the same manner as the descendants of the whole blood, unless the inheritance come to the intestate by descent, devise, or gift, of some one of his ancestors, in which case all those who are not of the blood of such ancestor shall be excluded from such inheritance.

SEC. 2534. In all cases not provided for by this act, the inheritance shall descend according to the course of the common law.

SEC. 2535. Whenever an inheritance, or a share of an inheritance, shall descend to several persons, under the provisions of this act, they shall inherit as tenants in common, in proportion to their respective shares or rights.

ADVANCEMENT.

SEC. 2536. If any child of an intestate shall have been advanced by him, in his life-time, by settlement or portion of real or personal estate, or both of them, the value thereof shall be reckoned, for the purpose of this section, only as part of the real and personal estate of such intestate descendible to his heirs, and to be distributed to his next of kin, according to law; and, if such advancement be equal or superior to the amount of the share which such child would be entitled to receive of the real and personal estate of the deceased, as herein reckoned, then such child and his descendants shall be excluded from any share of the real and personal estate of the intestate.

SEC. 2537. In cases where such advancement is not equal to the share that such child or relative, and his descendants, shall be entitled to receive, they shall be entitled to receive so much of the real and personal estate as shall be sufficient to make all the shares of the heirs in such real and personal estate and advancement to be as nearly equal as possible.

SEC. 2538. The value of any real or personal estate so advanced shall be deemed to be that, if any, which was acknowledged by the person receiving the same by any receipt, in writing, specifying the value; if no such written evidence exists, then such value shall be estimated according to its value at the time of advancing such money or property.

SEC. 2539. The maintaining, educating or giving money to a child or heir, without a view to a portion or settlement in life, shall not be an advancement within the meaning of this act.

CONSTRUCTION.

SEC. 2540. The term "real estate," as used in this act, shall be construed to include every estate, interest and right, legal and equitable, in lands, tenements and hereditaments, except such as are determined or extinguished by the death of the intestate, seized or possessed thereof in any manner, other than by lease for years and estate for the life of another person.

(d) See Galloway v. Robinson, 19—393; Magness v. Arnold, 31—103.

SEC. 2541. The term "inheritance," as used in this act, shall be understood to mean real estate, as herein defined, descended according to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2542. Whenever, in any part of this act, any person is described as living, it shall be understood that he was living at the time of the death of the intestate from whom the descent came; and, when any person is described as having died, it shall be understood that he died before the intestate.

SEC. 2543. The expression used in this act, "where the estate shall have come to the intestate on the part of the father," or "mother," as the case may be, shall be construed to include every case where the inheritance shall have come to the intestate by gift, devise or descent from the parent referred to, or from any relative of the blood of such parent. Rev. Stat., chap. 49.

HEIRS AT LAW MAY BE MADE BY DECLARATION IN WRITING.

SEC. 2544. When any person may desire to make a person his heir at law, it shall be lawful to do so by a declaration in writing in favor of such person, to be acknowledged before any judge, justice of the peace, clerk of any court, or before any court of record in this state.

SEC. 2545. Before said declaration shall be of any force or effect, it shall be recorded in the county where the said declarant may reside, or in the county where the person in whose favor such declaration is made may reside. Act Jan. 12, 1853.

CHAPTER L.

DISTRICTS—CONGRESSIONAL.

SECTION

- 2546. State divided into five districts.
- 2547. Counties comprising first district.
- 2548. Counties comprising second district.

SECTION

- 2549. Counties comprising third district.
- 2550. Counties comprising fourth district.
- 2551. Counties comprising fifth district.

SECTION 2546. The State of Arkansas shall be divided into five congressional districts.

SEC. 2547. The first district shall be composed of the Counties of Randolph, Clay, Green, Lawrence, Sharp, Independence, Jackson, Craighead, Mississippi, Poinsett, Cross, Crittenden, St. Francis, Lee, Phillips, Desha and Chicot, and the qualified electors residing therein shall elect one representative to the congress of the United States.

SEC. 2548. The second district shall be composed of the Counties of Dorsey, Lincoln, Grant, Jefferson, Arkansas, Monroe, Prairie, Lonoke, Woodruff, White, Faulkner, Conway, Pope, Van Buren, Stone and Cleburne, and the qualified electors residing therein shall elect one representative to the congress of the United States.

CHAPTER LI.

DISSECTION OF THE DEAD.

SECTION

2552. Dead bodies, when and by whom and to whom surrendered for advancement of anatomical science.

SECTION

2553. Dead bodies, when not to be surrendered.

2554. use of and disposition of remains.

2555. who may lawfully have in possession.

SECTION 2552. Any member of either of the following boards of officers, to wit: the board of health of any city, village or township, the mayor or common council of any city, and the officer or board having direction or control of any alms-house, prison, house of correction or jail, shall, when requested, surrender the dead bodies of such persons as may be required to be buried at the public expense to any regular practicing physician in the state, to be used by him for the advancement of anatomical science.

SEC. 2553. No such dead body shall in any case be surrendered if the deceased person, during his last illness, requested to be buried, or if, within twenty-four hours after his death, any person claiming to be of kindred or a friend to the deceased, and satisfying the proper board of officers thereof, shall require to have the body buried, or if deceased person was a stranger, who died suddenly before making himself known, the dead body shall in all such cases be buried.

SEC. 2554. It shall not be lawful for any person so receiving a dead body to use the same except for the prosecution of anatomical science, and, after having been used, the remains thereof shall be decently buried.

SEC. 2555. Any regular practicing physician or surgeon of this state, or any medical student, under the authority of such physician or surgeon, may have in his possession human dead bodies, or parts thereof, lawfully obtained, for the purpose of anatomical inquiry or dissection. Act April 14, 1873.

CHAPTER LII.

DIVORCE.

SECTION

2556. Circuit court has jurisdiction to grant divorces; grounds for.

 2559. To be prosecuted by equitable proceedings.
 2560. Pleadings not to be verified; interrogatories may be filed.
 2561. Statement of complaint not to be taken as true.
 2562. What plaintiff must allege and prove.
 2563. Maintenance and attorneys' fees pendente lite.

SECTION

2564. Collusion of parties and condonation of offenses.
 2565. Alimony and care of children.
 2566. Power of court to enforce decree.
 2567. Court may order decree for alimony and maintenance.
 2568. Order in respect to the property of each party on final decree.
 2569. A woman may be restored to her maiden name.
 2570. Proceedings for annulling judgment of divorce.

SECTION 2556. The circuit court shall have power to dissolve and set aside a marriage contract, not only from bed and board, but from the bonds of matrimony, for the following causes:

First. Where either party, at the time of the contract, was and still is impotent.

Second. Where either party willfully deserts and absents himself or herself from the other for the space of one year without reasonable cause.

Third. Where he or she had a former wife or husband living at the time of the marriage sought to be set aside.

Fourth. Where either party shall be convicted of felony or other infamous crime.

Fifth. Where either party shall be addicted to habitual drunkenness for the space of one year (a), or shall be guilty of such cruel and barbarous treatment as to endanger the life of the other, or shall offer such indignities to the person of the other as shall render his or her condition intolerable (b).

Sixth. Where either party shall have committed adultery subsequent to such marriage (†).

Seventh. Where either party shall, subsequent to such marriage, have become permanently or incurably insane. Civil Code, sec. 464, as amended 1873.

SEC. 2557. The injured party may apply for such decree of divorce, but no divorce shall affect the legitimacy of the children born previously to entering the decree in such case. Rev. Stat., chap. 51, sec. 2.

SEC. 2558. The proceedings shall be in the county where the complainant resides, and the process may be directed in the first instance to any county in the state where the defendant may then reside. Ib., sec. 5.

SEC. 2559. The action for alimony or divorce shall be by equitable proceedings.

SEC. 2560. The pleadings are not required to be verified by affidavit; but either party may file interrogatories to the other in regard to any matter of

(a) See Brown v. Brown, 38—324.

(b) See Rose v. Rose, 9—507; Honnett v. Honnett, 33—156; Kurtz v. Kurtz, 38—119; Brown v. Brown, 38—324.

(†) Where the charge is adultery, courts are reluctant to grant a divorce upon the uncorroborated testimony of a particeps criminis. Payne v. Payne, 42—235. As to testimony of the parties, see note (c) to SEC. 2559.

property involved in the action, which shall be answered on oath, as interrogatories in other actions (c), and have the same effect.

SEC. 2561. The statements of the complaint for a divorce shall not be taken as true because of the defendant's failure to answer, or his or her admission of their truth (d).

SEC. 2562. The plaintiff, to obtain a divorce, must allege and prove, in addition to a legal cause of divorce:

First. A residence in the state for one year next before the commencement of the action.

Second. That the cause of divorce occurred or existed in this state, or, if out of the state, either that it was a legal cause of divorce in the state where it occurred or existed or that the plaintiff's residence was then in this state.

Third. That the cause of divorce occurred or existed within five years next before the commencement of the suit.

SEC. 2563. During the pendency of an action for divorce or alimony, the court may allow the wife maintenance and a reasonable fee for her attorneys, and enforce the payment of the same by orders and executions and proceedings as in cases of contempt (e). Civil Code, secs. 456-460.

SEC. 2564. If it shall appear to the court that the adultery, or other offense complained of, shall have been occasioned by the collusion of the parties, or done with an intent to procure a divorce, or that the complainant was consenting thereto, or that both parties have been guilty of the adultery, or such other offense or injury complained of in the bill, then no divorce shall be granted or decreed (f).

SEC. 2565. When a decree shall be entered, the court shall make such order touching the alimony of the wife and care of the children, if there be any, as from the circumstances of the parties and the nature of the case shall be reasonable (g).

SEC. 2566. The court may enforce the performance of any decree or order for alimony and maintenance by sequestration of the defendant's property, or that of his securities, or by such other lawful ways and means as are according to the rules and practice of the court.

SEC. 2567. The court, upon application of either party, may make such alterations from time to time, as to the allowance of alimony and maintenance, as may be proper, and may order any reasonable sum to be paid for the support of the wife during the pending of her bill for a divorce (h). Rev. Stat., chap. 51, secs. 8, 9, 11, 12.

SEC. 2568. In every final judgment for divorce from the bond of matrimony, an order shall be made that each party be restored to all property not disposed of at the commencement of the action which either party obtained from or through the other during the marriage, and in consideration or by reason thereof. The proceedings for enforcing this order may be by petition
